NAZIS FALL BACK AS ALLIES MARCH TO ROME

$203,434.75 Was Total Bond Sales in Cisco Late Saturday; County is Over

Third War Loan Bond sales in Cisco totaled $203,434.75 at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, which is regarded as a most excellent showing and very probably puts this city in the lead of all other cities in the county. Cisco's assigned quota was $145,000.

Judge Cyrus Frost, county chairman, says the county quota of $597,300 has been oversubscribed and that total sales may reach $750,000. He also disclosed that the Texas & Pacific railroad had bought and credited to Eastland county bonds in the amount of $50,000, which will be added to the quotas of the various cities and towns in the county. Final figures for the county will not be available until next week.

ALLIES GET TOO MUCH U. S. OIL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Special house committee to investigate petroleum situation will inquire into question raised by globe-touring Senator Lodge: Why United States, with less than a fourth of the world's oil supply, is contributing more than 60 per cent of United Nations consumption while British sources aren't being worked to capacity. Truman committee may have a look, too. Both will find that Lodge guessed low; that we're supplying nearer 80 per cent. That administration is already trying to shift more burden to other countries; to develop new oil sources abroad.

Dependents of servicemen will get more liberal allowances, but benefits will be far short of levels demanded by CIO's Phil Murray. Bill now before House Military Affairs Committee probably will emerge into law giving wife and two children $79 instead of present $72. (Murray wanted $120). Bill also will cover three grades of enlisted men, now ineligible, and will carry more liberal benefits for "Class B" relatives who are total dependents.

Willkie's about to turn loose on domestic affairs, home-front muddling. He has a blast in a forthcoming magazine.

LEADERS JOCKEYING.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Senate administration forces took advantage of a week-end recess today to work on arguments against the Wheeler father-draft bill, while moves developed in both houses to force thousands of workers out of government service both to slow induction of fathers and for reasons of economy.

BOND SALES SOAR.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—With the fifteen billion war loan drive ending at midnight tonight, officials believed that final returns will show the goal topped by more than four billions.

RUSSIA WILL KEEP WORD, SAYS DAVIES

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 2.—Continued co-operation by Russia with her allies was predicted by Joseph E. Davies, former United States Ambassador to Moscow, who arrived here for what he said would be a 10-day vacation. "Russia will not break her promises with England or the other United Nations," Davies said. "The word of the Soviet government is as good as that of any other of the nations fighting Germany."

"Russia will not impose nor try to impose her political, social or economic doctrines in Europe or the rest of the world after the war. Russia does not have territorial ambitions. Stalin wants others to respect his doctrines and he will respect those of others."

JAP CONVOY DAMAGED.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 2.—American Liberators smashed a new Japanese attempt to evacuate or reinforce their hard-pressed garrisons in the Central Solomons, sinking at least three of an 11-ship enemy convoy in a night battle a message from MacArthur's headquarters revealed today. The Japs finally moved away.

IN UNIFORM—Gracie Fields hardly arrived in London from U. S. before she donned uniform of Britain's National Entertainment Service. Soon she leaves for tour of Middle East and Australia to help keep fighting men laughing.

LIONS URGE GREATER TIN CAN SALVAGE

More tin cans are wanted immediately and in greater numbers from the people of Cisco as a part of the national salvage program. The local Lions club, sponsor for the Cisco campaign, has accumulated a considerable pile of the much-needed tins on the vacant lot at the corner of D avenue and Tenth street, through the cooperation of various citizens, but it is essential that this pile be increased to a truck load as soon as possible.

Cans that are too rusty cannot be used and the longer they stay in the open the more they deteriorate, says R. W. McCauley, president of the Lions. He urges every family in Cisco and surrounding territory to make a thorough cleaning of the premises for all tin cans up to and including five quart sizes and to bring them at once to the pile which is between Norvell-Miller grocery store and the Cisco Lumber yard.

The cans should be washed together at the open end or better mashed flat if that is convenient. Whether the quantity on hand is a few or many, they should be brought without delay. The value of the salvaged cans lies in the fact that shredded tin is vitally essential to the process of recovering copper from the crude ore and copper is demanded in tremendous quantities by the manufacturers of ammunitions and military supplies.

Collection of tin will continue as long as the war lasts, but as rapidly as possible the supply now lying in back yards and alleys should be made available to the war effort.

