FORWARD SURGE OF REDS IS UNCHECKED

DR. GARY L. SMITH ACCEPTS CALL TO RUSK

Dr. and Mrs. Gary L. Smith left yesterday for Rusk, where he has accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church of that city. He will preach his first sermon Sunday morning.

Dr. Smith has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church here for the past five years and his departure is regretted by many members of the church and also a large circle of friends outside that organization. During his local service the church wiped out all indebtedness against the building, manse and a most excellent equipment, which includes a pipe organ. Following cancellation of church indebtedness, the building was dedicated in 1941. The handsome, commodious structure is of native stone and the total investment probably exceeds $50,000.

Dr. Smith had lived in Cisco when a child, his father, Rev. J. M. Smith, having been pastor of the Cisco church at the time of the famous cyclone in 1893.

The Cisco church has not called a new pastor as yet and probably will not do so for some time, but Rev. Addison Woestemeyer, who is attending the Presbyterian seminary at Austin, will occupy the local pulpit Sunday morning. He is said to be about 28 years of age and will graduate from the seminary in May.

WEDDINGTON IS NOW AT HOME OF HIS MOTHER

Bob Weddington, an account of whose injury in an automobile accident was carried in the Daily Press of yesterday, was removed to the home of his mother, Mrs. R. F. Weddington, 610 W. Sixth street, today, where he will be nursed and convalesce until able to return to his ranch north of the city.

In a telephone conversation this morning, Mrs. Weddington stated that her son was unconscious when employees of the Lone Star Gas company reached him soon after the accident Sunday morning. They carried him to Graham Sanitarium, where he was found to be badly bruised and shaken, but not permanently injured. The Weddington car was struck by a bus, which attempted to pass Mr. Weddington on the bridge at Lake Cisco.

WONDER WHAT VITAMIN KEEPS HIM CLICKING

ATLANTA, Jan. 5. — James Reid Jones, turned 99 Tuesday, fought through the civil war and is "right in there pitching on this one—through my 30 grandchildren in the service."

Jones, Private Jones he was in the Confederate army, but people call him "General" now, laughed right out loud about U. S. "beefs" on World War II rationing.

"This rationing is nothing," he told an interviewer. "Everyone has plenty to eat. But in those days . . ." and the General recalls parched corn.

Jones believes he is the last survivor of the troops who saw General Joseph Johnston surrender to General William T. Sherman.

Fond of cigars "and a toddy every day," Jones still can swing into a dance. He gleefully recalls the day he "kissed Scarlett O'Hara (Screen Actress Vivien Leigh) twice."

He's outlived three wives and retains his eye for a pretty girl.

"In fact, I think that when I'm a hundred next year I'll get married again."

USE OF BOND ISSUE CAN BE AVOIDED

AUSTIN, Jan. 5.—During 1943, the cash deficit in the general fund, a problem which has grown in size and difficulty for nearly fifteen years, shrank a little more than 35 per cent. It stood at $28,398,911 on the first day of that year and at $18,430,908 on the next to the last day.

Gov. Coke Stevenson expressed the opinion shortly after the legislature adjourned, and has repeated it since, that as a consequence of reduced appropriations and increased revenue from existing tax levies, there would be annual surpluses which would restore the general fund to solvency within a few years, and thus obviate the need to use the bond issue which the people authorized to liquidate it.

The reduction shown for 1943 seems on its face to guarantee that opinion. Uninterrupted and undiminished working of the factors which wrought that result would dissolve the deficit within three years.

WOULD SEPARATE REVENUE AND TREASURY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Charging that Treasury Secretary Morgenthau attempted "to usurp the constitutional control of the legislative branch over tax policy," Representative Knutson of Minnesota, proposes legislation to strip the cabinet member of all authority over internal revenue.

He accused the treasury department of "playing politics" with tax policy.

The Minnesotan, Republican leader in the tax-initiating agency, would propose that the committee sponsor legislation to divorce the internal revenue bureau from the treasury and make it an independent agency.

"In my opinion," he declared, "the time has come to completely eliminate treasury dictation on matters of tax policy."

