

THE CISCO DAILY PRESS

COMBINED WITH CISCO DAILY NEWS AND CISCO AMERICAN AND ROUND-UP, NOVEMBER 1, 1937

CISCO—One of the healthiest areas in U.S.A., with a countryside devoted to blooded cattle, hogs, sheep, peanuts, cotton, fruits, feeds, poultry, gas, oil; two railroads; Bankhead highway; huge concrete swimming pool.

CISCO—1,614 ft. above sea; Lake Cisco—three miles long, 87 ft. deep at Williamson hollow concrete dam; fish hatchery; 127 blocks paving; A-1 high school; Junior college; natural gas, electric and ice plants.

VOLUME XXIV.

CISCO, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1943.

NUMBER 38

U. S. WARSHIPS JOIN BATTLE FOR ITALY

ROTARIANS OUT-BOWLED YOUNGER SET

De. Gary L. Smith, vice president of the Rotary club, presided at Thursday's luncheon in the absence of President Lonnie Shockley. A new member, W. P. Guinn, divisional superintendent of the Humble Pipe Line, was introduced, as was Harry Grantz, former honorary boy member from the high school, who takes the place of J. B. Curtis, who now returns. Rotarian Cooper Waters introduced Mr. Guinn, while Curtis introduced Grantz. Rotarian O. J. Russell announced that the Rotarians again won the bowling match with the Lions Tuesday night by a majority of 8 pins. Burl Williams was again high man for the Rotarians with a score of 470; total score 2,169. B. W. McCauley was high man for the Lions with 454. Total score 2,877. A motion to meet on Armistice day was carried. Visitors were O. L. Duckett, W. C. Hogue, L. J. Donohoe of the city and Rotarian S. J. Treadway of Abilene. G. R. Nance introduced the program which was the high school military picture, Jap Zero plane as differentiated from the P-40 American plane. Burl Williams was in charge.

MRS. J. E. T. PETERS DIED EARLY TODAY

Mrs. J. E. T. Peters, 52, died at her home in Dallas at 4 o'clock this morning after an extended illness. The funeral will be held in Dallas Saturday morning, with burial in Hillcrest cemetery, that city. Mrs. Peters was the former Miss Vera Rawls and was born and reared in Ranger. The family resided in Cisco for a number of years while Mr. Peters was secretary of the local chamber of commerce. She was a member of the First Methodist church, here, a most excellent woman and many friends will regret to learn of her death. Survivors besides her husband and a son, W. C. Peters, include her mother, Mrs. Martha Rawls of Ranger; four sisters and two brothers, as follows: Mrs. Luther Riddle and Mrs. John Ghoshan, Ranger; Mrs. George L. Davenport, Eastland; Mrs. W. R. Dowden, Midland; R. B. Rawls, Fort Worth and T. O. Rawls, Ranger.

B. B. HURST HAS SIGNED UP WITH SEABEES

B. B. Hurst returned last night from Dallas where he was sworn into the Seabee division of the navy. He will return to Dallas Wednesday for assignment to a training station. Mr. Hurst has lived in Cisco for the past five years and has been in the employ of the West Texas Utilities company, coming here from San Angelo. He is married and has a 9-year-old son. Mrs. Hurst and the boy will remain in Cisco for the duration. Her sister, Mrs. G. O. Burnside, whose husband is stationed at Camp Walters, will make her home with them.

BROWNING, 22 IS NOW AN ARMY CAPTAIN

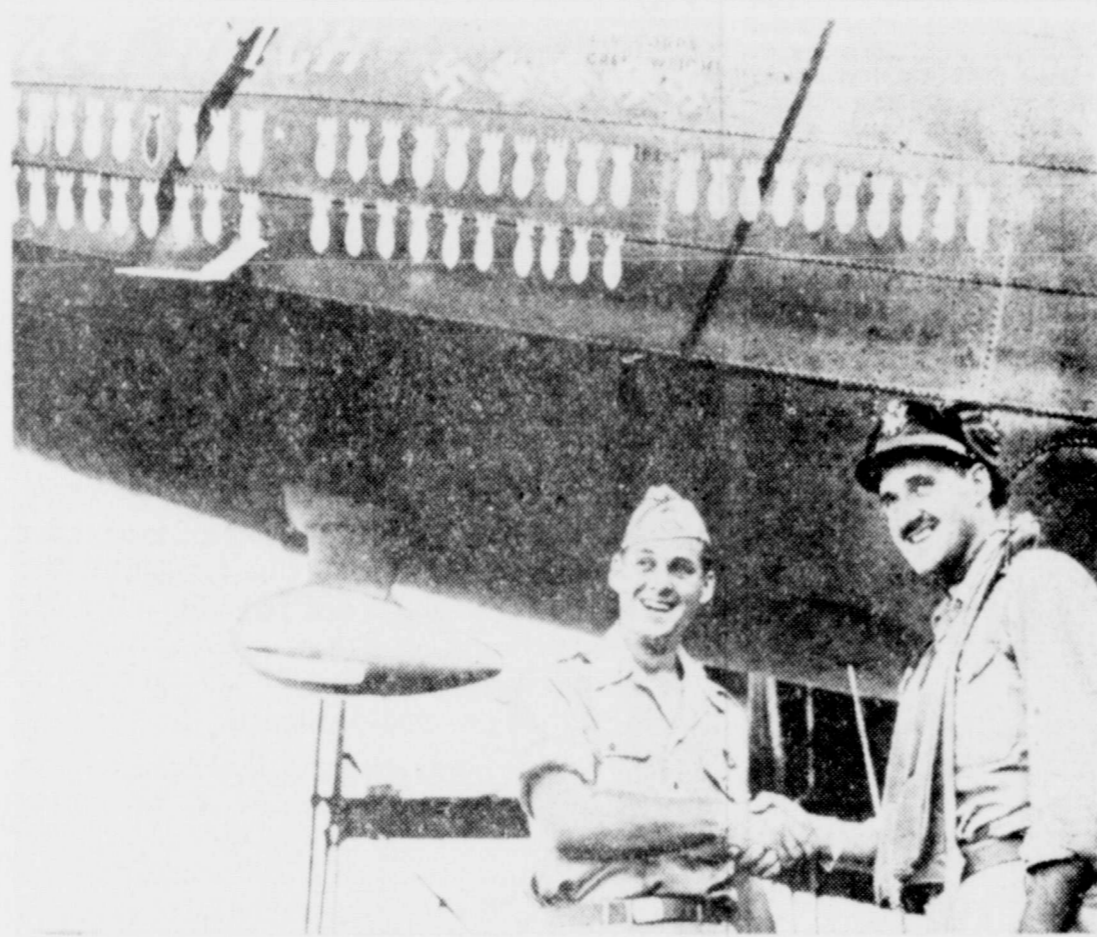

James Alton Browning, grand son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Cozart of Scranton, has been promoted to a captain in the army. The honor came just three days before his 22nd birthday, the Daily Press is informed. Captain Browning's wife is the former Miss Katherine Cozart and the young couple have a baby daughter.

SINGERS MEET AT CHURCH OF GOD, SUNDAY

The Cisco Church of God will be hosts to the fifth Sunday Singing convention at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, says Don Rupe. This convention was organized ten years ago with Rev. Luther Pryor as president, the plan being to meet with some Cisco church on each fifth Sunday. The organization has never missed a session during those years and attendance continues good, notwithstanding the shortage of gas and tires. Over 300 persons were present at the last convention and a fair crowd is expected Sunday. Gospel songs will prevail and the public is invited, Mr. Rupe stated.

HARRELL GOES HOME.

Frank E. Harrell of the Rockwell Lumber company, who has been at Graham Sanitarium for several days, was able to return home today. Mr. Harrell's many friends will be glad to know that he is rounding into good shape again.

REUNION—Much to the surprise of both of them, Lieut. James G. Johnson, left, and Major Roscoe H. Johnson, Jr., brothers from Chicago, accidentally meet in North Africa. They discover that for two months they had been piloting bombers from airports only 10 miles apart, sometimes even taking part in the same missions.

GRANDMOM AND MOM TOO — Mrs. Lillian Berman, 41, left, of Chicago, is mother of Mrs. Dorothy Pomper, right; grandmother of Linda Merle Pomper, on her mother's knee, and mother of Judith Harriet, whom she is holding. Mrs. Mollie Kirschbaum, background, is the great-grandmother.

THROUGH NAZI LINES — To establish communications with Canadians in Italy, Airman Pvt. R. L. Roy, right, of Knoxville, Tenn., sneaked through German lines to Canadian position. Above, two Canadian soldiers share cigarettes with him after his safe arrival on their side.

