EFFORT BREWING TO REMOVE MORGENTHAU

OPPRESSIVE TAXATION.

The estimate of Representative Robert L. Doughton that the treasury's new tax measure is too oppressive will meet with general commendation by the public says the Dallas News. A tax bill that is 40 per cent higher than the present rate is very high. A tax bill that takes 33 per cent of the nation's income is very high. Yet a tax measure cannot be figured in terms of its oppressiveness on the people, so long as the people can pay under any circumstances, if budgets are to be kept balanced. The fact is that the country next year will spend over 100 billion dollars for civil and military operations. Just at present, the money has to be raised by either taxation or bond sales if the budget is to be kept balanced. Eventually, all of it must be raised by taxation if the bond debt is not to be repudiated.

So it all boils down to the proposition of what proportion we raise in taxes and what in bonds.

Estimated national income next year will be 150 billion dollars. Two thirds, or even a little more, must go to the support of the war effort in either taxes or bonds. On the side of excessive taxation is the argument that it is the surest method against inflation of prices. On its side, also, is the fact that the tax dollar for war expenditures is an obligation to be taken care of at the moment and not passed on to plague our children in their future attempts to maintain the national financial structure.

On the other hand, high taxes now with relatively low bond purchases will encourage high taxes and high government expenditures after the war.

It will be very difficult to reduce taxation, considering the enormous tentative demands that have already been outlined by high-pressure political minorities of the nation.

There is one other alternative, the reduction of expenditures.

No loyal American would recommend the curtailing of the war effort under any circumstances. Yet the possibility that the maximum war effort of the nation's material and manpower could be maintained with less than the present 100 billion dollars a year might be investigated.

When Representative Knutson asked Secretary Morgenthau if the war budget of the United States is not greater than the combined budgets of Great Britain, Russia, Germany and Japan, the latter replied that he did not know and then added that "use of our money by the Army and Navy has been excellent."

As a matter of fact, there has been tremendous waste of money. Some of it was unavoidable because of the great speed that has been necessary in the building of the war machine.

But this does not mean that improvements cannot be made.

It is obvious that we cannot go on very long maintaining the 100 billion dollars a year national budget without resorting to totalitarian control of the national economy.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE ORGANIZES

At a meeting of the executive committee of District 9AA football group, held at Ranger, officers were elected and the organization perfected for the present inter-scholastic league year.

Supt. R. N. Cluck of Cisco was re-elected chairman. Supt. John W. Bailey of Breckenridge, vice chairman; Supt. Ivan P. Oliver of Stephenville, secretary.

Rules governing issuance of passes and gate charges were continued as heretofore. Visiting school officials will take up tickets.

Admission charges are as follows: Adults, 55 cents, students, 30 cents (tax included); members of armed forces charged according to wishes of home teams, with student prices the minimum. Pep leaders will be admitted free, but other members of squad must pay.

Passes will be granted as follows: Seven passes for school members and their wives; one pass for superintendent and wife; one pass for principal and wife; two passes for coaches and wives; two passes for daily newspaper; one pass for team physician and wife; one pass to be issued at discretion of superintendent.

Those present at the meeting from Cisco were R. N. Cluck, O. L. Stoney, Monroe Sweeney and C. B. Midkiff.

