DALLAS MAN INTERESTED IN CISCO LIONS

The program at the Lions luncheon here was brought by M. D. Fox and his committee on By-Laws and Constitution, and was supplemented by a talk on synthetic rubber by C. L. Moore of Dallas.

Mr. Fox had certain sections of the constitution read and explained by himself, Geo. W. Dornier and W. H. LaRoque. He announced that other important sections could be explained from time to time when his committee was called upon. Mr. Fox explained that this was more an entertainment, but was necessary so that members could be kept up to date on the changes being practiced by the club.

Mr. Moore, who is a supervisor of the Goodyear synthetic rubber plant, took up the subject of the Goodyear synthetic rubber, telling of its nature, when made in tubes and tires and its use with raw rubber as a reinforcement in the forest and taken from the trees.

Synthetic rubber is made from a process open to all, which produces tires. Basically it is known as styrene and is the same as natural rubber. Sufficient heat is applied to the rubber is released by the companies in proportion to the capacity to manufacture.

Over 100,000 tires will be manufactured this year and about 200,000 more will be manufactured next year and this should be enough to meet the actual demand in 1943. Not all car owners will get tires, but at least a "priority amount" will be available. The former demand was about 30,000,000 per year, since most car owners are not getting them, there may be enough to go around, Moore said.

The supply of manufacturing synthetic rubber will be limited by available power, since a great deal of power workers have been shifted to aircraft manufacturing.

Some of the service devices for synthetic rubber, Moore said, are used on highways and bridges, not to exceed 30 miles an hour, synthetic rubber is 7 percent more durable than rubber sap tires. The use of rocky roads will cause synthetic rubber to chip and last longer than tend to melt them and wear out as known as separation, causing deterioration of the road.

Synthetic rubber is not so resistant, tubes will probably be used in the hard service we have accustomed to get from natural rubber. At any rate, he said, it will cover the hump in tire production and never again will the shortage be caught in the production, as it was when the East Indians took it.

Asked if he thought synthetic rubber would continue to be used when the rubber should again be available, the speaker said synthetic rubber was here to stay and more experiments would make it better than former tires. Compared with German and Russian synthetic rubber, ours is said to be much superior, he added.

ROTARY GOVERNOR COMING

M. W. Linnom, governor of the Cisco Rotary Club, will arrive in Cisco from Dallas, Texas, on Friday, August 27, to attend the annual convention of the Cisco Rotary Club.

Mr. Linnom, who is a member of the Cisco Rotary Club, will be accompanied by his wife and two children. He will be in Cisco for a few days before returning to Dallas.

Mr. Linnom is a well-known business man in Dallas and has been active in many community organizations. He is a member of the Dallas Rotary Club and has served as its president.

RANCHERS ROUND-THE-CLOCK ATTACK TO KNOCK OUT GERMANY'S ECONOMIC STRUCTURE ERE 1944 TO WORRY

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Swift Mosquito bombers attacked Berlin last night through clouds of smoke from fires still raging in the German capital 24 hours after its heaviest bombardment of the war.

The air ministry said pilots of the twin-engined wooden planes could see flames leaping through a thick haze and searchlight glare when they struck about 11 p. m., but exact observation was difficult. None of the Mosquitos was lost.

A radio identifying itself as a clandestine German station reported that 12,000 persons were killed, 50,000 wounded and 500,000 left homeless in the Berlin raid Monday night.

The broadcast, heard in Sweden, said two big electrical plants were damaged badly, and two power stations and two gas plants were destroyed. The west-central part of the city was hardest hit, it added.

The Mosquitos gave bomb-weary Berliners a second night of alarm by hitting at selected targets on a pattern similar to the Hamburg devastation attacks when they took over while heavier bombers were idle.

With Berlin now the objective of the air offensive, Maj. Gen. Harold L. George, commanding general of the U. S. Air Transport Command, predicted today that trip-hammer around-the-clock blows continuing at a rising pace would knock out Germany's wartime economic structure by the end of the year.