METHODISTS TO NAME OFFICERS MONDAY NIGHT

Fourth quarterly conference of First Methodist church will be held Monday night with Rev. W. H. Cole, district superintendent, in charge. At this meeting reports will be heard from organizations within the church regarding work of the year soon to end.

A matter of special importance will be election of stewards for the new year, as well as other officials of the church.

Stewards will have their regular monthly meeting at 7:30 under the direction of the chairman, Wm. Reagan. The quarterly conference will be convened immediately thereafter.

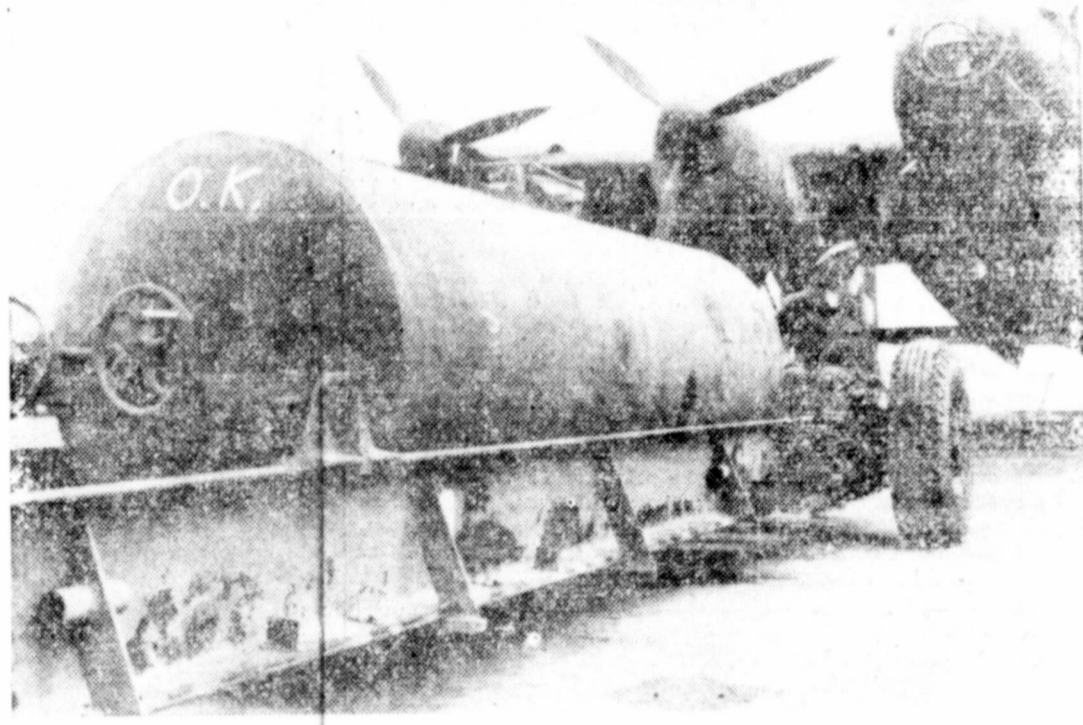

The current church year will end with the session of the annual conference, which will meet in Fort Worth, November 2.

SINGING CONVENTION.

A. E. Leclair announces that the Eastland county singing convention will meet at Mangum on October 10 for an all-day session. He extends an invitation to the general public.

STEEL CENTER BOMBED.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—British-based RAF bombers dropped perhaps 1000 tons of explosives on the Nazi iron and steel center of Hagen in the southeastern Ruhr last night in a swift follow-up to twin American daylight raids—the first from Northwest African bases—on southern Germany.

HERE SHE COMES, ADOLF—Very much O. K. is this 8,000-pound block-busting bomb being backed up by a girl driver to be loaded on the Lancaster, somewhere in England. Soon it will be on its way in a night raid over Adolf's territory.

HOME FROM ITALY—First British prisoner of Italy to be released and returned to England is Major General Adrian Carton de Wiart, captured in 1941 when his plane crashed in Mediterranean. He lost one eye and arm in World War I.

MARINE HURRY-UPPER—World's sprint champion, Harold Davis, has taken on new training. He's private in Marines now, and is shown at Marine Corps base, San Diego, Cal. He enlisted through program of University of California.

