COZARTS CELEBRATED 50TH WEDDING DAY

SCRANTON, Sept. 3.—The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Cozart, pioneer residents of Eastland county, was celebrated at their home here August 27. Present for the occasion were the five children of this fine couple and their families, together with other kindred and friends, who kept the home filled between the hours of 2 and 10 p. m. The Cozarts were married at the age of 19.

Mr. Cozart was born in Washington county, Ark., July 18, 1874, and was brought to Hill county, Texas, by his parents the same year. In 1889 the family moved to Eastland county and settled on a farm on Leon creek, where their 12 children were reared. The mother of this large family lived to be 96 and passed away in 1936.

Mrs. B. P. Cozart, Mary Katherine Belew before her marriage, was born in Morgan county, Ala., March 15, 1874. Her family moved to Eastland county while she was a girl, locating near the Cozart family. She was married to Mr. Cozart at the age of 19 and to this union seven children were born, five of whom survive, as follows: Robert E. Cozart, Ackerly, Tex.; Mrs. Mable McKelvin, Breckenridge; Mrs. Beula Mae Lamar, Ft. Worth; M. L. Cozart, Cisco; Mrs. Cora Howell, Aransas Pass. There are also 20 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Cozart, both of whom are in good health and look younger than their years, moved to Scranton in 1910 in order to give their children the advantages offered by Scranton Academy, now Scranton high school.

JUDGE RIDGELL DEATH RECALLS THE OIL BOOM

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 3.—News of the death of Judge T. B. Ridgell in Dallas Tuesday night brought back to many here today memories of the oil boom days, the days when he was mayor and assistant county attorney, the days when Curtis Hancock was secretary of the chamber of commerce at $1,000 a month salary, and the days of Breck Walker and other stalwart figures in one of the greatest oil booms ever known to history.

Judge Ridgell, 64, died of a heart attack while en route home on a bus. The news reached Breckenridge quickly by telephone, a large number of friends being shocked.

Judge Ridgell was mayor of Breckenridge in 1923-24. He was born in Ellis county but moved to Rockwall county when a child. There he studied law under his brother-in-law Judge Stroud to graduate at Baylor University at the age of 19. He had his legal disabilities removed and at 19 served as county attorney of Rockwall county, later as county judge. He was a prominent representative of Dallas and Rockwall counties, his life long friend, D. T. Bowles said today. He came here about 1920.

While here he was appointed by Gov. Ma Ferguson to the court of civil appeals at Eastland. He moved to Dallas in 1932. Burial was in that city, yesterday.

TEACHERS AND S. S. HEADS MEET TONIGHT

Teachers and officers of First Methodist Sunday school will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the church with G. P. Miteham, general superintendent, in charge.

Other general officers of the school are Pete Nance as assistant superintendent, Mrs. W. C. McDaniel as secretary, Sam King in charge of the adult division, Miss Lela Latch in charge of the youth division and Mrs. Jimmy Allen superintendent of the children's division.

This first meeting of the entire staff of workers for the fall season will make plans for the increased activities that come with the opening of the public schools. One of the immediate items on the program will be designation of a Sunday in the near future as all-church rally day. Another will be the matter of promotion of pupils, this to be done last Sunday in September. The filling of vacancies in the teaching corps will also be up for consideration.

The pastor, Rev. Leslie Seymour, urges all members of this workers council to be present tonight in response to the call of the superintendent.

LIONS START SALVAGE OF NEEDED TIN

Officials of the Lions club, sponsoring the collection of tin cans in and around Cisco, express appreciation for the hearty response by business men and citizens as the campaign publicity gets under way. Various business concerns readily agreed to devote a part of their advertising space to the salvage program.

Numerous individuals say they have a considerable accumulation of tin cans they have been saving for just such a call as now comes from our government.

The greatest need for tin now is as an agent in the process of recovering copper from the crude ores at the mines. A solution of the powdered ore is flushed through huge vats containing shredded tin and by a process of chemical reaction the copper attaches itself to the tin, thus separating itself from the refuse of the ore.

