J. M. WILLIAMSON, CISCO BUILDER, IS DEAD

HAD BEEN TIRELESS IN THE WORK OF CIVIC BETTERMENT SINCE HE CAME HERE, 1888

J. M. Williamson, 76, mayor of Cisco from 1915 until 1931 and leader of a progressive group of citizens who envisioned, financed and built Williamson dam, thus creating Lake Cisco, one of the finest bodies of fresh water in Texas, died at his home here at 4 o'clock this morning. He had been confined to his home for more than a year, but was conscious and talked with family and friends until a few hours before the final call.

that arose, legal and otherwise, with the result that the dam was completed within a period of three years.

Today Lake Cisco is 85 feet deep at Williamson dam, is approximately three miles long and covers thousands of acres of land and admittedly provides the best drinking water in this section of Texas or elsewhere. In addition the lake is well stocked with game fish and draws fishermen from wide areas.

The lake also made possible the largest outdoor swimming pool in the world, which is located just below the dam and is popular with bathers from a wide area.

It would be almost impossible to catalogue the many civic enterprises fostered or supported by Mr. Williamson, such as the formation of the municipal chamber of commerce, the erection of Cisco's high school building and the locating here of Randolph college, now Cisco Junior college. During each waking hour as mayor his mind was constantly searching for some additional enterprise or project that would push the home town further forward.

MAJOR ALFORD HELPED RAZE HAMBURG, GER.

Word has been received that Major D. G. Alford, pilot of a Flying Fortress, participated in a successful raid over Hamburg, Germany, on July 25. Press dispatches of yesterday stated that Hamburg has now been practically destroyed by Allied bombs.

HERMAN BOGGS ENROUTE HOME FROM ABROAD

Herman Boggs, 38, son of J. G. Boggs of Cisco, has been honorably discharged from service with the armed forces and is now on American soil and enroute home. The Cisco soldier enlisted in March, 1941, and has been with General Patton's famous first armored division, which is making history in Sicily. Boggs participated in the celebrated drive on and capture of Tunisia.

DR. CULP TO PREACH TWO SERMONS HERE

Dr. C. W. Culp, pastor of Queensborough Baptist church, Shreveport, will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church of Cisco Sunday, both morning and evening. Dr. Culp is the father of Paul Culp, a deacon in the local church.

HON. J. M. WILLIAMSON.

NAZI LINE IN RUSSIA SAID NEAR COLLAPSE

MOSCOW, Aug. 6.—The entire German line of fortifications in South Russia was threatened with collapse today as victorious Red Army forces smashed westward toward Bryansk from captured Orel and drove forward into the Ukraine from occupied Belgorod.

61,000 MEXICAN WORKERS IN THE U. S.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—Senate aid was awaited today by farm workers left destitute here after failing to receive contracts for work in the United States.

CALF ROPING SUNDAY AFTER-NOON AT 2:30

"We're going to have a wild Brahma calf roping Sunday afternoon," said Jim Sauls today. "I have purchased 15 of the meanest calves I have ever seen and, believe me, they are some tough," he continued.

When asked what it was all about, Mr. Sauls said that he was going to have a roping contest at about 2:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and a jackpot would be given to the winner. He said he was not sure whether the wild Brahmas or the ropers would get the jackpot.

GRAHAM MINISTER TO HOLD REVIVAL HERE

Rev. Seba Kirkpatrick, pastor of the Twelfth-st. Methodist church, announces that a revival will be started at his church Wednesday, August 18. Services will be held daily at 10 a. m. and 8:30 p. m.

WIFE KILLS GIRL

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 6.—Police Chief Dudley E. McFayden said today that Mrs. Rhea Sciacca, 32, had confessed that she poured a fatal potion of carbolic acid on a 19-year-old girl in an effort to "disfigure the girl's face because it was younger than mine." The girl, Stella Mae Morgan, an employe at Brookley Field, died at a hospital shortly after the acid-pouring incident. Chief McFayden said Mrs. Sciacca, in a statement, charged that her husband, a Mobile business man, had been "dating" Miss Morgan and that three met Thursday to "talk things over."

O'DANIEL SAYS PLAN A FOOT TO CHANGE US. TO COMMUNISTIC-SOCIALISTIC BASIS

FT. WORTH, Aug. 6.—Senator O'Daniel charged in a radio address Thursday night that there is a "dynasty" at Washington attempting to transform the nation into a Communist or Socialist state.

He spoke over facilities of WFAA as a special feature of that station's invitation to members of congress to review activities of the session just closed, and similar invitations have been extended to Senator Connally and Speaker Rayburn.

