BRITISH GAIN 4 MILES AFTER 36-HOUR BATTLE

FORMER COUN- TIAN TELLS OF IRAN COUNTRY

Ervin Grenweige, Eastland county farmer who lives seven miles southwest of Cisco, where he has farmed for the past 16 years, has received an interesting letter from his brother, Corp. Oscar K. Grenweige.

Corporal Grenweige, who worked on his brother's farm four years before joining the army last November, is stationed somewhere in Iran, and says his operations cover one particular stretch of dismal wasteland from the Persian gulf to the Caucasus mountain range. Excerpts from the letter follow:

"Beginning with the water-logged, mosquito-infested, nauseating gulf port, and extending over a barren, dusty and wholly useless desert, our men began the task of upbuilding the great Russian life line northward. Heat that sears your very soul, dust as fine as glass and numerous images of mirages constitute but a few of the discomforts. On and on they build over treacherous mountains and around dangerous hairpin curves. Mountains that rival the keen hand and steady eye, where mistakes will drop man, bulldozer and all, thousands of feet into oblivion.

"A slightly more human section offers a respite. Here for a change fertile ground is seen, green grass grows and a few trees. Then on again through snow-logged passes, with drafts hundreds of feet high, past dangerous tribal groups slumbering in pup tents, hoping to awaken alive; caravans of camels frozen to death. Finally camp and section near completion.

"The most uncommon sight for Americans is the custom of veiled Iranian moslem women who, when caught without a veil, hide their faces in their hands or lift up their skirts to veil the face.

"I have just received the latest copy of the Llano News, dated May 26, 1943, so you see I am still in touch with civilization. I am well and hope you are the same. Write soon."

Corporal Grenweige graduated from Llano high school in 1935 and attended the University of Texas the fall term of that year.

The Daily Press is in receipt of an appreciated postcard from Staff Sgt. Walter V. Preston, somewhere in Italy. The Ciscoan wrote: "Wishing you a very merry Xmas and continued success throughout the New Year." The reverse side of the card carries a picture of the Galleria Umberto, Naples, Italy.

CITED — Lt. Isabelle L. Wheeler, Army nurse of Blanchard, Iowa, is one of first nurses to receive Purple Heart. She received decoration while serving with U. S. forces in Italy. Hospital ship on which she was stationed was hit by Nazi bombers off Salerno.

22 - YEAR - OLD COPY OF CIS- CO NEWS FOUND

John M. Shulse, Houston painter and paperhanging contractor, writes the Daily Press as follows: "Recently while remodeling an old house in this city I came across some old newspapers and in the bunch was the enclosed copy of the Cisco Daily News of October 11, 1921. I decided to send it on to you, as it carries news distinctly different from today's news and may be of general interest."

Some of the "distinctly different" news items in the 22-year-old Cisco paper included an article from Seattle, Wash., stating that the attorney general of that state had ruled that women had a right to wear pants.

And under a Washington date line it was stated that demand for an investigation of Ku Klux Klan activities had been made before the house rules committee by Rep. Toague of Massachusetts. Also from Washington a story about the theft of more than $300,000 worth of wines and liquors from the nearby country estate of Joseph E. Leiter, millionaire sportsman and clubman.

A Cisco news story quoted Philip Pettit, the manager, as saying the Cisco telephone system would be transferred from the grind to the flash system November 1.

Sam E. Nolley was sheriff of Eastland county at that time, as shown by a legal notice bearing his name.

NEGRO RAPED GIRL AFTER STABBING BOY

DENTON, Nov. 30.—Allen Murray, 30 a Negro, was charged here late yesterday with rape, robbery with firearms, and assault with intent to murder in connection with the stabbing and robbery of 17-year-old John Dunaway of Longview and an attack on his college girl companion.

Murray was captured north of Tiesia, Grayson county, by a posse of farmers, climaxing an intensive search which began soon after the attack Sunday afternoon five miles northeast of Denton.

