ITALIAN KING MAY QUIT; SHOWDOWN NEAR

Cisco Gunner Home From England After Making 25 Air Attacks on the Axis

Tall, jolly, modest and unassuming to a marked degree, Staff Sgt. James L. Stafford of the U. S. army air corps (overseas), is back in the home town for a 15-day visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don McEachern, and his many Cisco friends.

The Ciscoan, as the result of having participated in 25 combat raids on the Axis, has been grounded. His headquarters were in England and all his flying was done from there and at night.

Like most soldiers, sailors and flyers who have really made history, Stafford has been so terribly in earnest about his job that it has become to him more or less commonplace, and the things stay-at-homes like to hear recounted are apparently of such little moment to him that he hesitates to talk about them.

Sergeant Stafford, 22, appears to be in fine physical condition. He stands six feet two inches in his socks, wears a healthy tan on his face and has none of the nervousness about him that is often noticed in returned fighting men, who have faced death constantly, night after night, with enemy planes all about, dealing death and destruction, to say nothing of enemy anti-aircraft guns that belch death with great precision if you get lower than 20,000 feet.

Asked if he was scared when high above the earth and in enemy areas, Stafford answered that he was always scared, but he said it so casually and with such a frank smile that one wonders if he was actually frightened, or just trying to be modest about the matter and to avoid seeming to be heroic. To hear this fine representative of young American manhood discuss his flying experiences, one automatically concludes that he must have gone about his work seriously each night, with the idea uppermost that the task should be performed as quickly as possible and in thorough manner. And one doubts that fear entered into his mental processes to any great extent.

Asked if he could see his targets clearly, he answered that planes usually bomb from a height of five or six miles, if one got lower than that there was too much danger from ground fire—usually very precise at distances less than 20,000 feet.

Stafford arrived in England last September and got into action early in October. He was on a number of different Flying Fortresses, but the last one was "We the People," first commanded by Capt. Clifford Pyle of Marshall, Tex., and later by Capt. Charles O. Cramer of Ohio.

While in England, he met Lieut. Carpenter, who over-lived in Cisco with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carpenter, the father having been in the feed business across the street from the Norvell-Miller grocery. Lieut. Carpenter was later killed in action.

Stafford has received three citations—an air medal, three oak leaf clusters and the Distinguished Flying Cross. These honors followed each other rather closely.

The sergeant said he rarely ever returned from a trip without his plane being more or less riddled from enemy guns—sometimes with one or two motors missing—but he was lucky enough that he was never grounded, nor failed to get home safely.

He spoke feelingly of his buddy gunner on a companion ship—W. B. Shirley, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Shirley of Cisco—who has been reported missing and is thought to be a prisoner of the Germans. Stafford saw Shirley blast a German flyer out of the skies on one raid. Shirley was a tail gunner, like Stafford, but on another Flying Fortress.

There are usually eight gunners on a bomber, six men and two officers; all the men and two of the officers handle guns. Asked if he knew how many enemy planes he had hit, Stafford said he didn't know, because he was always so busy watching for other planes that he had no time to watch and see if the plane he shot at was really falling or just diving out of the way.

The 25 combat raids covered many towns in Germany, France, Belgium and the Netherlands. Many of these were major bombings that did so much damage they were reported in big headlines in papers in the United States. Often the town they were ordered to bomb in Germany was so obscured by fog that it could not be seen, but in such cases they bombed whatever town they could find. However, in other countries like France or other conquered nations, they only bombed where they were ordered to bomb. There was no promiscuous bombing done there.

Asked about the attitude of the English people toward the war, Stafford said business was normal and they were confident that they would win the war in one or two years, but determined to stay on the job until it was finished right.

E. L. JACKSON TO ENTER NAVY CONST. UNIT

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McCauley entertained a number of Lions and their wives Friday night in a lawn party honoring Lion E. L. Jackson, who leaves today for Williamsburg, Va., where he will enter the construction division of the U. S. navy. Sandwiches and cold drinks were served on the lawn adjacent to their home of native stone, in the Mancill addition, West Cisco.

