ICKES BALKS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes today heatedly told the house insular affairs committee that he was "tired to death of wasting public funds and time in appearing before fruitless and useless committees of investigation."

TOUGHENING PROCESS—Chinese combat troops in India under command of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell are being put into fighting condition by Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner of San Antonio, Texas. Boatner is informal and colorful and the Chinese love him. Here are some of his troops hiking over a jungle pathway near their encampment on the northern Burma front.

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAM WAS GOOD

Cisco Red Cross chapter presented one of the outstanding chapel programs of the year at high school Wednesday, when Mrs. W. W. Wallace, chairman of the Cisco production arm of this invaluable organization introduced various ladies who are in charge of different branches of the local work.

After appropriate introductory remarks Mrs. Wallace presented Mrs. Simon Coplin, who is in charge of knitting. Mrs. Coplin showed various items which are being knitted for the soldiers.

Mrs. E. J. Poe, director of sewing, showed garments that are being made, some of which were made by members of high school economics department.

Mrs. Austin Flint was then introduced and she spoke interestingly of the surgical dressings department which makes the thousands of bandages being turned out by the Cisco branch. She mentioned that under Red Cross rules the ladies do not wear jewelry, watches nor nail polish during the working hours. She also called attention to the head dress worn by the workers.

Mrs. A. D. Anderson, co-chairman with Mrs. Flint, was then presented and she explained how certain bandages were packed and tied with strings, explaining the knots and other details.

Workers present in uniform were Mrs. Sam Kimmell and Mrs. F. J. Borman. Mrs. Edward Lee, instructor in first aid for Cisco, was then presented, and she put on a very interesting and instructive demonstration of first aid measures for a victim of an accident and of drowning. She was assisted by Karl Armstrong who acted as the victim, and by Bob Donohoe and Yancey McCrea, Jr., who had been instructed in first aid work in former classes.

The student body was highly attentive and was complimented by Mrs. Wallace for its splendid cooperation.

SHOOTING STARS.

FT. WORTH, Nov. 11.—Local astronomers are looking forward to a shower of "shooting stars," expected late Monday night and early Tuesday morning when the earth crosses the path of the Leonid meteors.

HELL GROW UP—Australian sapper A. P. Roberts is striving to teach "George" to drink his milk from a bottle. Orphaned kangaroo baby, three months old, learns quickly and is starting to grow up on diet furnished by his glass mother.

LIONS HEAR ARMISTICE DISCUSSION

Various members of the tin can campaign committee reported Wednesday at Lions' luncheon regarding plans for the drive next Tuesday, when trucks will be used to gather scrap tin in the residence districts of Cisco. A program on Armistice Day was brought by Carlos J. Turner, who introduced Lion Leslie W. Seymour as the speaker.

Lions Norman C. Huston and C. M. Nevill reported on arrangements for the drive, while Lion Harry W. Schmidt announced the names of the captains and personnel of the eight teams who will cover the city, beginning at 5 p. m. Tuesday afternoon.

Captains are M. D. Fox, C. J. Turner, E. T. Thomas, N. C. Huston, C. M. Nevill, Harry Schmidt, G. R. Kilpatrick and Harvey Thurman. The group will meet at the store rooms of West Texas Utilities company.

Lion Turner introduced Mr. Seymour as a man well qualified to speak on the subject of the Armistice, and the speaker began his talk by defining the word "Armistice," which he said literally meant halting war activities. But, he added, it was actually meant to end the war. After some preliminary discussion regarding the armistice of 1918, Lion Seymour said that the most amazing thing to occur in many years was the recent conference held at Moscow, when the world was agreeably surprised at the success of that conference in which it was found that all of the four nations participating were unanimous in wanting to make a permanent peace based on the precepts of a universal brotherhood of man.

In concluding his address the speaker said that this pact gave rise to new hopes for peace based on law and self-determination for all peoples of the world, unattended by passion of revenge or selfishness.

KEMP GETS APPOINTMENT TO ANNAPOLIS, MD.

Michael M. Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Kemp of Amarillo, who joined the U. S. coast guard as an apprentice seaman and is now stationed at Alameda, Calif., recently received an appointment to Annapolis as a midshipman.

The young man is awaiting orders to go to Bainbridge, Md., to a preparatory school before entering Annapolis, next April. Out of 22 boys taking the examination on September 18, Kemp was given one of the three appointments to the U. S. naval academy.