COMMERCE DIRECTORS ARE ON THE ALERT

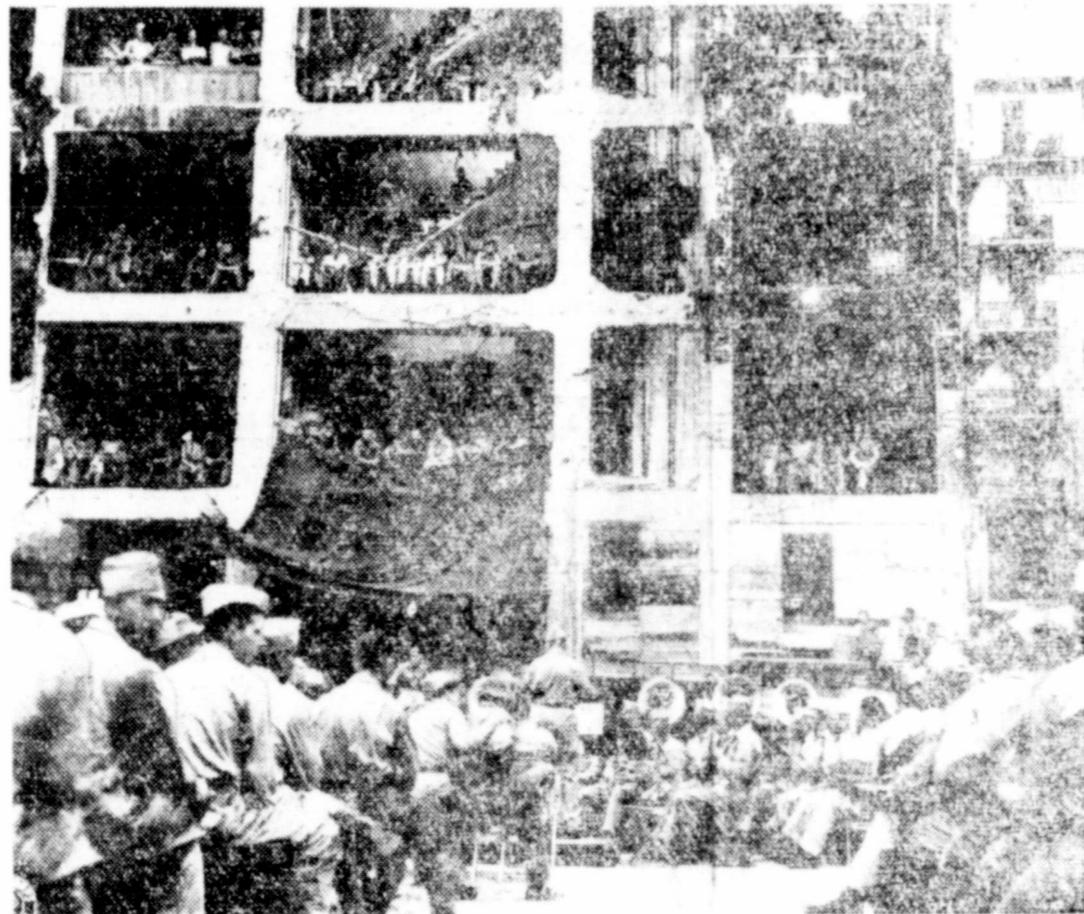

Only seven directors and two members were present at the chamber of commerce meeting last night, but it was a constructive session nevertheless and something of advantage to the city may grow out of proposals that were discussed and which are still in a formative state. It was the opinion of all that nothing must be left undone that could possibly add to the stability of the city, both now and after the war.

Another constructive proposition was presented by M. D. Fox, vocational-agriculture teacher of Cisco high school. Fox said the local schools now have on hand state-owned tools and implements valued at about $3,000; that this equipment is necessary to continuance of this department of the schools and would probably be augmented by the state if permanent quarters for the equipment is secured; otherwise, we will lose the vocational-agriculture equipment we now have. It was suggested—and the directors look on the plan with favor—that a way be found to construct a native stone vocational—agriculture building on land near Chesley field owned by the public schools of Cisco. A committee composed of W. J. Armstrong, A. E. McNeely and C. E. Hickman will go into the proposal thoroughly and report at next meeting with complete plans and approximate cost.

