NAZI FALL-BACK CONTINUES EVERYWHERE

BAPTIST ORDINATION RITES 7:30 TONIGHT

Here from Vernon to assist in the ordination services of M. F. Underwood and G. B. Langston as deacons, Dr. E. S. James will preach the ordination sermon at the First Baptist church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Dr. James was pastor of the Cisco church from 1930-37 and his visit will delight many local friends and admirers.

The two candidates for ordination were recently elected by the church upon recommendation of the board of deacons. Both have been active and earnest in all phases of church work.

Other visiting ministers who will assist in tonight's services will be Rev. H. D. Blair, association missionary; Rev. J. H. Littleton, missionary of district 17 with headquarters at Anson; Rev. S. E. Kendrick, Cisco, and pastor here in 1904-5.

Rev. Cooper Waters, pastor of the First church, extends a cordial welcome to the public to attend tonight's services.

PAROLED CONVICT LIKELY KILLED HUNTS

WACO, Nov. 3.—Sheriff Sam Hutson of Lamb county, disclosed here that a telephone call made from the Panhandle to Galveston on the morning Dr. and Mrs. Roy Hunt of Littlefield were slain had been traced to James C. Thomas, 50, a convict held for questioning in connection with the double murder.

Hutson said the call was made shortly after the blood-soaked bodies of the 36-year-old physician and his 26-year-old wife were discovered by their 6-year-old daughter.

The call was to a woman friend of the convict, Hutson said. Hutson said Thomas had sought to establish an alibi, that he was with another friend, a married woman, in Galveston the day before and the day after the slayings. Galveston is about 500 air-line miles from Littlefield. Thomas was asked the name of his companion in Galveston.

Hutson quoted him as saying "she was a married woman and it would not be chivalrous to tell—besides, her husband might kill me."

Hutson also revealed that Thomas, who had about $100 on him when he was arrested as a parole violator, had admitted he had had $720 a few days previously, but explained he had lost most of the money in a poker game in Galveston. He had borrowed the money from a man in Amarillo, the prisoner insisted.

Hutson also revealed that the overshoes which the killer had used in approaching the Hunt residence had left a track. This track, Hutson said, fitted overshoes which fit Thomas.

CISCO - EASTLAND ENCOUNTER IN DOUBT

Cisco Lobos will make the 9-mile journey to Eastland tomorrow afternoon, where they meet the high school football team of that city at 3 o'clock.

The fact that Cisco defeated Eastland last year by a score of 32 to 14 and that the county seat team has chalked up victory over the Lobos but twice in all history, does not mean, says Coach Monroe Sweeney, that tomorrow's game will go to the Lobos.

The locals are in a bad way physically, it is stated, and the result of tomorrow's contest is very much in doubt.

COUNTY IS SLOW WITH WAR FUND

Eastland county's War Chest Fund campaign, unlike the numerous war bond drives, is dragging along like a chicken with the piper. As one citizen remarked, "it looks like many people who are well able to contribute at least a small amount to this laudable and altogether necessary war effort are hanging back and waiting for 'George to do it.'"

In a communication received by the Daily Press today from County Chairman E. M. Howard of Rising Star, Mr. Howard stated that tabulation of receipts as of Saturday showed $9,045.38 had been contributed by residents of the county towards the official county goal of $12,898.

The letter said some of the smaller communities had more than secured their quotas—notably Gorman, Davis, Friendship, Curtis, Sandy, Dothan, Shady Grove and Chuckville. Others were near their goal and a few were far behind.

The letter also contained this paragraph: "The purchase of war bonds is insurance that America and her allies will win the war; the giving of our money to the War Chest is insurance for winning the peace. For it means that not only our boys at the front and at home will receive the grateful hand of aid which can be extended in no other way, but also that the destitute and suffering people of lands from which the Axis is being thrown out will understand that America is coming to them with helping hands—hands that heal and restore; hands strong in means and fine in spirit, hands which can and will go on helping and rebuilding after the slaughter ceases."

Cisco has not reached its assigned quota of $2,600, either, but S. H. Nance, city chairman, is anxious to close the local campaign by November 15. If the city is still shy of its goal on that date it will be the first time the municipality has reneged on any war task assigned to it.

