HELENA LOSS DESCRIBED BY EYE WITNESSES

The Daily Press is indebted to the public relations division of the U. S. Marine Corps, San Francisco, for the following communication relative to the sinking of the USS Helena, July 6, 1942, when a Cisco lad, Corp. Bill Latch, helped make history in battles involving the ship's loss:

Diving into the cold, oily water of the Kula Gulf during the early hours of the morning is an experience those aboard the cruiser USS Helena, sunk last July 6, will probably never forget.

After being credited with sinking several Japanese warships, the Helena was hit by a Japanese battleship and died fighting when she was rapped over her bow and her keel crashed into her side.

One member of the Marine detachment aboard, who was forced to jump into the water, was Corporal Billy Ford Latch, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Latch, Cisco, Texas.

Corporal Latch, back in the United States and ready to return to duty against the Japs, relates his experience of abandoning ship during the historic battle.

"The most striking thing of the experience was the calmness and discipline shown by the men when leaving the ship and hitting the water. They went overboard undisturbed.

"We swam around in the water for about an hour, and most of the time in the water we were trying to dodge shells from the Jap shore batteries. After being hit by the fellows aboard the rescue ship gave us their clothes, and absolute strangers did everything possible to make us comfortable, even wanting to loan us money. They were a great bunch of men."

Many Marine buddies of Corporal Latch were picked up from the oily water by U. S. Naval vessels, while some swam to a nearby Jap island and were rescued several days later.

Corporal Latch and other Marine survivors were praised for their actions during and after the battle by Major Bernard T. Kelly, Chicago, commander of the Marine detachment aboard the Helena.

"Those boys were magnificent," the major said. "There is nothing that can happen to them they can't take with a laugh. One of their favorite expressions was 'This ought to get us a 30 day leave.'"

STATIONED AT NORFOLK. Billy Montgomery, 21, a native of Cisco, is stationed at Norfolk, Va. He is a seaman at the first class with the coast guard and the son of Mrs. J. C. Johnson, a resident of Palestine, Tex. Montgomery is married and has a 14-month-old son. He is a grandson of beloved Uncle Jimmy Montgomery, who was run down and killed by an automobile several years ago at the age of 84.

BILL SHERMAN JOINS ARMY AIR RESERVES

William T. Sherman, 17-year-old son of Mrs. Louise B. Sherman of Cisco, who says he has "always wanted to fly," was sworn into the army air corps yesterday as a first step toward aviation cadet training.

Like all 17-year-olds sworn into the AAF enlisted reserve, Sherman, a graduate of Cisco high school and now a student at A. & M. college, cannot be called to duty until after he has passed his 18th birthday. That birthday is today, Sept. 28, but because Sherman is in school, his call will be deferred six months beyond that date in order to let him complete the current semester.

The same extension of time is offered to all 17-year-olds who volunteer for the AAF enlisted reserve while they are attending Col. Charles K. Brown at several army training centers at Dallas, Texas.

After taking his army oath, Sherman was awarded a pair of silver wings by the army which he will wear until he enters active duty.

Sherman has a brother, Ernest Gordon K. Sherman, now serving as a pilot in the Pacific with the naval air corps.

SUIT DISMISSED. DALLAS, Sept. 28.—A suit brought by Charles S. Sorenson, Dallas attorney, against U. S. Senator W. Lee O'Daniel and five other defendants seeking a mandamus to force O'Daniel to resign his 1942 senatorial campaign contributions and expenses was dismissed by District Judge Charles E. Smith.

RAISE RECOMMENDED FOR RAIL WORKERS WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The white house disclosed today that a railroad emergency board had recommended a wage increase of at least 4 cents an hour for 300,000 operating employees of the nation's rail carriers.

The board reported to President Roosevelt these workers were entitled to that much under the Little Steel formula and implied it would have recommended a higher figure if it had felt the government would approve.

The report was submitted on a 2 to 1 vote, the minority member dissenting sharply because he favored a more substantial increase, amounting to 7 1-2 per cent.