The German command had betrayed its fear of the Allied air onslaught by concentrating 60 per cent of its fighter strength in a vain effort to defend German cities and industries, George said.

The wooden Mosquitos used last night's Berlin raid for reconnaissance of Monday night's blow when four-motored bombers dropped 1700 tons of explosives and kindled a patch of fire 10 miles long and two miles wide visible from the Baltic Sea.

Berlin radio broadcasts said the Mosquitos caused only slight damage. They presumably picked targets missed by the four-engined planes and surveyed the raging fires reported still burning from the previous raid.

The Germans clamped down on iron censorship on neutral correspondents and Stockholm correspondents were allowed to inform their papers only that they were still alive.

A Radio Algiers broadcast quoted the clandestine radio station Atlantic that 73,000 were homeless. More than 1,500,000 were believed to have been evacuated prior to the attack. The Daily Express in a Stockholm dispatch said civilians aided clearance squads trying to gather up debris strewn throughout the city.

Large crowds of Londoners slept in subways last night, expecting a reprisal raid, but no planes appeared.

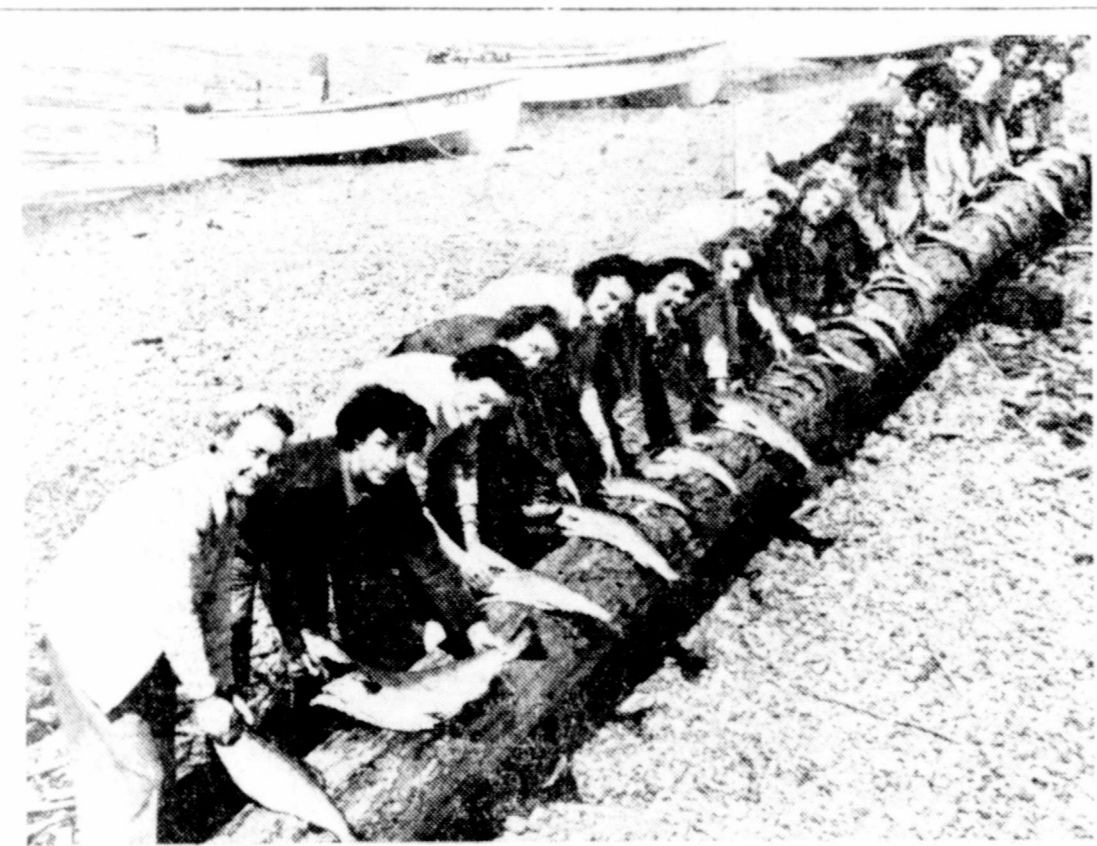

The night assault followed by only a few hours renewed American attacks on German air installations in France.