CONGRESS IS BLAMED FOR STRIKE MESS

HOUSTON, Jan. 5.—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel advocates the same penalty for wartime strikers that a soldier gets when he throws down his gun on the battlefield and declared that the strike question could be settled in two weeks "if we had the right men in congress."

Commenting in an interview on the 1944 presidential campaign, Texas' junior senator observed:

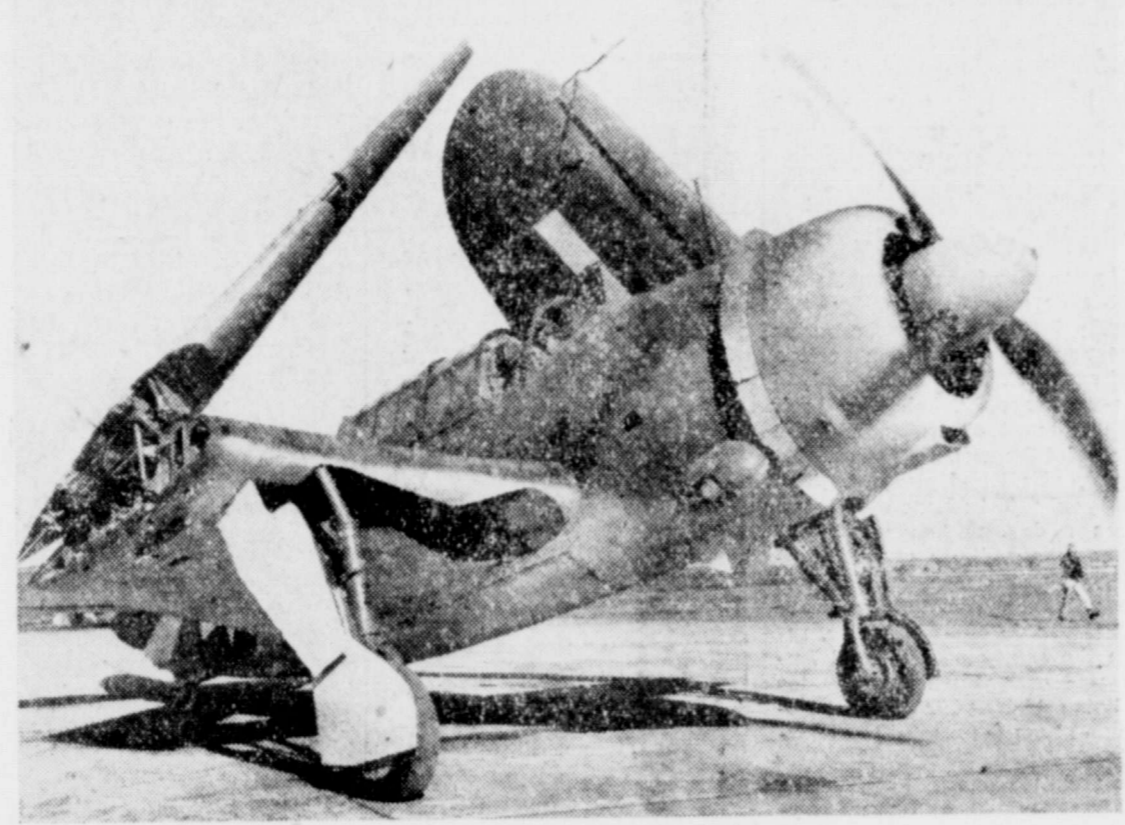

"The president appears to be in pretty good health and I don't think anything but death will prevent him from running. His chances are pretty good. There is a possibility of more parties arising. Willkie may bolt and split the Republican party if he's not nominated."

O'Daniel also asserted that: "Taxes have almost reached the saturation point for business."

The states can handle soldier voting better than the federal government.

Only low income groups can stand further taxation, "and that means a sales tax, which would be a big burden on poor people."

Advocating reduced government expenditures as an alternative to higher taxation, O'Daniel said he would start first by swinging the economy ax at what he estimated were 3,000,000 federal employees.

NEW HELLDIVER—Speed, range and maneuverability make Navy's new Curtiss Helldiver, heavily armed bomber, designed for land and carrier-based operations, important addition to Naval air force. Its wings fold back to save space on carrier. Helldiver inflicted great damage on enemy in Rabaul raid.