ESCAPE LINE FOR GERMANS IS NARROWING

MOSCOW, Oct. 29.—Hard-hitting Cossacks, narrowing the Nazi escape corridor in the Dnieper-Nogaik bulge to less than 80 miles, smashed the main enemy stronghold southwest of the Dnieper Bend, and advanced through weak resistance today in an attempt to trap hundreds of thousands of fleeing Germans. A "ghost voice" broke into a broadcast from Breslau last night and told the German people that 40 Nazi divisions—600,000 men—were trapped in Southern Russia and that none would return alive "if we do not at once disappear from Russia." The Nazi command probably lost its last chance for an organized stand below the Dnieper when the fall of the highway hub of Nizhny Serogozhy, 50 miles west of Melitopol, and Novo-Aleksandrovka, nine miles to the north, chopped up retreating German units on the Nogaik steppes into disorganized columns.

POULTRY, HORSE SHOW.

Under the direction of R. B. Thomas, Jr., vocational agricultural teacher at Ranger high school, members of the vocational agriculture classes will stage a poultry and horse show in Ranger Thursday and Friday, November 4 and 5. Exhibits will be arranged in the Walker Smith Building and in the Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber company building both on Highway 80 at the Main street intersection.

4-H CLUB MET.

Cisco west ward fourth and fifth grade 4-H club met Oct. 26 with the president, Carolyn Shaw, presiding. Helen Childress, assistant home demonstration agent, discussed the making of beads and health kits. Members of the club are Mary Abbott, Barbara Anderson, Geneva Bint, Bobby Black, Dorothy Butler, Patsy Denton, Evelyn Elam, Mary Eubank, Katherine Foster, Betty Gallagher, Felix Garcia, Patsy Gardenhire, Wanda Glidewell, Barbara Henry, Jane Huestis, Betty Lou Hughes, Ramona Ingram, Aline Jones, Patsy Fay Jones, Patsy King, Betty Laird, Johnnie Lewis, Lela Faye Lovell, Inez Macias, Aileen Marsh, Barbara McCauley, Louise Moore, Mildred Moore, Evelyn Nichols, Helen Parmer, Charlene Pence, Jackie Rawson, Neta Reese, Geneva Rich, Betty Sisk, Carolyn Shaw, Marie Taylor, Myra Townsend, Clydelle Wilkins, Nettie White, Terry Worley, Peggy Ward, Majuan Johnson, Patricia Stephens, Barbara Caffey and Juanita Gonca.

URGES VOTE — Frank C. Walker, Postmaster General and chairman of the Democratic National Committee, urging before the House Election Committee in Washington that "everything possible" be done to enable members of armed forces to vote in 1944.

DR. HALE ILL.

Dr. Charles Hale, one of Cisco's outstanding citizens and an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist here for many years, is ill again with an attack of flu. He was some better today, but is a very sick man.

BOTH FIFTH AND EIGHTH ARMIES PUSH THEIR WAY INTO THE "LITTLE ROMMEL" LINE

ALGIERS, Oct. 29.—American warships swarming into the Battle of Italy, bombarded the west coast German flank 14 miles behind their new defense line, while United States units ashore drove a wedge two miles deeper into the Nazi positions. Both the Fifth and Eighth Armies pushed their way well into the forward defenses of the "Little Rommel" line barring the march to Rome. (The Rome Radio said the Fifth and Eighth Armies opened a "general offensive" aimed at the center of the line hinged on Isernia. A front dispatch to London said "all the familiar eve-of-battle signs" were in evidence on the Fifth Army front.) Despite heavy rains which impeded movements all along the front, the Allies scored some new territorial gains although their primary efforts were devoted to the massing of men and material for the assault on the powerful German mountain line. With the weather curtaining the aerial hammering of German communications, the all-weather artillery of the United States Navy was brought into play against Minturno, the town was under naval attack for the first time. Stabbing deeper into the maze of German fortifications before the new line, the Americans menaced the road hub of Teano, outpost of the Nazi stronghold atop Masicco Ridge. Gen. Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army captured Montecalone, only two miles short of the Trigno river and about 10 miles inland from the Adriatic. The sweep against Montecalone also won three more small towns—Rossatok, three miles north of Gorena, San Biase, six north of Gorelia, and San Felice, three northwest of Acquaviva. A United States cruiser and destroyers struck boldly into the Gaeta Gulf Wednesday night to pound the Germans shore positions in the Minturno area, some 14 miles behind the Mondragone coastal anchor of the German line. The line now was within artillery range and the Allies presumably were taking advantage of the situation to soften the German positions for the frontal onslaught. The chief action on the Fifth Army front centered in the vicinity of Teano, a road junction four miles north of Sparanise, which the Germans were defending with vigor. Although the drove their wedge deeper into the German positions, the Americans had not reached the town, which lies just under the brow of the towering Masicco ridge on which the new defense line was based. Bitter fighting was reported on the Eighth Army front, where the British and Canadian forces were seeking to exploit a two-mile bridgehead which they held north of the Trigno river. The Eighth was pushing toward San Salvo, which is held by the Nazis, and engagements on a substantial scale were reported just southeast of the town in the Adriatic coastal sector. To the west of the San Salvo area the Eighth had not yet reached the Trigno, but the latest advances straightened out the front and brought it within a couple of miles of the river at most points. Fighter-bombers and fighters of the Northwest African Air Forces supported the ground troops with attacks on railroad junctions, trains, bridges and enemy positions behind the enemy lines. Fighter-bombers also attacked enemy airfields near Orvieto, Litoria and Foligno, north of Rome, and shot down two enemy planes.

Both the Fifth and Eighth Armies pushed their way well into the forward defenses of the "Little Rommel" line barring the march to Rome. (The Rome Radio said the Fifth and Eighth Armies opened a "general offensive" aimed at the center of the line hinged on Isernia. A front dispatch to London said "all the familiar eve-of-battle signs" were in evidence on the Fifth Army front.) Despite heavy rains which impeded movements all along the front, the Allies scored some new territorial gains although their primary efforts were devoted to the massing of men and material for the assault on the powerful German mountain line. With the weather curtaining the aerial hammering of German communications, the all-weather artillery of the United States Navy was brought into play against Minturno, the town was under naval attack for the first time. Stabbing deeper into the maze of German fortifications before the new line, the Americans menaced the road hub of Teano, outpost of the Nazi stronghold atop Masicco Ridge. Gen. Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army captured Montecalone, only two miles short of the Trigno river and about 10 miles inland from the Adriatic. The sweep against Montecalone also won three more small towns—Rossatok, three miles north of Gorena, San Biase, six north of Gorelia, and San Felice, three northwest of Acquaviva. A United States cruiser and destroyers struck boldly into the Gaeta Gulf Wednesday night to pound the Germans shore positions in the Minturno area, some 14 miles behind the Mondragone coastal anchor of the German line. The line now was within artillery range and the Allies presumably were taking advantage of the situation to soften the German positions for the frontal onslaught. The chief action on the Fifth Army front centered in the vicinity of Teano, a road junction four miles north of Sparanise, which the Germans were defending with vigor. Although the drove their wedge deeper into the German positions, the Americans had not reached the town, which lies just under the brow of the towering Masicco ridge on which the new defense line was based. Bitter fighting was reported on the Eighth Army front, where the British and Canadian forces were seeking to exploit a two-mile bridgehead which they held north of the Trigno river. The Eighth was pushing toward San Salvo, which is held by the Nazis, and engagements on a substantial scale were reported just southeast of the town in the Adriatic coastal sector. To the west of the San Salvo area the Eighth had not yet reached the Trigno, but the latest advances straightened out the front and brought it within a couple of miles of the river at most points. Fighter-bombers and fighters of the Northwest African Air Forces supported the ground troops with attacks on railroad junctions, trains, bridges and enemy positions behind the enemy lines. Fighter-bombers also attacked enemy airfields near Orvieto, Litoria and Foligno, north of Rome, and shot down two enemy planes.