"I believe that the most dangerous enemy the people of this nation have today, so far as domestic affairs are concerned, is the dynasty at Washington which is using the war emergency to transform our nation into a Communist or Socialist state," O'Daniel said, speaking from his ranch home near Aledo.

He charged that the Federal government, for example, has paid sugar-beet and sugar-cane farmers to curtail plantings in order to create an "alleged" sugar shortage, in order to employ more "bureaucrats" to ration the artificially created shortage.

He said that gasoline rationing in Texas, where motor fuel is plentiful, is just an example of Washington bureaucrats' craving power to "regulate and rule." Among the other artificially created shortages, O'Daniel charged, are cotton-seed meal and cake, iron (because the government refused to sponsor a project at Rusk to smelt East Texas iron ore) and labor.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Aug. 6.—After 37 days and nights of bitter struggle, the United Nations won an air base within fighter plane striking distance of Rabaul today when the key Japanese air field at Munda on New Georgia Island was overwhelmed and all organized enemy resistance ceased.

An official communique issued by General MacArthur told briefly of the victory that climaxed an offensive launched on June 30 which already has cost the Japanese heavily in ships and planes as well as in previously-occupied territory. The communique said:

"Munda is now in our hands and all organized enemy resistance has ceased.

"Action is now limited to the destruction of isolated enemy groups.

"Sixteen hundred and seventy-one enemy dead already have been collected."

The Woodlark and Triobriand Islands, Rendova off the coast of New Georgia and all but a few miles of the Lae-Salamaua area on the New Guinea coast are now in Allied hands.

Munda capped the climax of victory. For as soon as the air strip is repaired, the base can be used by fighter planes protecting huge bombers in assaults against Rabaul, pivot of all Japanese offense and defense in the Southwest Pacific.

But not until Gen. MacArthur announced today that all organized resistance had ceased could it definitely be said that Munda was ours.

As on many previous occasions, the Japanese had to be wiped out man by man. Infantrymen sweeping down the slopes of Kokengolo and Bibolo hills which overlook the air field encountered one hidden enemy nest after the other and each had to be dealt with individually.

Concrete revetments erected by the Japanese were found filled with machine gunners, grenade-throwers, riflemen and snipers. Tank support enabled the Americans and Austrians to move in strength against these emplacements, but any general frontal assault was impossible and the whole affair took time.

There never was any question of the outcome, but no one at Allied headquarters was inclined to boast the capture until it was known the Japanese had been entirely defeated and the last long chance of a counter-attack with inevitable Allied casualties had been removed.

By surrounding the air strip, which lies 450 miles southeast of Rabaul, Allied forces cut off the main Japanese lines of retreat and although some high enemy officers probably made a temporary get-away across Kula Gulf to Kolombangara Island, the vast bulk of the enemy garrison was wiped out.

The total enemy casualties is not yet known but probably will prove to be large. The Japanese made every possible effort to hold Munda and lost many ships in various engagements trying to pour reinforcements into the base. The enemy death-toll may not reach the 40,000 level of Guadalcanal, but it will be considerable nevertheless.

SWEDISH PEOPLE PLEASED AT NEW ORDER IN ITALY

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 6.—"The whole Swedish people welcomes with great satisfaction the government's declaration that transit of German troops to and from Norway via Sweden has been stopped," the newspaper Dagens Nyheter said editorially today.

"This decision has been awaited for months, weeks and at last for days.

"This aid to oppressors of brother peoples was painful to the Swedish people. German occupation of Norway has not been what Sweden thought it would be in 1940. Instead of legal occupation, there has been terror from a traitor government supported by German troops. The situation in Norway became unendurable and Sweden's position intolerable."

LIBERTY.

It is a good thing that there is soon to be more gasoline for the eastern seaboard, and that the pump on measure driving is dropping off by its own weight. It would probably have given some trouble before long.

Americans may gripe about rationing, but they respect it. They know it is a means of holding the early war coffee ration by gasoline as there is an end. Their feeling about the present ration was quite different.

An American wants to see his own things as he sees fit. He's willing to get along on four gallons of gas a month if necessary, or even on none if that will win the war. But when he has his four gallons in the tank he doesn't want any little bureaucratic, not even his best friend or pleasantest neighbor, telling him he can't use it to go to the family reunion at Aunt Jennie's.

If he wants to take the family work and to walk home to his mother and give her gas to take his girl out of a Saturday night, he resents being told he must. He thinks it's nobody's business how he uses his ration. "I can't justify it," who knows what's right for any other man to do?

That was the trouble with what is termed the Production Era in America. It was about 35 percent of the people really recognizing the daily utility of the remaining 65 percent, and the firm policy of the latter—whether right or wrong—that they were not going to be panned around and find what to do with their own lives.