PHYSICIANS HAVE RIGHT TO OPINION

DALLAS, Jan. 5.—American physicians, as represented by the National Physicians committee, have a right to express their opinion on the medical care provisions of the Murray-Wagner bill expanding social security, Dr. E. H. Cary, head of the committee, said today.

Dr. Cary's comment was made in connection with a statement by Senator James E. Murray of Montana, charging the American Medical association was deliberately trying to misrepresent the medical care provisions of the bill, and to distort and falsify the measure. Murray referred to a pamphlet published by the physicians committee.

"If Senator Murray doesn't like it, we can't help it," Dr. Cary said. "The National Physicians committee is in no way connected with the American Medical association except in that it is a committee of physicians and the physicians are members of the association. We are against this bill because we see in it the first attempt to socialize everything in this country."

Dr. Cary is a past president of the American Medical association and head of the Southwestern Medical Foundation, which recently established the Southwestern Medical college here.

TEXAS APATHETIC SAYS U. PROFESSOR

AUSTIN, Jan. 5.—Texas is apathetic in developing its own industries and is neglectful in inducing others to establish here, Dr. E. P. Schoch, professor of chemical engineering at the University of Texas, informed the senate general investigating committee Tuesday.

He declared that Texas compares to a South American Indian, well paid for gathering rubber, and then returns to the jungle. "Texas is much like that," Schoch said, "and it begins to look as if Texas is going back to the oxcart days because it is not interested in developing its own resources and establishing industries although we are going to need them in the postwar era."

KENNON SOME BETTER.

Judge R. W. H. Kennon, who has been seriously ill in a Ranger hospital for the past ten days, was said to be considerably better this morning. He is rational and takes food more frequently and has gotten around to where he enjoys a cigaret occasionally.

DECORATED—Cited for exceptional leadership in transferring all survivors to safety before his ship, struck by bombs, blew up, Capt. Jonathan M. Wainright 5th (right), son of Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainright, captured in Philippines, was awarded Merchant Marine Distinguished Service Medal.

CASTS NAME—Making tour of Gardiner General Hospital, Chicago, screen star Olivia De Havilland was asked by one of her fans, wounded Pvt. Lozano Theriot, to autograph his cast. She obliges before admiring crowd of veterans.

MISSSES THE PRESS.

Tom Lassater writes the Daily Press as follows: "Please send me your paper for one year. Since moving to Eastland we have missed the Daily Press greatly. Have read the Cisco paper for 25 years and am lost without it." The Lassaters live at 212 N. Lamar street, Eastland.

BROADEN VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Eleven directors, Mayor Edward Lee, M. D. Fox and Secretary P. R. Warwick were present last night at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Cisco chamber of commerce. President J. D. Lauderdale presided.

The proposed abandonment of the Eastland, Wichita Falls & Gulf railroad was brought up and discussed briefly and Secretary Warwick was instructed to file a letter of protest with the interstate commerce commission at the proper time.

The directors heard the report of a committee composed of A. E. McNeely, W. J. Armstrong and C. E. Hickman, appointed recently to work out plans for the construction of a building to house agricultural and vocational training implements. The necessary structure would cost around $1,000, the committee thought, and would be erected on Cisco Junior college property, though used principally by vocational students of Cisco high school. The high school has on hand at present tools and implements to the value of some $1,600, with more to be loaned by the state if suitable housing is secured immediately.

Chamber of commerce directors feel suitable quarters should be built at once and Director J. R. Deen proposed that representatives from the Rotary and Lions clubs, the city commission and chamber of commerce meet and devise ways of raising the required money. Mr. Deen's suggestion was approved and the meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening at the chamber of commerce.

Terms of seven directors will expire soon and the board nominated an additional seven men for the places to be made vacant. Thus, the names of the seven retiring directors, plus the names of seven additional men, will go to the city commission for that body to select seven new directors from, as required by charter.

Directors present last night included J. R. Deen, C. E. Hickman, A. E. McNeely, William Reagan, L. A. Warren, E. P. Crawford, J. D. Lauderdale, J. L. Thornton, R. L. Ponsler, R. N. Cluck and A. B. O'Flaherty.

