FOUR CISCO GIRLS MAKE A-1 RECORDS

Joan Penn, Martha Lou Smith, Dana Thornton and Billie Jean Lyon, all members of Cisco Grammer 4-H club, have been promoted in rank to second lieutenants in the Girls' 4-H Victory Army.

These girls have finished the goal for master sergeant and have completed three of the goals for second lieutenant, says Miss Helen Childress, assistant county home demonstration agent.

Joan Penn made a plant bed, a garden, improved her closet, made an apron and shoe shine kit, washed and sorted jars for canning and canned 20 containers of food and is raising 25 chickens.

Martha Lou Smith made a plant bed, a garden, made three aprons and a shoe shine kit, constructed a duster and dusted her garden, canned 30 jars of food and helped can 120 jars of food.

Dana Thornton made a plant bed, a garden, improved her closet, washed and sorted jars for canning, helped can 120 jars of food and is raising 25 chickens.

Billie Jean Lyon has a garden, made an apron and bonnet, made a shoe shine kit and a shoe rack, is helping raise 99 chickens in a home-made brooder and has washed and sorted jars for canning.

O. C. BARNHILL IS NOW AERIAL GUNNER

Set O. C. Barnhill, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Barnhill of Cisco, has graduated from the army air school flexible gunnery school at Birmingham Army Air Field, Ft. Myers, Fla., says a communication to the Daily Press from that school.

The Cisco young man, about 24, is now a qualified aerial gunner and will very likely be sent overseas within a few weeks to carry the war to the Nazis or Japs. Sergeant Barnhill has also qualified as an armorer since entering the service a year ago. He was a shipyard welder in civilian life.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnhill, who have three sons in the service, had a wire from O. C. a few days ago announcing that he would be home soon for a short furlough.

Wayne and Carroll Barnhill, the other sons, are with the United States navy in the South Pacific and have been much active service.

LEERAY WELL SHOWED GAS AT 2675 FEET

David D. Pickrell, superintendent of the Premier Oil Co. of Ft. Worth, with offices in Ranger, says drilling on the Woodley Petroleum Co.'s George Thorpe No. 1, near the former townsite of Leeray—between Cisco and Breckenridge—had reached a depth of 2,700 feet Saturday night.

A showing of gas was encountered at 2,675 feet in what was termed stray sand. Another showing of gas was found at the 1,068-foot level, which tallied with showings in other wells drilled in the vicinity.

Pickrell says the well will probably be drilled to the Ellenburger unless pay is found in the Caddo or Marble Falls sands.

HOG CEILING SOON.
WASHINGTON, July 20.—To ease the squeeze on packers and limit price fluctuations to a minimum, the government plans to put a ceiling of $14.75 per 100 pounds, Chicago basis, on live hogs early in August.

NAZARENE MEETING BEGINS

The Church of the Nazarene encampment began at Lake Cisco Presbyterian camp grounds last night, with Rev. John L. Knight of Mineral Wells, superintendent of the Abilene district, in charge.

Delegates began arriving early Monday and it is expected that this may be the best attended of any yet held in this district.

The encampment program will last through Sunday night, with services at 11 a. m. and again at 8 o'clock in the evening. The public is invited to attend these services, says Rev. L. H. Clegg, local pastor.

Dr. R. T. Williams of Kansas City, Mo., for 26 years general superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, is the guest speaker for each of the above mentioned services. On account of his native ability and his world travels, his talks will be intensely interesting.

Rev. R. T. Williams, Jr., son of Dr. Williams, is pastor at Sulphur Springs and will be director in charge of the music and will speak to the young people each afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Regular training courses in Christian service will be conducted daily from 8 to 10 o'clock in the morning, by Rev. W. B. Walker, pastor of Abilene First church, assisted by Rev. Albert Laing, pastor of First church at Lubbock, and Rev. James P. McGraw, pastor of the First church of Fort Worth.