Mr. Jackson, who has been with the West Texas Utilities company for the past 20 years, is line supervisor and assistant superintendent of this district. He is not severing his connection with the company, but is taking a leave of absence for the duration of his service with the construction division.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schmidt were co-hosts with the McCauleys in the honor event.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Stoney, C. M. Nevill, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Kirk, Charles S. Sandler, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. LaRouge, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Carter Belew, the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McCauley and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schmidt.

HUDDLESTON OF MARINES WRITES HOME

Laven Huddleston, 18, who joined the Marines recently, has arrived in San Diego, Calif., after a most interesting trip, which he describes in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Huddleston. The young man is a graduate of Cisco high school and formerly a carrier for the Cisco Daily Press, having held the same route for nearly five years. He was in the employ of the A-G Motor company just before he joined the fighting Marines. His letter:

Dear Folks: Arrived okay and am having a swell time. The Marine life is grand, at least it hasn't got rough for me yet.

I cannot tell you anything about the life I live at the Marine base, only do not send me candy, chewing gum, cake and the like, as it will be thrown into the trash can. But, you can send me four coat hangers, a padlock, a new razor and some blades, plus a carton of cigars.

I had a wonderful trip out here, with but four hours layover in El Paso and five at Phoenix, Ariz. Mother, it sure is a beautiful country from Phoenix to San Diego. Two engines were used to pull the train as we climbed steep hills. We would be going along looking down into canyons hundreds of feet deep, then suddenly dart into a tunnel. We passed through 17 tunnels, some hundreds of feet deep and very long. It was actually exciting. We passed over some of the tallest and longest bridges I ever imagined. And it was a thrill at curves where the engines and the end of the train almost met.

Don't look for letters too often, because I'll be too busy to write many letters. Tell everybody howdy. Love, LAVON.

M'PHERSON WOUNDED. DALLAS, July 31.—The war department announces that Walter L. McPherson, son of W. H. McPherson, route two, Breckenridge, has been wounded in action in the Aleutian area.

READY FOR THE HOP TO BRITAIN

THE Canadian-built and Canadian-guarded outpost at Goose Bay, Labrador, is one of the world's largest and most important air bases. From this vital field, the Royal Canadian Air Force, with the cooperation of the United Nations Air Force, deliver the necessary ships to embattled Britain. While these "Flying Forts" are being serviced, as shown above, previous to their take-off, Canadian soldiers carefully stand guard by them. Before leaving, inset, pilots get their last-minute instructions from Captain Cardiff of Los Angeles, California, who has well over 10,000 flying hours and several trips across the Atlantic to his credit.

EUROPEAN SITUATION TEETERING

FORT WORTH TAKES LEAD TEXAS CITIES

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Next hundred hours may decide whether the European war will end by Christmas or continue another 12 months. Hitler's coalition is built like a house of cards. Removal of one member, the whole structure, knock out Italy and only a miracle can keep the rest from falling. If Italy collapses completely, not only Bulgaria is expected to follow soon. If Italy and Bulgaria go, look for Hungary to be next, then Rumania. Finland would quit today if she could be certain of Atlantic Charter terms. If Germany is stripped of its supporting vassals, Hitler will almost certainly be deposed as Mussolini was. New interim government would be set up to make peace with the Allies. It happened suddenly that way in 1918 and there's some 50-50 betting that history will repeat—with variations, of course.

Look for Turkey to play a historic role somewhere along the line of march. She wants to sit at the peace table, and she can't do it unless she becomes a belligerent. Nor can she speak with authority if she comes too late.

Here's a tip from the top: Watch for something big in the Pacific—something the Japs won't like at all.

Another tip, this time from diplomatic quarters. Russia has no intention of collaborating. Fully with other western powers in the post-war world. Impression grows that she plans to arrange Eastern, Central and Southeastern Europe to suit herself, playing a lone hand. That, say the wise ones, is the lesson of the "Free Germany Committee," just set up in Moscow with such fanfare.

