ITALIAN NAVAL AND AIR BASE SURRENDERS

CARNIVAL INFERNAL SATURDAY NIGHT BICKERING HURTFUL

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Bernard M. Baruch declares that infernal bickering has hurt the war effort and confused the public, but hopes that James F. Byrnes will stop it.

Baruch, chairman of the War Industries Board in the last war, has become an unpaid and untitled assistant to Byrnes, Director of the Office of War Mobilization.

Both men have been advocates of civilian production in wartime, but Baruch had no comment on the possibility of pressing this idea in an effort to conserve manpower, materials and factory facilities.

Baruch said he wouldn't swap his favorite office, a park bench in the square opposite the white house, for a desk in the executive headquarters, where Byrnes holds forth. "But any call from so fine a man and so old a friend as Justice Byrnes commands my best efforts," Baruch said.

"If I can do anything to help the country, I am happy at the opportunity. In taking on this work I am assuming that the Office of War Mobilization will be effective, and that it is to be the final expression of the commander in chief, and therefore, it will not be by-passed or sidetracked. Justice Byrnes, if not blocked, will improve things by more clearly defining the work of each administrator and stopping all this infernal bickering which has hurt the war effort and confused the public," Baruch said.

Baruch at 72 is vigorous, except for a minor impairment of hearing. He lives partly in New York and partly in Washington, and can afford his high-policy advisory duties because of a pre-World War I fortune won in Wall Street. He is a native of South Carolina and the son of a Confederate army surgeon.

DOWN ON THE FARM IN ALGERIA—It seems that youngsters in Algeria have to lend a hand to farm chores too, after school is over for the day. Here are some lads on the job. One boy drives the team of oxen over the grassy slopes while the farmer guides his crude plow. This small farm is on the outskirts of the city of Algiers, recently occupied by the Allies.

BOMB-TORN PANTELLERIA GAVE UP AFTER ONE OF THE MOST TERRIFIC POUNDINGS OF WAR

NORTH AFRICA, June 11.—The Axis garrison on bomb-torn Pantelleria Island ran up a white flag and placed a white cross of surrender on the airfield at 5:40 a. m. (CWT) today in an unprecedented capitulation brought about almost solely by aerial power.

A special message from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced the capitulation of the 32-square-mile island in the Sicilian narrows following an unprecedented Allied sea and air bombardment and said that Allied forces had begun occupying it.

The white flag was displayed over the harbor of Pantelleria, near St. Elmo Hill, and occupation of the fortress by Allied troops was ordered at once. It was a victory of special importance for Lieut. Gen. Carl Andrew Spaatz, American deputy commander of Allied air forces in northwest Africa, who had long advocated such triumphs through air power alone.

The terrific aerial bombardment reached a crescendo yesterday with hundreds of Allied aircraft of all types crowding the sky over Pantelleria. The traffic was so heavy that scores of bombers were forced to circle the island while waiting their turn to make their bomb runs.

American, British, South African and other Dominion air forces took part in this thundering offensive. The four-engined Flying Fortresses droned over the target in greater numbers than ever before in the North African theater. The dawn-to-dusk assault was the worst pounding the island had received.

Surrender of Pantelleria gave the Allies an airdrome and a naval base only 60 miles southwest of Sicily and an equal distance east of Cape Bon, Tunisia.

The island of Pantelleria, about eight miles long, had a population of 8000, including what was supposed to be a strong Axis garrison since the fortress had been built up secretly by the Fascists as an Italian naval and air base—especially for submarines. It originally was intended to checkmate the great French naval base at Bizerte, which now is in Allied hands.

CHARGES CRIMINAL WASTE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 11.—Sen. Harry S. Truman condemned both labor and management at the Sunflower Ordnance Plant under construction near here and said his worst fears had been confirmed regarding inefficient and costly construction practices.

"There has been some shooting in the back of soldiers," he said, "and the war department has accepted my recommendation that all contracts there be renegotiated."

Truman's caustic comment followed a two-day hearing of his investigating committee.

At the hearing it was brought out that the ordnance works, which originally was to have cost an estimated $48,000,000, was actually costing about $129,000,000.

Truman also caustically criticized many army engineers on duty at the project, saying: "I don't think the army did their duty."

SENATORS OK HUGE FSA BILL

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The senate last night provided $160,000,000 for expenditure by the Farm Security Administration with the expectation of completing action today on the $820,000,000 agricultural appropriations bill.

After rejecting, fifty-four to twenty-five, a proposal by Harry F. Byrd of Virginia to transfer FSA's functions to the Farm Credit Administration, the senate voted, sixty-six to twelve, for an FSA appropriation of $29,607,573 for supervision and servicing of loans and grants and $97,500,000 loaning authority for rural rehabilitation.