Flying Fortresses returning from Northwest Africa on the final leg of the first American shuttle raid paced the daylight attacks yesterday with a raid on an aircraft assembly plant and a seaplane base at Bordeaux on the French Atlantic coast.

Other Fortresses attacked the Villa Coublay air field in the suburbs of Paris and the Conches and Evreux-Fauville air fields in northern France. "Good results" were reported at all three objectives and only four bombers were lost.

Brig. Gen. Frederick L. Anderson, commander of the 8th U. S. Air Force Bomber Command, said the shuttling Fortresses had achieved a "magnificent success" in their raid on Regensburg Messerschmitt aircraft factory 55 miles southeast of Nurnberg on the outward journey to Africa Aug. 17.

"It undoubtedly was the greatest operational flight of the U. S. Army Air Forces in the European theater," Anderson asserted.

DENNIS KING AERIAL GUNNER IS PROMOTED

Dennis D. King, son of Mrs. Davis P. King, 508 Front Street, Cisco, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant and is now classed as aerial gunner-engineer at Woodover Field, Utah.

King, who is 21 years of age and who attended Cisco high school and Draughon's Business college, will now be assigned to a tactical unit and receive actual experience in combat. He entered the service September 30, 1942, at Abilene.

CISCOAN, 19 NOW AT LOWRY AIRFIELD

Charles R. Harris, 19, son of Mrs. Pearl Harris, 1307 A Avenue, Cisco, who entered the army air service at San Diego, Calif., last October, is now a private of the first class and stationed at Lowry Field, Denver, Colo.

The Cisco boy is in the armament department at Lowry Field and formerly attended the Ft. Myers (Fla.) gunnery school. He was a shipfitter's helper with the Pacific Bridge company before entering the service.

DEATH CALLS FRANK NEELY, GOOD CITIZEN

The funeral of Frank Neely, who died Monday at his home in San Angelo, was held at the Cumberland Presbyterian church in Hubbard yesterday afternoon, with burial in the Hubbard cemetery. The services at the grave were conducted by Hubbard Masonic lodge, of which deceased had been a member since early manhood. He was also a member of the Royal Arch chapter.

Survivors include the widow and two daughters — Mrs. A. B. O'Flaherty of Cisco and Mrs. J. C. McAtee of Ft. Worth. There are four grandchildren—Carlton McAtee, Frank McAtee, Suzanne McAtee and Mary Sue O'Flaherty.

Deceased was a son of the late Dr. George Wren Neely and was born at Piantersville, Grimes county, Nov. 5, 1874. He conducted an extensive grocery business at Hubbard for many years or until he retired and moved to Austin some 15 years ago, later locating in San Angelo for the benefit of his health. He had visited in Cisco on numerous occasions, had numerous friends here and was regarded by all who knew him as a good citizen and scrupulously honest in all his dealings.

KIRBY JOINS MARINES

Herbert V. Kirby, 43, son of Mrs. W. H. Kirby and a resident of Cisco since 1918, has joined the Marines and will depart for El Paso tomorrow to begin his service.

SPOOKS WALKED STREETS LAST NIGHT

Even though it wasn't halloween, spooks walked the streets of Cisco last night, when trainees at Cisco Ordnance Training Center donned sheets and painted their faces in order to have a masquerade at the Ordnance Recreational club.

Approximately 85 young women from various areas of the United States will complete their courses of training Friday, August 27, and will depart immediately for the stations assigned them by the government, ready to do their part in helping win the war.

HOME FOR VISIT

J. M. Wilson, senior boiler fireman with the post engineers at Amarillo air field, is here visiting his family and friends. Mr. Wilson formerly was an employe of the Hickok company.