Wendell Wilkie may come to the 1944 Republican convention with most of the New England delegates in his pocket. Gov. Saiton of Massachusetts is lining them up for him, his friends say.

AUSTIN, July 31.—The state property tax rate for 1943 will be determined Monday. Indications were it would be 65 to 67 cents per $100 valuation, compared with 75 cents last year.

RUSSIAN STRATEGY WINNING

CROSS PLAINS HERO

RANGER, July 31.—Capt. Robert Lee Hise, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hise of Cross Plains, is home for a West Texas visit after 45 bombing missions in the Mediterranean area. A bombardier on a B-25 Mitchell bomber, Capt. Hise has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the air medal with three oak leaf clusters.

STARTS DRAB LIFE

DALLAS, July 31.—Mrs. May K. Frailey, who killed her two children rather than give them up to their father, started a drab life behind the walls of a state hospital for the insane today. The 41-year-old blonde was committed to the Terrell state hospital yesterday.

S. air officers will speak Sunday in a special world-wide broadcast celebrating the 36th anniversary of the Air Forces, the War Department announced today. Among the speakers will be Gen. James Doolittle of Tokyo fame, who will speak from northwest Africa.

3 NEGRO ARMY SOLDIERS GET DEATH VERDICT

NELMS FUNERAL MONDAY

PARIS, Texas, July 31.—Three Negro Army privates were under sentence of death Saturday for attacking a 20-year-old white waitress at Camp Claiborne, La., May 10, 1942.

A general court-martial at Camp Maxey found them guilty and sentenced them to death by hanging.

The men were Pvt. Lawrence Mitchell, Saginaw, Mich.; Pvt. Richard Phillips Adams, Columbus, Ohio, and Pvt. John Walter Bordenave, New Orleans.

At a trial in July, 1942, the of-ice said, the three Negroes were sentenced to death by the federal district court at Alexandria, La.

An appeal carried to the United States Supreme Court resulted in transfer of the case to military jurisdiction. They were to have been executed Oct. 30, 1942.

NELMS FUNERAL MONDAY.

The funeral of Larkin R. Nelms, who died Friday, will be held at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Church of Christ, with Rev. Robert Reeves of Abilene officiating. The Thomas funeral home will then convey the remains to the Dennis cemetery near Moran for burial. Pallbearers will be J. H. Elam, C. C. Pippen, H. J. Pippen, L. A. Parks, Jr., V. W. Lewis and H. L. Calloway.

BADOGGIO'S PEACE PROPOSAL SURE OF REJECTION; NEW ALLIED INVASION BLOW LIKELY

LONDON, July 31.—Count Carlo Badoglio, leader of the Italian Fascist government, has been rejected by the Allies. The Italian peace offer was rejected by the Allies.

The Swedish Social-Democratic and well-informed circles in Bern believe that King Victor Emmanuel would abdicate in favor of Crown Prince Umberto and Badoglio would resign in favor of Marshal Ion G. Grigoriu, former chief of the army staff and generalissimo of Italy.

Badoglio was said to have contemplated himself to continue the war to such an extent that his presence would prejudice peace negotiations while Grigoriu might better obtain for Italy a "peace with honor."

German civilians living in Italy were officially advised to leave the straits region Saturday and to remain provided in London as Council ordered British cabinet members and heads of the fighting services to "stand by" for a possible weekend emergency.

Some quarters believed a new Allied invasion blow was imminent.

"Italy may be out of the war tomorrow," said the London Daily Mirror.

Meanwhile, partisan guerrilla armies were on the march in the Balkans.

The Yugo-Slav government-in-exile announced in London that Gen. Drago Mihailovic's 3th and 5th Brigades of Slovene partisan fighters had broken through the Italian lines and had reached the Udine region of Northern Italy.

German troops guarding the Trieste gateway to Northern Italy were previously reported to have taken strong positions at Udine.