M'ARTHUR HAS GOOD WORD FOR U. S. LABOR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—General MacArthur, Allied commander in the Southwest Pacific, declared today that American labor "never has failed the Army or the Nation" and praised its "splendid patriotism."

MacArthur's statement, released by the American Federation of Labor, was somewhat contrary to that of the "high authority" who said Army seizure of the railroads, plus the threatened steel strike, had prolonged the war for six months at the cost of hundreds of thousands of casualties.

MacArthur's statement, which will be a feature in the next issue of the AFL's monthly magazine, the American Federationist, now on the presses, follows:

"Labor never has failed the Army or the Nation. May God bless you all for your splendid patriotism."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. — Despite heavy pre-invasion bombing of their key Marshall Island bases, the Japs are pouring new air forces into those islands at the expense of other vital Pacific positions.

PRESENT DRIVE SEEMS TO BE EFFORT TO ENCIRCLE A MILLION NAZIS IN THE UKRAINE

MOSCOW, Jan. 5.—Russian vanguards swept 30 miles beyond Belaya Tserkov today in the first of a series of wide-swinging drives designed to trap perhaps 1,000,000 Germans in the Ukraine, while Soviet forces to the west extended their springboard for a fullscale smash across the plains of old Poland.

The liberators of Belaya Tserkov, German bastion 50 miles south of Kiev, were rolling southwestward in an attempt to link up with the Second Ukrainian Army at Cherkasi and encircle thousands of Germans still holding out along the western bank of the Dnieper, front dispatches said.

Other elements of Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's First Ukrainian Army hammered their way toward the Odessa-Lwow Railroad, last practical escape route for the remainder of the Germans in the Ukraine, on a broad front, and slashed deeper into the strategic network of highways and railways on the approaches to pre-war Poland, with gains ranging up to eight miles.

Foreign reports that Vatutin already had crossed the old frontier appeared premature, but there was every indication that such a crossing was imminent.

The shifting of the main weight of the Soviet assault from the Korosten-Sarny segment of the Kiev-Warsaw railroad to the south implied that Vatutin was planning to drive westward along the railroad and highway running from Stepetovka to Rowne, the route over which the Russians invaded Poland in 1920.

The Red Army was astride the Rowne highway, but must take the remaining stretch of the Novograd-Volynski-Shepativoka and Berdichev-Shepatovka railways before it can swing westward.

While one force struck directly toward Shepatovka, an adjacent column seized Siryaki, 25 miles northwest of Berdichev and only a few miles above the Shepatovka-Berdichev railway.

The Germans counter-attacked in strength near Novograd-Volynski, 35 miles northeast of Shepatovka, yesterday and one unit broke into the Russian positions, only to be encircled and annihilated. Four hundred prisoners were taken.

Belaya Tserkov, German defense hub south of Kiev, fell after a four-day battle, during which the Axis rushed up reinforcements in an 11th hour effort to save the city. Some 40 other towns and villages on the First Ukrainian front also were captured.

On the central front, the Russians cleared the entire 41-mile Nevel-Velikiye Luki railway in a move that probably will speed up the Soviet advance toward the Baltic states.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Strong Allied bomber formations, stepping up the pre-invasion softening of Axis Europe, smashed anew at the French "second front" coast today in the wake of a British nuisance raid on Berlin and a record American blow at Kiel and Munster.

The daylight raiders, with an escort of RAF fighters, swept out across the English Channel only a few hours after other British bombers attacked Northern France and twin-engine Mosquitoes hit Berlin and Western Germany last night.

Upwards of 1300 American bombers and fighters spear-headed yesterday's 3000-plane attacks on Axis Europe with devastating raids on shipyards at Kiel, and railway yards at Munster, both in northwest Germany.

Good results were reported despite heavy clouds over the targets, a joint Eighth Air Force-British Air Ministry report said.

Huge fires and a heavy pall of smoke were observed after the attack on Kiel, one of Germany's principal submarine and warship building centers, the communique said.

ALGIERS, Jan. 5.—Allied armies in Italy have seized two commanding positions against fierce Nazi opposition, it was announced today and bomber fleets reaching into Bulgaria and Yugo-Slavia dealt three hard blows to German Balkan communications.