OTTAWA TURNS OUT TO SEE U. S. CHIEF

OTTAWA, Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt told the people of Canada in an address today that if Hitler and his generals had attended the Quebec war conference they would have realized that "surrender would pay them better now than later."

The president of the United States made a strong appeal to the peoples of the Axis nations to accept unconditional surrender to the Allies, promising them political freedom and economic security.

The president sounded this appeal as he reported that United States lend-lease aid has reached the staggering total of $13,973,339,000.

Ottawa turned out in carnival array. The city was a riot of American red, white and blue. Ancient statues had their faces washed and large pictures of Mr. Roosevelt adorned thousands of windows. A half-holiday had been proclaimed to permit working people to see the president. The show was the biggest public display in which Mr. Roosevelt has participated since the war began.

THE WAY TO POVERTY.

Reports from the American Association of Petroleum Geologists and the American Petroleum Institute indicate that there still remains unexplored approximately 1,000,000-2,000,000 acres of geological formation in which oil may be found in the United States. Not only does this vast area remain unexplored, but today oil is being produced from sands found at depth of 13,175 feet, and present equipment makes it possible to drill to a depth exceeding 15,000 feet—as contrasted to 59 feet for the first well drilled in 1859. In addition to oil resources being plentiful, scientists are continually increasing the power of gasoline, thus tending to conserve supplies.

At present the belief seems prevalent in some government regulatory agencies that the price of oil has nothing to do with oil production. But a protracted oil shortage will be the fault of man, rather than the fault of nature, if oil prices are held at levels which prohibit exploration and development, and disregard production costs. As long as that fallacy is maintained, the oil shortage will grow worse instead of better.

We will one day again realize that the greatness of this nation lies in its generosity in rewarding those who work and produce for the benefit of society.

HOT WEATHER.

Sometimes people exaggerate temperatures. They know it's hot, but they think it's hotter than it is. They revel in hardship and love to talk about what they are enduring.

This time all the folks who have been saying it's hot have been right. For five straight weeks, says the U. S. Weather Bureau, the whole of the United States east of the Rockies has suffered temperatures from three to ten degrees higher than normal. The normal season is apt to be uncomfortably warm, but this was hotter.

In the main, crops have done well, though people haven't, but many portions of the country have suffered from drought, with almost total failure of some crops, and danger of milk and egg shortages unless farmers get more feed.

No wonder temperatures have been high and criticism unrestrained. If the weather man can turn on a few breezes—the kind that linger until the whole soul is rested and refreshed, but not so cold that mind and body both become congested and congested—the American scene will become much more peaceful. There may even be a little unity and approval of one thing and another. We don't want to brag too soon, but the Cisco Country, thank goodness, is apparently returning to weather normalcy and good rains are even predicted with the advent of September.

CANNED PEAS.

The War Production Board has lifted all restrictions on use of synthetic or natural rubber for rings to seal glass jars. The nation's pea crop is turning out better than expected, too, and may help to compensate for a lack of peaches. There is hope this winter for the good old American supper dessert of canned fruit and cookies, although the cookies may be a little tougher than usual—shortening showing a tendency to shortage and pastry flour to doing a vanishing act. But they'll be eaten with enjoyment anyhow.

Let's see—what was the rest of that evening meal which served America for a century and still does in many districts? There was cold meat left from dinner and fried or creamed potatoes. Bread with thick butter and jam. Pickles. Tea, with plenty of rich milk for the children. Not bad, not bad.

The butter will be spread thin this year, the milk in many areas will be measured into a glass apiece instead of poured bountifully from a fat pitcher. The cold meat will be sliced thin, too, if any. Potatoes will be baked, with salt. Maybe victory vegetables will be on the table.

It will not be a luxurious or extravagant winter, but Americans are tough and will come through in fine shape. There'll be plenty of food to do good work on, and that's the great end to be desired this year.

WILL BE THERE—Soldiers in Sicily wrote to Lucille Ball, fiery-haired M-G-M screen star, that she was girl they'd like to meet at dock in New York after Hitler was mopped up. Lucille promptly replied she'd be waiting for them.