A Swiss dispatch reported that Badoglio has drafted a four-point program to take Italy out of the war and return her to neutral status and will resign if—as even he expects—it is rejected by either the Allies or Germany.

From Cairo came a report attributed to "reliable sources" that German forces have begun disarming Italian troops in Larissa, Grecian gateway to Albania, and have taken over the occupation of Athens in a gradual assumption of the control of all Greece.

European reports said Camillo and his wife Edda, Mussolini's daughter, had taken refuge in Vatican City following Mussolini's ouster last Sunday.

The report that Badoglio had drafted a peace proposal reached London as the British war cabinet was placed on call for possible emergency week-end meetings in connection with the Italian crisis.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Zurich quoted an Italian diplomatic source as reporting that the plan called for:

1. A request to the Allies and to Germany to consent to Italy's return to neutral status under control of military experts acceptable to both sides.
2. An Italian guarantee of immediate withdrawal of German troops from Italy and demobilization of Italian forces.
3. Concession of Sicily to the Allies for the duration of the war.
4. A pledge from both sides that the Italian mainland will not be employed for military operations.

The Italian diplomatic sources who reported the proposals was quoted as saying that "it seems quite clear that Badoglio himself" did not expect the Allies to accept them and therefore probably intends to resign as chief of government.

Italian army reserves of the 1904 to 1918 classes inclusive are being mobilized, a Zurich dispatch said.

LOOSE MONEY.

The government continues to worry about the inflation danger, and so do millions of citizens. But more people are worrying about it than are doing anything about it. The usual attitude seems to be that it's something like fate, and can't be helped or prevented.

It is indicated at Washington that the president will go to the people soon with "blueprints" of this situation, pointing out that something can and must be done about it. The sooner, the better.

There are said to be tens of billions of loose dollars sloshing around this country, in the form of cash, credit and bank deposits, looking for things to buy. And at a time when there are fewer and fewer things produced, it is natural to try to buy them by offering more money for them. That means wasteful spending by those who have it, and makes life harder for those who haven't.

One simple remedy for this wasteful foolishness doesn't seem yet to have occurred to millions of people. It is the process of putting loose money into war bonds. That takes it out of circulation, eases the spending pressure and keeps down prices, and at the same time creates savings for future hard times.

MEDALS, SALUTES

A retired navy officer, who evidently reads Daily Press editorials, writes in to say that we were wrong about the number of congressional medals of honor granted in this war—there have been several more than the two mentioned in connection with the decoration of Sergeant Maynard H. Smith, flying fortress gunner of Caro, Mich. The tussle officer adds:

"That stuff about a medal of honor rating a salute from one's seniors is a fairy tale, quite generally believed among the lower ranks and the lately appointed officers, but with no basis in fact. Well, maybe the gremlin got us on that hot day when we wrote about Sergeant Smith. Gremlins like to mix things up. It is in the European theater that only two medals have been awarded by deeds of valor—the others were performed elsewhere. It all goes to show what wonderful fighting men we have—and no doubt for every medal granted there are dozens of heroes who do their stuff unknown. Honor is due to all of them, mediated or unmediated."

As for salutes from seniors, including four-star generals, it was told by the Associated Press, and all we can say is that if the medal boys don't rate those salutes, it's too bad. If the gremlins told the AP's correspondent a fairy tale, at least it was one easy to believe.

HONEY BEES.

There's a movement under way to make the honey bees work for their country. They seem willing enough, if provided with proper rations and building materials, and it can be done on a rather large scale close to cities, or even within the smaller ones. Properly handled, bees are said to make a liberal contribution to the war effort. Honey is one of the finest of foods.

It doesn't seem likely that many city people will start right off, installing beehives and studying the mysteries of bee culture, and the slick art of getting the insects to divide their production with their owners, without protest. Bees, like people, have to be understood in order to exploit them. And they can be very unpleasant when treated roughly. But boys are often very good in such enterprises, and may succeed in exploiting the bees without any untoward results.