Fifth Army troops advancing a little more than a mile west of Venafro stormed a 2,300-foot height in Sannucro Ridge two miles northeast of San Vittore, gaining complete dominance of that bastion of the German Winter line on the Rome road.

Indian units of the 8th Army seized a spur on a mountain ridge in pushing forward several hundred yards against enemy machine gun fire southwest of Torpmaso near the Adriatic.

US 15th Air Force Flying Fortresses, meanwhile, smashed railway yards and a bridge at Dupnitsa, 50 miles south of Sofia, capital of Bulgaria.

American Mitchells scored five hits on railway yards and the station at Doboj, 55 miles north of Sarajevo in Yugo-Slavia, and pounded barracks and troop concentrations at Travnik, 30 miles northwest of Sarajevo, tinder box of the First World War.

THE NAZI PROBLEM.

Germany is our biggest headache, and will probably remain so for a long time to come. And there is some confusion as to the curative medicine required.

The president said in a recent speech: "The United Nations have no intention to enslave the German people. We wish them to have a normal chance to develop, in peace, as useful and respectable members of the European family." But he quickly added that "we most certainly emphasize that word 'respectable,' and we intend to rid them once for all of Nazism and Prussian militarism, and the fantastic and disastrous notion that they constitute the 'master race'."

This is good propaganda. It also makes good sense—if such an achievement is possible in Germany. Of all important European nations, the Germans have been the most tenacious of medieval ideas and practices, and the hardest to civilize in a modern way. They have lived most completely within themselves. The free nations have not yet cracked the shell, physical or mental, of this medieval race. To do so, and bring the Germans into cooperative touch with modern life and thought, may be the hardest job left by the war.

EXPENSIVE RATS.

Out of 885 large buildings inspected in a metropolitan county during the first 11 months of 1943, 700 were found to be infested by rats. Authorities said that either before or after the check by the city food and drug chief, most of the owners of those buildings had begun definite efforts at rat control and extermination. But fifty owners had to be ordered to do something about the rats.

Rats are expensive. One chain grocery store said its food loss from rats came to $25 a day. Where food was not entirely eaten up, it was nibbled at or spoiled.

Meat losses at one establishment were three tons a year, 34,000 pounds at another. A bakery had to destroy 500 pounds of flour after the rats had been in it. Smaller amounts of destruction in private homes were not given, but they mount alarmingly.

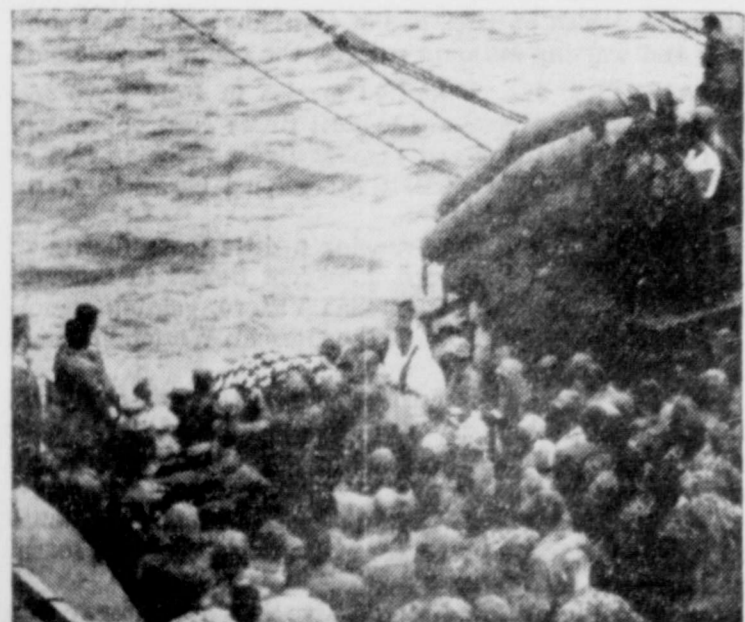

Besides their injury of money-value and food-value, rats are expensive in other ways. They carry disease and lice. A rat-free town would have few epidemics. Rats are among the enemies within the gates which must be fought as vigorously as the enemies without.

WEST AND WILSON.