LOBOES LOST BUT PLAYED GOOD GAME

Apparently outclassed in interference and blocking, the Cisco Loboes put up a splendid fight against their heavier opponents, the Stephenville Yellow Jackets at Stephenville Friday night, holding the shiffter team to the score of 33 to 7.

In receiving the kickoff the Jackets sifted through the Loboes for a touchdown and the extra point, which made it look bad for the visitors, but in the initial play of the next shift Homer Tompkins emerged from the scramble and ran 60 yards for a touchdown and a kick that was good for seven points. The hefty Lobo outran the fastest Yellow Jacket in a race across the field. From then on it was a well-balanced game through the quarter, which ended 7-7.

The final score would seem to indicate that it was a walkover for the Jackets, but that was far from true. The Loboes seemed to really have the upper hand in the second quarter, but despite that the shifty Jackets found opportunity to cash in on the breaks and add scores from time to time in the succeeding quarters. Finding they were falling behind without hope of making it up by ground plays, the Loboes took to the air and kept their opponents worried throughout the game.

A fine drizzle kept the field in an un dependable condition and made the fans keep under coats and lap robes most of the time.

Coaches Monroe Sweeney and Midkiff were constantly on the alert with advice and encouragement throughout the game. Pep leaders Misses Winifred Tichenor, Betty Grist, Jeanette Myrick and Gloria Henson worked so hard at their jobs of team support that they had to constantly shed their coats which had been donned to keep off the rain at times.

The Cisco lineup: Hays, center and acting captain; Reed, guard; Baum, tackle; Rupe, end; Hurrelson, end; Tompkins, right half; Tipton, left half; Farley, fullback. Others of the Cisco squad were R. Ramsower, Karl Armstrong, Bobby Poe, Jack Frye, K. Joyner, Joe Philipott, V. Ramsower, Don Johnston, Bob Davis, J. Callerman, Phil Trevino, Sauls and Posey. Jack Milner and Gene Smith, managers.

GARDEN CLUB MEETING.

Cisco Garden club will meet Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the club house. Mrs. Theresa Weddington, incoming president, will preside. A good program has been arranged and Floyd Lynch, Eastland county farm agent, will be guest speaker. The public is invited to attend.

STIFF OPPOSITION AT SOME POINTS, BUT PROGRESS IS PLEASING TO US. GENERALS

ALGIERS, Oct. 2.—The Allied Fifth Army, streaming through Naples in relentless pursuit of the battered Germans, began the march on Rome today and a communique announced that the successful advance was continuing.

American and British spearheads pushed up the twin roads that lead from Naples to Rome, 125 miles to the north, as Allied bombers and fighters poured a torrent of explosives and bullets on German forces retreating for a new stand before the Italian capital.

Night bombers attacked pontoon bridges at Grazzanise, 18 miles north of Naples, and the coastal road at Formia, 43 miles north of Naples, last night in an attempt to split up the enemy formations. Eleven enemy planes were shot down yesterday and 14 Allied planes were lost.

Moving swiftly up the Italian east coast in a flanking maneuver, the British Eighth Army overran the highway junction of San Severo, 17 miles north of Foggia, and Lucera, 12 miles northwest of Foggia, while American units made further progress in the interior.

"Yesterday the successful advance of the Fifth Army continued," Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said. "In addition to the capture of Naples, further progress was made east of that city."

Nazi Marshal Albert Kesselring was not expected to make a stand until his men cross the Volturno river, 20 miles north of Naples, and even there he was not expected to pause for more than short-lived rear-guard delaying action.

There was every indication that the Allies would reach the approach to Rome if not occupy the capital itself, in about the same time—22 days—it took them to cover the initial 35 miles to Naples from the Salerno bridgehead.

The difficult mountain country, whose forested heights offered ideal cover for the Nazi defenders, has been left behind and ahead stretches only plains, ideal for armored fighting.

Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Anglo-American columns were believed well on their way toward their next objectives, Aversa, nine miles north of Naples, and Caserta, 16 miles northwest of Naples, on the twin roads that join on the southern approaches to Rome. Clark told correspondents he was "completely satisfied" with the progress made by the Fifth Army thus far. However, they were meeting stiff opposition at many points.