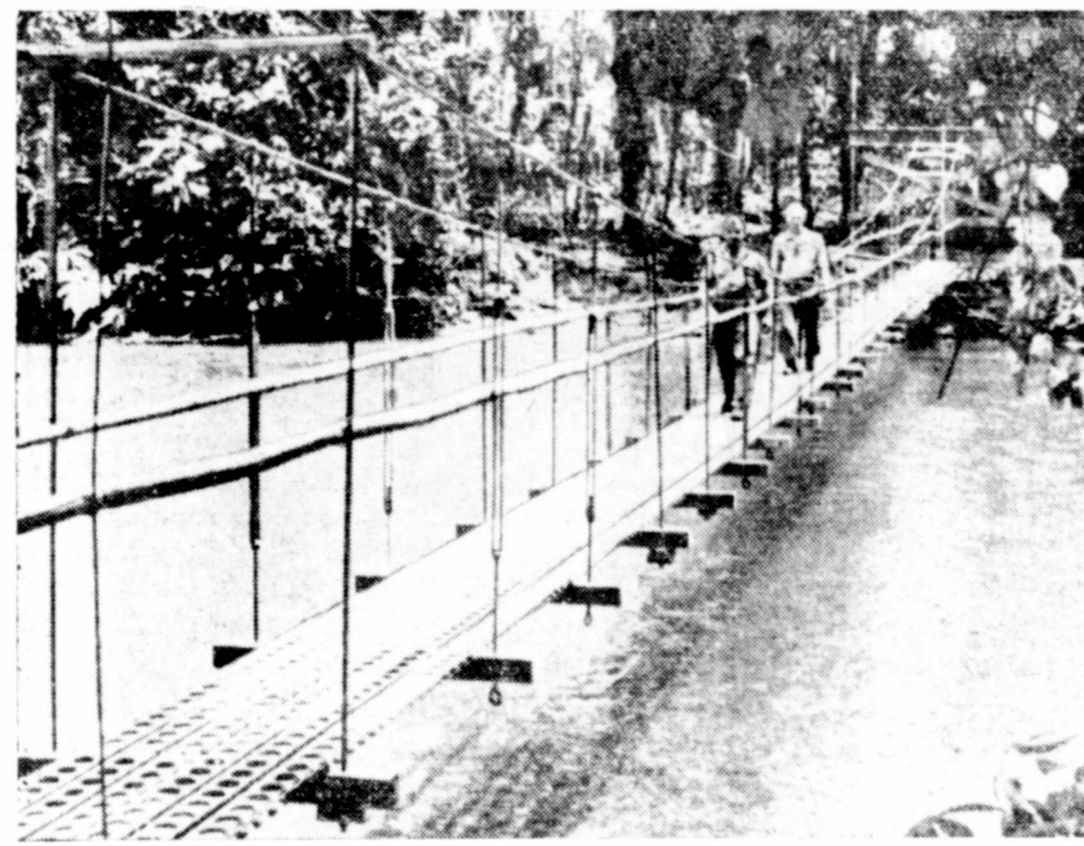

Directors present were J. D. Lauderdale, J. H. Allen, A. E. McNeely, R. L. Ponsler, R. N. Cluck, L. A. Warren, A. B. O'Flaherty, Members, Mayor Edward Lee, M. D. Fox and Secretary P. R. Warwick.

BALKANS THREAT.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The London Daily Express today quoted reports from neutral capitals that Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's U. S. 7th Army is massing on Italy's east coast between Bari and Foggia for an imminent invasion into the Balkans.

WAR THEATER—Open floors of bombed building in Algiers are put to use as balcony during concert by U. S. Army band playing for doughboys. Other Yank soldiers sit in what might be swanky orchestra pit at home.

STRATEGIC BRIDGE—This bridge, built in a hurry by Navy Seabees across Matanikau River, Guadalcanal, enabled Marine reinforcements to blast Japs out of territory. Bridge, constructed of steel matting, was crossed by small units.

STATE DEFICIT HAS DECLINED FOR PRESENT

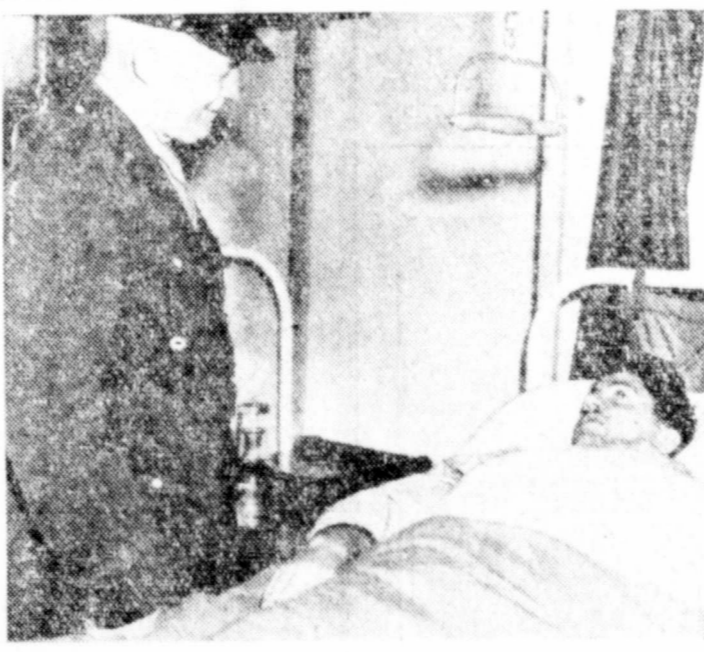

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—State Treasurer Jesse James has called for payment of general fund warrants aggregating $288,844 to include Warrant No. 354,768, current series, and bring the cash basis through Jan. 15, 1943.

With this call the general fund deficit is reduced to $22,125,255 compared to $31,024,763 a year ago and $20,671,681 a month ago.

