7 NAZI AIR TRANSPORTS SHOT DOWN IN ITALY

REV. RUSSELL DENNIS SPOKE TO ROTARIANS

There were several visitors besides the guest speaker Thursday at Rotary luncheon, when members concurred that it was one of the outstanding meals of the season. The homemade bread seemed to hit the spot and as some one expressed it, "made the meal."

When J. E. Hays, attendance committee chairman, called for the attendance report, Ernest Hittson announced that his side were all present, while Rotarian J. W. Slaughter had one of his group absent. President Lonnie Shockley urged that members insist on perfect attendance of their units.

Victors present were G. R. Kilpatrick, C. B. Metcalf, Frank Leach, Dr. D. F. Tyndall, Joe Johns, H. K. Jackson, L. D. Wilson and Rev. Russell Dennis, the guest speaker.

The speaker announced his hope as the Baptist Brotherhood. He said he would not talk about the brotherhood of his own church, but would speak of the organization in general. Saying he would only have time to touch on the subject in its important phases, Mr. Dennis announced the five objectives as promulgated in its organization in 1926.

The first objective he said is loyalty to church and pastor. He explained that the home was an institution and the church was an organization, making the two most important groups to which man should be loyal. The Brotherhood organization is to exist not actively in church activities, but leaving it to women and children.

The second objective is personal evangelism—inviting men to become Christians.

The third objective is to inform members about the teachings of the Bible, the doctrines of the church, the financial and missionary programs.

The fourth is the proclamation of the gospel to the world.

The fifth and closing objective, declared the speaker, is the enlightenment of all men of the church in the work of that body, as all the members of the church are automatically members of the Brotherhood.

Declaring that when men failed to become interested in the work of their church and in Christianity, it was because they were not interested spiritually, Mr. Dennis said that a church could do no more than the ideals of its membership, and that the enlistment of men into the activities of a church and into its financial and missionary program was one of the biggest businesses in the whole world, since the money spent by the churches of the world was greater in quantity than that spent by governments of nations of the world.

I had quite a few letters waiting for me when I got back and was indeed happy to get them. I will answer them in another letter tomorrow as it is getting late now and I'm getting sleepy and tired.

Oh, yes, Dad, I got your cablegram dated August 24. It arrived here August 28 and was waiting for me when I got back September 8. Thanks a lot for it. I enjoyed it very much.

I guess I'd better close for this time. I'll write again tomorrow and answer all the letters. How do you like the war news now? You like the war news now? You like the war news now? You like the war news now?

O. B. COLE VISITED HOLY LAND

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Cole are in receipt of an air mail letter from their son, O. B. Cole, who is stationed in Egypt with the aviation branch of the signal corps. The Ciscoan is 26 years old, a graduate of Cisco high school and moved here with his parents from Grand Prairie in 1924. His last trip home was in November of 1942. The letter:

Dear Mother and Dad: I haven't written you in about two weeks, as I have been on a tour, visiting Palestine and the Holy Land. Yes, I finally got to go and I enjoyed it more than I can tell you. I spent twelve days in Palestine, touring all the Holy Land and all over Palestine. I went and returned by plane and enjoyed the rides both ways. It was a long ride, even by plane, as you can see from the map, but I enjoyed it anyway and am very glad that I went.

Of course, I can't start to tell you all that I saw while there, but I will give some of the more important features.

First of all, I stayed at Tel Aviv, Palestine, at the Red Cross club, which was very pleasant and nice. I took a tour sponsored by the Red Cross, which covered most of the important places in Palestine. On this tour we went to Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Jericho, the Dead Sea, Nazareth, the Sea of Galilee, Haifa and other places too numerous to list.

I saw where Christ was born, where He spent His childhood days, where He spent His days of ministry around Galilee, where He was tried by Pilate, where He was crucified, where He was buried and where He ascended to Heaven.

All these places were very, very interesting and I'm sure I can study the Bible with a keener interest than before.

I bought several pictures of the various places of interest and have sent some to Esther and am sending you some in this letter. You can exchange pictures and get a good idea of some of the things I saw on my trip. I am also sending you a little souvenir I bought in Jerusalem. Know you will like it. I sent Esther one like it from Bethlehem. I bought a nice Bible for her, too, at Bethlehem. It is covered with mother of pearl that was made in the shop where I bought it. I'm sure she will like it for its sentimental value, if for no other reason. I am sending her several things in a package in the next few days. It will probably take two or three months to get there and I surely hope it does not get lost.

I had quite a few letters waiting for me when I got back and was indeed happy to get them. I will answer them in another letter tomorrow as it is getting late now and I'm getting sleepy and tired.