Mr. Nance does not believe we will be found in that highly undesirable situation, but is confident those who can and should respond will do so this week.

EASTERN STAR HOME CHANGES MANAGEMENT

ARLINGTON, Nov. 3.—M. J. Sweeden, formerly of Brownwood, has succeeded Mrs. Ida K. Hannen as superintendent of the Eastern Star Home here.

Sweeden, who served in the Seabees for seven months in 1942, has been in the sheet metal business in Brownwood for 18 years. He is a member of the Brownwood Masonic lodge, is a Royal Arch Mason and a member of the Knights Templar and Eastern Star. Mrs. Sweeden was elected assistant superintendent of the home.

Mrs. Hannen was matron of the Eastern Star Home when it opened April 25, 1925, and was elected superintendent July 25, 1931. She will make her home in Dallas.

CHASE OPTIMISTIC.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Stuart Chase in a special article for the Twentieth Century Fund says America's productive power is so great that a national debt of from 200 to 300 billion dollars at the end of the war is not to be feared.

OVER THE RIVER—German soldiers, among first taken prisoner by Yanks on Voltorno front, are brought back to Allied lines by this pontoon ferry hauled by a rope. American soldiers carefully guard them, for they are members of Goering's crack Panzer Grenadiers.

ELECTION IS ENCOURAGING TO MR. DEWEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Republican leaders jubilantly interpret New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Kentucky election returns as proof that the impressive anti-New Deal trend of 1942 was continuing into a presidential year.

Scattered local contests also appeared to point that way. The New Deal-Democratic coalition of conservative and liberal Democrats, Laborites, Communists and other left-wingers generally, was overwhelming in the contests where it existed notably in New York and New Jersey.

The GOP gained its 25th governor in New Jersey, where Walter E. Edge, wealthy veteran of party honors, won an easy victory over Mayor Vincent J. Murphy of Newark. Democrat, labor and left-wing backing, including Communist support, and the power of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, state Democratic boss.

Republican presidential year prospects in New York state and Thos. F. Dewey's stock as a 1944 G. O. P. "draft" nominee for president boomed with returns from the state's special lieutenant governor election.

With only a few scattered rural districts missing, Dewey's hand-picked nominee, led his Democratic opponent, Lt. Gen. William N. Haskell, retired, by more than 300,000 votes.

Haskell, supported by President Roosevelt and former National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley, conceded the election three hours after the polls closed last night.

Republican leaders throughout the nation interpreted Hanley's vote as a personal triumph for Dewey and a severe blow to Mr. Roosevelt's prestige in politically important New York.

The Kentucky gubernatorial election contest promised to be the closest in that state since 1915. Kentucky elected a Democrat last time by a fat margin of 160,000 votes. When ballot counters went to bed last night Democratic Candidate J. Lyter Donaldson had a lead of only 11,122 votes of the 210,236 then counted over Simeon S. Willis, Republican.

If Kentucky kept the state administration Democratic by anything less than 25,000 votes, the party will have little about which to cheer and Republicans will mark it down as a moral victory for the GOP.

LEWIS KEEPS MUM; MINERS REMAIN IDLE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Today John L. Lewis demonstrates whether—in wartime—half a million American citizens take their orders from him or from the government.

The president told the coal miners that every miner would be expected to be at his post of duty, ready to work for his government this morning.

Mr. Lewis allowed last night to slip by without a public move toward urging his followers of the United Mine Workers to obey this order. Instead, he spent his time in trying to wrangle more favorable contract terms from Secretary Ickes than those which the President specified—the War Labor Board's formula for a new wage contract.

The reports generally reflected a lack of any sort of demonstration in the fields, where the Stars and Stripes flew over deserted tunnels.

Typical was the word from Maryland that "the miners just didn't show up."

JAP CRUISERS AND DESTROYERS IN FLIGHT

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Nov. 3.—American warships defeated and chased off a Japanese surface force that attempted to interfere yesterday with invasion operations of Bougainville Island in the Solomons, a spokesman announced today.

In what was described as "quite a heavy engagement," an enemy fleet believed to have been made up of cruisers and destroyers turned tail and fled northwest toward Rabaul, New Britain, the big Japanese base toward which Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces were driving.