Kemp will be remembered here as the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Michael of Cisco and Eastland, and son of the former Miss Ethel Michael of Cisco.

FEED THEM—Former President Herbert Hoover, as he made eloquent appeal in Washington for U. S. to feed starving people in occupied countries.

Addressing Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee, he said Allies were "possibly in the last winter" of the war.

25 YEARS AGO.

Nov. 11, 1918.—The First World War ends at 8 a. m., Paris time, with the signing of the armistice, and hostilities ceased all along the front. State department at Washington made the announcement at 2:45 a. m. Sirens shriek and bells ring in all Allied countries. (President Harding on Nov. 14, 1921, issued a formal proclamation that war between the United States and Germany terminated on July 2, 1921).

If Senator Byrd wants to save us money, let him start on apples. We paid a dime for one today, and he is the biggest grower.

HOME HEADS RESPONSIBLE SAYS OFFICER

AUSTIN, Nov. 11.—A stinging indictment of teenage delinquency with a warning that the situation is desperate and must have drastic treatment to avoid serious consequences was given the Texas Federation of Women's club Wednesday by Col. Homer Garrison, director, Texas Department of Public Safety, in an address on juvenile delinquency.

Garrison said law and the officers could not do all the remedial work, that the start must be made at home.

He also called on military commanders to do their part in restricting the personnel in its relations with teenage girls instead of standing back and doing nothing about present day deplorable conditions.

Citing percentages to show the fearful increase in juvenile criminals Garrison summed up that in offenses against common decency arrests of girls under 21 years increased 89.5 per cent in the first six months of this year. A terrible crime wave has already begun and must be halted before it is out of control, he declared.

ALMUS FANNIN WRITES FROM OLD ENGLAND

A letter written by Corp. Almus Fannin to his mother, Mrs. Joe Hale, route two, Cisco, is very interesting. Corporal Fannin, 22, is with the army air corps in England and has been overseas five months. Among other things the letter said:

"I will try to write you a few lines this rainy day. It seems like it always rains when I have a day off.

"Mom, you should have seen me Sunday. A group of boys from our outfit were hosts to a group of war orphans, ages five to 12. The two little boys I had were about Junior's age and much like Junior. We had a nice dinner for them, which they thoroughly enjoyed. They were very timid at first, but after some coaxing they became at ease and had a fine time. After dinner we took them to a show. After the show the manager asked the children to give three cheers for the American air forces and I thought the roof would fall in.

"By the way, Mom, I bet you can't guess in three guesses what I had for dinner the other day. Believe it or not, it was FRIED CHICKEN. Boy, what a treat!"

PAT BULLOCK IS ON THE RIGHT TRACK

AUSTIN, Nov. 11.—The Texas legislature should enact a law preventing the parole of prisoners who have long and dangerous criminal records, Senator Pat Bullock of Snyder declared yesterday, adding he would favor a bill for such purpose.

First offenders should be given parole leniency "for the objective of giving them a chance to rehabilitate themselves, but men who have served terms for major crimes should be kept behind the bars to protect society, as ordered by trial jurors," the senator said.

SON BORN TODAY.

A son was born to Tech. Sgt. and Mrs. R. D. Russell this morning at Del Rio. Sergeant Russell being stationed at Laughlin Field, near that city. Mrs. Russell is the former Miss Marie Litchfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Litchfield of Cisco. Mrs. Litchfield and son Jimmy Dan are with the Russells.

DESPITE BAD WEATHER, ALLIES CAPTURE FIVE TOWNS AND TWO MOUNTAIN PEAKS

ALGIERS, Nov. 11.—American troops, fighting in the first winter snows, have driven the Germans from two mountain peaks in Italy, and the Germans were reported wrecking harbors far behind their lines in the fear they could not halt the Allied march toward Rome.

Slugging forward for gains up to five miles, British and American troops smashed incessant German counterattacks, capturing five small towns and swept up the mountainous approaches to the key center of Mignano on the western sector.

The weather was described as "very severe," with rain, mud and snow bogging the Allied troops inching forward into the strongly held mountain and river positions of the Nazi winter line.

Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Anglo-American Fifth Army troops met stiff resistance around Venafro, whence they were driving toward Mignano, six miles to the southwest.

American artillery and mortar fire smashed one attempted Nazi counter-attack outside Venafro. Yankee troops stormed Mount Rotondo, a 1000-foot peak a mile and one-half northwest of Venafro overlooking the main Capua-Rome road. A second unnamed height also fell.