Oh, yes, Dad, I got your cablegram dated August 24. It arrived here August 28 and was waiting for me when I got back September 8. Thanks a lot for it. I enjoyed it very much.

I guess I'd better close for this time. I'll write again tomorrow and answer all the letters. How do you like the war news now? You like the war news now? You like the war news now? You like the war news now?

FEWELL SPOKE TO LIONS ON HOME FRONT

Rotarian W. W. Fewell was the guest speaker Wednesday, introduced by Lion Charles Clark. C. B. Mickiff, high school teacher, was a guest of O. L. Stamey. At the business session, President R. W. McCauley announced his committee to arrange for Ladies night, September 30, which will take the place of the usual Wednesday noon meeting for next week.

In introducing the speaker, Lion Clark joyfully announced that it had taken two meetings for Mr. Fewell to present his subject to the Rotary club, but that the Lions would be able to digest it in one program.

In beginning his talk, which was on the subject of preparing the home front for the peace to come, Rotarian Fewell said he knew he might be criticized for what he would say regarding the war front, but thought he might be privileged for any criticism of the home front. He said that several thousand years ago a man killed his brother and when the Lord asked him where his brother was he replied by asking, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" It has been interpreted, Fewell said, that we are our brother's keeper and he added that we are keeping him by bureaus rather than by expressed will of the people. Continuing, he said the depression was brought on by men flooding Washington, trying to do their getting while getting was good. This brought on the bureaus, he said, to regulate affairs, but they overstepped their authority. Politicians failed us, he said, and then he showed a list of bureaus, but stated that it was but a fraction of the full list, with more than 4,000 officials in charge, according to the U. S. chamber of commerce. He then added that there were 600 persons elected to do the work of governing us, but there were in reality about 3,000,000 persons doing it. This is a great waste of money, he pointed out.

Fewell also said that seven of the articles of the lend-lease program were never submitted to congress to pass on. He stated that we were promising to feed millions in Europe, yet could not feed the 37,000,000 at home. He added that 80 percent of the people of the world are not ready for the freedoms we are promising them.

GERMAN CLAIMS. LONDON, Sept. 24.—The official German News Agency said today that a Nazi submarine pack sank 12 destroyers and nine cargo ships totaling 46,500 tons in an attack on a United States-bound convoy in the North Atlantic.

MORGENTHAU EXTENDS CLOSING DATE OF BOND DRIVE TO SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2

Hon. Henry Morgenthau of the treasury department announces that the official closing date of the Third War Loan Bond drive has been extended to close of business Saturday, October 2, instead of September 28, as first given. This will afford Cisco ample time to reach its new quota of $200,000.

Bond purchases in Cisco Thursday were $6,850.50, which brought local sales in this drive to $163,123—$17,823 more than the city's previously estimated quota of $145,300.

Cyrus B. Frost, county chairman, today wrote the Daily Press as follows:

"We are proud that Cisco was the first of the larger cities of Eastland county to go over the top, with Carbon, one of the smaller cities, reaching its goal the next day. It is also pleasing to know that both Cisco and Carbon have set new goals and are steadily moving towards them.

"The county as a whole is coming along fine. There will be a bond rally at Rising Star Saturday afternoon at which Major Kilgore of the army will speak, and at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon Judge W. P. Leslie, chief justice of the 11th court of appeals, will address a rally at Gorman."

PUTNAM GETS 10,000 GALLONS WATER DAILY

The people of Putnam are still in a hard way from the lack of drinking water and probably will be until the coming of the long-awaited heavy rainfall.

Ten thousand gallons of water per day is being hauled to the city by the Texas & Pacific railroad from Lake Cisco, which prevents actual suffering but by no means meets the demand.

It was necessary to obtain a permit from Washington to use the railroad tank car and the request for two tank cars per day was refused, it is stated.

DARING TORPEDO FORAY INTO AN ALBANIAN HARBOR, NETTED A BIG GERMAN MUNITION SHIP

NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 24.—The Allies struck by land, sea and air today, advancing upwards of 30 miles in southern Italy, shooting down seven air transports attempting to evacuate German troops from Corsica and sinking a munition ship in a daring torpedo boat foray into an Albanian harbor.

The Fifth Army launched an offensive aimed squarely at blazing Naples and captured Oliveto Citra in the initial seven-mile advance, while the Eighth Army to the south-east pushed ahead 30 miles in some sectors, enveloping Matera, 11 miles north of Giosa.

The German evacuation of Corsica by air and sea was in full swing under a gauntlet of Allied bombs and bullets. British Beaufighters intercepted three formations of German air transports trying to sneak across at dusk and shot down all three planes in the first, two of six in the second and two of five in the third.

Aerial reconnaissance revealed a steady stream of boats taking off German troops from Bastia in northeastern Corsica and ferrying them to Leghorn on the Italian west coast.