Both the Fifth and Eighth Armies pushed their way well into the forward defenses of the "Little Rommel" line barring the march to Rome. (The Rome Radio said the Fifth and Eighth Armies opened a "general offensive" aimed at the center of the line hinged on Isernia. A front dispatch to London said "all the familiar eve-of-battle signs" were in evidence on the Fifth Army front.) Despite heavy rains which impeded movements all along the front, the Allies scored some new territorial gains although their primary efforts were devoted to the massing of men and material for the assault on the powerful German mountain line. With the weather curtaining the aerial hammering of German communications, the all-weather artillery of the United States Navy was brought into play against Minturno, the town was under naval attack for the first time. Stabbing deeper into the maze of German fortifications before the new line, the Americans menaced the road hub of Teano, outpost of the Nazi stronghold atop Masicco Ridge. Gen. Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army captured Montecalone, only two miles short of the Trigno river and about 10 miles inland from the Adriatic. The sweep against Montecalone also won three more small towns—Rossatok, three miles north of Gorena, San Biase, six north of Gorelia, and San Felice, three northwest of Acquaviva. A United States cruiser and destroyers struck boldly into the Gaeta Gulf Wednesday night to pound the Germans shore positions in the Minturno area, some 14 miles behind the Mondragone coastal anchor of the German line. The line now was within artillery range and the Allies presumably were taking advantage of the situation to soften the German positions for the frontal onslaught. The chief action on the Fifth Army front centered in the vicinity of Teano, a road junction four miles north of Sparanise, which the Germans were defending with vigor. Although the drove their wedge deeper into the German positions, the Americans had not reached the town, which lies just under the brow of the towering Masicco ridge on which the new defense line was based. Bitter fighting was reported on the Eighth Army front, where the British and Canadian forces were seeking to exploit a two-mile bridgehead which they held north of the Trigno river. The Eighth was pushing toward San Salvo, which is held by the Nazis, and engagements on a substantial scale were reported just southeast of the town in the Adriatic coastal sector. To the west of the San Salvo area the Eighth had not yet reached the Trigno, but the latest advances straightened out the front and brought it within a couple of miles of the river at most points. Fighter-bombers and fighters of the Northwest African Air Forces supported the ground troops with attacks on railroad junctions, trains, bridges and enemy positions behind the enemy lines. Fighter-bombers also attacked enemy airfields near Orvieto, Litoria and Foligno, north of Rome, and shot down two enemy planes.

Both the Fifth and Eighth Armies pushed their way well into the forward defenses of the "Little Rommel" line barring the march to Rome. (The Rome Radio said the Fifth and Eighth Armies opened a "general offensive" aimed at the center of the line hinged on Isernia. A front dispatch to London said "all the familiar eve-of-battle signs" were in evidence on the Fifth Army front.) Despite heavy rains which impeded movements all along the front, the Allies scored some new territorial gains although their primary efforts were devoted to the massing of men and material for the assault on the powerful German mountain line. With the weather curtaining the aerial hammering of German communications, the all-weather artillery of the United States Navy was brought into play against Minturno, the town was under naval attack for the first time. Stabbing deeper into the maze of German fortifications before the new line, the Americans menaced the road hub of Teano, outpost of the Nazi stronghold atop Masicco Ridge. Gen. Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army captured Montecalone, only two miles short of the Trigno river and about 10 miles inland from the Adriatic. The sweep against Montecalone also won three more small towns—Rossatok, three miles north of Gorena, San Biase, six north of Gorelia, and San Felice, three northwest of Acquaviva. A United States cruiser and destroyers struck boldly into the Gaeta Gulf Wednesday night to pound the Germans shore positions in the Minturno area, some 14 miles behind the Mondragone coastal anchor of the German line. The line now was within artillery range and the Allies presumably were taking advantage of the situation to soften the German positions for the frontal onslaught. The chief action on the Fifth Army front centered in the vicinity of Teano, a road junction four miles north of Sparanise, which the Germans were defending with vigor. Although the drove their wedge deeper into the German positions, the Americans had not reached the town, which lies just under the brow of the towering Masicco ridge on which the new defense line was based. Bitter fighting was reported on the Eighth Army front, where the British and Canadian forces were seeking to exploit a two-mile bridgehead which they held north of the Trigno river. The Eighth was pushing toward San Salvo, which is held by the Nazis, and engagements on a substantial scale were reported just southeast of the town in the Adriatic coastal sector. To the west of the San Salvo area the Eighth had not yet reached the Trigno, but the latest advances straightened out the front and brought it within a couple of miles of the river at most points. Fighter-bombers and fighters of the Northwest African Air Forces supported the ground troops with attacks on railroad junctions, trains, bridges and enemy positions behind the enemy lines. Fighter-bombers also attacked enemy airfields near Orvieto, Litoria and Foligno, north of Rome, and shot down two enemy planes.

Both the Fifth and Eighth Armies pushed their way well into the forward defenses of the "Little Rommel" line barring the march to Rome. (The Rome Radio said the Fifth and Eighth Armies opened a "general offensive" aimed at the center of the line hinged on Isernia. A front dispatch to London said "all the familiar eve-of-battle signs" were in evidence on the Fifth Army front.) Despite heavy rains which impeded movements all along the front, the Allies scored some new territorial gains although their primary efforts were devoted to the massing of men and material for the assault on the powerful German mountain line. With the weather curtaining the aerial hammering of German communications, the all-weather artillery of the United States Navy was brought into play against Minturno, the town was under naval attack for the first time. Stabbing deeper into the maze of German fortifications before the new line, the Americans menaced the road hub of Teano, outpost of the Nazi stronghold atop Masicco Ridge. Gen. Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army captured Montecalone, only two miles short of the Trigno river and about 10 miles inland from the Adriatic. The sweep against Montecalone also won three more small towns—Rossatok, three miles north of Gorena, San Biase, six north of Gorelia, and San Felice, three northwest of Acquaviva. A United States cruiser and destroyers struck boldly into the Gaeta Gulf Wednesday night to pound the Germans shore positions in the Minturno area, some 14 miles behind the Mondragone coastal anchor of the German line. The line now was within artillery range and the Allies presumably were taking advantage of the situation to soften the German positions for the frontal onslaught. The chief action on the Fifth Army front centered in the vicinity of Teano, a road junction four miles north of Sparanise, which the Germans were defending with vigor. Although the drove their wedge deeper into the German positions, the Americans had not reached the town, which lies just under the brow of the towering Masicco ridge on which the new defense line was based. Bitter fighting was reported on the Eighth Army front, where the British and Canadian forces were seeking to exploit a two-mile bridgehead which they held north of the Trigno river. The Eighth was pushing toward San Salvo, which is held by the Nazis, and engagements on a substantial scale were reported just southeast of the town in the Adriatic coastal sector. To the west of the San Salvo area the Eighth had not yet reached the Trigno, but the latest advances straightened out the front and brought it within a couple of miles of the river at most points. Fighter-bombers and fighters of the Northwest African Air Forces supported the ground troops with attacks on railroad junctions, trains, bridges and enemy positions behind the enemy lines. Fighter-bombers also attacked enemy airfields near Orvieto, Litoria and Foligno, north of Rome, and shot down two enemy planes.

Both the Fifth and Eighth Armies pushed their way well into the forward defenses of the "Little Rommel" line barring the march to Rome. (The Rome Radio said the Fifth and Eighth Armies opened a "general offensive" aimed at the center of the line hinged on Isernia. A front dispatch to London said "all the familiar eve-of-battle signs" were in evidence on the Fifth Army front.) Despite heavy rains which impeded movements all along the front, the Allies scored some new territorial gains although their primary efforts were devoted to the massing of men and material for the assault on the powerful German mountain line. With the weather curtaining the aerial hammering of German communications, the all-weather artillery of the United States Navy was brought into play against Minturno, the town was under naval attack for the first time. Stabbing deeper into the maze of German fortifications before the new line, the Americans menaced the road hub of Teano, outpost of the Nazi stronghold atop Masicco Ridge. Gen. Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army captured Montecalone, only two miles short of the Trigno river and about 10 miles inland from the Adriatic. The sweep against Montecalone also won three more small towns—Rossatok, three miles north of Gorena, San Biase, six north of Gorelia, and San Felice, three northwest of Acquaviva. A United States cruiser and destroyers struck boldly into the Gaeta Gulf Wednesday night to pound the Germans shore positions in the Minturno area, some 14 miles behind the Mondragone coastal anchor of the German line. The line now was within artillery range and the Allies presumably were taking advantage of the situation to soften the German positions for the frontal onslaught. The chief action on the Fifth Army front centered in the vicinity of Teano, a road junction four miles north of Sparanise, which the Germans were defending with vigor. Although the drove their wedge deeper into the German positions, the Americans had not reached the town, which lies just under the brow of the towering Masicco ridge on which the new defense line was based. Bitter fighting was reported on the Eighth Army front, where the British and Canadian forces were seeking to exploit a two-mile bridgehead which they held north of the Trigno river. The Eighth was pushing toward San Salvo, which is held by the Nazis, and engagements on a substantial scale were reported just southeast of the town in the Adriatic coastal sector. To the west of the San Salvo area the Eighth had not yet reached the Trigno, but the latest advances straightened out the front and brought it within a couple of miles of the river at most points. Fighter-bombers and fighters of the Northwest African Air Forces supported the ground troops with attacks on railroad junctions, trains, bridges and enemy positions behind the enemy lines. Fighter-bombers also attacked enemy airfields near Orvieto, Litoria and Foligno, north of Rome, and shot down two enemy planes.