Dunaway, whose lung was punctured by the stabbing, and who was suffering mostly from loss of blood, was reported slightly improved in a Denton hospital.

Officers were told that the assailant approached the couple while they were parked on a side road, and demanded they leave the automobile and proceed to near-by woods. In an ensuing fight, Dunaway was stabbed and the Denton college girl was struck over the head with a pistol. The Negro held the pair prisoner for six or seven hours, took Dunaway's purse containing $16 and fled afoot when he could not start the car. The girl then went to a farm house and reported the incident to county authorities.

The Negro, now held in an undisclosed jail, admitted in a signed statement that he had raped the girl twice and stabbed her companion.

DOCTORS, LIONS ROTAR'NS DINE THIS EVENING

BRECKENRIDGE, Nov. 30. — Members of the Rotary and Lions clubs and the Stephens County Medical Society will meet at dinner this evening to hear Dr. John G. Young of Dallas discuss proposed socialized medicine.

Dr. Young is a good speaker, Breckenridge physicians say, and the importance of the bill designed to make the American physician a puppet of the state, while increasing individual taxes an average of $100 yearly per family, should attract a large and attentive audience.

MOVING DAY—Convicts, some of them lifers, see outside for first time in years as they leave confines of penitentiary at Joliet, Ill. They get chance to look around before boarding trucks that will take them to modernized quarters 12 miles away at Stateville. Old home is relic of Civil War days; new one can hold 4,500 prisoners.

CIVIL SER- VICE PROBE IS HELD UP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—U. S. civil service investigators conducting "loyalty investigations" of government employes and federal jobs are now forbidden to ask them any general questions regarding their political philosophy or their belief in capitalism, it was learned today.

Furthermore, an order issued Nov. 3 by the civil service commission specifically bans questions concerning activities in Communist unions or in many of the Communist-Front organizations.

The order, which went out to some 800 investigators throughout the country, drastically curtails the procedure for determining whether federal employes are Communists.

Its effect, according to some investigatory agencies here, will be to hamstring the investigators in their "loyalty inquiries" for the war and navy departments, the office of war information and all other branches of the federal service.

A congressional probe of the civil service order was asked in the house of representatives yesterday by Representative Busby of Illinois.

QUALLS IS ONE OF 8 TEXANS AT ARLINGTON

The public relations section of the Marine Corps, Southwestern Procurement Division, Atlanta, Ga., has mailed the Daily Press a picture of the eight Texans in training at North Texas Agricultural college, Arlington, Tex., under the V-12 college program.

Pvt. James L. Qualls, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Qualls, Cisco, is one of the eight young men shown in the photo, which has been added to this paper's rapidly growing picture gallery of Cisco and Eastland county boys in the service.

JEHOVAH MINISTER.

FT. WORTH, Nov. 30.—A Jehovah's Witness minister, charged with failure to report for induction in the army, was free on $1500 bond today after the father of two navy officers went on the bond.

BACK TO WAR—Bozo, Belgian shepherd dog, was captured from Nazis in Italy and eventually became property of Frederick B. Strauss, Jr., of St. Paul, Minn. But he hasn't any ration book, so Mary Jane Strauss is giving him to Dogs for Defense.

13 NURSES, 16 SOLDIERS ARE STILL MISSING

ALGIERS, Nov. 30.—Thirteen United States army nurses and sixteen soldiers have been missing since Nov. 8, when a transport plane in which they were flying from Africa to the east coast of Italy overshoot its destination in bad weather.

The last word from the plane was a message received while it presumably was over the Adriatic. It never arrived at the Allied field.

The nurses were attached to an air evacuation unit. The next of kin have been notified. One of the nurses was Ava A. Maness, daughter of John H. Maness of Paris, Texas.

DIDN'T LAST LONG.

FT. WORTH, Nov. 30.—First freeze of the new winter sent Fort Worth's official thermometer down to 30 degrees early today and ground temperatures were 28 and lower. Bright sunshine made the cold brief. Tomorrow's forecast calls for fair skies and continued mild temperatures.