The local pastor, Rev. L. H. Clegg, is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

EIGHTH DEATH.
FT. WORTH, July 20.—The total of active poliomyelitis cases under treatment in Fort Worth climbed to 72 today as the city counted its eighth death from the disease since the epidemic broke out the latter part of May.

AXIS BLASTERS—These three cadets won first place for San Angelo, Texas, bombardier school, among eight Army schools, in recent bombing classic at San Angelo. From left: Walter H. Cackowski, Alliquippa, Pa.; Edward J. Kosikowsky, Torrington, Conn., and Edwin L. Brown, Shelbyville, Ky. Wings and bars given them July 15.

BRITISH-MADE JAP GUN—Soldier in center, at Fort Ord, Cal., is holding 50-caliber anti-tank rifle captured from Japs. Ordnance officials were amazed to find it was made in Britain. How Japs at Attu got it was not revealed.

CADET THOMAS ENTERS AIR PILOT SCHOOL

The public relations office at Maxwell Field, Ala., informs the Cisco Daily Press that Kessler O. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Oliver Thomas, 2101 Humboldt, is now enrolled as an aviation cadet in the army air forces preflight school for pilots at that field, which is located on the outskirts of Montgomery, Ala.

Thomas is a former student of Allen Military Academy, Bryan, Tex., and also A. & M. College.

He was a mechanical engineer in civil life and had civilian pilot training before he entered the army.

CAMP'S DRINKING WATER IS FROM CISCO

"It's getting mighty dry and stock water is very nearly a thing of the past," said B. J. Camp, one of the prosperous farmers of the Dothan community while in Cisco Saturday.

Camp added that he is hauling water for his cattle, which he will continue to do until it rains. "With the exception of those stockmen who have more and larger tanks than the smaller

JOHNSON RANGER PASTOR FOR 22 YEARS

Pastors of the various Ranger churches have arranged a special service for Thursday night of this week at the First Christian church of Ranger, when tribute will be paid to Rev. H. B. Johnson on his twenty-second anniversary as pastor of that church.

An appropriate program has been worked out, it is announced, and the many friends of Mr. Johnson throughout the county are invited to attend. A delegation from Cisco will be present, it is stated.

Most of man's sinning is done in youth. After that it doesn't seem worth the ugliness, dirt, vulgarity, shame and sneaking.

ILLINOIS OIL KETTLE.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 20.—The Illinois oil kettle was approaching the boiling point today as a result of Secretary Ickes' threats of pinching Midwest gasoline rations. Signs here are that Ickes will be in the kettle if he practices further deprivation without good reasons.

WACS INCREASE.
FORT DES MOINES, Iowa, July 20.—Betty WAC and her sisters in khaki have come a long way in a year. There were only 770 women in the original contingent. Now there are 65,000 WACs and the Army says it could use 600,000.

BILL LATCH OF HELENA IS SAFE

"Am safe and well. Please do not worry. Love BILLY FORD LATCH."

The above cablegram was received in Cisco Monday and brought joy and happiness to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Z. Latch.

Bill Latch, 21, graduate of Cisco high school and a former captain of the Fighting Lobos, was a gunner on the USS. Helena when that gallant vessel sank beneath the waters of Kula Gulf in the early morning of July 6—after sinking two Japanese cruisers and two destroyers.

Approximately 1,200 men were aboard at the time and the first news given out was that about 800 of the ship's personnel had been saved. That was the only official information received in Cisco until the cable of yesterday.

Latch joined the Marines in May, 1941, and had been attached to the Helena for about two years, according to his sister, Miss Leila Latch.

The Daily Press and all Ciscoans join in congratulating the Latch family on the good news from their son and brother, who will very likely be given a well-earned furlough soon for a trip home.

W. W. LINKENHOGGER BUYS FEED STORE

W. W. Linkenhogger, who purchased the truck and tractor business of Frank Robertson, 307 W. Commerce, Eastland, January 1, 1942, has recently bought the Castlesbury Feed Store, 204 N. Seaman, that city.