Subsequently, it approved by voice authority for the FSA to borrow $30,000,000 for loans to tenants to purchase farms.

Byrd's amendment was similar to one offered by the house appropriations committee and rejected on the floor of that body on a legislative point of order. As it left the house the bill carried virtually nothing for FSA or its functions.

Byrd argued that FSA Administrator C. B. Baldwin, another Virginian, was "the most inefficient and irresponsible" agency head in the government and that his administration was guilty of extravagance and collectivism.

Pleading for rejection of Byrd's amendment, Richard B. Russell of Georgia warned: "Stop, look and listen before you vote to kill the FSA."

"When you consider that the people aided by FSA are those who otherwise wouldn't have a chance, FSA's investment in those people is the best the nation has ever made."

After many days, WASHINGTON, June 11.—America's 44,000,000 individual income taxpayers were put on a pay-as-you-go basis yesterday, as President Roosevelt signed into law legislation abating 75 to 100 per cent of one year's taxes and imposing a 20 per cent withholding levy against wages and salaries, effective July 1.

WHEAT CROP SHORT. WASHINGTON, June 11.—The agriculture department says a total wheat production of 730,524,000 bushels is indicated by June 1 conditions. That is 29 per cent less than the 981,327,000 bushels produced last year and compares with the 1932-41 10-year average production of 738,412,000 bushels.

200 RAIDS IN MAY. CAIRO, June 11.—The U. S. 9th Air Force dropped 3,500,000 pounds of explosives on Axis installations in about 200 missions in May, Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Breton, its commander, announced today.

FT. WORTH LEADS. DALLAS, June 11.—Fort Worth again jumped to the top of the list in the Federal Reserve Bank's weekly report on department store sales increases today.

We'll have the ideal national anthem when you hear people singing it as they line up to pay taxes.

LAKE CISCO FISH ARE IN BITING MOOD

"They are really biting now," said Monroe Sweeney and Roy Canfield as they displayed long strings of perch, bream and crappie, which they suggested were the largest catches of those fish that had ever been taken out of Lake Cisco at one time.

The moon's phases, scarcity of natural food, or whatever it is that makes fish take the lure, was evidently right at this time, and fishermen who want full strings might do well to get busy now, Sweeney said.

OIL WORKER KILLED. GRAHAM, June 11.—Homer Elliott, 29, of Graham was killed when he fell 122 feet from the top of an oil derrick on a lease 26 miles northwest of Graham. Surviving are his widow and four children, the youngest of whom, a daughter, age four months, is critically ill in the Graham hospital. Elliott was born and reared here.

The sad part is that any group with power to get its "rights" invariably wrongs others by taking more than it deserves.

GERMAN JEW SAYS HITLER END IS NEAR

WASHINGTON, June 11.—In the opinion of Emil Ludwig, German biographer, "Hitler will be assassinated soon, by his own men."

Appearing before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, testimony of which was made public Friday, Ludwig said "I feel sure" Hitler will be done away with "probably by the Junkers, because the Junkers have always been traitors to their kings."

"Then," he continued, "the Junkers, the generals, will kowtow to you and say, 'We love the Americans. We do not hate the Jews. We don't ask for colonies. Come, let us be friends again.'"

Ludwig also expressed the belief air bombing "is the deciding factor that will break the Germans." He said German nerves will collapse under the continued United Nations aerial attack and it won't be necessary to invade Germany.

Ludwig, a German Jew and a naturalized Swiss, said he appeared before the committee "to tell you and to prove to you why the defeat of Germany is nearer

REYNOLDS BUY DINWIDDIE GARAGE PROPERTY

Jesse H. Reynolds, owner and operator of the Cisco Transfer & Storage company has purchased the Dinwiddie garage property on the corner of East Fourth street and D avenue, across from Laguna hotel, which is to be remodeled and become the headquarters of his storage activities. The three or four buildings now being used will be vacated and the entire office and storage installed at the new site.

It will probably be one or two months before the building is ready, explained Mr. Reynolds, since the service station will be eliminated and the original front and east walls will be restored to make an office in the corner now occupied by gasoline service equipment.

Arrangements will probably be made to store some of the school buses, Mr. Reynolds said.

Nothing in the new tax law "forgives" the necessity of paying 2nd quarter INCOME TAX PAYMENT on June 15th.

FUTURE WORLD.

There is a great deal of ridiculous talk about the "post-war world" and what should be done then, when we get around to it. But if people want to be practical, they should realize that the world they think about rather fuzzily is not a mere dream of the future. It is on its way, and is practically here now, and should be viewed and handled accordingly.

