Texas' Share National Debt Be Three Times as Much as Assessed Value

AUSTIN, June 16.—The staggering cost of the world war, which means to the individual citizen a Texas share in the financial burden were pictured Sunday by Governor Stevenson. When the war ends, say in two or three years, reliable estimates by economists put the national debt by the time at $300,000,000,000.

Texas' share in that enormous debt will be $14,000,000,000," Governor Stevenson said, "and compare this with the total assessed property valuation in this state, $4,500,000,000. Even the assessed value would run no more than $9,000,000,000."

The Texas share in the national debt is 37 per cent of the assessed property valuation in Texas.

The survey reaching the governor's office carried other highly important disclosures on the cost of the war. For instance, total federal appropriations for the period 1789 to 1940 were $167,000,000,000, and the figure includes all money spent by this country on its wars from the revolution up to the present conflict.

That the imagination is staggered, Stevenson said, "when we consider that appropriations for carrying on World War II, 1940 to 1943 inclusive, have reached $28,500,000,000, or double all federal government expenditures for 150 years, from its beginning until the defense program was inaugurated in 1940."

The national debt at the end of June, 1944, will reach $210,000,000,000 and Texas' share of this vast sum will be $8,000,000,000—only the beginning.

The president's message in January concerning the budget estimated that federal revenue under the present laws would amount to $33,000,000,000 for the current fiscal year. Of this Texas will be required to pay $3,000,000,000 a month.

Should the $16,000,000,000 additional revenue be collected under the new tax bill, then the total federal revenues for the next fiscal year will be $49,000,000,000, and the people of Texas will be called upon to pay $143,000,000 per month as this state's share.

In the event federal revenues for the coming year reach the figure of $49,000,000,000, and should the president's estimate of spending $104,000,000,000 prove to be correct, then the deficit for next year will amount to $55,100,000,000.

To retire the possible $55,100,000,000 deficit next fiscal year would require four more war bond campaigns as successful as the second war bond drive just concluded. In order to contribute the proportionate share Texas would have to buy War Bonds and Stamps during that twelve-month period at the rate of $160,000,000 a month.

The figures are so astronomical as to defy comprehension, the governor and others pointed out. One fly in the ointment, it is feared, purchase of War Bonds will be forced to decline because of the 20 per cent income tax about to be put into effect, with the increased cost of living further reducing purchasing power.

If salaries can not be raised, and if the federal load continues to increase, and if ceilings on prices and rationing force black markets, meeting the national debt, paying the income tax and buying War Bonds may face a setback, the governor fears.

Texas' biggest industry is oil, representing an investment of about $1,000,000,000, which becomes small when compared with the $14,000,000,000 Texas share of the national debt at the end of the war.

But fears have been expressed and they re-echo at the capital daily, that with the end of the war, maintenance of a large army and its supplies will continue in order to police the world, which course will not permit decrease in taxes or the debt load. — Byron Utecht in Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

ALVEY WRITES ABOUT DEATH OF BROTHER

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Alvey, route four, Cisco, have just received a letter from their son, Sgt. John W. Alvey, somewhere in Australia, in which he acknowledged receipt of their letter telling of the death of his brother, Jimmie Alvey, who was killed in action in North Africa, April 23. Excerpts from the letter and Dad's reply follow:

Dearest Mother and Dad: Just received sister Faye's letter this morning telling of the death of Jimmie. It was a severe shock, mother, but it is something we must be brave about and try to understand. We must carry on, whatever we do. Jimmie would want it that way. Dad, he died for a glorious cause, but we know he went out fighting like a man. It's hard to write my feelings and I only wish I could be there with you. Wish I could have been there with Jimmie. It's very hard, but I'll carry on and maybe I will get a little revenge for him before it is all over.

I am in good health and my prayers are that God will lessen the pain for you and Dad just a little. With love,

J. W. ALVEY, JR.

Sergeant Alvey attended school at Scranton, Randolph College and Texas Tech. He entered the army in January, 1942, and has been in Australia since last February. He is connected with headquarters office.

ALMUS FANNIN IN ENGLAND; MORE EASTLAND COUNTY MEN ENLIST

Mrs. Jo Hale, route two, Cisco, has been informed by her son, Pvt. Almus Fannin, of his safe arrival overseas. The V-mail letter, written June 2, read:

Dearest Mother: I know you are anxious to hear that I arrived safely in England. I was really surprised to see such a beautiful place. I am well and seem to have an appetite that cannot be satisfied. Am stationed in a very nice place and the food is perfect.

Mom, when writing me, use V-mail if possible, as that is the fastest type mail. Gee, Mom, I was beginning to think you had lost my address, as I hadn't heard from you in over three weeks. Happy to hear everything is ok. How is Joe by now, and does he intend to come home soon?

Give all the folks my best regards. Love,

LEO CALLERMAN READY FOR ACTION

Leo H. Callerman, son of Mrs. Cellie M. Callerman, route two, Cisco, has graduated from an intensive course in airplane mechanics, says a communication from the public relations office at Sheppard Field, near Wichita Falls, Tex., and is now qualified to play a vital role in the army air forces ground crew teams.