UP AND UP—Salior, dock worker, horse-cab and taxi driver—that's record of Ben Smith, 62, British Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Aircraft Production. Now he has been appointed British Minister of Supply in the U. S. He entered Parliament as a Socialist member for Rotherhithe in 1923 and has gained an important place in government.

RUSSIANS BESIEGE ZHLOBIN

MOSCOW, Nov. 30.—The Russians stormed to within artillery range of Zhlobin today and unlimbered their big guns for a bombardment of that key White Russian junction through which tens of thousands of Germans were fleeing a Soviet trap.

The Nazi Paris radio admitted the situation at Zhlobin was "confused" and London morning newspapers said the Soviet advances made the German situation precarious.

Pushing up the west bank of the Dnieper in the most threatening of three converging Russian drives on Zhlobin, only 12 miles to the south, and pressed on to the north for an attempt to seize the junction of the Gornel-Minsk and Odessa-Leningrad railways.

Capture of Zhlobin would cut the main escape route for the remnants of the fleeing German garrison from Gornel and complete the smashing of Axis defenses in the southern third of White Russia.

The Soviet artillery bombardment was expected to heighten the chaos that already must exist in Zhlobin as the Germans seek desperately to re-route tens of thousands of troops and their equipment.

VANDALS GET LIGHT FEDER- AL SENTENCE

FT. WORTH, Nov. 30.—Three Wise county youths today began a two-year probation sentence after pleading guilty in federal district court yesterday to charges of destroying government property.

They are Joe Lawrence Miller and Jack Stark, Jr., both 18, and J. W. Walker, Jr., 16, who admitted to knocking down 21 rural mail boxes near Decatur while riding in a truck. Assuring Judge James C. Wilson that they were sorry for their actions, the youths said it was done "in fun."

TAX-FREE GASOLINE.

AUSTIN, Nov. 30.—Sales of tax-free gasoline to federal agencies in Texas amounted to 167,350,507 gallons in October, an increase of approximately 22,000,000 gallons over the previous month, the State Comptroller reported. In October last year tax-free sales accounted for 39,586,980 gallons.

SOLDIER WILL HANG.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A U. S. Army court-martial has sentenced Pvt. John H. Waters, 38, Chicago Heights, Ill., to hang for the murder of Doris Staples at Henley-on-Thames, Oxfordshire, July 14. European theater of operations headquarters announced today.

TIRES AVAILABLE.

DALLAS, Nov. 30.—So-called "war" or "victory" tires—made principally from reclaimed rubber—were made available by the OPA today for purchase by motorists previously eligible only for used tires.

END IS NEAR.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Strong diplomatic belief prevailed in Washington today that Germany's leading cities may be literally wiped off the face of the map within the next four months unless the German nation surrenders in the meantime.

GENERAL OFFENSIVE FOR A "FREE ROME OR BUST" DRIVE EXPECTED SOON SAYS MADRID

ALGIERS, Nov. 30.—The British Eighth Army cracked the German winter line across Italy near the Adriatic in a savage 36-hour battle, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's message announced today, and is pounding forward in an offensive to smash open the roads to Rome.

Crashing through up to four miles past the Sangro River bridgehead on a 12-mile front, British, Indian and New Zealand veterans stormed a high ridge deep within the defenses of the bitterly-fighting Nazis and the report said tersely, "Our advance is continuing."

While there were no signs of a general attack on Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army sector in western Italy, American troops made a one-mile gain, capturing Castelnuovo, northwest of Montaquila, and heavy fighting was in progress.

Gen. Bernard Montgomery's troops swept through the town of Mozzagrona, three miles north of the Sangro and western hinge of the contested ridge which extends five miles northwest near Fossacesia and through Aramagnoli.

Capture of the heights—first beyond the broad Sangro Valley—would complete the rupture of the German line, placing Montgomery's men firmly past their first obstacle. The heights range from 750 to 1000 feet.