Reconnaissance pilots reported that the two roads were clogged with remnants of the beaten German Panzer divisions, truck-borne paratroops and motorized infantry, all under constant attack by Allied planes.

Allied bombers during the past week have concentrated their heaviest weight of bombs on the highway and railway bridges at Capua, where the inland route to Rome crosses the Volturno, in an effort to cut off the fleeing Germans.

The Germans also were threatened by Allied flanking columns, one consisting of Americans driving northward through the mountainous interior toward the highway junction of Benevento, and the other the British Eighth Army pushing up the east coast toward Pescara, opposite Rome.

The capture of Naples yesterday was expected to speed the conquest of Italy immeasurably, since it brought the Allies the biggest Italian harbor south of Genoa on the north coast and a network of all-weather air bases.

Though the Germans left Naples harbor clogged with scuttled ships and its installations in ruins, competent authorities reported the Allies could clear it sufficiently to begin the supply of ground forces within 10 days or a fortnight. The airfields probably can be used almost immediately. The two largest, Capodichino and Pomigliano, have tarmac or concrete runways more than a mile long.

GERMAN LIVES HULL RESTS MEAN LITTLE WHILE AWAIT- TO MR. HITLER ING BIG JOB

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 2.—Adolf Hitler has ordered Marshal Erwin Rommel and Albert Kesselring, his commanders in Northern and Central Italy, to hold a "blood wall" in Northern Italy in an effort to keep Allied armies from the borders of Germany, Berlin dispatches to the Swedish press said Saturday.

The German commanders were instructed to "defend the fortress of Europe to the last drop of blood," the Stockholm-Tidningen correspondent said.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, master of many a tough job in his long public career, celebrated his seventy-second birthday Saturday resting for one of the biggest tasks he has ever faced.

With Mrs. Hull, he is at Hot Springs, Va., awaiting a presidential assignment expected to take him on his first Atlantic crossing by air to either Moscow or London for a conference with British and Russian officials. It may point the course for the post-war world.

TEACHING IS ALL-IMPORTANT.

"We have had the AAA for farmers," says an indignant minister. "We have subsidized industry through the RFC. Science is aided and encouraged by governmental agencies. But our schools are begging for teachers, and the teachers we have are begging because their income is below that of the common laborer."

"The destiny of our race will be determined by teachers. If civilization decays, we must lay the blame on the teachers; if we achieve great things, it will be because the teachers in the schools have taught great things and have developed great minds and hearts in the pupils."

"It is the teachers who have made possible the downfall of tyranny. We shall win this war, but if we win, the ideals for which we fight can only be established through teaching them to every person in every nation on the face of the globe."

This last statement represents a rather large undertaking. But there can be no question of the immense importance of having good teachers at every step of the ladder of learning, from the kindergarten up to the college professor.

This great profession cannot accomplish what it should unless it is treated with more respect and provided with a better living than it usually is in these careless times.

Much should be demanded of teachers in the way of balance, temperament, daily conduct and general preparation for their great work.

Then, their financial recompense should be more than generous.

ADVERTISING.

The U. S. department of commerce, in a booklet recently issued, says "advertising is a main weapon of the home front."

As liaison officer between business and government the department has continually emphasized both of the necessity of advertising and also as a means of maintaining markets and as a means of increasing production.

"The recent studies that we have published," says the booklet, "emphasize the importance of advertising. And they have urged the government to do its part in the promotion of the war."

Perhaps the most significant phase of the booklet is the one which states that people must be persuaded. They must be interested. They must be convinced. And good advertising, honest advertising is one of the best methods for securing their interest. Not only do they read news, or even advertisements, but they read all advertisements, especially read advertising.

Through that reading they learn where they can buy what they want, for what they have to pay. And if it is not they cannot buy it, they learn why not, and how to get along without until the article can come back on the market.

WHO PAYS?

Everybody pays taxes in one way or another, but forty percent of the people in the United States pay nearly 83 percent of the income taxes, and 59 percent of all the internal revenue collected by the government.

The two-fifths who pay more than three-fifths of the taxes live in eight states—New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan. New York has one-tenth the nation's population and pays more than two-thirds of the income taxes. North Dakota and South Dakota are at the other end, each having less than half of one percent of the population and paying less than one-tenth of one percent in income taxes.