The two lines of business will be operated separately, Mr. Linkenhogger stated this morning while calling at the Daily Press office to place advertising. B. W. Lambert and Henry Hardin will have charge of the feed store. Hardin is a former Ciscoan and was an employee of the Thornton Feed Store, here.

Mr. Linkenhogger was for some fifteen years traveling representative of the International Harvester company, knows his business and is well acquainted throughout the Cisco Country. The advertising placed with the Daily Press today is the result of excellent response to advertising carried in this paper in the past.

AFL LABOR SUIT.
AUSTIN, July 20.—The state's answer to the suit brought by the AFL and others attacking validity of the labor union regulation law was on file in Ninety-eighth district court here today asking dismissal of the action. District Judge J. D. Moore has set hearing for August 24.

TEXAS PRODUCTION.
AUSTIN, July 20.—Average daily oil allowable for the week ending July 17 totaled 1,699,958 barrels, a decrease of 10,326 barrels from the previous week, the railroad commission reported. The number of producing wells declined 312 to 99,522.

WACS INCREASE.
FORT DES MOINES, Iowa, July 20.—Betty WAC and her sisters in khaki have come a long way in a year. There were only 770 women in the original contingent. Now there are 65,000 WACs and the Army says it could use 600,000.

NAZI SENTRIES STABBED IN BACK; ROADS CHOKED WITH REFUGEES WHO WON'T BUDGE

NORTH AFRICA, July 20.—Numerous indications of mutinies by Italian troops commanded by German officers in Sicily were reported today by headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Word of the uprisings by Italian soldiers against the Nazi commanders was contained in a communique announcing continued advances by American and Canadian troops in the western and central sectors of the Sicilian battle front.

Little resistance was reported in the west, where the Axis forces were said to be surrendering by the hundreds.

The report of the mutinies was viewed as significant in the light of an assertion by the German "Freedom Transmitter" operated by right wing German army circles that Nazi soldiers were being "betrayed in Sicily." The broadcast, reported by Reuter's, said Nazi sentries were being stabbed in the back. It was said also that roads in Sicily were choked with refugees "who refuse to budge."

Eisenhower's report said Canadian troops in the central sector had come up against strong opposition but continued to fight their way forward.

German and Italian troops are continuing their desperate effort to save the east coast port of Catania from capture, the communique reported. The enemy's positions are protected south of the town by rivers flowing from west across the Catania Plain.

Over the whole front the Allied forces were reported only 20 miles from the north range of hills forming the west and east backbone of Sicily. The Axis forces have been thrown back to the last lateral highway linking the ferry terminal of Messina with the west.

There were unconfirmed reports that combined units of American and Canadian troops had reached Enna, geographical center of Sicily and vital hub of railways and roads extending to all points on the Italian island.

Units of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British 8th Army established a bridgehead north of Primo Solo span south of Catania and hurled back a number of German counter-attacks supported by tanks. The Germans were said to have used parachutists as infantry troops.

The British were reported within three miles of Catania on the south.

The 8th Army line with its new bridgehead now runs roughly westward from the sea toward the town of Ramacca.

Although the Germans offered stiff resistance to the 8th Army, the enemy opposition appeared to be crumbling under heavy aerial bombardment.

The Nazi-operated Paris radio reported violent fighting on the outskirts of Catania and said that "several times in the last few days Catania was nearly captured by Allied forces." Desperate Axis counter-attacks were credited with preventing the fall of the city.

500 YANKEE BOMBERS HIT ROME HARD

NORTH AFRICA, July 20.—More than 500 American bombers carried out the raid Monday on Rome, and freight yards at San Lorenzo and Littorio railroads were heavily bombed with "a great deal of rolling stock and railroad installations destroyed." Allied headquarters announced today.

The Tabonelli steel plant and a large chemical works were also damaged, the communique declared.