It was expected the deficit would grow immediately following the close of the fiscal year on Aug. 31 as many appropriations were being exhausted by warrants drawn before they lapsed. A reduction in the deficit of $8,899,508 during the last twelve months is considered a highly satisfactory showing.

PORK SHORTAGE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—A severe shortage of pork will hit civilian consumers by the end of this week, packers warned today. All sections of the country are expected to feel the pinch which is brought about by an abrupt drop in receipts of hogs at the principal slaughtering centers. OPA price ceilings are said to be the cause.

SEES WOUNDED WARBIRDS — General Henry H. (Hap) Arnold, chief of U. S. Army Air Forces, stops for chat with Sgt. Elmer Barlow, of Dayton, O., during recent visit to hospital in England. He made visit to cheer wounded airmen.

DEPUTY KILLS TWO.

BRENNHAM, Oct. 6.—Two men, described by Deputy Sheriff Walter Schoeneman as escaped military prisoners from Camp Bowie, died today after being shot by the deputy sheriff said the men were armed with a .32 caliber pistol and were wearing "part civilian and part military clothes." He said the two were apprehended late last night driving an automobile stolen at Giddings, Tex.

TEN FLYERS KILLED.

BLYTHE ARMY AIR BASE, Cal., Oct. 6.—Second Lt. James R. Johnson, 23, of Houston, Texas, and nine other crew members of a four-motored heavy bomber were killed when their plane crashed near here.

Our death rate hasn't dropped as England's has, thus proving that big eaters can still get plenty.

5TH ARMY CUTS DEFENSE LINE

ALGERIA, Oct. 6.—Allied troops drove across the Voltorno river above Naples, breaking through the main German defense line on the road to Rome, and captured the key transport junctions of Aversa and Maddaloni in their northward surge.

Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Anglo-American Fifth Army scored its greatest success since the capture of Naples when it forced a crossing of the Voltorno, which is 18 miles north of Naples and 96 miles southeast of Rome.

The capture of Aversa and Maddaloni gave the Fifth Army control of the main roads northward to Rome.

The Fifth Army and Gen. Montgomery's British Eighth Army to the east were pounding ceaselessly at the sliding German line across Italy and pushing steadily northward in the sweep against the Italian capital.

Shock forces of the Fifth Army plunged across the Voltorno at an unspecified point in blasting the first breach in the natural line on which German Marshal Kesselring had been expected to undertake his first stand above Naples.

The plight of the Nazis above Naples, where they had clung stubbornly to positions near the city since last Friday, was intensified by the loss of Aversa, eight miles north of Naples, and Maddaloni, 14 miles to the northeast.

The fall of the towns deprived the Germans of their main transport hubs on the Naples front. Aversa is the first rail and highway center directly north of Naples, and Maddaloni is of almost equal importance.

On the Adriatic, the Eighth Army was battering down stiffened German resistance west of Termoli, and inland was sweeping forward so swiftly in some sectors that the troops were rounding up the hindmost German stragglers.

JAPS BEASTS SAYS AUSSIE WAR REPORTER

MELBOURNE, Oct. 6.—The heading of an Allied flier by the Japanese in New Guinea was described today by an Australian war correspondent as "only one incident in a long list of Jap atrocities."

Just returned from New Guinea, Correspondent Alan W. Dawes said:

"I have seen indescribable things which show the Japanese soldier is not a man, but a beast. One of our dressing stations has been bombed at least 17 times. The Red Cross symbol means nothing to the Japanese."

500 WOUNDED YANKS.

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 8.—Largest group of wounded soldiers ever to be housed here were recuperating today at Brooke General Hospital at Fort Houston. Five hundred men, most of them from the Southwest Pacific, have arrived at the hospital in the past few days. They all came from Letterman Hospital at San Francisco.

DESTROY OUTPOSTS.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 6.—Australian infantrymen have broken through outposts at the river entrance to the Ramu river valley in northeastern New Guinea in a drive menacing the few remaining enemy bases along the island coast, a message disclosed today.

REBELLION OVER STUPENDOUS TAX PROGRAM SPREADS AMONG PARTY LEADERS OF THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Congressional sentiment for the removal of Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., increased today as rebellion over the administration's new $10,500,000,000 tax program spread to Democratic and Republican house leaders.

The favorite to replace him is Economic Stabilizer Fred M. Vinson, former chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and one of President Roosevelt's chief fiscal advisers.

Members of the Ways and Means Committee, who heard Morgenthau Monday, have delayed serious consideration of the new revenue program pending Vinson's appearance at 2 p. m. today.

