R. E. REAMES NAVY OFFICER RECEIVES IN CISCO ON AIR MEDAL WEDNESDAYS

The following information regarding Raymond Reames, one of Cisco's native sons, was received today in a communication from Lt. Harold V. Banks of the Public Relations Office of Eighth Naval District at Dallas:

"R. E. Reames, aviation radioman, first class, of Cisco, Texas, was decorated with the Air Medal for combat action as radioman-gunner in a navy plane over Guadalcanal at a ceremony at the Naval Air Station, Seattle, July 28. The engagement in which Reames took part was November 13-15 while serving aboard an amphibious carrier. The citation, which is confidential, is being held by the navy department. Lt. Col. Richard L. Poor, USN, presented the medal. Reames is the son of Flynn Dennis Reames of Cisco and the husband of Marian Mae Reames of Cisco."

From henceforth the Navy Recruiting trip to Cisco will be Wednesdays at 11 a. m. instead of Thursdays as in the past, according to Chief Tom O. Gaston of the Abilene Navy Recruiting Station on his visit Thursday morning.

"New arrangements in our territory necessitate this change," states Chief Gaston. "Stops will be made at Eastland Wednesdays at 1 p. m. and a stop at Breckenridge at 3:30 p. m., and will enable us to get a better coverage of our territory" he added.

Of particular interest to Cisco men is the visit of Seabee officers at Abilene all day Saturday and Sunday, August 21 and 22, this recruiting officer party being able to give ratings in the Seabees on the spot. Thus a trip to Dallas was not necessary. Abilene being much closer. They will be on hand at the Abilene Navy Recruiting Station all day Sunday for the convenience of men who wish to see what rating they will obtain, no obligation of any kind. Letters of recommendation should be carried stating applicants skill in any of the many construction or mechanical trades. Even farm tractor operators are needed, and will be able to secure Petty Officer rating if they qualify.

LOW FLYING PLANES TO BE REPORTED

Captain R. Freedman, of the Coleman Air School, asked the Reames Wednesday afternoon to publish a request that people of this section notify him if they see low flying planes flying at low altitudes.

"We do not wish to place any blame on the role of a 'squealer,' however, as a means of saving lives and government property this cooperation is sorely needed," the captain declared.

He further requested that citizens get the number on low flying planes from the Coleman school and report this to him—Cisco Plains Review.

CEILING NOW ON CABBAGE AND LETTUCE

Highest legal retail price that can be charged in the Fort Worth OPA district for head lettuce is 11 cents a pound and for cabbage is 11 cents for two pounds, officials said Thursday.

The price was computed on the basis of a maximum price regulation issued by the OPA at Washington, and includes shipping costs and price markups. OPA officials said higher ceilings may be charted in a few cases where shipping charges are higher than the common carrier rate or when a charge is made by the wholesaler for delivery to the retailer.

BOBBY BROWN LEARNS HOW TO AIM GUNS

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Brown, of 702 East 12th street, are in receipt of a very interesting letter from their son, Pvt. Bobby Brown of Camp Butler, N. C., in the artillery battalion. The clipping which accompanies the letter to his parents tells of a recent range practice in which his company won first place distinction in their target practice. The details are interesting but length prohibits its printing in toto.

Most of the men in his company are from Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, and have worked hard to make themselves proficient in their work. Pvt. Brown began his service some time in May.

HE'S A MARINE NOW.

Herby F. Litchfield, recently inducted in the marine corps of the U. S. army, writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Litchfield, that he had arrived at San Diego, and is receiving his boot camp training. Young Litchfield says he is enjoying his camp life much better than he anticipated.

TIME FOR INVASION.