The fierce fighting took place under one of the heaviest artillery barrages of the Italian campaign and an increasing number of prisoners, some described as literally "bomb-happy" were falling into the Eighth's hands. The sky was filled with Allied planes for the seventh straight day.

Reports indicated the bridgeheads just inland from the sea and around Archi had not yet been linked but showed the Eighth's forces were rolling across in increasing numbers to pitch into the battle.

The Fifth's advance was hewn out in the face of terrific enemy artillery fire while American and British forces brought up more and more guns to engage in gun duels with the Germans.

A Madrid dispatch quoted Italian frontier advices as saying the Fifth would launch a general offensive co-ordinated with the Eighth's with 12 divisions on a "free Rome or bust" drive.

The Fifth's fighting was taking place in the vicinity of Falconara, in the spiny Apennines of central Italy.

A tremendous number of guns were in action. Most Allied air attacks centered in the Eighth's sector of the trans-Italy line from 70 to 80 miles below Rome, especially around Orosogna, on a 1500-foot crag held by the German 65th Division.

FADS OR FREEDOM?

We are going through a period of history made up of scrambled economics flavored with fascism, socialism, communism, bureauism, and countless other "isms."

Each "ism" claims to be the "dear people's" savior from toil, and promises to take from those who "have" for those who "haven't." All the "isms" claim to be the cure for war, but they all teach class hatred—hatred of the man who has "saved."

The United States has not been an aggressor nation, it has fought only for equal rights and individual freedom.

We in this country must not allow ourselves to be fooled by "isms." We can make adjustments without upsetting a nation of contentment. We have a constitutional government that has survived depression and obstacles before, and it certainly can pull out of its present problems, if "isms" do not undermine its foundation.

Blaming war on capitalistic abuses and trying to incite our people against capital (private savings), doesn't make sense. The countries that claim to be non-capitalistic are the most war aggressive. And anyway, where there is a wheel turning there is investment, which is capital. No matter whether the people do the investing, or the government does it, the people in the end are the investors.

In the progress of America, the people have put up their own capital and the government has remained their servant as our Constitution intended it to be.

IT CAN HAPPEN IN WASHINGTON.

The voters of El Paso, Texas, have tossed a monkey wrench into the well-oiled wheels of the public ownership steamroller, bringing it to a grinding halt well outside the city limits of their fair city. Its asserted bureaucratic passengers have no choice but to leave the wreck and walk home. That's the only conclusion to be drawn from the disastrous defeat by a vote of four to one of a proposal for the city to take over the privately owned El Paso Electric Company.

As interesting as the defeat itself, is the manner in which it was brought about. Sometime ago the Securities and Exchange Commission, in furthering the program of holding company destruction, ordered the Engineers Public Service Company to dispose of its El Paso properties. El Paso politicians were waiting with open arms. Under Texas law the city could purchase the utility and issue revenue bonds without a vote of the people. It looked like another open and shut case of extending public ownership without interference from the people. But at the last minute something went wrong. Local citizens, with the help of the El Paso Times, started a movement to submit the issue to a vote of the people, with the result that socialism in El Paso was nipped in the bud.

With forthright honesty, the El Paso Herald-Post, active supporter of the public ownership drive, had this to say: "The landslide was caused by the disgust of the people over government interference in business. Five years ago the proposal would more than likely have carried. But in the meantime, the people have been treated to repeated doses of government interference in their affairs, and they haven't liked it. In this community, they took the first chance they had to say so. Recent elections everywhere have shown the same results. It is a trend of the times."

"The national politicians might take a look at the El Paso returns. The leftwingers, so powerful in Washington, will find something in the figures to give them pause."

"If it can happen in El Paso, it can happen in Washington."

WALLS.

When sleep or rest is what you need, Hotel-room walls seem thin indeed. The voices pitched however low, The softly playing radio, The cough, the snore, the running tap, The creak of springs, the sudden rap, The fumbled coin that sharply drops And rolls and rolls before it stops— Such sounds as these come through the wall As if it were not there at all. — But let a conversation start Or which you catch a tempting part, A word or two of rage or jest That makes you want to hear the rest, And you discover all too quick That these same walls are plenty thick. —RICHARD ARMOUR.