At least three committee members and one house Democratic leader have expressed belief that relations between congress and the administration on fiscal matters would be clarified if Morgenthau did not head the treasury department. The Democratic leader, who asked that his name be withheld, described the "treasurer's program for stiff personal income, excise and corporations tax increases as 'foolhardy.'"

House Republicans are disregarding the treasury's proposals. They contend that a large portion of the $10,500,000,000 requested by Morgenthau can be discounted through economies in the war budget. The remainder presumably would be made up through a 10 per cent federal sales tax.

The Republican ammunition was supplied by Rep. John Taber of New York, ranking Republican member of the House Appropriations Committee, who announced that a 40 per cent reduction in the treasury estimate could be effected if President Roosevelt would practice a reasonable degree of economy.

"The American people today are spending more money in the war effort than are Great Britain, Russia, Germany and Japan combined," Taber said in a statement. "We are carrying now nearly the whole financial load of the war and soon we will have a major part of the military load."

64 MEN OF COUNTY PASS TESTS

The Eastland county draft board has released to the Daily Press the names of 64 men who have passed army, navy, marine and coast guard armed forces induction examination and are ready for service with Uncle Sam. Some have already joined their commands and the others will do so soon. They are:

IRAN OIL TO AID ALLIES SAYS F. D. R.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—President Roosevelt said today that arrangements were being made to increase movements of gasoline and oil from Iran to United Nations fighting fronts, thus relieving the heavy present drain on the United States.

He told his press-radio conference that within the limits of shipping, everything possible would be done to reduce the military demands on American oil reserves and refining capacity.

150 OF 'EM—Licut. (jg) Paul E. Coughlin of Edina, Mo., credited with capturing 150 Italians and herding them toward American lines with his Navy seaplane guns.

OVERSEAS—Joe Cronin, of Boston Red Sox, who will manage All-Star American League baseball team that will go overseas to entertain American troops there.

PRICE FIXING RUNS WILD.

The American people have read in recent news reports that the OPA has filed complaints against certain of the nation's large variety store companies, charging that they are in violation of MPR-330 which contains a price line limitation provision that prohibits any concern from selling any goods at price lines higher than those carried in March, 1942. The fact that the price lines handled back in March, 1942, may no longer be available from manufacturers, seems to mean nothing to the OPA.

Among companies that have been cited are F. W. Woolworth Co., McCrory Stores, J. J. Newberry Co., Murphy Co., H. L. Green Co., Neisner Bros., W. T. Grant Co., and J. C. Penney Co.

OPA has failed to control wholesale and manufacturing costs and prices for inexpensive lines of women's and children's clothing. Now it is trying to prevent stores from making those practical adjustments in price lines which must be made in order to supply customers with the best available values from obtainable supplies today.

It is impossible for a fair-minded person to understand OPA's reasoning when it says it is illegal for a store to add a line of children's dresses at $5.90 when the highest priced line previously carried was $3.90—particularly if no more dresses are available at the $3.90 price or if the store wishes to sell a better dress for $5.90.

Regulation of this type has very serious implications which go way beyond what effect it may have on the stores in question or other companies which may later be cited. It is an attempt to prohibit certain perfectly legitimate activities within specified lines of business, and to regulate the business itself instead of regulating prices. If this particular regulation is continued, it will wipe out countless small merchants whose volume comes primarily from the sale of low-priced women's and children's outer wear. Such administration makes a mockery out of the real intent of laws passed by congress to establish reasonable wartime controls of essential civilian commodities.

LAW REASON.

Federal Judge Robert S. White said today in a message to the citizens of some serious thinking along before the law. He said that the law is not a mere technicality, but a guide to the conduct of life. He said that the law is not a mere technicality, but a guide to the conduct of life. He said that the law is not a mere technicality, but a guide to the conduct of life.

44 BELOW.

A temperature of 44 below is not in any country. It might seem that after the thermometer drops to 44 below zero, a little more doesn't make much difference. That is not the experience of Antarctic explorers who have wintered near the South Pole. They report that 40 below is a disturbing one. Down to that, cold is bearable; after that a drop of even one degree is an added torment. Now 44 below was the temperature in which American soldiers fought the other day. Most people will wonder where the Asiatic blizzards have been freed of Japanese. Iceland has seen no fighting, and no warfare has been reported within either the Arctic or Antarctic circle.