The five operating brotherhoods had asked an increase of 30 per cent, or $2 a day, whichever might be higher.

Unless set aside within 30 days by the economic stabilization director or rejected by the employees, the increase would be made effective as of April 1, 1943.

MERGER SANCTIONED. WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The federal communications commission today announced approval of the long-debated merger of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies, thus uniting the only two agencies handling commercial wire messages within the United States. The companies have been bitter rivals for years, with noticeably better service in cities served by both.

HE WINS—Refused entrance into U. S. Navy, E. M. Ferris of Boston, Mass., 33, applied for and received a lieutenant's commission in the British Navy. He is first American citizen to win such commission. He is married to a WREN, whom he met over there soon after he signed up.

KENTUCKIANS GROW TALL. There are more six-footers in Kentucky than in any other state, population considered, but in Ohio county, of which Hartford is the county seat, a mere six feet is nothing to brag about. This is emphasized in the case of Corp. Charles W. Baird, tank mechanic, who inched up on his brethren quite a bit when he attained an altitude of six feet, eight inches.

CORPORAL RICH NORTH AFRICA TO GET PRESS. Mrs. Allison Rich of the Romney community called at the Daily Press office Monday and ordered the paper sent to her son, Corp. Leones Rich, who is with the 37th hospital division, somewhere in North Africa.

A recent letter from the Eastland county young man, who was born at Romney 27 years ago and is a graduate of Rising Star high school, said he was in good health, but would like to be at home and inspect his parents' cellar for good things to eat. He joined the colors March 18, 1942, and was sent overseas a few months later.

ZERO HOUR—Fog hovers over British 8th Army invaders as they arrive on Italian mainland at 4:30, morning of Sept. 3, fourth anniversary of beginning of World War II. Here a landing craft is beached and a truck prepares to roll down to Italian soil. Soon the invaders will be racing overland to meet Americans.

YOUNGEST GREAT GRANDMOTHER?

Mrs. Clarence Moon, 604 E. Eleventh street, Cisco, may be the youngest great-grandmother in Texas. She is 49.

Recently her daughter, Mrs. W. G. Patrick of Monahans, 33, became a grand-mother when her daughter, Mrs. Bernard O'Dell, who will be 16 years old Christmas day, became the mother of a 10-pound girl at her home in Virginia.

Also of interest is the fact that Mrs. Moon's mother, Mrs. C. A. Foreman of Munday, the great great-grandmother, is living and recently observed her 64th birthday.

TEXAS SENATORS OBJECT TO GAS LINE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Building of the proposed gas pipeline from Texas to Charleston, W. Va., today was termed by Senator Connally of Texas as not a necessary war measure.

Senator O'Daniel demanded that both the FPC and the war production board rescind their approval of the project. He said resistance against the line would steadily increase in Texas because it would "deprive Texans of a means of attracting industry."

MORE MONEY FOR WORLD'S RICHEST MAN

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—A fortune estimated at from 70 to 75 million dollars came into the possession of Marshall Field III today, his fiftieth birthday. He is rated one of the world's wealthiest men.