Government agents say 1,000 pounds of shredded tin will recover 1,500 pounds of copper. This explains why the tin is so urgently needed, since copper is one of the most vital metals in the war program of the nation. On the land, on the sea, under the sea, in the air, everywhere that the war effort is being exerted, copper is essential in great quantities.

One authority states that over 2,000,000 pounds of copper and its alloy go into a single battleship. It is also said that one 37 mm. anti-aircraft gun uses a ton of the metal every twenty minutes in action. Trucks, planes, tanks and ships as well as guns demand a constant supply of this vital metal.

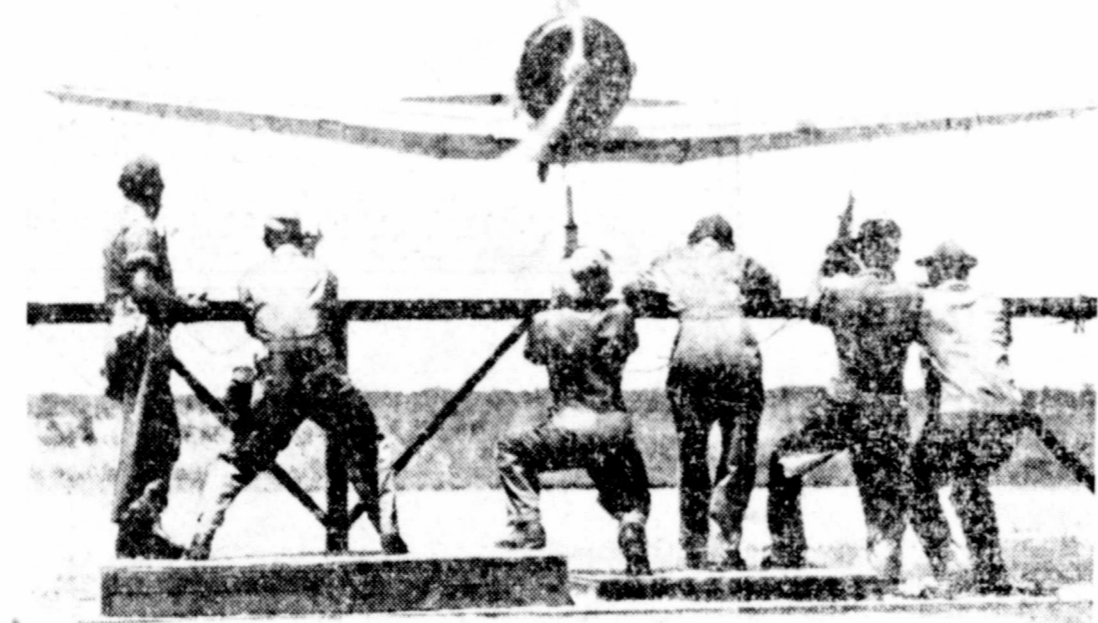

All over America the people are bringing their tin cans to a salvage center in their respective communities. In Cisco the collection center is at the corner of D avenue and Tenth street, on a vacant lot secured from the Cisco Lumber & Supply company.

All are asked to begin now to bring their cans to this spot. All tin cans up to and including those of five-quart size are wanted. Rusty cans are not usable. Larger cans than five-quart size will not go through the shredding mills. The cans should be mashed together at least at the open end or, better still, with both ends cut out they can be mashed flat.