Five U. S. planes were lost, it said.

"Heavy attacks also were made on the Rome airdrome, where aircraft and hangars were destroyed," the bulletin added.

"Enemy aircraft and ground opposition was slight, but our escorting fighters shot down two enemy aircraft."

TRUCK PAPERS BURNED.
The truck carrying this afternoon's issue of the Ft. Worth Press for points in Eastland county, including Cisco, caught fire about five miles the other side of Weatherford and was completely destroyed, which necessitated returning to Ft. Worth for more copies of the paper, said F. T. Reames, local agent.

MALTESE PLEASED.
LONDON, July 20.—London morning papers said today that under signs "Bomb Rome" which have been chalked on the walls of buildings on the much-bombed island of Malta, the Maltese Monday wrote "thanks."

SNYDER, July 20.—Scurry County's seventh annual rodeo set a new record in attendance and war bond and stamp sales totaled $34,575 for the four-day performance.

CARRIES ON—Smart in her new WAVE uniform, Apprentice Seaman Genevieve Sullivan carries on tradition of her five brothers lost in Pacific. She's in training in Bronx, N. Y., school.

THE MIND OF MR. ICKES.

Harold Ickes answers the "poor mouths" that are wailing over the size of the national debt. He foots up the estimated value of the nation's chief minerals—coal, oil, iron, copper and one or two others—and arrives at a value of twelve trillions. Of this total wealth, our national debt is "a trifling 1.17 per cent," says Ickes. He issues these figures with a perfectly straight face, though Ickes' usual blunt honesty stirs a faint suspicion that he is subtly kidding his new deal brethren. Be that as it may, he has been taken seriously and the "exponents of spend" have gotten solid reassurance from his statistics.

The Wall Street Journal calls attention to a coal company which, owning half of the Pennsylvania anthracite, financed itself on this hopeful basis and went terribly "bust." What the Journal is saying, of course, is that the vital consideration in such a calculation is the probable utilization of a natural resource over a given period of indebtedness, not the inert masses that remain underground for generations that shall have either paid off or repudiated the debt. And, come to think of it, Ickes reasons strangely for a member of an administration that has at times tried valiantly to better the economic condition of its people by shooting livestock and plowing under crops.

In passing, the Journal pays tribute to Ickes for ushering in the era of trillions to succeed the era of billions that made its advent shortly after the coming in of the new deal administration. But he missed a big chance both to set a statistical record and to prove his point as to the "triflingness" of the national debt. He included in his estimate of wealth only a few of the nation's major minerals. He did not touch our water resources, or soils, or native flora and fauna, or climate which scientists estimate at greater economic value than all the others. He could easily have stepped his estimate up to quadrillions, quintillions, sextillions or even septillions. And then there is that greatest of all resources—human life. This could easily have boosted the estimate to octillions, nonillions or even into the numerical superstratosphere of decillions. And how very trifling our national debt would have become in comparison—only 1.17 quintillionth of one per cent! Thus the Secretary of the Interior could have simultaneously set records for reaching toward both the infinite and the infinitesimal. And easily have justified raising the national debt to several quadrillions! Q.E.D. 'Eureka! Holy mackerel!—Dallas News.

DOOMSDAY.

The German war machine obviously isn't what it used to be. It is still very powerful, and very successful, and very naughty—at least in the paper news—and it may take a while to subdue the war huns. But they are on the defensive now. Even their trucks "forward" when they are sure to make them defensive. They want to hold as much of their ill-gotten gains as possible, and to enter the final reckoning as long as possible. But time runs and the Devil is behind them, and even the old Norse gods can't save them now. And in their black hearts they know it and are afraid.