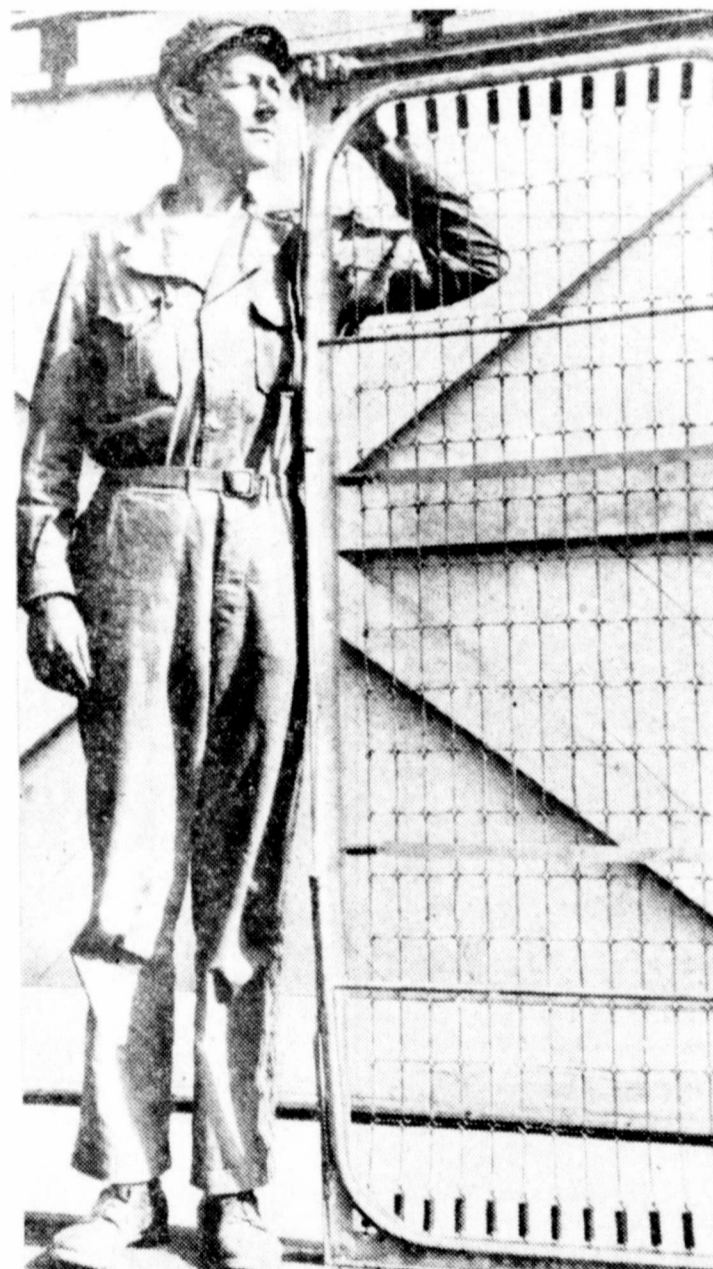

Field, founder and publisher of the Chicago Sun, is the sole beneficiary of his grandfather's residuary estate. He has received previous allotments, estimated at $93,000,000, under terms of the will of the first Field, who died in 1906.

TAX REFUNDS.

AUSTIN, Sept. 28.—Ten-dollar occupation tax payments by several hundred Texas real estate agents are being refunded by the state comptroller's department, following an opinion by the attorney general that the levy was unconstitutional.

POLO SOURCE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—A scientist searching for the sources of Chicago's worst infantile paralysis epidemic reported today that treated sewage—being flushed from a sewage disposal plant into the Illinois waterways—was found to contain the virus of the disease.

YOUNGEST GREAT GRANDMOTHER? Mrs. Clarence Moon, 604 E. Eleventh street, Cisco, may be the youngest great-grandmother in Texas. She is 49.

GERMANS TAKE TO RIVER TO SAVE SELVES

MOSCOW, Sept. 28.—Battered German troops, abandoning their last footholds on the east bank fled for their lives into the Dnieper river today under a rain of Soviet shells and bombs that killed them by the thousands.

Red air force planes pursued the German survivors all the way to the west bank, where they loosed a thunderous bombardment presaging a series of Soviet landings in force designed to breach the Nazi winter line and sweep the enemy back to Poland.

A large proportion of the fleeing Germans fell at the river or died in its turbulent waters. Front dispatches said that swarms of dead Nazis filled the Dnieper.

BUTTER BE 16 POINTS OCTOBER 3

OPA announced today that effective next Sunday butter will cost 16 ration points per pound—the total allotment of red ration stamps for one person for one week.

The increase of four points from the present value of 12 points per pound brings the ration coupon cost of butter up to twice the level it was when rationing started. The increase is due to a drop of 10 per cent in September production below the production for the same month in 1942, OPA said.