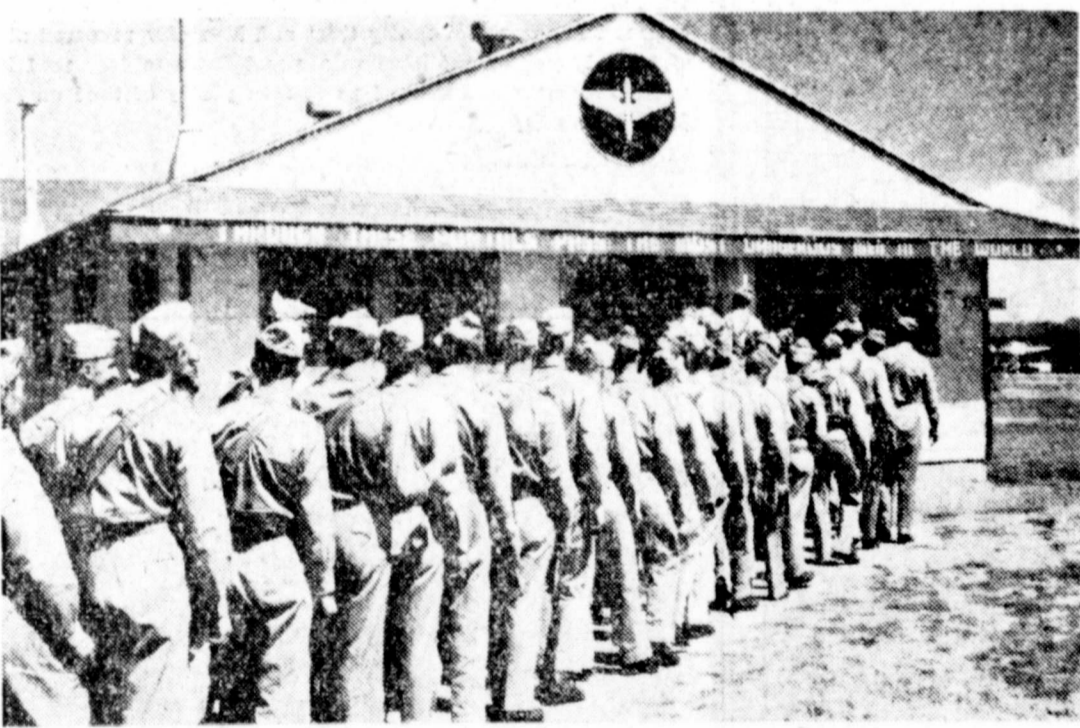

LONDON, Aug. 20.—British twin-engine Mosquito bombers raided Berlin last night for the fifth time in eight days and air experts estimated today that Allied blows plus the heavy fighting in Russia already have permitted Germany sufficiently to strain an invasion of western Europe.

GUN THEY LEFT BEHIND—Two Yanks stop to examine one of heavy guns left behind by retreating Germans on a Sicilian battlefield. Pic. Joseph Cassano, New York City, stands beside it; Sgt. Jack Fosse, Berkeley, Cal., climbs atop the piece.

WRONG WAY TO DO IT—Soldier in training at Camp Santa Anita, Cal., does everything wrong. He has attempted to handle barbed wire with his hands and is nursing wounds; his rifle is away from him, and enemy flier could see his face turned to sky.

TOUGH GUYS—"Through these portals pass the most dangerous men in the world," reads sign over cadet mess hall at bombardier school, Midland, Texas. At this school men learn to put block-busters where they'll do most harm to Axis.

BRECKENRIDGE HOLDS MAN IN RATION THEFT

Harry B. Byars, 33, ex-convict, was being held by Breckenridge officers today in connection with the burglary of the Archer City and Henrietta ration board offices June 29 and July 19.

It was the second arrest in a week in the search district OPA investigators and peace officers have been making to trace and recover thousands of gasoline ration coupons stolen in the ration office burglaries.

John A. Bratcher, ex-convict, was arrested in Fort Worth last week. More than 12,500 ration coupons were recovered in his hotel room.

Byars will be arraigned at Abilene Monday on a charge, filed at Wichita Falls, of false swearing in an application for a gasoline dealer's certificate. He was to be transferred from the county jail at Breckenridge to Abilene today.

Investigators believed that the coupons stolen in the two burglaries are one of the chief sources of supply for a widespread gasoline black market operating in North and West Texas. They estimated that less than a third of the coupons taken in the burglaries had been recovered.

MELONS AND CHICKS MAKE GOOD MONEY

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Foster of near Rising Star, were shopping in Cisco Thursday, and selling a few chickens and some eggs which they say has almost made their living this year, aside from some water melons that they have found no difficulty in marketing for good prices.

Foster said he had sold as high as $95.00 worth of melons in one day during July. Being on deep, well-tilled sandy soil, they have stood the hot, dry weather wonderfully well, and have seemed to be unusually sweet this year. He said he guessed so much sunshine had turned all the starch to sugar, which shows that he knows something about chemistry of foods.

"Early chickens are the ones that pay," Foster said. "They are healthier and seem to grow off rapidly," he continued. He said that May chickens never pay. They are weak and the summer weather hinders rapid development.