The measure driving has not so much as 100 in the same class. Starting as a reasonable rationing regulation it was becoming a compulsory law. Such laws are not consistent with American traditions. They do not work.

The "tin hat" of a tin boat is a popular subject in the art. She reported it was made.

The morning long there was a tin boat in the bay, and the tin boat was being worked on. I decided right then that I would buy a tin boat for the same price as I would a gray-eyed beauty. There is only one tin boat in the bay who didn't pester him.

LONG BRANCH

Mrs. Minnie Jo Milford, who has spent most of her life near Long Branch, is now employed in a defense plant in Ft. Worth. She and her children Frances Jo, Tom, Nell and Sandra Sue will move soon into their new residence now under construction.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Poe of Cisco visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Poe Sunday.

Robert Hamilton from Electra is visiting his cousin John Edward Dudley.

Cloyd Walker and Mrs. Morelle Hedrick drove to Ranger Saturday.

J. T. Poe and Mrs. Lucille Furr shopped in Eastland Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reed and their children were here Wednesday from Putnam visiting in the J. S. Reed home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker, Mesdames C. B. Dudley and their children went to Eastland Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bagby from Eastland were visitors at the G. W. Stowe farm Tuesday.

Mrs. Britt Dudley has had as a fortnight guest, her niece, Betty Sue Mason from Electra.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Reed were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Nottingham, Sunday, where more than thirty people were present at a dinner given in honor of their son.

The Long Branch revival will begin Friday night before the third Sunday. Rev. A. A. Davis of Baird will preach at most of the services for Rev. Willie Hazel.

Miss Essie Lou Marsh from Brownwood returned Wednesday after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Marsh and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Revis Gregg and son from Cisco attended church here Sunday and were guests in the E. N. Marsh home.

Benton Johnson has been quite sick, it is reported.

Mr. and Mrs. John Foley from Oak Grove and Mr. and Mrs. O. Mitchell and daughter, Eddie, from Carbon visited Mr. and Mrs. George Stowe Sunday.

Mrs. Bob Howard from the George Hill community was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Strickell.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Earp from

Sweetwater were guests Sunday of Mrs. Sallie Earp.

Mrs. Jim Boatman has returned to Cottonwood after a week's visit in the home of her brother George Stowe. Her daughter, Mrs. Glen Callaway and children, Floyd and Glendo and Wence Callaway drove over and accompanied her home. Rev. Willie Hazel preached two good sermons here Sunday. In checking up on the approximate ages of most converts to Christianity, he found that 22 in his congregation were converted under 20 years of age, while only 6 had taken that step between 20 and 35 years of age. That, he stated, was about the average found in most churches.

Zero in fact is to compliment a woman by saying "My! You must have been a beauty in your time."

We notice that poor old dent Britain is still taking one victory to another.

Don't Lose Your Abstract--

The owner is selling the place and can't find his abstract— one he had was looted out or burned up when the house was on fire, or he has otherwise lost or misplaced it. The tractor rushes the seller, the seller rushes the abstracter and the deal is finally closed.

Spiced Pears, White Wine

6 fresh pears, peeled and cut in half
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 tsp California Hack Sultanae Chilli
Rinds of 1/2 cup white table wine
Combine sugar, water and the wine. Add the pears and simmer slowly for about fifteen minutes. Add the pears and the lemon slices and continue cooking until the pears are tender. Chill and serve as an accompaniment to the meat course.

SAGE BRUSH.

What has America got the most of? Well, soldiers might be one guess and closed gas stations might be another. To the traveler in the South, sometimes it looks as if it might be cotton or tobacco. In the Midwest there is certainly a lot of wheat and corn. But to anyone driving across this broad land from East to West, over U. S. 30, there can be but one answer. That is sage brush.

Wyoming seems to the traveler to have the greater area of it, but the clumps look small, like they do in Texas. Idaho seems to have the tallest clumps—often bigger than a man could reach around—and Eastern Oregon raises it so high that it becomes almost sage brush trees. Horses and cattle graze in some sage brush forests which grow higher than their backs.

What to do with sage brush? The 1943 traveler realizes that this question must have been coming to white men's minds for almost two hundred years. So far the answer eludes the questioner. It only it could be turned into rubber! Or into cloth—or paper pulp!

The more hundreds of miles the motorist pushes over sage-brush-covered plains, along sage-grown hillsides and sage-bordered streams, the stronger grows the conviction that the sage brush is merely waiting. It is waiting as gold and iron waited for the minds of men to find their uses, as the grasses must have waited, and the maize.