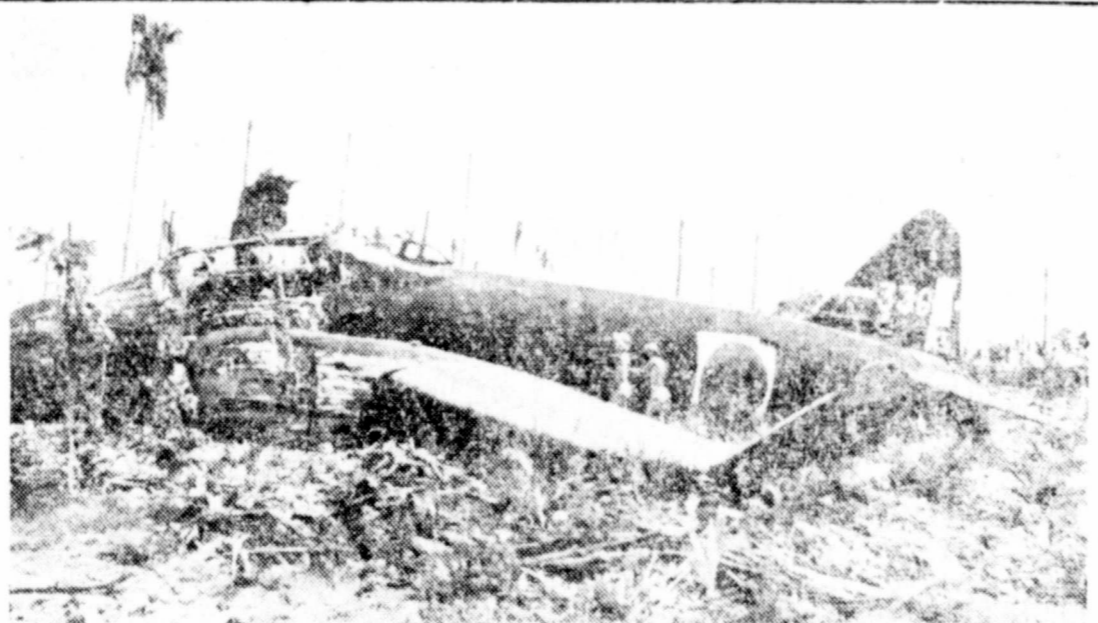

So urgent is the need that all who have any number of cans, whether just a few or a great quantity, are asked to bring them to the salvage pile. As soon as they have accumulated in sufficient quantity they will be shipped to the mills.

RENT PROTEST—These Brooklyn tenants picket their apartment house in protest against rent increases and other grievances. They charge the landlord also refused to paint or decorate and discriminated against people without cars and families of service men.

HEADS UP—Here is how U. S. aerial gunners learn to shoot down enemy planes at Hurling Air Field, Tex. A low-flying training plane skims over the student gunners, while the pilot gives them his range by radio. They hold their guns on the plane until it whisks over their heads.

JAP JUNK—This wrecked Jap bomber lies among bomb-scarred trees on Munda airport, a victim of Allied bombardiers. It's a twin-engine plane, probably a Mitsubishi long-range bomber. U. S. fighting men look it over after capturing airport.

36 BOWIE MEN SPEND THE DAY AT LAKE CISCO

Headed by Lt. Ray Smith, 36 men from 48th medical division, Camp Bowie, spent yesterday at Lake Cisco, leaving late in the afternoon on the return trip to camp.

Monroe Sweeney, manager of Lake Cisco Amusement company, who invited them here, said today that the visitors were profuse in their compliments of the lake and its attractions and stated they expected to make a point of advising others that Lake Cisco offers more in the way of entertainment and healthy pleasure than any other resort in Texas with which they are acquainted. The visitors were amazed at the magnitude of the great lake and also at the size of the mammoth concrete swimming pool just below Williamson Dam.

The men, who hail from many sections of the United States, were as follows: Lt. Ray Smith, Staff Sgt. Eugene Adams, Marion Chonski, Gabriel DeFabio, Norman Callahan, James Guy, Sergeants Mortimer Duryea and Welford Morris, Corporals Morris Goldberg, Howard Martin, Roy Siessar, George Etnes, Glenn L. GETS MEDICAL DISCHARGE.

William H. Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sebe Boyd, 503 W. Seventeenth street, returned home Sept. 1 with a medical discharge from the army. Young Boyd was stationed at Camp Campbell, Ky. He is 36 years of age, attended Cisco schools and was inducted into the armed service May 5, 1942. While he did not see foreign service, Boyd says his army experience has really been worth while and believes it will prove a valuable asset to him in the future. He has not yet determined his plans for the future, but says he will go to work at some occupation after he has rested up from his army duties.