The answer is, up in the sky. Our Flying Fortresses, bombing Emden, announced that the greatest discomfort was the 44 below temperature which they encountered in the stratosphere. While it would have been worse if they had been in the open, they found it bad enough.

This is only one of the many climatic discomforts that our fighters must endure. If only this stratosphere could be judiciously mixed with heat from the jungles of New Guinea!

MENTAL.

A recent report from Washington says that "while the German high command has abandoned expectation of victory, the Nazis' combat strength is greater than it was four years ago, and they will wage a desperate, bloody struggle to stave off outright defeat."

Presumably the army experts who share this view know the general picture better than civilians can know it. It is natural to wonder, though, whether in their appraisal the military men take full account of the psychological factors. Germans, more perhaps than most races, seem to live within their own minds, and to be especially subject to "mass psychology." That is to say, they tend to be strongly influenced from time to time with what might be called "waves of thought" which spread through the nation and impel them to think and act together in unexpected ways.

It was apparently a tide of fear and discouragement which led to the sudden collapse of the German home front in the last war. And collapse in this war may come in the same way. Every outside effort contributing to that end is useful.

October, 1927

(From Files Cisco Daily News)

Tuesday, October 11, marked the thirty-seventh anniversary of the official establishment of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Cisco chapter of which was organized only May 16 of this year. Mrs. Frank Harrell is regent of the Cisco organization which has been named the Charles Crawford chapter. There are 25 members of the chapter. The national organization has 200,000 members.

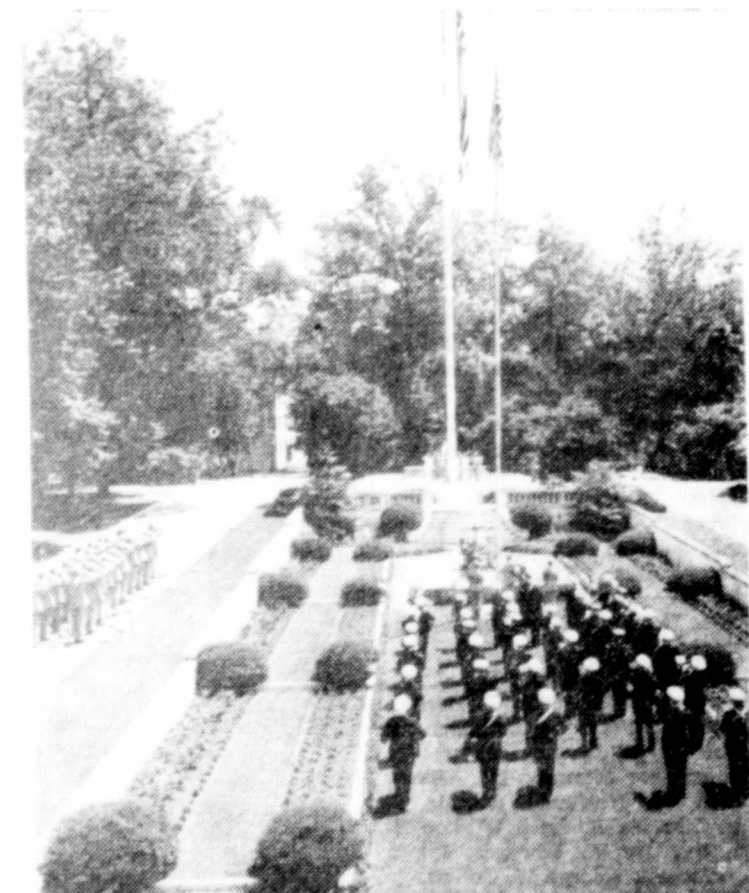

The most brilliant social event of the fall festivities was the reception honoring Mrs. L. C. Heltzel, a recent bride, by Mrs. S. E. Hittson, Mrs. P. R. Warwick and Mrs. Rosalie Pentecost in Mrs. Warwick's beautiful new home.

SUNDY SCHOOL CLASS ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

At a recent session of Good Fellows Sunday school class of First Methodist church officers were elected for the year, which began with the month of October. Howard Evans was made president to succeed C. E. Hickman. Other officers elected were S. H. McCandless, vice-president; A. R. Westfall, secretary-treasurer; Dr. C. E. Paul, pianist; Rev. B. J. Osborne, teacher.

The class meets Sunday morning at 9:45 in the banquet room of the church basement. Out of this group of men come about 90 percent of the stewards of the church, according to the pastor, Rev. Leslie Seymour, and a major portion of the finances of the church are provided by them.