Asked if his hens had paid from the standpoint of eggs, he replied that each hen he owned had already paid for herself twice over, and he still has the hens. To get good laying results, hens must be fed regularly, and have plenty of fresh water and shade during the hot weather. Green food will keep hens laying longer and will help over the weak moulting period.

Asked about his melons, he said that he expected to make at least $1,000 this year on melons. They have been scarce and high in price. People have learned where he lives and they have come in droves to buy his melons.

He said he had not been bothered with people going in his patch at night. He gives neighboring boys melons whenever they come about, and he has told them whenever they or their friends wanted melons and did not have the money to buy them, he would give them one to eat. Of course, he said, I explained that I made my living growing them and must sell them for profit just like a merchant did his goods. One had just as well break into a store and take the goods as to go into my melon patch and take my melons, so I have had no trouble that way, he said.

We are not the ones to worry about how long it lasts. From now on, the other side will be taking it.

SECOND FRONT TO BE GREATEST OF ALL TIME--ATTACKS BY LAND SEA AND AIR-ROCK CONTINENT

QUEBEC, Aug. 20.—A direct warning to the German people that they must get out of the war or suffer "utter destruction" is being drafted by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and their military and foreign affairs experts, it was understood today.

The appeal will not be made until the Allies are poised for a leap onto the continent of Europe. Then the population of Germany will be told with bombs as well as words that the time has come when they are to be "ruthlessly attacked."

The policy problems involved in the re-opening of Europe were high on the conference agenda with the arrival of Secretary of State Cordell Hull today. His counsel will be added to that of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Despite the presence of Hull and Eden, the primary considerations remained—how to achieve a military "cheap" and quick victory over Germany in order to permit concentration of Allied strength against Japan. The European invasion plans developed here are as good as completed. They will not be disclosed in any detail until, according to British Information Minister Brendan Bracken, the "fierce" forces of the Allies actually attack.

As the troops are pouring ashore, the two leaders will be hammering Europe with shortwave radio advice to the people of Germany to get out of the war while the getting is good, while they can get out with a minimum of civilian suffering.

Before the real blow itself is struck, however, it is entirely possible that Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill will team up on a preliminary "statesmanlike" warning which will predict the utter pulverization of any people who stand against the United Nations.

The public was told by Bracken yesterday not to expect any "real" news from the conferences. Bracken meant that it would be foolish to expect the two leaders to give the enemy an accurate idea of what is coming next. Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill, however, were expected to do their part in the "war of nerves" by concluding their talks here with a press conference that will bristle with predictions of doom for the Axis leaders and their followers responsible for plunging the world into war.

Bracken confirmed that the conferences are producing military decisions of "vital" import. He promised that after the fall of Germany the British Empire will throw its "full might" against the Japanese.

M'CLELLANDS SAY DRY TIME MAKES WORK

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McClelland, who live on the Moran highway northwest of Cisco, were in Cisco shopping today. Mr. McClelland said his wife was having to do most of the work now since he had his hands operated on for a swelling that demanded opening. Now he is almost without the use of his right hand and finds it difficult to get along without it.

And of course, he added, it is just as dry at our ranch as it is in Cisco. Everything must have water, and plenty of it.

REV. MORTON PREACHING AT 12TH STREET

Rev. Bascom Morton, who is conducting a revival at Twelfth Street Methodist church, is preaching masterly old time messages, according to pastor Seba Kirkpatrick. An invitation is extended to all who might wish to hear this earnest minister.

Pastor Kirkpatrick will preach at Romney Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

LEGION ELECTS.

As a result of the American Legion meeting in Fort Worth, the following officers were elected: Legion—Sam D. Forman, Houston, department commander. Auxiliary—Mrs. Nita Bartz, Benham, president; Mrs. Ed Masters, Beaumont, chaplain; Mrs. Frank Bell, San Angelo, national committee-woman.

WANT TURKEY DRAFT.

AUSTIN, Aug. 20.—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today asked Texas turkey raisers to "draft" their entire crops for an old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner for men in the armed services overseas.

Ceiling prices will be paid for the turkeys, the Governor said, and they must be ready for shipment by Sept. 15. Turkey raisers were asked to contact George P. McCarthy, extension poultryman, College Station, Tex., in regard to the shipments.

RED ARMY IS CLOSING UP ON CORRIDOR

MOSCOW, Aug. 20.—Red Army forces slashed through crumpled Axis defenses south of Kharkov today in a drive to close the narrowing escape corridor and bottle the German garrison.