There is considerable satisfaction, also, in seeing the bees foraging on the neighbors' flower gardens, without the neighbors having any notion of what is going on. And, in time, the intelligent bee might be developed into a sort of home guard and help keep Friend Neighbor's cows and hens on the right side of the fence.

ISOLATED.

Apparently the elimination of Mussolini, or Messolini, and the accession to power of Marshal Badoglio was taken in conformity with Allied suggestion. The extended hand and the big drive in Sicily worked together to that end.

So what? The people of this country have not really regarded Italy as an enemy in this war, but rather as a weak captive nation forced temporarily to a hostile attitude against the Allies. The Italian people themselves, in their contacts with the American army, have mostly seemed to take the same attitude. With the insolent, dishonest, incompetent Duce gone, apparently the stage is set for the United States and Italy to assume friendly relations again, after unconditional surrender, a decent interval and full proof of Italian good will.

Badoglio, temporary new head of the Italian government, is a conservative and has been a Fascist, but is probably cured of that disease. Victor Emmanuel is a puppet king who will do what he is told to do. Apparently there is no reason why the United Nations and Italy should not be on good terms soon. Most Italians and most Americans will welcome such a development. It will leave Hitler and his vicious gang very much alone in a very hostile world.

CANINE COMMANDOS

The Canadian Army's newest recruits are four dogs of mixed breed who are learning to use their fangs for guard duty. The dogs will grab an intruder and pin him down until help arrives. Inset shows Lou Abfalter, a well-known dog trainer, who is teaching the canines commando tactics.

FOUR of the newest recruits in the Canadian Army are youngsters of 15 to 18 months, averaging about 65 pounds in weight and from two feet to 18 inches in height, answering to the names of Private Buster, Ping, Rex and Possum. Altogether they form a sort of canine United Nations. Rex is an even mixture of husky and collie. Buster is half Labrador retriever and half terrier. Ping is 50 per cent collie and 50 per cent chow. Possum, who looks like an aboriginal, claims that his place in Dooden's nationality is a military secret.

Training for guard duty with the Army, the four dogs are undergoing a four-week course in canine commando tactics. They are learning to be suspicious of everyone except their keepers, four members of the R.C.O.P. Pte. E. M. Brennan of Ottawa has teamed up with Rex, Pte. A. Dennis of New Brunswick with Buster, Pte. W. Jones of Winnipeg with Ping, and Pte. J. G. McIntyre of New Brunswick with Possum.

The dogs are learning to attack an intruder by seizing his arm and pulling him down. An instructor wears a heavy two-inch-thick pad from his shoulder to his finger tips for the job. When he approaches, the dogs are supposed to leap upon him and get a good hold on the padding. They all respond in the approved manner except Buster, who takes a bite at the padding and then tries to sink his teeth into the instructor's ankles. According to the trainer it's a neat trick that Buster himself developed—but it's a little tough on the instructor.

Meals for the dogs consist of 3 pounds of cooked meat for every 25 pounds they weigh. They are given one serving a day. They are fed, groomed and taken on their patrols by only one man. The presence of a second person anywhere within their sight will result with a hot reception. The dogs are trained to respond to verbal commands and gestures. They are never struck nor whipped even though in the early days of their training they disobey orders.

Nature has given them thick heavy coats, ideal equipment for duty during cold winters.

NANCE MOTOR OPEN HOUSE BIG SUCCESS

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Nance and employees of the Nance Motor company were hosts Friday night at the formal opening of the shop at the former location which has just been completed at the location where the former building was burned last winter.

Mr. Nance purchased the ruins of the building and the lot and has rebuilt both the business structure and the living apartments above. The shop, office and living apartments have been arranged to afford the most possible efficiency and all have been painted and otherwise decorated in appropriate manner.

The shop has been rebuilt and arranged so that most any size vehicle can be accommodated within the shop itself, while lights are spotted to give each workman the greatest efficiency. The front office was skillfully planned for convenience.