The city commission last night selected the Guaranty State Bank and Trust company as the city depository from December 1, 1920, to December 31, 1921. The bank is to give a surety company bond. The commission had asked for bids several days ago to be in the hands of the city secretary by 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and they were opened last night. There were three bids, the First Guaranty State bank not bidding, but bids were received from the other three banks of the city. The American National bank bid 4 9-16 per cent. The bid of the Cisco Banking company was 5 per cent. The Guaranty State Bank and Trust company bid 5 1-2 per cent. Commissioner Jonah Donovan made a motion that the bids be received and filed. This motion prevailed. Commissioner Aaron Moyhew made a motion that the deposits be awarded to the highest bidder. Commissioner W. Frank Walker seconded this motion. Mayor J. M. Williamson put the question and a number of eyes were heard and no noes.

ALTHOUGH their duties in the army do not call for the use of firearms, there are many good shots among the women who have joined the armed services in both United States and Canada. Here we see members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps who are practicing against the day when they may be called upon to defend themselves in some theatre of war. Organized in September, 1941, more than 10,500 Canadian girls have enlisted, thereby releasing over 8,000 men within the army organization. By 1941 Canada expects to have 25,000 women enrolled in the CWAC. The youngest women's service organized to release men to more active duties, the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, had attested 3,104 officers and ratings, and called up 2,396 by June 26, 1943, one year after its establishment. By the end of June of this year over 12,300 women had enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force Women's Division.

being made in the construction of the American Legion hospital here is highly gratifying, according to Adrien F. Levy, legal adviser and member of the hospital executive board. This board has just completed an investigation of the status of the memorial hospital, which is being erected to care for tubercular ex-service men. It was appointed jointly by the War Risk Benevolent society of Texas and the state branch of the American Legion. Situated on an elevation overlooking the Guadalupe river, 70 miles from San Antonio and but two miles from Kerrville, Levy said, the institution nestles in one of the state's beauty spots. The units under consideration are in the midst of a tract of 735 acres donated for the hospital by Charles Schreiner, of Kerrville. The buildings and equipment now under construction, Levy estimated, will cost approximately $160,000. In addition it is proposed to erect a 100-bed unit to cost in the neighborhood of $235,000. The department of Texas, American Legion, has agreed to raise the remaining funds necessary to complete the hospital, but as yet definite plans for raising the money have not been formed, according to Levy.

DANGEROUS PRESSURE GROUPS.

Every pressure group applying the heat to congress and the administration for higher wages, prices or profits, is actually attempting "to sock the government" as the principal purchaser in wartime. Under no form of devious reasoning for self-justification is it possible to hide that fact.

Ironically, many of these same pressure groups during the depression years were saved from bankruptcy and ruin by the government, upon which minority blocs now would prey.

If inflation is brought about by the activities of pressure groups now busy in Washington, the fixed income group will be the chief sufferer. That injustice may not concern the blocs which are arbitrarily seeking to force prices, wages and profits upward, but they would be wise to anticipate the inevitable aftermath of inflation. This sequel to inflation will be deflation, bringing bankruptcy to producers and business and unemployment for workers now enjoying a war boom. With deflation, liquidation will extend to all the beneficiaries of the war boom, and government will hardly be in a position to provide relief for any of them.—Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

LOCAL CHAPTER DAR ATTENDED LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, Mrs. Albert Taylor and Mrs. Frank Castleberry were hostesses with a turkey luncheon Monday in the Perkins home in Eastland for Charles Crawford chapter, Daughters of American Revolution. The house was beautifully decorated and the dining table was centered with a lovely arrangement of autumn and winter flowers from New England. Pine cones were used as plate favors.