Both the Fifth and Eighth Armies pushed their way well into the forward defenses of the "Little Rommel" line barring the march to Rome. (The Rome Radio said the Fifth and Eighth Armies opened a "general offensive" aimed at the center of the line hinged on Isernia. A front dispatch to London said "all the familiar eve-of-battle signs" were in evidence on the Fifth Army front.) Despite heavy rains which impeded movements all along the front, the Allies scored some new territorial gains although their primary efforts were devoted to the massing of men and material for the assault on the powerful German mountain line. With the weather curtaining the aerial hammering of German communications, the all-weather artillery of the United States Navy was brought into play against Minturno, the town was under naval attack for the first time. Stabbing deeper into the maze of German fortifications before the new line, the Americans menaced the road hub of Teano, outpost of the Nazi stronghold atop Masicco Ridge. Gen. Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army captured Montecalone, only two miles short of the Trigno river and about 10 miles inland from the Adriatic. The sweep against Montecalone also won three more small towns—Rossatok, three miles north of Gorena, San Biase, six north of Gorelia, and San Felice, three northwest of Acquaviva. A United States cruiser and destroyers struck boldly into the Gaeta Gulf Wednesday night to pound the Germans shore positions in the Minturno area, some 14 miles behind the Mondragone coastal anchor of the German line. The line now was within artillery range and the Allies presumably were taking advantage of the situation to soften the German positions for the frontal onslaught. The chief action on the Fifth Army front centered in the vicinity of Teano, a road junction four miles north of Sparanise, which the Germans were defending with vigor. Although the drove their wedge deeper into the German positions, the Americans had not reached the town, which lies just under the brow of the towering Masicco ridge on which the new defense line was based. Bitter fighting was reported on the Eighth Army front, where the British and Canadian forces were seeking to exploit a two-mile bridgehead which they held north of the Trigno river. The Eighth was pushing toward San Salvo, which is held by the Nazis, and engagements on a substantial scale were reported just southeast of the town in the Adriatic coastal sector. To the west of the San Salvo area the Eighth had not yet reached the Trigno, but the latest advances straightened out the front and brought it within a couple of miles of the river at most points. Fighter-bombers and fighters of the Northwest African Air Forces supported the ground troops with attacks on railroad junctions, trains, bridges and enemy positions behind the enemy lines. Fighter-bombers also attacked enemy airfields near Orvieto, Litoria and Foligno, north of Rome, and shot down two enemy planes.

SEEKS OUT — Former San Francisco debutante Beryl Scott, who has announced she will seek divorce from swimmer-actor Johnny Weissmuller. She is his third wife and has three children.

SEEKS OUT — Former San Francisco debutante Beryl Scott, who has announced she will seek divorce from swimmer-actor Johnny Weissmuller. She is his third wife and has three children.

THE CISCO DAILY PRESS

(Consolidated with Cisco Daily News and Cisco American and Round-Up, November, 1937.)

Entered as Second Class Matter December 11, 1934, at the post office at Cisco, Texas, under Act of March 8, 1879.

A. B. O'FLAHERTY, Publisher and General Manager.

Published daily except Saturday and Monday at Cisco, Eastland county, Texas, by Free Press Publishing Corporation, incorporated under the laws of Texas. Editorial and publication offices at 304-306 D avenue, Cisco, Texas.

National advertising representative: Texas Daily Press League, Dallas, Texas.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: $2 per year by mail (outside Cisco) in Eastland, Stephens, Shackelford, Callahan, Brown and Comanche counties, Texas; outside the above-mentioned counties $3.50; $4.75 in U. S. outside of Texas.

Per year, in advance (Cisco) $5.00
Per week, by carrier boy 12c

OUTSPOKEN.

"I would feel deeply mortified to have you or anyone like you vote for me." This message sent by President Wilson in the 1916 campaign to an offensive agitator, may have won him the election. It turned that year on 3,000 votes in California, and such courageous defiance may well have converted more than the necessary margin.

With another campaign looming up, the numerous presidential candidates might well ponder this experience. Americans rally to brave men. With a war on, they are not likely to elect a pussyfoot.

AN AMERICAN.

While condemning the Germans for the horrors they have perpetrated or permitted, don't condemn them all. Here is a brief account of a young German who fled from Germany a few years ago and became a very loyal and useful American citizen as rapidly as the law would let him. He is now 30 years old. He and his family had been very prosperous business people. Here he began at the bottom. He became interested in all good works, a leader in civic advancement, and, from the hour he set foot in this country, was eager to fight the foreign peril which he so well understood. Now at last he is in the U. S. army, a proud private, and perfectly happy. He writes a friend:

"Congrats to the old town for being the first big city in the nation to crack its quota in the third war loan drive. That is the sort of 'back the attack' news that must give a real lift to the fellows out there slugging on the fighting fronts. Take it from an ex-War Chest Worker, turned brand-new rookie, I wish I had known a year ago what I know now about the U. S. O. plan, and what it means to the servicemen. I would have worked a little harder in last year's war chest campaign—and you were kind enough to say that was pretty good.

"You've got to be in it to appreciate what a marvel of organization precision the army is, and to appreciate what the U. S. O. can and does do for the boy in the new suit of O. D. Fast friendships are made in these centers among men of all creeds and stations in life. 'Hi, soldier!' is the universal greeting and the uniform is the medium of introduction. Girls, of course, are pretty important in a soldier's off-duty life, and their company in these U. S. O. centers is on a clear level of good fun and companionship."

He is enthusiastic about the social center of the camp, but is especially concerned with the success of the War Chest back home. And these, fellow-countrymen, is what might be called a Model American.

RUSSIA.

The Communism menace has been a mystery to many people. First, they learned that Russia sought to make the world "communist." They thought this meant uprisings of the proletariat, in which the criminal underworld, and offshootings of humanity would loot and burn and slay. They feared the very word Communism. Now they hear Russia has no such designs. Russia is a good ally. They are puzzled, I don't make sense.

Hans Kohn, Smith professor of modern European history, tried to clear up these bewilderments in a recent public lecture. The first leaders of the Russian revolution had the fantastic zeal of new converts. They had overthrown the cruel and unjust rule of the Czars and thought revolution would be wonderful everywhere. Later leaders were more realistic. They tried to give Russia what she needed—a chance at complete rebuilding, more and better homes, clothing, food. This started a sort of capitalist economy. Stalin is not Trotsky. Says Dr. Kohn:

"The world of tomorrow will deal not with a menace of Communism from a victorious Soviet Union, but with a nationalist, hard-bargaining power, potentially the strongest empire on earth."

The first efforts of the revolution were at tearing down the old. Had the early leaders remained in power, it is hard to say what might have happened. But they did not. Most Russians want the building of the new. Good foundations had been laid before the war. Russia today wants only peace to build its own house, develop its own resources. It's 25 years since 1917. The "Communist bogey" need no longer be feared. But Russia as a modern power must be reckoned with.

BOOK CENTER.

The bombing of Leipzig hits the German city which has contributed most to the upbuilding of American universities. As the home of the German book trade, Leipzig has over the years sent out hundreds of thousands of books in all languages to American university and other scholarly libraries.

The second-hand book business has always been conducted on a far larger scale in Europe than here, in Germany even more intensively than elsewhere abroad, and in Leipzig far more than elsewhere in Europe. Leipzig indeed could fairly be called the world's book center. Firms like Harrassowitz, Hiersemann and Foek, familiar names to American professors, have got out elaborate catalogues, and have great warehouses in which is stored the complete literature of the most widely varying subjects. If these warehouses have been destroyed, a great blow has been dealt to scholarship on the world over. Leipzig is also known to musicians as a great music-publishing center.

In war such losses are inevitable. Leipzig is not only the home of books but of many manufactures needed by the German armies. Non-Germans hope that the blasting of the city will somehow manage to hit the war plants and not the books and music.

NIMROD

Church and Sunday school were well attended. Rev. Floyd Allen of Rising Star delivered the messages at both morning and evening services. There were five additions to the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sheridan spent Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Townsend.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Compton visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Simpson Sunday afternoon.

Floyd Allen was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cozart Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McBeth and children of Morton Valley and Miss Verna McBeth of Cisco spent Saturday in this community.