The battle, which took place at night, came a few hours after fleet units under Admiral William F. Halsey's South Pacific Command and Allied planes ringed Bougainville with a series of naval air bombardments to cover the landing by U. S. Marines on the west coast of the island.

Results of the battle were not fully known but the fact the enemy ships fled was indication they suffered another bad beating. Five U. S. planes were lost.

JAP INTERNES DEMAND MORE MEAT IN DIET

TULE LAKE, Cal., Nov. 3.—Eight thousand Japanese internees, many brandishing knives and heavy clubs, seized and held the Tule Lake relocation center last Monday for four and a half hours, the San Francisco Examiner stated today.

Quoting an eyewitness to the uprising who himself was threatened with death as he attempted to make a telephone call, the observer said the Japs converged in the administration area by the thousands, demanding, among other things, more meat in their diet.

Held prisoners during the uprising were three other civilians on business inside the camp, as well as Dillon Myer, national director of the War Relocation Authority; Robert Cozens of San Francisco, WRA regional director; an army lieutenant, and the camp's civilian personnel.

Dr. Reece M. Pedicord, chief surgeon, was knocked down and beaten by Japs as he attempted to minister to a critically sick patient.

11-INCH RAINFALL.

HOUSTON, Nov. 3.—Brimful bayous were falling today, evidently removing the threat of a major flood resulting from a record 20-hour rainfall of nearly 11 inches.

IN ITALY THE ALLIES SHOOT DOWN 37 PLANES; IN RUSSIA RED SUCCESS IS UNCHECKED

The German war machine reeled under new Allied blows from three directions today as Nazi armies reeled back on the Italian and Russian fronts and American heavy bombers resumed their fog-bound offensive on Western Europe with a twin attack apparently aimed at the Paris and Brest areas.

American troops drove new spearheads three miles deeper into German defenses in Italy and Allied commanders say the Nazis have begun an orderly retreat from their "Little Rommel Line" below Rome.

Beating off furious German tank attacks, the Americans stormed the key towns of Gallo and Pratella near the western end of the Fifth Army front and plunged forward in the Matese Mountains to bring their artillery within range of Isernia and Venafro, central hubs of the German line.

The pounding American advance came as British Eighth Army troops pushed a second bridgehead across the Trigno river on the Adriatic end of the Italian front and Allied planes shot down 37 enemy aircraft for their biggest bag in weeks.

Thirty of the enemy planes were destroyed by Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the new 15th S. Air Force which went into action yesterday with a devastating attack on the German aircraft manufacturing center, Kiener Neustadt, 25 miles south of Vienna. Six of the American bombers were lost in the raid, which foreshadowed an increasingly heavy aerial offensive against Germany from the north and south.

U. S. Eighth Air Force heavy bombers, banded since their raid on a German metal plant near Cologne on Oct. 20, returned to the attack from Britain today. Two big formations struck out over northern France and Cal dispatches said targets in the Paris and Brest areas had been hit.

On the blazing battlefield in southern Russia, a major disaster threatened to engulf the fleeing German armies in a matter of days. Cossack horsemen pounded into the beaten German armies into the great wasteland beyond the Dnieper estuary. The Reds used cavalry when the bogged in the sand of the steppes.

The battered Germans put up a desperate re-guard action in the by-passed region below Nikopol in effort to cover the evacuation of the bulk of their forces to the lower Dnieper, but even in this area the Red Army's advancing relentlessly and a large part of the Nazi armies seemed doomed.

Meanwhile, Soviet big guns laid a crushing rage across the lower Dnieper on both sides of captured Kova in apparent preparation for a new thrust to the north that would close the trap on hundreds of thousands of Germans in the Dnieper bulge.

Only at Krivoi Rog were the Germans maintaining a determined front, counter-attacking repeatedly in an effort to hold open that northern end of the 55-mile escape corridor through which their armies must retreat to the west.

THE MORNING AFTER.

Wars always tend to produce what financial experts call an "inflationary spiral," with prices going up until they hit the ceiling, or until the war is over. Then, in the cold morning after, the belligerents count the cost and file bankruptcy petitions, or else settle down to pay their debts the hard way.