TEXAS' FIRST CHIROP BOARD IS SELECTED

AUSTIN, Aug. 25.—Gov. Coke Stevenson late yesterday appointed the Texas Board of Chiropractic Examiners, the first separate board ever to be given that group in Texas. Their long fight came to an end in the last legislature when it passed a law divorcing chiropractic from the state board of medical examiners and gave the practitioners their own examiners.

The new law exacts high educational qualifications of licensees, imposes stringent regulations to maintain professional standards and contains no grandfather clause to license practitioners without passing examinations.

Appointed for six-year terms expiring Aug. 24, 1949, were Dr. M. M. Mihovil, Galveston; Dr. Paul L. Meyers, Wichita Falls, and Dr. M. B. Wells McClendon, Childress, and for two-year terms expiring Aug. 24, 1945, Dr. Brittle S. Cox, Big Spring; Dr. Walter D. Arnold, Hillsboro, and Dr. Charles C. Lemley, Waco. All regular future appointments will be for six-year terms.

Canada Keeps Them Flying

MORE than 100 Harvard advanced trainers—built in Canada—await "fly away" from the plant at one of the Dominion's largest aircraft factories, where 8,000 men and women are employed. Canadian aircraft program is now concentrated on four types of service planes, and four types of training planes, as well as a general utility and transport aircraft.

The Norseman of Canadian design, which is being manufactured in the same plant as the Harvard for both Canada and the United States.

Prior to the war Canada's aircraft industry made about 40 planes a year. Today production has been increased to several hundred a month. Canada employs more than 97,000 men and women in its aircraft plants.

SEYMOUR ADDRESSED BAPTISTS

About seventeen men attended the Brotherhood meeting at First Baptist church last night when Rev. L. W. Seymour, pastor of First Methodist church, spoke along the line of making this a secure world. Refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served by the committee headed by A. E. McNeely.

The committee on nominations for the year beginning October 1 presented the following names as officers: W. W. Fewell, president; Algie Skiles, vice president; E. J. Poe, secretary-treasurer; Charles Clark, social secretary; W. Frank Walker, program and O. L. Mason, song leader.

Preceding the talk by Mr. Seymour, Ray Judia gave several piano numbers and Felton Underwood led the group in a short song service.

O. J. Russell presented the speaker, saying he had left the subject and time of talking open; he could have all the time he wanted.

The speaker began by saying he was getting a late start, as he noticed by the clock in the room that it was a quarter until 11 o'clock (the clock was not running and it was really only 8:30), but that he would promise not to speak over three hours.

Mr. Seymour asked the questions, "What can I do? What contribution can I make toward making the world more secure and a better place in which to live after the war?"

Hatred between the races will soon cease as they have in the past. We must look at the world in a large sense - with the broad mind of a man and not with that of a child. Speaking of hatreds, the speaker said that in 1776 we had only hatred toward the English; in 1836 we held the same feelings toward the Mexicans, later toward the Spanish, but now we are going out of our way to cultivate the Mexicans and we are fighting side by side with the English and during world war I we thought the Japanese were a fine race of people when they were on our side, as we did the Italians, and even now we are beginning to excuse the people of Italy, saying that they were forced into their spirit of conquest. Soon, perhaps, we may be thinking the German people are not so bad. Time and conditions make great changes and a few years after this struggle shall have ended there is no telling just who our allies may be. After all, we must live with our neighbors and try to make better neighbors of them, and with this world growing smaller all the time, Europe will soon be our side-by-side, or back-yard neighbors.

As a people we must be informed as to what is going on. We must be informed and must learn to think. Religion is not all there is in the world, by itself, it is not enough. Perhaps the sin of ignorance is one of the greatest - sins committed because one does not know what is right and justice. There is much wrong done in the world by religious fanatics - in the name of religion, and what greater weapon for sin is there than the weapon wielded by deluded religious fanatics?

Continuing the speaker said he thought it was good for a person to have doubts. If one just accepts the teachings of his fathers without thinking the thing out