Mrs. D. L. Allen who has been ill for some time is reported improved.

Mrs. A. N. Simpson, Mrs. John Notgrass and Mrs. Luther Hill were shopping in Cisco Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Compton visited in Stephens county last week.

Weldon Baker made a business trip to Cross Plains Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stansell visited in the Pleasant Hill community Sunday.

Mrs. Jack Cozart and Mrs. Breathers were in Cisco Wednesday.

LONG BRANCH

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Walker, Mrs. R. T. Howard and Mrs. Mary Sherrill visited in the home of J. W. Cooper of Eastland.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hollis moved to the Cook community last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bryant were guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walker a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyl Reed and daughter Carolyn moved here recently from the Claud Cox farm near Okra.

Miss Inez Walker of Fort Worth was the weekend guest of her parents.

Peanut harvest is on with a light nut yield, but lots of peanut hay.

Albert Reed and Jim Johnson drove to Carbon Monday and took Carwell Reed and Billy Hogan, where they were to take the bus for Milford. They will attend the Southern Bible and Vocational College there, which was formerly at Mountain Top, near Romney, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Pauline Reed.

Mrs. J. B. Reed was taken to Carbon for treatment last week. Her condition is somewhat improved.

Rev. Seha Kirkpatrick preached at Romney Sunday afternoon with good attendance. Interest in the reconditioning of the church building is gaining momentum and the work will be begun soon.

Sunday school at Long Branch was good Sunday and plans are under way to organize a missionary society among the women.

AVIATION GAS GOAL.

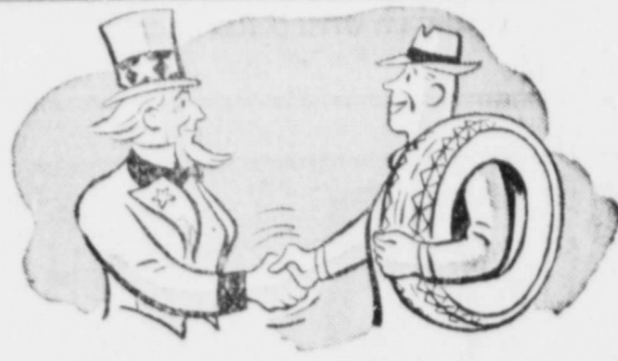

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Production of 100-octane aviation gasoline already has reached the "ultimate" 1944 goal set by the government in the Spring of 1942, the petroleum administration for war says. Thirty-two plants already are complete and 40 more will be in operation within four months, the announcement said.

adding that the whole investment for new facilities is about $900,000,000, of which 75 percent is financed by oil companies. The program "considerably" exceeds the synthetic rubber program in size, scope and cost, Deputy Administrator Ralph K. Davies said.

Why keep a list of Jap "criminals?" Full justice will require hanging every officer, including the emperor.

A man has started his comeback when he says: "I've been kidding myself; it was all my own fault."

Thank Uncle Sam for bringing 'em in. Now see us for

WHILE $100
THEY LAST
ONLY 1 EACH AS IS FOR ANY SIZE WE HAVE IN STOCK

These are Emergency Tires—released to us under Uncle Sam's plan to keep cars running during the present tire shortage. If you have a tire that must be replaced, or if you need a spare, come in and see these emergency tires. We'll help you with your ration application.

Many of these tires are good for lots of mileage as is. Others can be given new life with minor repairs which we can do quickly and expertly, at OPA ceiling prices, or less. The best tires will go first — so hurry! Good assortment of sizes, and every one a real bargain!

Listen to Goodyear's "Salute to Youth" ... Tuesday ... Station ... Time

GOODYEAR
SERVICE STORE
R. W. McCAULEY, Manager.
BACK THE ATTACK—BUY WAR BONDS

PROCLAMATION

by
Governor Coke Stevenson

WHEREAS, figures released by the War Production Board indicate that the State of Texas must increase its production of pulpwood by nine per cent during the last half of this year if our quota of 378,000 cords needed for essential war requirements is to be met; and

WHEREAS, the State of Texas has the largest area of forest lands of any State in the Union and normally produced approximately 4.5 per cent of the Nation's timber; and

WHEREAS, pulpwood is vital to the war effort of our Nation because of its widespread use in smokeless powder; paper board containers for shells, food, and ammunition for our fighting forces; blood plasma kits; rayon and paper parachutes; and other materials of war; and

WHEREAS, it is most necessary that the State of Texas make available to the Nation, in this time of war, maximum quantities of this important product:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, COKE STEVENSON, Governor of the State of Texas, do hereby appeal to all woodland farmers and woodcutters of this State to enlist in the

VICTORY PULPWOOD DRIVE

to cut pulpwood off their own land, haul the product to market during time not needed for other duties on the farms, and to cooperate otherwise in the effort to meet this pressing need.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the official seal of the State of Texas to be affixed hereto on this the 25th day of September, A.D. 1943.

Coke Stevenson
Governor of Texas

TURRETS FOR PRACTICE—Gun turrets taken from wrecked planes and equipped with shotguns serve as ideal practice weapons for students at a bomber gunnery school in New Guinea. Instructor at right signals for clay pigeon release.

RE-DECORATE YOUR HOME

No need to live in drab, gloomy homes when they may be enlivened so easily and economically with

KEM-TONE

That brightens them the easy way.
PAINT, WALLPAPER, WINDOWS AND DOORS

BURTON-LINGO LUMBER CO.
PHONE 12.

At Your SERVICE!

This Service Station is the place where you can always depend on courteous, reliable service. We count every customer a valued part of our organization, that's why you feel so much "at home" at this Service Station. We'd like to demonstrate what we mean when we say—"At Your Service." Get Gulf Products for efficiency.

HARVEY THURMAN'S SERVICE STATION

Phone 200. Residence Phone 157.
Corner E at 8th.

Send the Home Town NEWS to Your SOLDIER!

Do you write to your soldier? Of course you do! But you can't write every day. Here's something else you can do, though. Send him a subscription to the Cisco Daily Press — that's the best way to keep him in touch with home. It's a little thing to do, but think what it will mean to him! Act NOW!

CISCO
DAILY PRESS

CLASSIFIED

RATES: Four cents a word for three insertions. Minimum, 40 cents. Card of Thanks, 10 cents per line.

FRESH MILK COWS—See John Gerhardt, near Romo. 40

DOG—Light tan, slick haired with rather large ears. Answer name of "Shorty." Reside 901 W. Sixth street. 40

DOG—Pekinese male dog. Now at Jack Reeves Furniture. 40

FOR SALE OR LEASE—Eighty-acre farm, eight miles south of Cisco, Phone 305. 39

WANTED—Donation of old bicycle to be used by convalescents at Camp Bowie hospital. Phone Mrs. R. B. Carswell, 651-J. 38

FOR RENT—Rooms. 506 W. Second street. 33

POSITION WANTED—Experienced bookkeeper and secretary full or part-time job. Fern Hill. Telephone 9602-F-4. 38

WANTED—Service station attendant. Huffmyer Service Station. 38

WANTED—Will pay good prices for electric fans, radios, clocks, and other household appliances. Bring or send to Williams Electric Repair Shop, 2192 Orange street. Mailing address: P. O. Box 475, Abilene, Texas. 53

PERMANENT SPECIALS—$7.50 for hair now $4.50; $5.00 oil now $3.50; also $2.50 waves. All for appointment. Mrs. Cecil Jones 907 W. Fourth street. 38

BARGAIN in 5-room residence. Also larger place with about 1-4 acre of land. E. P. Crawford Realty. Phone 453. 38

JUST RECEIVED—Shipment of 10 x 16 synthetic tires. Bring your certificate to us. Goodyear store. 38

FRUIT BAGS—for sale, but advise farmers not to buy unless they need them as there are only for all. John Fromen, Dallas, Rising Star, Texas. 40

Got in the good old days a man might become a famous singer. He had a voice that sounded like...

SOCIAL and CLUBS

TELEPHONE 36

COUNCIL GROUP WITH MRS. GUY WARD.

Mrs. Guy Ward was hostess when group one of First Christian church council met in her home on I avenue Tuesday. Mrs. James Haynie led the opening prayer and a splendid devotional was brought by Mrs. J. M. Latimer, who also gave the missionary lesson.

Mrs. W. R. Huestis, chairman, presided at a short business session, when plans were completed for serving luncheon to a local club. The meeting closed by repeating the missionary benediction.

Those present were Mrs. J. F. Benedict, Miss Jo Gray, Mrs. James Haynie, Mrs. W. R. Huestis, Mrs. J. M. Latimer, Mrs. Robb, Mrs. Fred Steffey and Mrs. Ward.