The great financial question in this greatest of wars has been whether our government and people would choose the way that seemed easiest at the moment, and use the printing press to pay its bills with money steadily deteriorating in value. Fortunately so far there is little indication of such folly. We are running up a huge national debt, but we hold prices better than last time.

Fortunately, too, the government has the greatest liquid assets that any nation has ever had, in the form of a vast quantity of silver and gold accumulated in the federal treasury before we entered the war. Yet even 30 or 40 billions in hard money seems like chicken-feed, in view of the enormous and unpredictable cost.

It is well for every citizen to remember that he owes his share of the war debt, and he and his family, in one way or another, must pay it sooner or later. The less high-salaried war workers spend, the steadier prices will be and the less they will have to pay.

455 A. D. AND 1943.

What are the Germans up to in Rome? People would like to know. Hardly a trickle of news comes from that great city, which more than any other in the western world bridges the gap between ancient and modern civilization.

One thing fairly certain is that the Nazis are looting there, as they have done elsewhere in captured and enslaved cities. But are they making a thorough job of it, pillaging and confiscating everything that can be of material use to the German army, and destroying the rest, as they did in Naples?

What about the vast and irreplaceable art treasures of the Eternal City? It is a reasonable supposition that the masterpieces of the museums and the private collections of wealthy citizens are being shipped north, to fatten the steadily growing treasures of Berlin. But there are thousands of priceless things in Rome that cannot be so easily transferred. Are they being destroyed, as so many treasures have been in other places, from sheer enmity or malignity?

The apparent attitude of present-day Germany is that, if the Germans can't take whatever they covet from their neighbors, it shall not be left for others to enjoy. Probably these modern Vandals are having a greater orgy of destruction than their ancestors had when they sacked Rome in the year 455 A. D.

GOVERNMENT.

One trouble with American local government, particularly that of the counties, which generally average lower than any other branch of public service, was revealed incidentally by a mid-western county dog catcher.

As outbreak of rabies made people demand why he did not gather up the suspected dogs. "Because," said the official, "I have just one assistant. He can't speak English, or read or write, and can't tell a dog from a cat."

How did he get the job? Every-one knows the answer. He was put into it by the local political organization and is kept there by favor-seeking cliques and pressure groups.

WELLINGTON.

The Duke of Wellington has just been killed. Not the famous Duke who beat Napoleon at Waterloo, and was buried "with an empire's lamentation." He has been dead for a long time. This is his great-great-grandson, a young man of 31, who lost his life fighting with the Commandos in Italy.

His death shows that the great families of England still try to live up to their traditions. How the original duke would have thrilled at a war like the present!

FREEDOM OF BURIAL BE NICE, TOO

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Twenty-one funeral processions were halted outside the gates of St. Adelbert's cemetery in Chicago Tuesday by a picket line.

No automobiles were allowed through the gates. Pallbearers were forced to carry the caskets from the gates to the grave—in some cases for a long distance—or to use hand trucks.

Cemetery officials said the picket line was ordered by an AFL union to enforce demands for shorter hours, pay increases and the right to unionize cemetery employees.

The cemetery management said it was willing to make these concessions, but would wait for the approval of the War Labor Board.

TEXAS GADDER CAUGHT WITH THE "GOODS"

FRESNO, Cal., Nov. 3.—Rev. Leo Baldwin, pastor of the Church of Nazareth in Kilgore, Texas, is on his way home but his oversupply of gasoline coupons have dwindled to less than enough.

While in Fresno, Rev. Mr. Baldwin was taken before Robert M. Barnard, OPA enforcement officer. Barnard said the Texan failed to give any reasonable explanation for his possession of:

Two "C" gasoline books, one with 20 coupons, the other with 14, one "A" book with two No. 8 coupons missing, and the following loose coupons: Five tractor, six truck, six "C," four No. 8s, and four No. 9s.

The two "C" books, Barnard said, had been issued in Kilgore to an automobile other than the one Rev. Mr. Baldwin was driving. He ordered the minister to turn in the two "C" books and all the loose coupons.

So Rev. Mr. Baldwin left for Kilgore with only enough gasoline and coupons to take him about 270 miles.