Following luncheon Mrs. Gleason, who was a church organist at her home town in Massachusetts for 52 years, played accompaniment while the group sang "America." Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins led in the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States. Roll call response was an early American recipe, some of which were mirth-provoking. It was voted to remember the only living real daughter of the American Revolution with gifts at Christmas. She is now past the century mark.

During the program Mrs. Karl Armstrong of Cisco was presented in an interesting talk on the "Life and Customs" of the People of Sumatra. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong spent a number of years in Sumatra and she was familiar with her subject and ready to answer all questions.

The meeting was adjourned until the regular session in December.

Those present were Mrs. C. H. Fee, Mrs. Randolph Lee Clark, Mrs. J. E. Caffrey, Mrs. Philip Pettit, Mrs. C. R. West, Mrs. W. C. McDaniel, Mrs. F. D. Pierce, Mrs. Alex Spears, Mrs. W. W. FIRST BAPTIST WMU IN WEEK OF PRAYER.

Beginning the December week of prayer, members of First Baptist women's missionary union met at the church Monday afternoon. The meeting began with group singing of "Open Mine Eyes, That I May See," with Mrs. W. W. Fewell playing the accompaniment.

The program on foreign missions, directed by Mrs. M. F. Underwood, was given by circle one.

Those appearing on the program were Mrs. G. B. Langston, Mrs. L. A. Harrison and Mrs. W. D. Hazel. The program was interspersed with prayer.

A short business session was conducted by Mrs. Paul Poe, president, who distributed names of men in service to each one present, to be remembered in private devotions. She also requested members to donate gifts for soldiers in hospitals. The meeting closed with prayer.

Those present were Mrs. M. F. Underwood, Mrs. W. W. Fewell, Mrs. Paul Poe, Mrs. J. E. Burnham, Mrs. W. H. LaRoque, Mrs. G. B. Langston, Mrs. A. R. Day, Mrs. C. A. Williams, Mrs. O. G. Lawson, Mrs. A. The Basic Value of Your Home--

... is in its title, not in the location, the cost of the improvements, nor the fertility of the soil, for without that security which a good title guarantees, there could be no value. The abstract is a written history of the title, and the only means yet devised whereby imperfections may be discovered and curative processes made possible.

Wise buyers and leaders never make land transactions without an abstract.

She's right in the center of things

The telephone operator wears no uniform but she's a vital worker in the war. Her job is to get through the calls that build ships and guns and planes and tanks. And help a soldier talk to the folks back home.

When she tells you the Long Distance circuit you want is busy, you can help by canceling your call if it isn't really necessary.

If you must telephone Long Distance, please limit the call to not more than 5 minutes. You will be helping everyone when you do this.

Buy a War Bond FOR FREEDOM

For Freedom's Right!

FOURSCORE and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Fourscore years ago this November, Abraham Lincoln began his immortal Gettysburg Address with those words, in dedicating the National Cemetery at Gettysburg, Pa. Through the years that address has come to be known as one of the greatest documents of the ages, calling every loyal heart to "be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us . . . that these dead shall not have died in vain . . . that this Nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom."

FREEDOM . . . that little word that means so much! In this country we see its symbols everywhere. Our churches, our newspapers, our lecture halls, our assemblies, our businesses . . . all represent that one, all-important word. Under the influence of Freedom and what it represents, our country has grown in 150 years from a wilderness to the strongest power on earth. Today it is free people who are saving the world. People who will never allow themselves to be conquered!

FREE ENTERPRISE . . . Another word that creates tangible results. Free Enterprise . . . the force that enables private business-operating companies, like ours, to serve the public in their own zealous individual service-giving manner. From them each of us has earned personal benefits—our community has prospered and our country has become the richest in the world. When those who are fighting the battle of freedom return home to America, they'll expect this ideal to be preserved. It's up to us to do it!

Let us commemorate this, the 80th Anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, as "dedication day," an occasion for re-dedicating ourselves "to protect the rights and liberties of American Citizenship and maintain National Honor, Union and Independence."