Their power is declining and Allied power is rising. Russia holds and will continue to hold, while the modern Huns batter themselves to pieces. The power of this young nation, transferred from the factory to the battlefield, grows steadily. German war power has been for three years the greatest that ever appeared on this earth and, through treachery and coalition with the Japs, it almost won its purpose, but it is overmatched now. History will probably repeat itself. The Destroyers of Europe will fight on, with vigor and venom, until they have shot their last bolt; then they will suddenly collapse, and the world will wonder that they were ever so terrible.

And after that, the Japs! They will pay for their sins, and there will be no fight left in them. And so the world will be cleansed. God grant that in that great day we, the defenders of righteousness, will prove true to our trust.

JAPS WORRIED.

Things cannot be going well in Japan. They are finding it necessary to use propaganda, not merely on the yet unconquered Orient, but on their own people as well. John Patric, a writer with long experience of this treacherous country tells in his new book, "Why Japan Was Strong," that films are being displayed in Japan which show a Nipponese officer giving his last drop of water to a stricken enemy. He is then stabbed in the back by the ungrateful Yank.

Apart from the light this practice throws on Japanese solidarity, it will be news to most people that the Japanese disapprove of treachery.

MAN SHORTAGE.

As the Nazi Germans get their males killed off in predatory and unnecessary wars, the population naturally acquires a large female surplus. So arise the questions, what to do with the surplus women and how to carry on the race. Naturally the Nazis don't want to die off after all their laborious conquests.

There is a suggestion of polygamy which has provided a temporary solution of the problem in many times and lands, including the American experiment in Utah in the last century. It is frankly advocated by Dr. Johan von Leer of the University of Jena. Similar views are said to be held by Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi minister for occupied territories in the east. It would be interesting to know what German women think about that. They may decide that they're not interested in raising men promiscuously to die in foreign wars of conquest.

GORMAN FRUIT GROWERS SET FIELD DAY

The Gorman Cooperative Fruit Growers' association will hold its annual field day at Gorman next Monday, 2.30 o'clock, says Floyd Lynch, county agent. A large crowd and a big time is anticipated. The meeting will be held at what is known as the Fruit Stand.

A systematic spraying schedule has been carried out by most of the members of the association and speakers will explain the advantages of various sprayers. A defuzzing plant has been installed and has been generally satisfactory. Miss Gladys Martin, home demonstration agent, will demonstrate the drying of benches. We promise self-government to all lands where the people are qualified for it. Most they qualify as we state.

HERE IS REST—Oasis of peace and quiet, where battered bodies and jangled nerves can be nursed back to normalcy is this U. S. Navy hospital somewhere in South Pacific. Fleet Recreation Center is on same island giving vacation site for nerve-racked fighting men who may not need hospital or medical treatment.

MANHATTAN FARM—Maybe you wouldn't believe it, but here's a complete Victory garden on Fifth Avenue, New York. It's on roof of an apartment house and Louis L. Samler, owner, says its products range from strawberries to corn.

CHECK IT HERE—Men going into armed services from Oak Park, Ill., hang hats in drug-store of A. O. Wetzell to call for them after war. Mrs. John L. Davidson, Jr., left, husband overseas, and Rosemary Tye, three brothers in uniform, check hats.

BREAD MOLD—Here is a photomicrograph of mold on bread, that causes food losses of millions of dollars annually. Du Pont Company has perfected "mycoban" mold inhibitor which, added to bread, will protect 3,000,000 loaves against mold.

Dewey's election as President would at least satisfy curiosity. We'd find out what he stands for and believes in.

Group prejudice will end when no man feels his pride by saying: "We are better than you are."

Don't Lose Your Abstract-- The owner is selling the place and can't find his abstract. The one he had was loaned out or burned up when the house caught on fire, or he has otherwise lost or misplaced it. The buyer rushes the seller, the seller rushes the abstractor and the abstractor rushes his employees -- and with everybody rushing the deal is finally closed. Moral: Keep the abstract in a safe place. If you do not have an abstract, place your order with us today. EARL BENDER & COMPANY, INC. ABSTRACTORS 1923-1943 Eastland Texas