Aerial reconnaissance revealed the Nazis had blasted out harbor facilities at Pescara, Eighth Army objective on the Adriatic coast, and blocked Leghorn harbor, far up the west coast and the biggest port between Naples and Genoa. Similar wreckage took place at captured Naples.

On the eastern sector near the Adriatic, the British Eighth Army, crossing the Sinella river nearly its entire length, reached the Sangro river, outer natural barrier to the enemy's winter line.

The Nazis were reported to have carried out demolitions to wreck the harbor of Pescara, 25 miles beyond the Eighth Army's advanced forces, and to have blocked the entrance to Leghorn harbor, on the west coast 160 miles northwest of Rome, by sinking an obsolete cruiser and a merchantman at its entrance.

ARMY JOINS LIQUOR BOOT-MARINES AT LEGGER BACK BOUGAINVILLE ON THE JOB

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Nov. 11.—American soldiers have landed on Bougainville island to fight beside U. S. Marines who killed half of a Japanese landing force that tried vainly to flank their beachhead on the last great enemy Solomon stronghold, it was revealed today.

Admiral William F. Halsey's advanced South Pacific headquarters reported the large-scale army reinforcements were unloaded Monday at Empress Augusta Bay on the island's west coast in the face of an enemy air attack that cost the Japanese 26 planes.

The next day, MacArthur's report said, 150 Japanese fell before Marine guns and tanks along the Laruma river, five miles above Torokina Cape on the north end of the bay.

NAZIS DELAY BUT CANNOT STOP SOVIETS

MOSCOW, Nov. 11.—Red Armies, lapping out from an offensive are beyond Kiev, hammered the Germans back to within 90 miles of the old Polish frontier today, and the enemy was reported blowing up tanks and guns in hasty retreat.

Soviet armored spearheads were only 30 miles from the Korosten-Zhmerinka railway, last German-held longitudinal line in the Ukraine.

MILK TAX UPHELD.

DENVER, Nov. 11.—The OPA lost in federal district court an injunction suit to prevent Denver from collecting an excise tax of 2c a quart above the ceiling price of milk.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11.—Bootlegging is back. Loaded with whiskey, the little dusty car with the heavy rear springs and the big trunk, purportedly hauling legitimate goods, are rolling over Texas highways again, just as they did in national prohibition days.

About the only difference in the racket is in the quality of the liquor. The 1943 whiskey ordinarily is the product of a legitimate government-inspected distillery.

But, just like the "corn-licker" days, the ultimate consumer is paying two or three times the real worth of the bottled goods.

KILLER—Leonard Marcus, 15, pimply-faced Bronx, N. Y. schoolboy, who, police say, confessed that he "got so mad I grabbed grandma by the neck and choked her." He was arrested in Wayne, Pa., and charged with killing his 75-year-old relative.

THE "FEARS."

A recent advertisement shows the picture of a wife plowing in 1777, while her husband was away fighting for their country's independence. The advertisement then stressed that by building up certain financial reserves, one can gain "freedom from the highest fear of all—want."

Nowhere was the point made that the woman plowing was doing a job to help free herself and her husband and her country of a fear much greater than that of financial want, namely, fear of tyranny, fear of oppression, fear of injustice.

"Freedom from fear" and "freedom from want," as they are generally presented to our people today, seem to be based entirely on material things, as if easy living and a full stomach were the principal guarantees which we should worry about.

The right to be independent and free of domination by any government, any king, or any bureaucracy, is what the 1777 woman and her husband were fighting for. A full stomach or financial security were the least of their fears.

MAC VEAGH.

A noted American family receives a new honor in the appointment of Lincoln MacVeagh as ambassador to the exiled governments of Greece and Yugoslavia.

Wayne MacVeagh and his brother Franklin were both cabinet officers, Wayne under Garfield and Franklin under Taft. Both were able lawyers who changed their party affiliation. Wayne switched from Republican to Democrat under the influence of Grover Cleveland. Franklin took the reverse step in the Bryan free-silver campaign, but was never closely bound to the Republican party. In fact, in 1928 he supported Al Smith.

Wayne's son Charles, a member of the New York law firm headed by John W. Davis, legal adviser of J. P. Morgan, was President Coolidge's ambassador to Japan. It is his son Lincoln who since 1933 has been minister to Greece, Iceland and South Africa, and has now received a merited promotion.