EAST CISCO WMS MET WITH MRS. H. BARRON.

The women's missionary society of East Cisco Baptist church met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Herman Barron with Mrs. C. R. Hightower and Mrs. Carlton Holder as hostesses.

The meeting opened with prayer by Mrs. J. D. Hall and Mrs. V. H. Bosworth brought an interesting devotional.

During the business session reports were heard and other business transacted.

The meeting was closed with prayer. A social hour was held in which Pollyanna gifts were exchanged. Refreshments of pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee were passed to Mrs. E. E. Green, Mrs. V. H. Bosworth, Mrs. J. D. Hall, Mrs. A. E. Harrellson, Mrs. John Elmore, Mrs. O. A. Nance, Mrs. Bill Sledge, Mrs. Don Rupe, Mrs. Russell Dennis, Mrs. Carlton Holder, Mrs. C. R. Hightower and Mrs. Herman Barron.

1675 SURGICAL DRESSINGS YESTERDAY.

Twenty-seven women made 1,675 2x2 surgical dressings Thursday afternoon at the Red Cross work rooms in the Reynolds building.

Mrs. John Walters, who is designated as telephone chairman, made the following statement: "We are grateful for the new workers now assisting us and can use others. It is not necessary to have taken the course to make the dressings."

Ladies at the work room yesterday were Mrs. Austin Flint, Mrs. W. F. Watson, Mrs. A. E. Jamison, Mrs. F. J. Borman, Mrs. Guy Ward, Mrs. W. J. Poe, Mrs. Don McEachern, Mrs. A. D. Anderson, Mrs. J. J. Tableman, Mrs. D. L. Waters, Mrs. Edward Lee, Mrs. W. B. Dunn, Mrs. George P. Fee, Mrs. R. L. Ponsler, Mrs. O. G. Lawson, Mrs. W. H. LaRoque, Mrs. H. J. McArdle, Mrs. Roy Fonville, Mrs. E. J. Poe, Mrs. Ed Aycock, Mrs. J. M. Latimer, Mrs. W. W. Wallace, Mrs. Harriet Evans, Mrs. George D. Fee.

U. S. Marine Corps Photo

KNOWS HER BOW—Pvt. Minnie Spotted Wolf has advantage over other girl Marines at New River, N. C., base. She probably inherits her ability with bows and arrows. Archery is favorite recreation—when there is time—at boot camp.

day afternoon at the Red Cross work rooms in the Reynolds building. Mrs. John Walters, who is designated as telephone chairman, made the following statement: "We are grateful for the new workers now assisting us and can use others. It is not necessary to have taken the course to make the dressings."

Ladies at the work room yesterday were Mrs. Austin Flint, Mrs. W. F. Watson, Mrs. A. E. Jamison, Mrs. F. J. Borman, Mrs. Guy Ward, Mrs. W. J. Poe, Mrs. Don McEachern, Mrs. A. D. Anderson, Mrs. J. J. Tableman, Mrs. D. L. Waters, Mrs. Edward Lee, Mrs. W. B. Dunn, Mrs. George P. Fee, Mrs. R. L. Ponsler, Mrs. O. G. Lawson, Mrs. W. H. LaRoque, Mrs. H. J. McArdle, Mrs. Roy Fonville, Mrs. E. J. Poe, Mrs. Ed Aycock, Mrs. J. M. Latimer, Mrs. W. W. Wallace, Mrs. Harriet Evans, Mrs. George D. Fee.

U. S. Marine Corps Photo

KNOWS HER BOW—Pvt. Minnie Spotted Wolf has advantage over other girl Marines at New River, N. C., base. She probably inherits her ability with bows and arrows. Archery is favorite recreation—when there is time—at boot camp.

day afternoon at the Red Cross work rooms in the Reynolds building. Mrs. John Walters, who is designated as telephone chairman, made the following statement: "We are grateful for the new workers now assisting us and can use others. It is not necessary to have taken the course to make the dressings."

RED CROSS NEEDS KNITTERS.

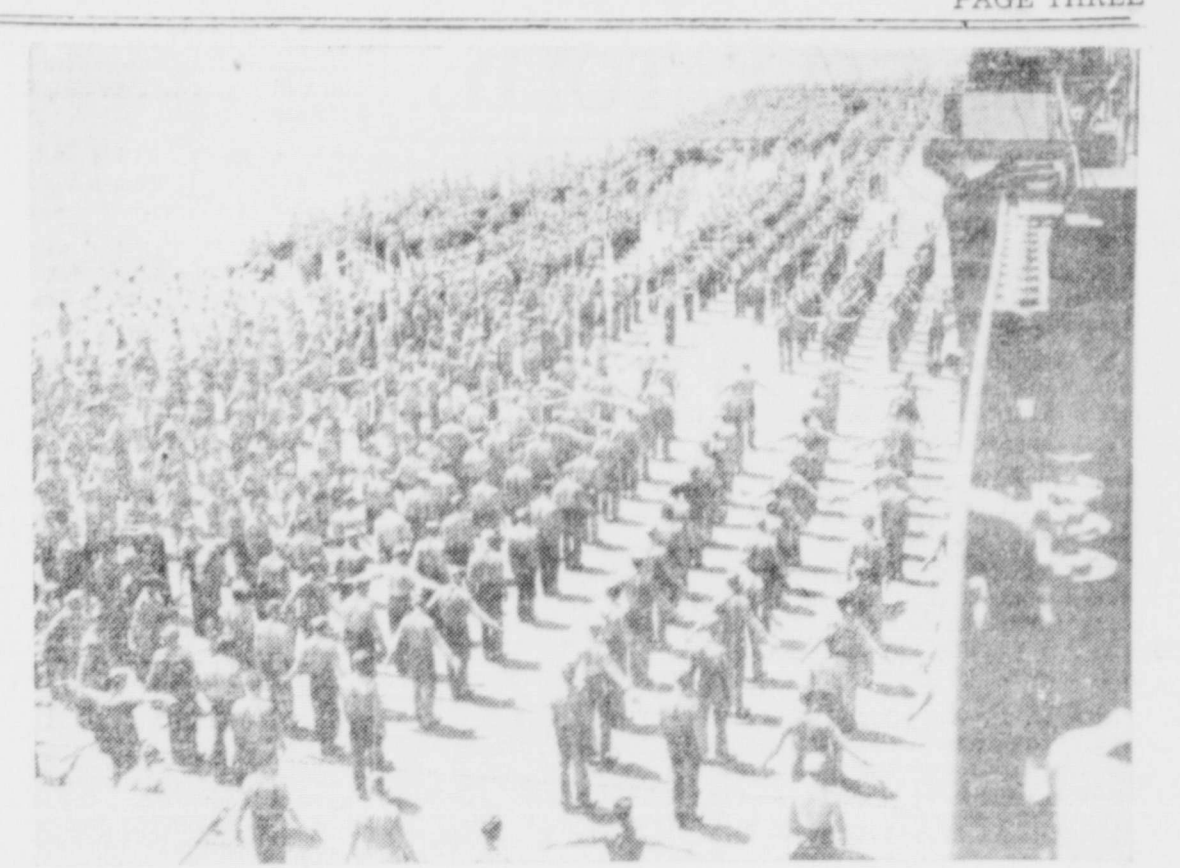

A new quota of wool yarn has been received by the local Red Cross unit, says Mrs. W. W. Wallace, Eastland county co-chairman. New garments are now to be made and knitters are needed at once, as the quota must be finished and in Eastland by December 15.

Articles to be made include turtle-neck sweaters, sleeveless sweaters, helmets, gloves and navy watch caps. Any one who will knit and who has not been contacted, may call Mrs. Simon Collin, telephone 644; Mrs. W. W. Wallace, telephone 435; or Mrs. John E. Walter, telephone 141, and yarn will be taken to them.

REV. J. R. WRIGHT PIA GUEST SPEAKER.

The parent-teacher association of the West Ward school met Wednesday afternoon at the school building. Mrs. R. N. Cluck, president, was in the chair and presided at the business session. The meeting opened with hallowe'en musical numbers sung by the three second grades, of which Mrs. R. E. Grantham, Miss Ruby Ray Swift and Mrs. D. G. Alford are teachers.

Rev. J. R. Wright, guest speaker, gave an inspirational talk on "Every Child's Rightful Heritage." During the business session it was stated that the association now has a paid membership of over 60 parents. It was voted to meet on the third Wednesday afternoons in November and December to avoid conflicts with holidays. A hallowe'en party was planned for the coming Saturday night at West Ward school. Mrs. Grantbar's and Miss Swift's rooms tied in the attendance court for the lower grades, and Mrs. Irene Hallmark's room led for higher grades. Over 100 people were present at the meeting.