Mr. and Mrs. Nance escorted their many visitors through the living apartments, showing the surprisingly roomy and practically arranged units of the house as a whole. The three bedrooms are so arranged that the prevailing breezes that make Cisco's summers so pleasant, blow through them to make sleep delightful.

The kitchen is thoroughly modern, while the living room is of ample size to care for entertainment of their friends on any occasion.

Mr. Nance is especially proud of one special closet of the many that are built into the house. This closet contained no article of women's raiment. Nance said all his life he had been forced to push a multiplicity of women's garments out of his way in order to find his things. Now he could go into this closet and see nothing but his own apparel and possessions. He guessed that there were few such closets in Cisco homes.

Personnel of the Nance Motor company: S. H. Nance, president and manager; Grace Dean Ivie, bookkeeper; Gene Emsley, shop foreman; Marshall Wallace, C. E. Moore, Davis P. King, John Henry Collins, Terry Johnson and Don Hood.

An Open House

To the Public:

We wish to extend to our many customers and friends an invitation to visit our new home, commemorating the twelfth year of our advent into the fair city of Cisco.

We have made scores of friends since coming here, and we attribute it to the democratic principles we have tried to put into practice.

It has always been our policy to treat every one alike, whether friend or stranger, black or white; and to render the very best service that is in our power to give.

We feel that our personnel, both in shop and office is of the best. It is true we have had our ups and downs during the past twelve years, but through it all we have kept our chins up and strived to look the world in the face and continue to give to the public the very best service possible. We love people and it is a great joy to serve them—the night is never too dark or cold to answer the call to go out and assist some one that needs help. Our motto: "A friend in need is a friend indeed."

During our very recent misfortune, it looked as though the end of our business career was at hand; but through the cooperation and help of you, our friends, we have fought through smoke and ruins and are back on top ready to give the best service we are capable of rendering.

We are extremely anxious for you to come and see our new home, for we are very proud of it and want you to help us enjoy it. We even want you to see our little pent-house, up stairs.

Very sincerely yours,

MR. and MRS. S. H. NANCE.

Men you've never even met Are fighting for you now!

Americans, all—millions of them! The son of the tailor down at the corner . . . the young brother of the banker . . . the nephew of the gas-station man . . . the farm boy from Iowa . . . the college boy from Park Avenue.

Fighting, all of them—for us. That's Democracy in action. Because all Americans were "created free and equal" every American has an equal duty to perform.

And that's where WE come in. We've got to back up those boys. We've got to see that they get the stuff to fight with. Planes . . . tanks . . . guns . . . bullets . . . bombs . . . more of them than the world has ever seen before.

Every payday we've got to save—put 10 percent of our pay in War Bonds. Millions of other Americans are doing it. "Sacrifice," you say? As great a sacrifice as the boys made at Bataan or Corregidor! As great a sacrifice as a Bier made who deliberately gave his life to bomb a Jap plane carrier!

Nothing we can do can ever equal what these men have already done!

Mind you, we're not even asked to give this money. Every time we save $18.75 we get a War Bond worth $25 in 10 years.

That's why we're not looking for excuses, we Americans. We're not looking for excuses from lending money, when other Americans are giving their lives!

DO YOU KNOW?

When you buy WAR BONDS, you're saving, not giving! Series E WAR BONDS are worth 33 1/2 percent more in 10 years! You get $4 for every $3 you invest!

These BONDS, when held to maturity (10 years), yield 2.9 percent per year on your investment, compounded semiannually!

Joining a Pay-Roll Savings Plan makes saving easy!

Joining your bank's Victory Club (it works like any Thrift or Christmas Club) is a convenient way to save for War Bonds for those who aren't members of a Pay-Roll Savings Plan.

You can have enough money to do a lot of things you'd like to do, and to buy the many things you'll need after the war is over, if you save enough in War Bonds every payday NOW!

You can start buying WAR BONDS by buying War Stamps for as little as 10 cents.