It was intended to hold the hearing in the spacious basement of the Cisco postoffice, but the attendance was so large that adjournment to the roof garden of the hotel was necessitated. Even there, all space was taken up by the visitors.

MEAT PRODUCERS WARN.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 3.—The case of the livestock producers and feeders against "bureaucratic stupidity" in the government's meat program was laid before congress and the public here, with a warning that unless hampering controls are removed the nation soon will face its worst meat famine, despite a record production of meat animals.

SEVEN MEN KILLED.

FT. WORTH, Sept. 3.—Two huge four-engine B-24 Liberator bombers from Fort Worth Army Air Field collided about 2,000 feet over Birdville shortly before 7 o'clock this morning, crashed to earth two miles away, and burned with the loss of seven men. One plane carried three men, the other four.

REDS MARCH ON.

MOSCOW, Sept. 3.—Red armies drove six miles past the newly-captured stronghold of Sully today and to the south threatened to engulf the whole Donets Basin. The Russians were advancing across territory held by the Germans since 1941 at key points all along a 700-mile offensive front from Smolensk to the Sea of Azov and in some sectors the Axis retreat had become a rout.

MONTGOMERY'S VETERANS OF AFRICA, SICILY, BLAZE WAY, BOLSTERED BY U. S. AIRMEN

NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 3.—The British Eighth Army opened a second front on the Continent of Europe today, swarming across Messina Straits aboard hundreds of invasion craft and landing on the toe of Italy.

The landings gave the Allies a foothold on the mainland of Europe. They were carried out with the support of the Royal Navy, British and American air forces, and artillery behind the Messina beaches in Sicily.

Military sources in London said the invasion force established a bridgehead on the extreme southwestern coast of Italy in the first few hours of fighting, but warned that heavy Axis resistance still was to be expected.

Gen. Bernard Montgomery's veterans of the African and Sicilian campaigns blazed the Allied trail to the Axis-held Continent, opening the battle of Europe with a landing which a dispatch from Sicily said was made "not without difficulty."

The amphibious assault was carried out under cover of a tremendous land, sea and air bombardment. It was made across the narrow straits against the Italian beach in the region of Reggio Calabria and Sicily.

First Axis radio reports of the invasion said the Allies had landed on both sides of Reggio Calabria, that the situation "cannot be estimated" at the moment, and that the landing force was about a division strong.

Although a dispatch from Eighth Army headquarters in Sicily said that "our first foothold in Europe has been established," a spokesman emphasized the difficult nature of the landings and urged against any feeling that the attack would be a walkover.

The Eighth Army veterans probably will meet more German troops in Italy than they ever have before, a headquarters commentator said.

Indicating that some delay might be expected in the issuance of an official account of the invasion, the spokesman said that the next communique probably would be issued at noon Saturday.

After Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had flown to a Sicilian invasion port for a final checkup with Montgomery and Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, the British and Canadian troops struck out across the strait and hit the beaches before the mountainous Calabrian area at 4:30 a. m. (9:30 p. m. CWT).

It was a moonless night and invasion force—"vast numbers" of men who had been streaming into the takeoff ports for 10 days—headed out over a sea that had been calm for more than a week.

Practically every man of the battle-ried force had landed on enemy soil before, and the invasion barges and mosquito fleet were the same as those that carried the Allied force to Sicily.

Several hundred Allied planes and Allied guns in northeastern Sicily laid down a pulverizing bombardment against the invasion-marked toe yesterday, while Allied cruisers, destroyers, monitors, gunboats and other craft joined in the actual crossing of the strait.

Black Markets spring up in the trail of shortages. They are made possible by rationing and higher prices. But there has been no black market in electricity. War production has thrown a tremendous burden on the Nation's business-managed electric companies, calling for an unprecedented amount of electric power. Many war plants were hastily built in out-of-the-way places . . . in desert and mountainous regions alike.

But electric power reached them, never too little or too late. Naturally we're proud of the job our industry has done under the American system of free enterprise. It worked! And under the toughest test of all time!