KEEPING IN TRIM—Right up to signal for action, personnel of an unidentified U. S. aircraft carrier keeps in top-notch condition. These fighters recently took part in raid on Wake Island, when Japs were blasted.

TEXAS WHEAT STOCKS.

AUSTIN, Oct. 29.—Wheat stocks stored in interior mills, elevators and warehouses Oct. 1 were 22 percent lower than last year, and 14 percent below the figure for

Healthful Support With Style

and Comfort As Well

SPIRELLA

Foundation Garments. MRS. M. E. GOLDBERG CORSETIERE Phone 136-J2 — Lake Road

Dr. W. D. McGraw Optometrist.

Eyes Carefully Examined. First Quality Glasses. Guaranteed to Fit. 211 W. Main St., EASTLAND, TEXAS. Phone 30. In Ranger Office Monday's Only.

CONNIE DAVIS

Real Estate Rentals & Insurance AUTO INSURANCE A SPECIALTY A few choice homes left for sale. Phone 198

Insure in Sure INSURANCE with

E. P. CRAWFORD Agency 301 W. Eighth. Phone 453

AIR FIELD BEAUTIFIED—When these WACS got together for training at Maxwell Field, Ala., the field looked much better. From left: Pfc. Marjorie E. Schippers, Portland, Ore.; Corp. Madeleine Uttal, New York, and Marion Matson, Cincinnati.

Fourth Ship Named For Civil War Torpedo Hero

THE fourth American fighting ship to be named in honor of Commander William Barker Cushing, the first American naval officer to prove the efficacy of the torpedo, has just been launched at the Staten Island, New York, yard of Bethlehem Steel Company.

The new vessel, a destroyer, was sponsored by Commander Cushing's daughter, Miss Katharine A. Cushing, of Fredonia, N. Y.

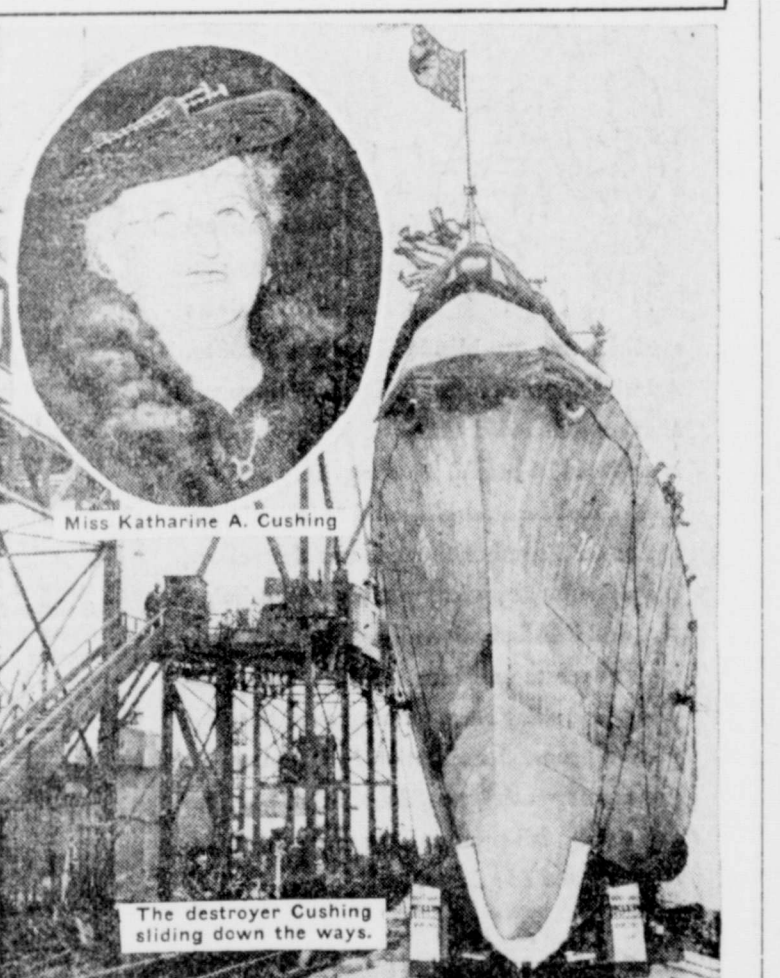

Commander Cushing, whom Admiral Farragut called "the hero of the Civil War," died in 1874 at the age of 32.

Commander Cushing was the first naval officer to use a semi-moving torpedo. It was the employment of this weapon which, on October 27, 1864, resulted in his greatest exploit—the sinking at Plymouth, N. C., of the iron-clad Confederate ram, the Albemarle, which had put seven Union ships out of action.

The Albemarle was a successor to the famed iron-clad Merrimac, and in both these ships were involved in historic events which revolutionized naval warfare and led to the supplanting of wooden ships with armored vessels.

Cushing dropped the torpedo in such a manner that it came up under the Albemarle. Just as he exploded the torpedo, a 100-pounder on the Albemarle blew his launch out of the water. Only three men, including Cushing, escaped. The crew were blown to rest of the crew were blown to pieces or captured. But the Albemarle had sunk her last Union vessel.

The first naval vessel named after Cushing was the first torpedo boat, forerunner of the modern destroyer. At that time, in 1860, Secretary of the Navy Tracy said Cushing displayed a "rare union of prudence and audacity" and a "fertility of resource."

The destroyer Cushing sliding down the ways.

Cushing's torpedo, looking like the head of a skyrocket, was attached to a long boom, which could be manipulated from the deck of his tiny steam launch.

was decommissioned in 1920. The third vessel, also a destroyer and commissioned in 1936, was sunk in the Battle of Guadalcanal in November, 1942. Miss Cushing, the sponsor of the new vessel, also sponsored the Commander W. B. Cushing, U.S.N.

No Witches Needed

You don't need witches' magic to produce tasty low-point refreshments for your Halloween party. Just use always popular crackers with cheese, pimiento, ripe olives, peanut butter, mustard pickles and a little ingenuity. You can rest assured, too, that there won't be many ghosts of spent commons coming back to haunt you since it takes only three brown points for four dozen of these clever canapes.

Dress Up Spareribs with Prunes in Wine

Prunes, Red Wine
1 pound prunes
1/2 cup sugar
1 lemon, sliced
Stick cinnamon
1 cup California Claret, Burgundy, Cabernet or any red table wine
Soak prunes in water overnight. Add sugar, sliced lemon and stick cinnamon and cook slowly until prunes are almost tender. Add the wine and cook 15 minutes longer. Serve as a dessert or as an accompaniment to Sparerib Rolls.

Prune Filled Sparerib Rolls (Serves 6)
6 cuts of spareribs (about 4-1/2 inches)
1/2 cup prunes in red wine, chopped
1 cup apples, chopped
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup California Claret, Burgundy, Cabernet or any red table wine
Combine prunes, apples, sugar, bread crumbs, salt and pepper. Moisten with wine if mixture seems dry. Arrange a small amount of dressing on each strip of spareribs. Roll and fasten with skewer or tie securely. Sprinkle generously with flour and lightly with salt and pepper. Heat fat in baking pan. Place sparerib rolls in pan and bake in hot oven (400 degrees) until browned. Pour wine into bottom of pan, reduce temperature to 325 degrees and bake for one and one-half hours, basting frequently with wine and drippings. Serve on a large platter with whole prunes. Make a gravy from drippings in the bottom of the pan.

Repair or Replace Old ROOFS before bad weather sets in!

WHEN bad weather meets a bad roof, the cost is high. Thrifty property owners save money by replacing bad roofs before leaks occur. And those who know roofing values select Carey Shingles or Roll Roofings—materials which are backed by 60 years of experience. Let us show you these time tested roofs and give you a free estimate on the type best suited to your needs.

BURTON - LINGO LUMBER STORE, Cisco, Texas.

MODERN RECAPPING

Our Modern Equipment Gives Complete Tire Repair Service

O. K. RUBBER WELDERS

JESS, SHEB and ED McCANLIES

THOMAS FUNERAL HOME

OUR SERVICE A SACRED TRUST See Us For Burial Insurance 300 W. Ninth Street. Phone 167

TEXAS SERVICE STATION

100% Texaco Products. CERTIFIED LUBRICATION WITH MARFAX GREASE Wash and Grease, $1.50 Mrs. W. E. Dean, Mgr. E Avenue and Eighth Street. Phone 142

BRIEFLY TOLD

James Shelton of Abilene visited in the home of his mother, Mrs. Ida Shelton Thursday and was accompanied by Mrs. Shelton, Mrs. D. E. Nix and little Kay Wilson on a business trip to Weatherford.