American torpedo boats made a bold foray into the Bay of Valona on the Albanian side of the Straits of Otranto, sank a medium-sized merchant ship laden with ammunition and hit two other vessels, a naval communiqué revealed.

Shore batteries damaged one motor torpedo boat while the force was retiring but the entire formation returned to base without casualties.

Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army opened an offensive all along its line from heights north of Salerno to some 20 miles inland at dawn yesterday and was reported making slow but steady progress across difficult, mountainous terrain southeast of Naples.

Although more than 20 miles below Naples itself, the advancing troops could see the pall of smoke over the city resulting from German demolitions designed to make Italy's biggest port useless to the Allies.

A CBS broadcast from Algiers said the Fifth Army's offensive had caught the Germans off balance and the Allies were making good progress.

The London Radio quoted refugees slipping through the German lines from Naples as reporting that Italians were fighting German motorized units "everywhere in Naples" with resistance especially fierce in the ruins of the old quarters behind the port. The Germans were said to have called out tanks and heavy artillery in an attempt to wipe out the patriots.

The Allied line now runs almost due east from a point north of Salerno, through Oliveto Citra, Avigliano, and Matera and thence northeast to Bari.

GERMANS AP-OIL SHORTAGE PEAR UNABLE IS HURTING TO AVOID ROUT GERMAN ARMY

MOSCOW, Sept. 24.—Red armies swept triumphantly onto the east bank of the Dnieper river at several points today and the momentum of their great offensive threatened momentarily to breach the main German defense line across eastern Europe. Soviet front dispatches reported.

The Germans are casting aside their arms in a hasty retreat toward the Ukrainian capital and stronghold of Kiev, which is already within Soviet artillery range, the Russian High Command said today.

A Pravda correspondent reported from Poltava that Soviet assault forces were pursuing large German units toward the Dnieper and had cut off and had wiped out several groups. About 36,000 Russian civilians being driven before the retreating Nazi army toward Germany were freed by the speed of the Soviet advance, the correspondent said.

The last major German bases east of the Dnieper had been overrun and the Russians were pushing to the river on a wide front preparatory to storming its main fortresses in a quick capitalization on the most sensational successes ever scored by the Red Army.

From less than 10 miles away the Russians were reported shelling the Dnieper citadels of Smolensk, Kiev and Dnepropetrovsk.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Germany is losing the war because her oil supply is down to 240,000 barrels a day, far from enough for successful operation of the Axis European mechanized equipment, planes and submarines.

This was disclosed Friday by an attaché of the Petroleum Administration for War who said it is the estimate of a group of experts fully informed of all oil the Germans present have access to. At least 40 per cent—160,000 barrels of the 350,000 barrels daily supply—is synthetic, he said.

The figures, he said, are common knowledge among oil men in the PAW and among attachés of other agencies engaged in prosecution of the war.

REIGN OF TERROR. BERN, Sept. 24.—Italian frontier reports said today that Fascists restored to power by the Germans were killing the followers of Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio without trial in a reign of terror in northern Italy.

2,600 ON STRIKE. LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—A strike of 2,600 Pacific Electric Railway employees began at 2 a. m. today, despite conciliatory efforts of President Roosevelt. Tie-up of the interurban line's trains and busses went into effect in an orderly manner. Ticket windows were closed, and depots were quiet.

FINISHING THE JOB.

If there was one spot more than another, where the president hit the nail on the head in his fighting message to congress, it was where he said:

"There is one thing I want to make perfectly clear, when Hitler and the Nazis go out, the Prussian military clique must go with them. The war-breeding gang of militarists must be rooted out of Germany—and out of Japan—if we are to have any real assurance of future peace."

It was here that the tragic mistake was made at the end of the last war, when Prussian militarism lay helpless before the armed might of the free nations. The peace conference announced that, along with financial reparations and disarmament, the war-makers would be punished for their crimes. But Britain and America, weary of war and everything connected with it, let that pledge go by default in spite of French protests.

If the devil of militarism is ever to be exorcised, and the world saved for a peaceful and constructive future, it must be by the destruction, root and branch, of the two powerful militarized nations now threatening to wreck civilization.

This should be done relentlessly, even to hanging the leading malefactors, which was promised last time and then forgotten.

Without ruthless and fearless punishment (justice) of the leading gangsters, this crusade of civilization may end as another farce.

When the day of unconditional surrender comes—and it is drawing near—America, Britain and Russia must not become mushy, soft, sentimental and forgive too quickly, ever remembering that forgiveness is to be extended only when the criminal has entirely separated himself from that which offends God and society.

Any other course would be suicidal and absolute betrayal of the children of this country and of all the Allied nations.