Before entering the school, the communication added, Callerman was trained at one of the basic training centers of the army air forces technical training command and learned to fight the Axis with other things besides the tools of his trade.

EHLINGER BE INTERVIEWED ABOUT HIGHWAY

At the chamber of commerce meeting last night it was ordered that a committee be sent to Brownwood as soon as possible to confer with Leo Ehlinger, district engineer of the state highway commission, regarding the building of the Cisco-Cross Plains highway, so the Eastland county commissioners court can complete the acquisition of the right-of-way without further delay and thus be ready for building the road as soon as state funds are available. It was voted that a letter be sent Commissioner Arch Birt asking full information of the status of the rights-of-way on highway 80, west of Cisco.

Secretary P. B. Wawsek tendered his resignation to the body, effective July 1, but on suggestion of Director L. A. Warren the resignation was not acted upon at last night's meeting.

On motion the chamber went on record as supporting the West Central Texas Oil & Gas association in its efforts to obtain an increase in the price of crude oil.

The report of M. D. Fox on the community canning project was heard. Fox said the project is proving to be a success.

President J. D. Lauderdale appointed a standing committee to aid in any way possible the 42-acre agricultural project of the Cisco Independent school district, north of Cisco. W. J. Armstrong was made chairman, with other members as follows: G. R. Nance, E. L. Jackson, C. E. Hickman and A. E. McNeely.

CHARLIE - BOY KEEPS HOLLYWOOD ON PINS

HOLLYWOOD, June 16.—Joan Barry, 23-year-old, accused of Charlie Chaplin, collapsed early today upon being informed of reports that he had eloped with still another protegee of his, 18-year-old Oona O'Neil.

Physicians hurried to the red-haired Miss Barry, fearful for the safety of the unborn child, whose father, she insists, is the white-haired Chaplin.

Miss O'Neil, daughter of the man who wrote "Strang Interlude," "Desire Under the Elms," "Emperor Jones," and numerous other hit plays, had been studying the art of cinema under direction of the 54-year-old Chaplin for the last several months—or since he decided that the Brooklyn-born Miss Barry was not the actress he had hoped.

RICHARD COLE WON 2-YEAR SCHOLARSHIP Richard Cole, 16-year-old son of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Cole of Cisco, won a two-year scholarship to Southwestern University in the ex-students' scholarship examinations which closed at Georgetown today.

Young Cole, who graduated from Georgetown high school in May, will enter Southwestern University July 1.

ITALIANS, FEARING INVASION NEAR, MOVE IMPORTANT SUPPLIES TO BASES NEAR NAPLES

NORTH AFRICA, June 16.—Big forces of Allied bombers have begun a shattering night and day bombardment of airdromes on Sicily, possibly the next stepping stone on the Allied invasion route to southern Europe, it was revealed today.

Heavy raids on the Bocca di Falco, Castelvetrano, Sciacca and Borizzo airdromes were announced by Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower.

British Wellington bombers opened the intensified aerial pounding of Sicily Monday night with attacks on what were identified only as "important airdromes."

Large formations of Flying Fortresses with escorts of Lightnings took over the initial series of daylight attacks yesterday, concentrating on Bocca di Falco and Castelvetrano airdromes in southwestern Sicily.

Bombs were seen to burst in dispersal areas, where a number of parked aircraft probably were destroyed, and on runways and barracks. Many fires were observed, the communiqué said.

Mitchell and Marauder medium bombers, escorted by Lightnings and Warhawks, joined the offensive with strong attacks on the Sciacca and Borizzo airfields. Lightnings launched an attack on their own on the port of Marsala in western Sicily.

(Reports reaching Madrid from France said that the Italians, apparently reeling under the initial air attacks and fearing that an Allied invasion thrust might overrun their island outposts, have moved important war supplies, port installations and vital records, as well as virtually all bomber squadrons, from Sicily, Sardinia and southern Italy to bases north of Naples).

Sixteen enemy planes were shot down yesterday and the previous night, while seven Allied aircraft were lost.

JITTERY AXIS BROWN'S ROAD EXPECTS INVA-SION AT ONCE THORNY ONE

LONDON, June 16.—The Axis is convinced that an Allied invasion of Europe will be launched before the week is out.

It appears from the flood of Axis reports that Berlin and Rome expect a heavy blow to be struck somewhere in the Mediterranean. Axis propagandists indicated that Allied assaults might occur at any of a dozen points from the Balkans to Southern France.

Reports reaching London from enemy quarters claimed that a great Allied invasion fleet, far stronger than the warship units which took over Italian islands between Tunisia and Sicily, was assembling in the Sicilian Straits and the Western Mediterranean.

WANT THE FACTS. NEW YORK, June 16.—In an unprecedented early morning meeting, the New York city council today voted a resolution calling for a sweeping investigation of the affairs of all city departments under Mayor La Guardia.

STRONG ARM NEEDED. AUSTIN, June 16.—One battalion of Texas Defense Guard at Beaumont is on active duty and two more at Port Arthur have been alerted and are prepared to move into Beaumont's race rioting, Adjt. Gen. A. B. Knickerbocker said today.

The best of friends flee when you talk about your pains. They hate to be burdened with troubles, they can't help.