O. Hooks of Ranger spent Thursday night with his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hooks.

Mrs. W. C. Clements and Mrs. Leah Bates attended a county meeting of the Rebekah lodge at Ranger Thursday night.

Miss Polly Porter arrived Thursday night from Austin to spend the mid-semester vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Porter.

Mrs. W. H. Kittrell and Miss Lucy Kittrell returned to Winters Thursday after spending several weeks at their home in Cisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Robinson of Rising Star visited his mother Mrs. Mattie Robinson the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morris and daughter Devie Ann at Haskell visited his brother Guy Morris and family here the first of the week.

Miss Ida Callahan, who spent the past several weeks here in the home of Mrs. W. H. Kittrell, is visiting her brother Ed Callahan and family west of Cisco.

Mrs. G. E. Laws of Carlton is visiting her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Grady Laws and grandson Jay Dean Laws.

Mrs. Gilbert Hines of Board and Mrs. Fred Shetty, worthy patron of the local Eastern Star chapter, are attending the grand chapter meeting in San Antonio this week.

Mrs. Ed Hays is at the bedside of her sister Mrs. Hibbert in Gorman. Mrs. S. O. Barnhill also visited Mrs. Hibbert this week.

Eugene Henderson of Lubbock is expected for a weekend visit in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Henderson.

Mrs. J. A. James combined business and pleasure on a trip to Ranger Thursday.

Sgt. and Mrs. B. G. Ginn and son Shuffy of Rowland, N. M., are visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Waddell, Sr. and her uncle, James Waddell and family. Mrs. Gun is the former Miss Marie Donaldson, daughter of Mrs. Delta Donaldson, former Ciscoans.

Mrs. Eva Bishop has returned to San Diego, Calif., after spending several days with her mother, Mrs. H. P. Winston and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Waddell, Jr.

Leon Henderson of the U. S. engineering department is spending a twenty-one day furlough in FILMS TO WAR—Juanita Hansen was a movie queen in the early 1920's. Now she's an inspector in the Studebaker aircraft plant in Chicago. Of course, all the girls in the place seek her advice on how to get into movies.

the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Henderson, after which he will report to Fort Sill, Okla., for duty.

Miss Marie Fields returned Thursday night from a visit with friends in Odessa.

Mrs. W. H. Hall had as guests Wednesday her sister, Mrs. Sharp and her daughter, Mrs. Conart of the Norwood community.

Miss Fannie Stevens has recently been visited by her niece, Mrs. Ruth Hays of Olney, who was enroute to Lorraine for a visit with her parents, also her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Chism of Moran.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Benedict have as guests Mrs. Benedict's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McMahon of Brady.

Cisco Garden club will meet at 3 o'clock Monday in the Women's club house for the regular monthly meeting with Mrs. Theresa Weddington, president, in charge. J. E. Hays of West Texas Utilities company will be afternoon guest speaker and his talk will be on the "Care of Electrical Appliances." A musical program will also be presented. The public is invited.

DENTON-WOOD WEDDING. W. D. Denton and Miss Bernadine Wood of the Long Branch community were married at the home of Judge W. N. Favor in Rising Star last Friday night, with Mr. Favor, justice of the peace, performing the ceremony. Both have been employed in defense work in Fort Worth.

CHILD CARE. WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Texas now has 1,258 children enrolled in 48 war nurseries and child care centers, as a result of increasing employment of mothers in war work and the reopening of schools.

We'd better not occupy and govern defeated Germany. We'll get the blame for all the chaos and suffering that Hitler has made inevitable.

If people think you wouldn't do such a thing, that is reputation; if you agree with them, that is character.

A Good Job, Well Done---

Those of us who have lived in Eastland County for a long time are not surprised at anything that may happen. When the September bond quota was announced, the size of the figure and the magnitude of the undertaking, made us dizzy. But intelligent leadership and perfect co-operation from the ranks did a great job. There will be future quotas, and with the same kind of leadership and loyalty by us who follow, we cannot fail.

Earl Bender & Company, Inc.

ABSTRACTERS

Eastland 1922-1943 Texas.

PALACE SATURDAY ONLY DOUBLE FEATURE SHOW

Feature No. 1

DISCOVER THESE Miracle Paints FOR YOURSELF

- One coat covers
- Dries in 40 minutes
- No unpleasant odor
- Economy of water mixing
- Covers over wallpaper

Free BOOKLET

Rockwell Bros. & Co. PHONE 4.

How To Relieve Bronchitis

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must take the way it quickly relieves the cough or you are to have your money back.

PALACE NOW SHOWING

PALACE Sunday Monday

You'll thank WARNER BROS. for this SONGSATIONAL Star-happy hit!

THANK
Humphrey Bogart
Eddie Cantor
Bette Davis
Olivia de Havilland

YOUR
Errol Flynn
John Garfield
Joan Leslie
Ida Lupino

LUCKY
Dennis Morgan
Ann Sheridan
Dinah Shore
Alexis Smith

STARS
Songs galore!

Dr. W. I. Ghormley Optometrist 1510 Avenue D, CISCO, TEXAS. "Glasses That Satisfy"

Boyd Insurance Agency
General Insurance PHONE 49.

A few drops relieve Miseries of Sneezing, SNIFFLY COLDS
Put 3-purpose Va-tro-nol up each nostril. It (1) shrinks swollen membranes, (2) soothes irritation, (3) helps clear cold-clogged nose. Follow directions in folder. VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

Of Course You've Mailed Your Christmas Package!

You've mailed your Christmas package to your soldier boy across the seas. He'll be getting it in proper time and will rejoice that you have not forgotten him.

Now what else can you do for him and the thousands of others? There will be plenty of answers. Just be ready.

HYATT'S GROCERY & MARKET
Cisco's Independent Grocer WE DELIVER. PHONE 118.

Ford
PROTECTIVE SERVICE
FALL CONDITIONING
• A Complete Wartime Service Helps Your Car Last Longer

- LUBRICATION, using winter-weight lubricants.
- MOTOR OIL removed, crankcase flushed, and refilled with winter-grade oil.
- TRANSMISSION flushed and refilled with proper oil.
- DIFFERENTIAL flushed and refilled with correct gear oil.
- OIL FILTER inspected.
- TUNE-UP motor for faster starting, better gasoline mileage.

NANCE MOTOR COMPANY
Phone 244. Night 246.

NOW FOR A JUMP—Major Ruth Cheney Streeter, head of women Marines, and Pte. Eugenia Lejeune, after whose father camp was named, prepare for tethered parachute jump at Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C. Sergeant straps them in.

CISCO LIVESTOCK EXCHANGE.

Beginning October 19, date of weekly sale will be changed from Friday afternoon to Tuesday afternoon. Bring your stock to us. Top prices. One mile from Cisco on Lake Road.

Every organ of your body is connected with the one under your hat.
DR. C. E. PAUL
Cisco's Chiropractor.

WHAT DO YOU LIKE ABOUT COFFEE?

Freshness?

TRUE ENOUGH for it's vitally important! Freshness preserves the various qualities that are blended into a fine coffee. Admission's robust, delightful fragrance, always pronounced when a package is opened, is achieved by careful blending. This type for aroma, that for strength, another for richness, and so on. Together, they produce the mellow, exquisite flavor you enjoy so much in Admission and in Admission alone. Moisture, varying temperatures, absorption of odors, handling, and delay from roasting oven to coffee pot—all cause deterioration in freshness. To prevent any such losses, Admission provides two strong, fail-proof safeguards—Thermal-Roasting and The Lamofilm Package.

TRIPLEX PACKAGE Lamofilm
Lamofilm is really four packages in one. The inner-liner is made of two sheets of grease and moisture proof paper bound together with a patented, rubberized cohesive. Tear a piece of it and hold briefly over a match. The sheets when heated will separate. The inner-liner is contained in a lithographed paper bag—a third protection. Then the whole package is wrapped in moisture-proof cellophane, which in turn is heat-sealed. No air can get in. No freshness can get out.

In these days of intense activity and extra effort, a cup of Admission at mealtimes, in-between periods, parties, or on other occasions gives just the right lift to appetite and spirit! The piquant, lingering flavor, the taste of richness, the elusive aroma combine to make a beverage that's truly the Cup of Southern Hospitality. Here's coffee satisfaction that never varies! One cup after another and each is always a good cup.

DUNCAN'S Admission COFFEE

• DUNCAN COFFEE COMPANY • HOUSTON, TEXAS •