None but visionaries expect a new heaven and a new earth to appear when the Allied Nations have won. There will be opportunities, however, for improvement in people's thinking, and in such essential attitudes and activities as international policing and more general cooperation in exchange of goods, ideas and human services. Just as government in this country is practically the same kind of operation all the way from the justice of the peace courts up to congress and the supreme court, so the basic principles of world control and operation are rather simple and universal.

Thus the first essentials of world order may be about the same as the natural requirements in any nation, city or village. That is, first for people as far as possible to mind their own business. And second, for people engaged in that basic procedure to be helpful to their neighbors, instead of being mean and ugly to them. The Golden Rule would solve most human problems. But brains are required to apply it.

IMAGINATION.

Senator Taft of Ohio, discussing an appropriation bill, attacks the National Resources Planning Board as given to "hanger-on imagination." Underlying his remarks seems to be a feeling that all imagination is more or less dangerous, and that the world would be just as well without it. But the world would still be digging roots out of the ground with its fingernails, except for imagination. Imagination made the first fire, built the first house, imagined the man, the railroad, the automobile, the radio, the airplane. Imagination can suggest improvements in the world's political and economic arrangements, and, if they look good, can get them accepted.

The world needs more imagination, not less, and the fact that Americans can still hope can still look forward to a brighter world, despite the maze of purely political troubles hemming them in, is nothing short of miraculous.

MEAT.

This nation is due for a diet of less meat and more vegetables if the price of the latter doesn't get too high. The process has already begun, but heavy meat eaters probably haven't seen much yet. They will learn as they go along, in this as in other matters of curtailment. It may be expected that what European friends would call the amazing ration of two pounds a week will shrink somewhat later on. The British and Russians have about one pound a week, and others have less. The Greeks have none.

It becomes harder here to get minor parts of meat animals that are now available, such as the heart, liver and so on. And the deprivation will be felt by many people, especially men doing hard and heavy work.

People in general, however, should soon be able to get used to such partial privation, and appreciate their blessings. The eating of meat in quantities is usually a habit rather than a necessity. Most people, at least people of youthful or middle age, and not engaged in heavy work, can learn to get along with less by substituting more fruit and vegetables—price permitting. And in a great many cases such people may discover to their surprise that they find no less of physical energy. Many of them, indeed, especially people not engaged in hard muscular work, will find themselves stronger and healthier than usual.

FIRES.

Thirty acres of tall pine, oak and maple trees, most of them at least fifty years old, were destroyed in the Bear Mountain, N. Y., recently. It took a force of forty rangers, park police and forest-fire patrolmen six hours to get the fire out. What started it? Oh, a group of packers who were careless with cigarettes and their cooking fire. Didn't notice the direction of the wind, for one thing.

People who have seen the terrible destruction of the western forest fires sometimes view these comparatively small eastern blazes without much sympathy. Sometimes they are just a little pleased that now people who treat their troubles so casually can find out what a forest fire means. And indeed thirty acres of high pine and hardwood isn't a postage stamp compared with the square miles of great standing timber lost in one of the western mountain conflagrations.

But the country really cannot afford any such devastation, whether it be a half-acre woodlot or a hundred miles of burning mountain and valley.

Carelessness about fire is inexcusable. No fire need get out of hand.

TREASON.

The stern attitude of the federal courts toward proven treason in the case of Max Stephan of Detroit should be a lesson to any other citizen or resident in this country, of doubtful loyalty, to watch his step. Stephan, after two reprieves, is definitely sentenced to be hanged on July 2, for helping a known enemy—an escaped German prisoner—in his flight from a Canadian prison camp. The United States supreme court refuses to intervene. Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle in his final word says, "There should be no trifling with traitors."

Americans are normally an easy-going people, slow to wrath. But abnormal times bring a change. In a great and perilous war, fought for the very life of this nation, when millions of Americans are subjected to war peril through no fault of their own, the life of one is a small matter, except for example, Stephan's fate will be a wholesome warning to thousands of actual or potential enemies in this country to assume at least an attitude of loyalty, even if they are disloyal at heart, and to think twice before they become disloyal in deed.

Victory For Lewis.

Dallas News: The statement in the news dispatches that John L. Lewis has finally "broken the solid front of the coal mine operators" is a little puzzling to the public that has been trying to keep up with the course of events in the coal mine wage crisis. Why is it the operator front and not the government front that has been broken?