The OPA also announced that effective next Sunday:

Point values of canned green or wax beans and canned corn (except on the cob) will be lowered two to four points, while so-called luxury canned goods—apricots, cherries, figs, grapefruit and plums—will go up from eight to 11 points for the popular sizes.

Eight standard pork cuts will be increased one to two points per pound.

Cheese will be raised one point per pound.

Eighteen variety meat items, such as brains and kidneys, will be removed from rationing.

Dried peas and lentils will be removed from rationing.

Farm butter, or home-made butter, which amounts to a very small percentage of butter sales, was increased from six to 10 points, but the OPA said this reflects the normal decline in production at this time of the year.

IN GOOD SHAPE.

DETROIT, Sept. 28.—George F. Aides, international secretary-treasurer of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) reported today that the union now has total assets of $1,622,622.85, and an average of 715,382 monthly dues-paying members.

FOGGIA, GREATEST AIR BASE AND TRANSPORT CENTER SE. ITALY, IN HANDS OF ALLIES

NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 28.—The British Eighth Army, advancing 22 miles in a single day, has captured Foggia, the greatest air base and transport center in Southeast Italy, it was announced officially today.

As the British moved up to occupy the rail hub and its cluster of 13 air fields, the Fifth Army to the southwest moved slowly but steadily into the German defenses rimming the Naples plain, again capturing limited objectives.

Pushing seven miles north from Calabritto, Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's right wing seized Lioni, 26 miles northeast of Salerno and 46 miles due east of Naples, increasing the flanking threat to the German forces battling below the devastated port. Melfia, railroad town 31 miles south of Foggia, also was taken.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's report said the Eighth Army inflicted "considerable casualties" on the Germans in the sweep against the Foggia area, indicating that rear guard resistance was encountered despite earlier reports that the air fields had been abandoned.

Terse announcements of land, air and sea activity yesterday revealed that the bitterest struggle in the Battle of Italy raged unabated in the rocky ramparts above Salerno, where Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army was struggling to blast a gap to the flatland before Naples.

American warships maintained patrols in the waters of Southwest Italy, near the battle zone, guarding Allied shipping pouring in supplies and reinforcements and standing by to support the land fighting with their gunfire.

The headquarters communique on the land fighting indicated that the crisis in the crucial battle below Naples was not yet at hand.

It was only a day earlier that Gen. Bernard Montgomery's men had burst across the Ofanto river and were marching across the Foggia plain 22 miles from the town itself.

The capture of Foggia gave the Allies a rail, highway and air base of strategic and tactical importance. All of southern and central Italy are within easy reach of planes based there, and the radius of feasible operation includes a large portion of the western Balkans.

The main air field is the Gino-Lisa drome, around which 12 fighter air fields sprang out within a radius of 25 miles. The cluster is comparable in importance to the Gerbini chain in east-central Sicily, which commands the battle zones around Catania and most of northeastern Sicily.

Two miles from Foggia proper, which is 80 miles above southern Italy from Naples, the Gino-Lisa drome is ringed by satellites varying in size from landing strips 100 yards wide to 1000 yards long to imposing bases.

From Foggia railroads and highways radiate in every direction. The collapse of German resistance there raised a long range threat to the eastern wing of the Naples defenses, cutting their communications and easing the task of the Fifth Army units already pushing up directly east of Naples.

W. D. SPENCER BURIED.

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 28.—Funeral services for W. D. Spencer, 59, building superintendent of the Breckenridge school system for 23 years, were held here Sunday. He died Saturday night.

FACT OR FICTION.

Periodically notices appear in the press informing the country of changes in the point value of rationed commodities. After they are made it is explained that they were necessary in order to adjust demand to meet dwindling supply.

For example, if, in the opinion of the rationing authorities, too many people want to buy a certain item, it is a simple matter to raise the point price of that item. Demand promptly falls off. It works smoothly and quickly. To all appearances, the old-fashioned laws of supply and demand become crude by comparison.