Figures are always interesting and prove many points. But they do not prove that people in New York live better or more happily than those in North Dakota. Space, freedom, plenty of wind and sun, the power to run one's own business and eat the food which is directly the fruit of one's labors spell something that apartment dwellers in New York City will never know. Not, at least, unless they move to Texas, Montana, or Wyoming or the Dakotas or some other place where there is plenty of room and where, ac-

CREDIT FOR ALL.

According to Cousin Eubert "everything is nice."

When an industrial leader writes a book, it is naturally a book about industry and his own experience and observation in that sphere. Such a book is produced by Tom M. Gustley, a Cleveland industrialist who in recent years has been striking out freely for himself, and of some sort at Washington. "Book Straps," by the way, is a good book, and it is a good idea for a well-made man. But the many other successful citizens, perhaps he assumes a little too much of himself, then for the class he represents.

"Book Straps," he says, "is a book that has been given prominence by the industrial community of the United States."

Now one can make a case for the book's content. Certainly, the "Dunsmuir" revolution would not have been so successful without the American manufacturers. But what is the "war story"? Or is it merely one of the most obvious parts of a great story showing how American and British industry provided the mechanical equipment with which civilization was saved?

"Who wins a battle? Outwardly, perhaps, the guns and bombs and bullets. And in that, the men who make the equipment have more their full share. But without the men to use the equipment in fighting the enemy, and their intelligence and patriotic determination, and the commanders, and the government, and the PEOPLE BEHIND ALL THESE, there can be no victory. It is no class or group that wins—it is the whole national team."

ROTARY HUMOR.

A. E. McNeely: "Should a husband tell his wife all of his thoughts and actions?"

Jim Collins: "That would be absurd! She already knows what he thinks, and her friends tell her what he does."

Judge (leaving the courtroom): "I've lost my hat."

J. J. Calloway: "That's nothing, I lost a suit here yesterday."

A lady customer had worried Floyd Shepard over trifles at the busiest time of day, and at last he had managed to explain to her satisfaction.

"Do you know, Mr. Shepard," said the lady, "when I came into your shop I had a dreadful headache. I've quite lost it now."

"It isn't lost," said distracted Floyd. "I've got it."

A mighty roar is going up from

WORLD COMMUNION SUNDAY TODAY

The congregation of First Methodist church at this morning's service will participate in the fourth annual observance of World Communion Sunday, joining with Christians of various denominations at home and abroad in army post chapels and in rural centers, in the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

The pastor, Rev. Leslie Seymour, says the communion service will be observed in China, New Zealand, Australia, Canada, Mexico at the battle fronts and in countless churches of America as a united Christian expression of fellowship and brotherhood. The movement for such cooperative worship has grown steadily during the four years of its history, and this year includes the largest number of churches and Christians ever to participate in such an undertaking.

The plate offering today will be used for a two-fold purpose. Half will go to the relief of distressed people in war-ravaged areas of the earth and the remainder to the promotion of religious activities among the men in military service.

Another feature of the morning service will be the installation of Sunday school officers and teachers.

Those to be installed are G. P. Minton as general superintendent, G. R. Nance as assistant superintendent, Mrs. W. C. McDaniel as secretary, Sam King as superintendent of adult division, Miss Lela Latch for youth division, Mrs. Jimmy Allen for children's division and the following workers in the various departments:

Nursery, Mrs. Howard Evans and Mrs. J. E. Hayes; beginners, Mrs. J. B. Deen, Mrs. Allen Newberry and Miss Zoyelle Cagle; primary, Mrs. Fred Hays, Mrs. C. E. Hickman, Mrs. B. N. Clark, Mrs. A. B. Boyd, Mrs. Ruby Ray Swift, Mrs. Garland Nance and Mrs. J. T. Anderson; junior, Mrs. J. J. Porter, Mrs. Paul Woods, Mrs. Crystal Paschall, Mrs. Gerald Meigert, Mrs. S. H. Nance and Mrs. L. E. Hall; intermediates, Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. O. L. Starney and C. J. Turner; young people, Mrs. E. L. Hazelwood, Mrs. A. D. Anderson, Mrs. Leslie Seymour, J. E. Hayes and Mrs. Bill Childers; Philathea class, Mrs. Philip Pettit, Mrs. Wm. Joyner, Mrs. C. J. Turner, Mrs. C. E. Bailey, Mrs. Floyd Hurrellson, Mrs. John Teag, Mrs. Chas. Flaherty, Mrs. S. H. McCarlie.