The operator front has been broken insofar as detailed issues are concerned. These are issues in which only the interests of the mine operators and the mine workers are involved. But the entire country has been following this strike, not because it was interested in the mere question of a raise for the coal miners, but because it was interested in the matter of "holding the line" against rising prices.

Briefly, the history of the struggle to date has been as follows: Lewis asked for a raise for the coal miners. The operators refused to grant the raise on the ground that workers had already been given a raise more than commensurate with the Little Steel formula. The War Labor Board upheld the operators in their contention. Lewis refused to abide by the decision of the government agency and called a strike. In a radio address to the nation, President Roosevelt reiterated that the miners had received more than the Little Steel formula increase and that any further increase would be merely contributing to the inflationary tendency. The president also said that the miners were "now working for the government." Lewis answered by calling another strike. The W.L.B. declared that further negotiations would have to be in its presence, but later backed down.

Negotiations were resumed and now the "operator front is broken." The big story is that there has been a fight between rebellious labor chief and the government and the government front has been broken. The question is not whether the other operators will give in, but whether the W.L.B. will back down on its previous decision or whether it will stand firm, what need is there for a W.L.B. unless it is to become an agency for carrying out the demands of the labor chiefs?

CROSS PLAINS

(Callahan County)

The busy hum of binders and combines has been echoing throughout the Cross Plains trade territory the past several days as farmers began harvesting small grain crops, which six weeks ago appeared doomed to failure. Yields, although slightly below normal, are expected to be much better than the first guessers estimated them. Estimates on wheat are being placed all the way from nine to 25 bushels per acre, however, the result will not be known until combines have completed their work of threshers pressed into operation. I. H. Hall, local grain buyer, told the Review Tuesday morning that some observers were predicting that Lake Edington, south of Cross Plains, would make a yield of 25 bushels to the acre on his 60-acre field which lies alongside the Brown-sweet-Cross Plains road. Charlie Howard Edington's fields are expected to average 20 bushels, the observers opined. W. T. Cox, another local buyer of grain, said that he was getting ready to handle a greater volume of business this year than last. He reported that he expected prices to be comparatively good. No information was available here yesterday as to what the prices on small grains would be, however, growers set the price on number one wheat at $1.25 per bushel, predicting that this figure would be in the neighborhood of the government loan.

Cleve Callaway announced early this week that he was rigging-up, preparatory to spudding a shallow oil test on the McGee tract west of town. Mr. Callaway has several producers in the area and feels that the new test may prove to be a valuable extension of already proven acres.

Inspect Texas Rubber

L. A. McQueen T. S. Shore

Among the many industrialists expected to visit Texas on American Made Rubber day, June 28, are L. A. McQueen and T. Spencer Shore, vice presidents of The General Tire & Rubber company. To focus attention of the nation on the part Texas is playing in the production of synthetic rubber, General Tire will open its synthetic plant at Baytown, June 28. Jesse H. Jones, secretary of commerce, and William M. Jeffers, rubber administrator, have been invited to take part in the ceremonies by Thornton Hall, president of the Texas Newspaper Publishers' association and chairman of a committee on arrangements. Shore, who spent a year and a half with the WPB in Washington, will talk at various Texas points on his experiences in the nation's capital.

Symbolizing the spirit of free people everywhere, the American flag has never meant any more than it does this Flag Day (Monday, June 14). But the flag has come to mean a great deal in particular to Uncle Sam's boys overseas who are going through hell for it. Like this Marine, they proudly wear their country's flag on their sleeves for all the world to see.

Some months ago, the Cisco Daily Press offered prizes to victory garden contestants who might enroll under certain conditions as explained at that time. But since only about three persons officially entered the contest, it would be presumptuous to ask judges to go out and make decisions on so few gardens, when perhaps there would be many in the city much better than those in the contest.

Therefore, the Daily Press is withdrawing that contest and its awards, but is willing to cooperate with the Garden club or any other civic organization looking to the development of activities in the community.

"Mission Accomplished, Ships Lost - None"

Back they come, every one that had left five hours before, roaring in through the first grey streaks of dawn. . . . What a night they had had. Far out over the enemy's territory they had ranged, giving and taking unbelievable punishment. Looking back it all seemed a jumbled nightmare of diving, side-slipping, out-maneuvering—yes, even outrunning the enemy where necessary. But the report went in: "Mission accomplished; ships lost—none."

YOUR American airman is a cocky individual and for a good reason: he has an innate, superb courage, he has been expertly trained and he has full confidence in the fighting ship he flies. In his opinion it's the best job in the skies. The boys back home made it so.

The boys back home also give him 100-octane gasoline—the vital fuel that makes his plane go faster, farther and better than any plane that flies in the blue.

100-octane gasoline is but one of the