The Soviets were within sight of the Kharkov-Lozovaya railroad, which with a branch line 18 miles farther west is the last route of withdrawal for German forces battling desperately to hold Russia's fourth largest city.

Streaming through Zmiev, 21 miles south of Kharkov, the Russians seized a number of other towns yesterday. Eight hundred Germans were killed. The Germans counter-attacked in one sector, but retreated after losing two tanks and two mobile guns.

Altogether, the Russians advanced up to 7-12 miles on individual sectors and captured more than 30 towns or villages on the vast Kharkov front, which stretches as far south as Zmiev, almost as far west of Poltava and as far north as Sumy.

BRECK SCHOOL SCHEDULED TO OPEN SEPT. 7

BRECKENRIDGE, Aug. 20.—Supt. J. Bailey has called attention to the public hearing on the school budget that will be held Friday evening at the board of education office.

The budget to be passed upon is $102,629 current expenses and $244,300 debts service, the latter connected with the bonds. This compares to $104,652 current expenses last year, and the same sum for debt service.

Schools will open here on September 7, a teachers meeting being called for September 6.

Mr. Bailey said today that with the exception of securing a band and music teacher to succeed Jake Barrett teachers positions have been filled, although two or three have not returned their contracts signed. Whether a vacancy will result remained to be seen. The board expects to secure a new band teacher soon.

Football practice will start on September 1, with the first game scheduled with Olney on September 10.

J. G. BOGGS IS RECOVERING FROM STROKE

J. G. Boggs, one mile north of Cisco on the Lake road, is recovering apparently from the stroke sustained by him Wednesday morning. He rests well and has a fair appetite, and shows no sign of paralysis, except a slight halting in his speech at times, it was reported this morning.

Mr. Boggs has spent most of his 79 years of life here, and remembers Cisco in its infant days.

MORAN SCHOOL SCHEDULED TO OPEN SEPT. 6

Mrs. Charles Cady, editor of the Moran News for the Shackelford County Leader, published at Albany, and secretary of the Moran Luncheon club, was a very pleasant visitor at the Cisco Daily Press office this morning, and full of interesting gossip about her town as newspaper people usually are.

The Moran school, with a full faculty of 12 teachers, will begin its fall session September 6. B. L. Rucker is superintendent with C. B. Midkiff, principal of the high school, and coach of the football team. The Moran Bulldogs have new suits, and, if they run true to their usual form, some football teams in their class will have tough going this fall.

OIL REACHES N. Y.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The 24-inch pipeline from the Southwest to the East Coast is more than making good on the promise of the engineers who designed it, acting Petroleum Administrator Ralph K. Davies said today.

Revealing a record 24-hour test run of 328,000 barrels of Texas crude oil through the western leg of the line, Davies said the performance upheld the contention of its designing engineers that the line would have a capacity of 325,000 barrels daily in the summer months.

Accompanying Mrs. Barker's body are her daughter, Mrs. Gioia Grimditch, and her husband, W. MacFarlane Barker.

HIS WORLD UPSET.

A dramatic and significant bit of war news came from Correspondent Harold V. Boyle in Sicily the other day. A young Nazi prisoner was weeping under an olive tree. His hands were blistered from digging graves for Nazi soldiers. "Germany is lost," he wept. "What have people there to live for? They are sick and some of them have any pleasure left in life. And we lose battle after battle. It is hopeless. Mussolini and Hitler—they are to blame for our troubles." His words were shattered by the intensity of the American artillery bombardment that had lasted for two days. "Some of the planes were in the same nervous and hopeless state," he said. "The Yanks were heard him. He's just a nobody."

If a report of this kind had got the whole picture, any dispassionate observer would need to know how that broken lad and his comrades were looking about their Führer and his horrible war when they were wounding. Did they not pride themselves upon the superiority of their race and the omnipotence of their leaders, and brag about how they would conquer the world and make the rest of mankind their subjects and slaves?

There has not been a more wicked war in all history than the one they launched upon a peaceful world. It is necessary to remember this as the tide turns and civilization is saved from the destroyers.

We're Holding the Line.

We are not only holding the line but we are advancing the ball. Sicily has been taken and the Germans are wondering where the Allies will strike next. Meanwhile we seem to be striking everywhere at the same time.

All we can do at home is to sit steady and be ready to write another check when Uncle Sam says the boys need more expense money. That trip to Europe is going to be rather expensive but it is worth it if we can win the peace as well as win the war. Let's plan for the peace table.