TREND FOR PARTIES—Fall fashions bring a trend for more party dresses. This evening gown is in black tulle and taffeta over pink net. Note how new high-low neckline is formed by off-the-shoulders cut merging into low V-bosom. Ann Miller of Columbia Pictures models the gown.

MEXICAN STYLE — Gil Modigo serenades crowds in City Hall plaza, New York, when 133rd anniversary of Mexican independence was observed. He is member of typical Mexican orchestra sent to U. S. to take part in independence ceremonies.

Mrs. John Penn, Mrs. Roy Williams and Mrs. B. J. Osborne, Daughters of Wesley, Mrs. M. D. Paschall and Mrs. Jonah Donovan. The Good Fellows' class will elect officers at their meeting before church today and these will also be in the installation service.

But if illiterates had been rejected during the Revolution, Washington would have lost most of his crack shots. The stranger part is that the divorced lady seems satisfied with her second, though she did no better than the first time.

XXTH CENTURY CLUB HOSTESS AT COFFEE. The XXth Century club was hostess at a "Coffee" Friday morning in the Library club rooms, which was well attended in spite of inclement weather. The rooms were gay with decorations of fall cut flowers and potted plants. Upon arrival, the guests were directed to the lace covered table where Mrs. John Shertzer and Mrs. Philip Pettit presided at a silver coffee service; plates with a doughnut and mints were passed with coffee to the group.

Following refreshments Mrs. Edward Lee, retiring president, called the meeting to order and presented Mrs. Alex Spears, program chairman, who took charge and presided during the program. Mrs. A. E. Jamison and Mrs. J. E. Walter sang two selections, "To a Wild Rose" and "America, My Home," with Mrs. S. E. Hitt on playing piano accompaniment. Mrs. Spears introduced Mrs. Graham Stuart of Graham, invited guest speaker, who gave a most interesting lecture on "Translucent China." The development of the art of making china was traced from its origin up to the present time. Among interesting facts noted was the statement that China was first to develop pottery and chinaware and the methods used have never been surpassed. One was surprised to learn that the best efforts of Australia, England, Italy, Germany and France had not enabled them to produce wares equal to those of Poland during the 17th century. Mrs. Stuart spoke without notes and showed splendid familiarity with her subject.

Approximately 60 club women attended the lecture. Mrs. Frank Parrish of Graham, whose mother, Mrs. F. C. leVeaux and sister, Mrs. C. R. Baugh, were for many years active members of the XXth Century club, accompanied the speaker to Cisco Friday.

CHILD STUDY CLUB DISCUSSED MORALE. Cisco Child Study club met Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the club house with Mrs. M. D. Fox as hostess. Mrs. B. B. Hurst, president, was in charge and presided at the business session when committee reports were heard. Time of meeting was moved from 3 p. m. until 4 p. m. on the regular club days.

Mrs. Marston Surles conducted a round table, during which the question, "How is the Morale at Your Home?" was discussed by members. The meeting adjourned until the next regular session, October 17. Those present were Mrs. D. G. Alford, Mrs. Roy Burnam, Mrs. J. H. Evans, Mrs. M. D. Fox, Mrs.

J. C. Fletcher, Mrs. Jay Garrett, Mrs. Thomas Graves, Mrs. J. E. Hays, Mrs. B. B. Hurst, T. E. Lesbee, Mrs. J. T. Richardson, Jr., Mrs. H. W. Schmidt, Mrs. Fred Scott, Mrs. Louie Sheekley, Mrs. Marston Surles, Mrs. A. W. Watson and Mrs. H. C. Wilkins.

"I HAVE SEEN the soldiers come down from the ships and stand in long lines on the docks, their 'B' bags on their backs and their rifles slung over their shoulders.

"I have seen the supplies come in by the hundred shiploads, locomotives and tanks and trucks—acres of boxed food and great mounds of hams, shiploads of bomb-stacked in from keel to hatch and all material that we need at home—steel for bridges and buildings, food for our own people, material enough to make all America well fed and well housed and well clothed.

"I have seen the men climb into the Fortress in the early morning and fly away waving with elaborate nonchalance and I have seen the gap in the mess when they