A good many men are made by their opponents. Woodrow Wilson was one. Without the hostility of Andrew F. West, who has just died at 90, Wilson might never have left Princeton University and entered on the political career that led to the presidency.

Wilson was president of the university. West dean of the graduate school. Wilson was trying to break up cliques of wealthy students which tended toward a caste system. A graduate school, far from the university, which West favored, might, Wilson feared, develop along anti-democratic lines. Twice Wilson persuaded the university trustees to reject gifts for a graduate school in line with West's ideas. Then came a third gift, for $3,000,000. The temptation was too great. The trustees followed West, not Wilson, and Wilson resigned early in 1910.

His fight and his resignation made him governor of New Jersey that fall, and president two years later. Had his retirement come later, the combination of circumstances might not have worked out so well. At any rate, the coming of war in 1914 would not have found Wilson in the White House. And then the history of the whole world would have been different.

The flag-draped body of a Marine killed at Tarawa is consigned to the sea from a transport standing off the island, while his buddies, still in their jungle uniforms, reverently bare their heads as the Chaplain intones his prayers. Many of the Marines killed in the vicious battle for Tarawa were buried at sea. How many War Bonds have you bought to back up these boys?

OPEN FORUM

Prayer.

The Daily Press: A war correspondent recently reported part of a Thanksgiving Day prayer by one of our boys in the muddy trenches of Italy, as follows: "Oh, God! In remembering us, please remember the boys against whom we are fighting. We all believe we are fighting for the right."

It is not likely that the spirit manifested by this young man in his prayer will interfere with his efficiency as a soldier. Having done his duty in one way, his other duties will have his best attention. It is very possible that before the envoys meet around the peace table he will have made the supreme sacrifice, just as many of our boys will be called upon to make. Let us hope that the peace envoys, whose duty it will be to write the terms of peace, will be animated by the high sense of tolerance and forgiveness manifested by this young soldier in his Thanksgiving prayer.

At the peace table in 1919 it was the greedy, revengeful attitude of Clemenceau, dominating the terms of peace, which created a situation that made our present war inevitable.

France tore President Wilson's armistice terms to shreds. Look at France today. Our war of 1917-18 taught us (at least it should) that hatred has no place at the peace table.

At Christmastime let us echo this young man's prayer: "May God help us all!"

Welcome these Soldiers of Victory!

THE "shock troops" of your Government's 4th War Loan Drive—a drive that must raise $14 billion to put the punch behind the punch that may make 1944 the date of doom for the Nazis—will soon call on you to buy your personal quota of Bonds. For, of the $14 billion that must be raised in this Drive, $5.5 billion worth must come from individuals.

Welcome these American men and women—5 million of them—who are not only buying their share of Bonds but are giving their time to call on you, personally.

Every office, every plant, every home, every individual in America has a quota to meet. Your personal quota is at least one extra $100 Bond. That's above your regular Bond buying.

If possible, buy your extra Bonds during this drive at the plant or office where you work. A volunteer Bond worker will sell you there. Otherwise, welcome him to your home when he calls. Or find one in the thousands of retail stores all over the United States. They want to find you—you must help see that they do.

If you are unable to make your purchases from a soldier of victory be sure to go to one of these other special War Bond stations to buy your extra Bonds:

Do You Use Open Flame, Unvented Heaters?

VENTILATION

is half the battle against wall sweating

Heat whole house for healthful living conditions. If unvented type heaters are used it is important to have some ventilation, and a free movement of warm air should be kept circulating in the house through connecting doors of all rooms.

The Window, in homes where open flame, unvented room heaters are used, has a prominent part in maintaining healthful winter conditions. For it is the slight opening of the window which permits a flow of fresh, oxygen-laden air into the room. This is important if wall sweating is to be reduced.

All air contains a certain amount of moisture. Condensation or "sweating" that collects on cold surfaces inside the room is caused by too much moisture in the room. Water vapor is one of the products produced by burning fuel. This water vapor combines with the moisture that is already present in the air and when the room air reaches a super-saturated condition "sweating" or condensation collects on any cold surface, such as walls, windows, doors, and furniture.

The open flame, unvented heater is practical for quick heat and is used with great satisfaction when sufficient ventilation is provided by slightly opening a window.