In England members of the same family often render public service for generations. Our cases are fewer, but fully as notable.

WASTED.

This nation continues to be a great squanderer of life and treasure. Even now, while manpower is needed so greatly, it is wasted recklessly in civilian pursuits. Thus while about 22,000 Americans have been killed in battle, and 65,000 not including prisoners are reported wounded or missing, there have been 46,000 deaths in motor accidents and 1,600,000 people have been injured.

This great toll, experts say,

SUBPENAS ISSUED IN LIQUOR BATTLE

DALLAS, Nov. 11. — Deputy Constable T. A. Drake was instructed yesterday to serve subpoenas to three delegates to the Baptist General Convention of Texas and C. V. Compton in connection with a suit by the Rev. Preston P. Reynolds to restrain the defendants from interfering with the circulation of a local option petition.

Subpenas were issued for Dr. T. C. Gardner, president of the United Dallas County Drys; Dr. Walter H. McKenzie, executive secretary of the United Texas Drys; the Rev. Bolton Boone, 4113

Junius, and Compton, a Dallas businessman.

Dr. Gardner was ordered to appear before District Judge W. M. Cramer at 10 a. m. Friday and produce a copy of a letter allegedly sent Dallas ministers and drys asking them to decline to sign any local option petitions.

Compton was ordered to bring into court approximately 165 bottles of liquor and beer which the order alleges were sold to a group of high school boys and girls by approximately 131 liquor stores and beer taverns, together with affidavits, statements of parents, correspondence with the Texas Liquor Control Board and photographs presumably taken.

The evidence collected by Compton with the aid of boys and girls of high school age presumably was for presentation to the Liquor Control Board to determine whether liquor was being sold to minors.

The suit was filed by Reynolds against Gardner, McKenzie and Boone on Oct. 24, alleging that the defendants were deliberately seeking to stop the circulation of local option petitions. It charged further that on Oct. 11 at a weekly meeting of the Dallas Baptist Pastors Conference in the presence of sixty clerics Dr. Gardner charged Reynolds by innuendo with "being a paid hireling of the liquor and beer interests."

Meanwhile, according to Asst. Dist. Atty. Pat Edwards, the drys had struck a snag by failing to present the 6,572 signatures needed to call the election within the 120-day limit fixed by law. The petitions were notarized and sealed on July 10 and the time expired Sunday, Edwards said. The drys were allowed one more day and still failed to present the names which means, Edwards said, that new petitions must be

BOOK OF THE MONTH

Capt. Ralph Ingersoll, former newspaper editor, learned about the war the hard way—through basic training, officer's candidate school, and finally on the battlefield in Africa.

Among the actions he participated in was the brilliantly planned and executed flanking movement by which the Rangers, assisted by the Engineers, climbed down the mountains above El Guettar in Tunisia one night, came down the impregnable gorge on the road to Sfax, thus clearing the way to the Mediterranean in two directions.

Capt. Ingersoll tells the story of this battle, in which he served as an officer-observer attached to the Engineers, in the November Book-of-the-Month Club selection, "The Battle Is the Pay-Off."

CAPT. RALPH INGERSOLL

Tank captured from the Germans dons U. S. insignia and personnel and attacks its former masters.

The General Salutes

In this book, Capt. Ingersoll brings into focus the whole structure of a battle—how it is planned, fought and won. "Battles," he writes, "are like marriages. They have certain fundamental experiences they share in common, they differ infinitely, but still they are all alike."

Striking a note new in war books, the author describes the intricate mechanism that fights a modern war—the huge complex of men, materials and machines which must exist, move and fight on a scale never before realized. Capt. Ingersoll tells his story vividly and accurately, bringing to the literary scene a brand new hero—the United States Army.

Norwegians Boycott Nazi Sports Event

SMUGGLED TO THE U. S. by the Norwegian underground, this photo of a Nazi-sponsored track meet at Oslo's famed Bislet stadium speaks for itself. This August track meet - to Norwegians what the World Series is to Americans - was this year a scene for an effective, silent demonstration of resistance to German occupation - as the handful of spectators in German uniforms testify. The stadium seats 30,000 persons. For three years the 300,000 members of the Norwegian Athletic Union have flatly refused to take part in Nazi-staged events. Many of them, including the world's champion ski-jumper Birger Ruud, are in concentration camps as a result.