Nothing is useless. It's a sage brush country, and the day of the sage brush will inevitably come.

BUY MORE BONDS.

It's bond buying time again. Spilling bombs over Sicily, Italy and the mainland of Europe costs many millions of dollars each day, if you count the probable loss of a few bombers each night.

This is no time to let up in our efforts. Italy can only be knocked out by continual bombing because Germany will use every effort to keep her going. Germany can only be knocked out by many more destructive bombings like that of Hamburg. And that costs money.

The Why and How of the Inverted Gull Wing In the Design of the Chance Vought Corsair

A FEW months ago a new weapon arose from American airfields in the Southwest Pacific to challenge the Japs. It was the U. S. Navy's newest fighter—the Chance Vought Corsair—designated the F4U by the Navy.

Since then this craft has piled up an enviable record as a ruthless sky-raid. In their first fight in the Savo and Russell Islands area Corsairs bagged 15 of 25 Jap Zeros in 20 minutes of dog-fighting. Subsequent engagements showed this first set-to was no accident — day after day the Corsairs have been successful in their forays as strafers, bomber escorts and protective planes.

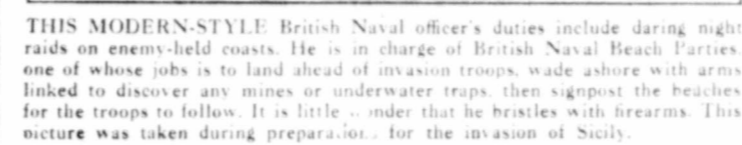

The most distinctive feature of this new plane to the onlooker is its inverted gull wing. Comparison of the photograph of the Corsair and the drawing of a soaring gull above shows how apt is the description "inverted gull wing."

The aerodynamic and structural reasons for the use of this type of wing are just as apparent to the engineer.

The Corsair was designed and built around the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft 2,000-h.p. Double Wasop engine. Such a powerful engine demanded the largest possible propeller.

The inverted gull wing design permitted the use of the large propeller and at the same time a shorter, lighter landing gear than if the straight wing had been used. At the same time the aerodynamically efficient attachment of the wing to the fuselage at a right angle was attained. Engineers found such a position offers the minimum interference drag between wing and fuselage.

Other advantages were improved vision for the pilot and a lower overall height with the wings folded to facilitate storage in underdeck hangars aboard aircraft carriers.

THIS MODERN-STYLISH British Naval officer's duties include during night raids on enemy-held coasts. He is in charge of British Naval Beach Parties, one of whose jobs is to land ahead of invasion troops, wade ashore with arms linked to discover any mines or underwater traps, then signal the beaches for the troops to follow. It is little wonder that he bristles with firearms. This picture was taken during preparation for the invasion of Sicily.

JAPS BUILDING TWO BIG AIR FIELDS

CHUNGKING, Aug. 6 (Japan) — Japan reportedly is constructing two large airports in Hsueh Piao, north of China in the hope of forestalling a major aerial assault by the U.S.

Back up Your Boy—and OUR Boys—with War Bonds

AMERICANS on the march. And in the ranks is your boy, or the boy of a friend or yours, or someone you know.

You want to give these boys everything you've got — so that they can give the Axis everything they've got.

How can you do this?

You can forget "buying as usual." Sure, maybe there'll be scarcities. But we're all in the same boat — and the quicker we win, the sooner those scarcities will disappear.

You can keep the boys from coming back to a country where the price of living has gone sky-high because of inflation — by putting ten per cent of your salary every week into War Bonds.

Listen. When you can really put that money to use, it'll be there — with interest. It'll be there with interest any time you really need it during the next nine years and ten months. And the interest — don't lose sight of that — is 2.9 per cent. Where else are you going to get a return like that?

The banks would love to buy these bonds. It's more interest than they can get. But these War Bonds are for you and only for you.

Meanwhile — while they're protecting you against want, against inflation, against the future — they're building bombers and tanks and ships and everything we need to win this war — win fast.

When you've bought a Bond — and if you're buying regularly — when you're buying war — everything you do and don't do — anything you can do to win it, you can back it up — or as well as a man's strength in the eye and say, "Brother, I'm fighting, too!"

5 Reasons Why

1. Because you can't buy War Bonds with any other money — the bank, the grocery store, the gas station, the newsstand, and company.
2. Because you can't buy a partial bond.
3. You get the whole of our boys' pay — the whole of it — the entire National Debt.
4. You get to see our enemies — they're all in the hands of our boys.
5. You get to see our own boys — they're all in the hands of our boys. You get to see our boys — they're all in the hands of our boys. You get to see our boys — they're all in the hands of our boys.
