NAVAL POWER.

The term "bridge of ships" has sometimes been realized in a small way, in the form of pontoon bridges across rivers. And indeed a ship is a kind of moving bridge. But everything of that kind in the world seems insignificant in comparison with recent ship construction in this country.

The United States, it is announced, as a result of its great ship-building effort after starting from little more than nothing three years ago, has in round numbers 14,000 ships. More are coming off the ways in a continuous stream.

It helps American self-respect to think a little about those ships, what they represent and what they can do. If they average 500 feet in length, which to a landlubber seems a reasonable assumption, then end to end they represent about 10 to a mile. And so, if tied together in one long string, they would extend about 1400 miles into the Atlantic. And when this present navy is doubled, as it may be now in a year or so if that seems desirable, there will be enough ships to make one continuous bridge, placed bow to stern, all the way from this country to Europe.

That would be something worth looking at from an airplane. And it would probably represent the greatest mechanical power of any kind ever assembled on earth.

STRIKES.

The mistletoe of children who go to school at Stone Hill, Com. thought the little old red brick schoolhouse was not clean enough for their children. So they voted a strike. Thirty youngsters went in on the opening day of school, registered their names with their teacher and walked out again.

When the school closed at the end of its non-educational day, mothers were waiting outside with paint, brooms, soap, scrubbing brushes and cloths. There was no hot water available at the school, so two automobiles went back and forth to the nearest home (in buckets) of it. When the mothers got through scrubbing, painting and tins had been cleaned.

The school authorities, who had been promising and not fulfilling guaranteed painting jobs where needed, and the hurry-up installation of new plumbing which had been waiting for months, were the cause.

American everywhere are learning to do things for themselves which they had been relying usually to be done by others. More people will be doing more of such things before the war is over. And it's queer that once we get into something, we don't let other enjoy it. As to the Stone Hill mothers, there's a kind of strike that gets something up with the mine and trucks strike and the strike last.

From El Paso Daily News

EL PASO, Oct. 1.—Cisco, Big Dug, Loboos exhibited a powerful machine here this afternoon to defeat the mighty El Paso Tiger. The game was one reported with thrills furnished by Lattie, half-pint aged halfback, who stepped through the Tiger defense twice to mark up the Cisco touchdown, but was also marked by the valiant defense of the Lobo line which was impregnable when the Cisco goal was threatened. Pats Slatten, Ed Bates, Cotton Pippin, Erdeman, Boon, Kellogg and Jenkins gave a good account of themselves every minute of the game. Cisco's big delegation, which arrived here early Saturday morning by special train, was given a royal welcome, with a parade being staged in their honor. Most of the Cisconians will celebrate in Juarez Sunday when a bull fight is to be held in their honor.

MAYBE I'm your boy—or the boy next door.
You know, Mary's sweetheart, Joan's husband, Timmy's daddy. Your son, Father! Your boy, Mother!

Anyway, I've got something to say to you. I've got to make you understand.

This is it. This is zero. This is INVASION!

I'm here, with a million other boys just like me. We're your INVASION forces. And we're going to stay. It wasn't easy getting here, and it is going to be a lot harder before we're through.

WE'RE GIVING ALL WE'VE GOT

I said we were going to stay. I promise that, even if it means the thing—well, the thing we don't like to talk about. Because we're giving all we've got: Our minds, our strength, our blood.

But you see, this isn't going to be enough. Not unless those planes we need snarl down out of the sky on the enemy just over there. Unless those ships get here. Unless the supply ships get through. Unless there are enough bullets for this rifle.

YOU'RE ON THE INVASION FRONT NOW!

It's that extra $100 War Bond, all of them together, making up the $15 billion worth they're asking you to buy in September, that will prove that you are on the INVASION front with him.

Your part is at least one extra $100 Bond during the Drive—at least $100. Of course, that's in addition to your regular bond buying. A $100 Bond is the rock bottom figure. Some of you will have to invest thousands to put this Drive across. Take it out of your pay check—or out of that nest egg you were saving for a rainy day.

All you can spare is too little, all you've got is just going to be enough.

Look at it this way: You won't be giving anything. You will be investing in VICTORY—and your future.

Things like safety for your family and money after the war to buy a new home, or to educate your children.

You're buying a stake in VICTORY—and that means America, yours and mine!

I guess that's all I've got time to tell you now. The enemy is waiting, just over the hill. Don't keep us waiting for you!

A Name on the Window

has always been a pledge to the public that a man owning that name was within to serve the public to the best of his ability. Now, it has an added meaning to the people of Texas.

A new law has been passed, intended to protect the health of the people, now that health is such a war-time asset. From the incompetent handling of drugs and medicines. It provides that "In a Pharmacy where Prescriptions are filled, the name of the Responsible Manager shall be displayed on the window!"

So, on our window you will see

Leon Maner, Pharmacist, Owner

J. T. Eggen, Pharmacist

This is your assurance that only a Qualified Pharmacist will dispense your medicine in this store.

Protect your health—it is your greatest asset.