But there is one catch. Under the old natural laws merchants knew what to expect from consumers. They knew that the public would buy so many shoes, so many barrels of flour, or so many tons of corned beef, etc. And they planned the operation of their business accordingly. The larger the retailer, the greater became his contractual commitments to manufacturers and producers. By planning and shrewd calculation of future consumer demand, the American distribution system was brought to a state of unexampled perfection.

Under the present method of juggling the laws of supply and demand, the merchant is helpless. If he agrees to purchase a quantity of goods from a producer at a substantial saving, he has no way of knowing he will be permitted to dispose of those goods as he wishes. They may be rationed and the point value set so high that they will be frozen on his shelves indefinitely.

All the expense saving efforts of the distribution industry, from the largest chain down to the smallest retailer, which have so long benefitted the consumer, can now be wiped out with a scratch of an official pen.

After the war, production and distribution must be freed as quickly as possible of artificial handicaps. That is the only way to achieve in fact, the fiction of future abundance now being created for the people by planners and dreamers of every stripe.

RIVAL TRADES.

It is generally recognized that the war will continue to bring about a change in the way of doing business. The old-fashioned laws of supply and demand are being replaced by a new system of artificial handicaps. The old-fashioned laws of supply and demand are being replaced by a new system of artificial handicaps. The old-fashioned laws of supply and demand are being replaced by a new system of artificial handicaps.

POOR DEARS.

There are few things more precious in the world than the matter of sports. The old-fashioned laws of supply and demand are being replaced by a new system of artificial handicaps. The old-fashioned laws of supply and demand are being replaced by a new system of artificial handicaps.

Some may object that the old-fashioned laws of supply and demand are being replaced by a new system of artificial handicaps. The old-fashioned laws of supply and demand are being replaced by a new system of artificial handicaps.

account of an American ball game at Wembley. He was frankly worried by the "nervous anxiety" of the players. He was also in a state of sustained surprise, because ball after ball was pitched to batter after batter, and nothing happened. The batters, for some reason or other, didn't hit the ball—which seemed a pity.

TEXAS JUNIOR COLLEGES TO TOE THE LAW

The British expert shrewdly deduced the fact that apparently "the pitching was too good for the batting," and for that he deserved credit. But he was mystified by the lack of action, and the tenacity of players and onlookers worried him.

If it had been a neutral, understandable game like cricket, everything would have been easy and relaxed, with somebody pitching a soft ball in a lachrymose way, and the batter discreetly tapping the ball and trotting gently back and forth between home plate and first base, over and over again.

AUSTIN, Sept. 28.—The 22 junior colleges of Texas beneficiaries of state aid under the legislature's $286,000 appropriation must adhere hereafter to the strict letter of the law in order to obtain state funds, the legislative audit committee voted in formulating several lines of policy under a new law which gave the legislature full control of a state department for the first time.

AFTER 22 YEARS—Twenty-two years ago 100,000 pounds of pig iron dropped off a train near Gengeulah, Wis., and sank in a swamp. It wasn't worth salvaging at the time. But now it's being taken out of the bog and it's going to war.

Joan of arc is stitching steel for fighting ships!

JOAN'S a welder, of course—an arc-welder. She's helping to hurry another ship down the ways to war.

What's the magic of the welder's rod that builds boats so much faster and lighter? What's the secret of the blue arc blazing between Joan and her weld? Electricity!

Thousands of Joans—and Jims and Joes—busy on hundreds of freighters and fighting ships, burn up fantastic amounts of electric power.

But suppose, when war began, this power hadn't been ready? ... Suppose America had had to wait? ...

A year—or two? ... But America did have the power—and no waiting! Enough power for homes and ships and jeeps and planes. Five times the power this country had in the last war. More power than all the Axis countries combined! And over 80% of this vast flood of power came from the electric companies under business management—at low pre-war prices.

Electric power is plentiful and cheap today—because experienced men and management knew how to do their job—because democracy gave them the freedom to do it right.

They value that freedom—for themselves and all America!