HALLOWEEN PARTY FOR WARD SCHOOLS.

Cisco high school's large auditorium was filled to capacity Saturday night when children from both east and west ward schools assembled for a hallowe'en program. Probably 80 percent of the children from the two wards were present and enjoyed this annual affair. The auditorium had been decorated in keeping with the season by Mrs. Frank Leach and her committee and cornstalks, pumpkins, autumn leaves and black cats were arranged artistically. The executive board consisted of Mrs. R. N. Cluck, Mrs. A. W. Watson, Mrs. J. J. Porter, Mrs. W. V. Gardenhire, Mrs. W. C. Hogue, Mrs. Lynn Heard and Mrs. Leach received many nice compliments for their fine effort in giving the children of the schools such splendid entertainment.

The program began with hallowe'en songs by the second grades, directed by their teachers—Miss Ruby Ray Swift, Mrs. R. E. Grantham and Mrs. D. G. Alford. Miss Marie Winston told an interesting hallowe'en story, Mrs. Lynn Heard gave a humorous dance and a gypsy told fortunes for the children. She then called for the teachers and read their futures in a clever and amusing way. The gypsy, it was disclosed later, was Mrs. Edward Lee.

Children in costume marched across the stage in a most inspiring parade, after which those of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades adjourned to the brilliantly lighted lawn and participated in games, which were directed by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burnam and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Shockley. The smaller children went to the gym, where their play was supervised by Mrs. Jimmy Allen, Mrs. R. N. Cluck, Mrs. Andrew Watson, Mrs. T. E. Lisenbee and Mrs. Garland Nance.

Refreshment packages of candies and cookies were given the smaller children and the older ones received hallowe'en candies, cookies and candy bars.

The executive committee requests the Daily Press to thank all who helped make the evening a success and to especially thank parents of both ward schools for their cooperation.

B. B. HURST HONOREE AT DINNER MONDAY.

Honoring B. B. Hurst who is leaving today for training camp

DEPARTING SCOUT-MASTER HONORED.

A weimer roast at American Legion Hut Tuesday evening honored Sim Ledford, scoutmaster of local boy scout troop 49, who will move to Abilene soon, having been transferred to that city by the West Texas Utilities company. After the weimer roast the group adjourned to the Hut for a program.

Joe Tom Poe gave a clever original poem, dedicated to Mr. Ledford and Bill Morrison presented a parting gift to the scoutmaster from the boys of his troop. Mr. Ledford thanked the boys for the gift in a brief talk. Harry Grantz then spoke of Mr. Ledford's influence in his life and said it was while Mr. Ledford was his Sunday school teacher that he was invited to join the scouts. Newly-elected scoutmaster Jodie E. Baker spoke and stated he realized he had a hard task ahead in taking over where Mr. Ledford left off. Talks were also made by W. F. Fewell, assistant scoutmaster, and M. F. Underwood, scout committeeman. Harry Grantz led the boys in patriotic songs learned at Camp Billy Gibbons, which closed the program.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Sim Ledford and son Bobby, Mr. and Mrs. Jodie E. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fewell and daughter Carolyn, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Sugar Saving Lemon Pie

You can make that all-American favorite, Lemon Meringue Pie, with only 4 tablespoons of sugar for the filling and none at all for the meringue. Glassed light syrup is the supplementary sweetening agent used. It does not affect the delicious taste of the pie, but rather enhances it with additional flavor. The following amounts are for one pie shell:

Lemon Meringue Pie

- 4 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 egg yolks, well-beaten, 4 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 3/4 cup glassed light syrup, 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup boiling water, 1 baked pastry shell.

Mix together in double boiler the cornstarch, sugar, syrup and salt. Gradually stir in boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add small amount of the hot mixture to beaten egg yolks before adding the egg yolks to the hot mixture. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, for two or three minutes longer. Add lemon juice and rind. Cool and pour into baked pastry shell. Cover with meringue.

Meringue

- 3 egg whites, 1-3 cup glassed light syrup, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Gradually add syrup, beating until meringue stands in peaks. Top pie and bake in a slow oven (325 deg. F.) for 18 to 20 minutes or until a delicate brown.
