CISCO LIONS ALWAYS ON THEIR TOES 930 POLL TAX RECEIPTS ON JANUARY 12

In a wave of enthusiasm engendered by the Melvin Jones national contest for January, at which time Lions clubs vie with each other for new members and perfect attendance, Cisco Lions introduced two new members and a number of visitors which brought the total attendance to about fifty Wednesday, when Jack Anderson presented Mrs. Alma Elder, Miss Oleta Huestis and Miss Octavia Jones in a vocal trio, displaying a harmony that brought hearty encores.

Notwithstanding the large number of men of voting age in the army, navy and other branches of the armed forces, plus the absence from home of many engaged on war projects in the big centers, Eastland county poll tax payments were greater on January 12, 1944, than on the same date in 1942-3.

Bill Childers and A. R. Westfall were introduced as new members, while the following were hosts of various members of the club: Lion Lloyd Bruce of Ranney, Karl Armstrong, E. E. Bain, M. F. Underwood, R. R. Royal, A. L. Clark, C. B. Midkiff, Lion Les Speers, and Rotarians Cooper Waters, O. J. Russell and Edward Lee.

Figures furnished the Press today by Clyde Karkalits, county tax assessor-collector, are as follows: On January 12, 1942, 629 poll tax receipts had been issued; 1943, 780; 1944, 930.

The last day on which the poll tax may be paid and empower the holder to vote during 1944, is January 31. The fee is $1.75.

Under Texas law, all legal citizens over 21 years of age may vote without a poll tax receipt by obtaining an exemption certificate at the county seat.

WEATHER DID NOT HINDER WAR WORKERS

A spokesman for the Red Cross surgical dressings workers, who meet at their rooms in the Reynolds building each Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, asks the Daily Press to say that they deeply appreciate so many ladies coming out yesterday for work when the weather was so bad. Twenty-five women were on the job and they made a total of 1-557 2x2s.

An additional number of workers could be used to great advantage in rushing the unusually large quota to completion, but that fact in no way subtracts from the fine, patriotic service rendered by those who always find a way to be present and thus keep this important war effort rolling.

Present Wednesday were Mesdames O. G. Lawson, R. C. McCaster, A. D. Anderson, Roy Fonville, A. J. McArdle, Sam Kinmill, Bob Latimer, E. H. Hester, Alex Speers, D. H. Waters, George P. Fee, Ed Aycock, J. A. Jensen, Karl Armstrong, Jack Anderson, T. O. Thomas, Les Jenkins, Cecil Shaw, Harold McGowen, W. C. McDaniel, H. B. Dierdorf, W. W. Wallace, W. L. Lancaster, H. A. Bible, Paul M. Woods.

DALLAS POLICE OFFICER GOT LIGHT VERDICT

DALLAS, Jan. 13.—James Horace Summers, 30, temporary policeman, was given fifteen years in the penitentiary yesterday for assault to rape a 16-year-old Dallas girl.

The verdict was received by District Judge J. Frank Wilson after the jury had deliberated three hours. The defendant's wife, who was a star witness for her husband, and their two children, were absent from the courtroom when the verdict was announced.

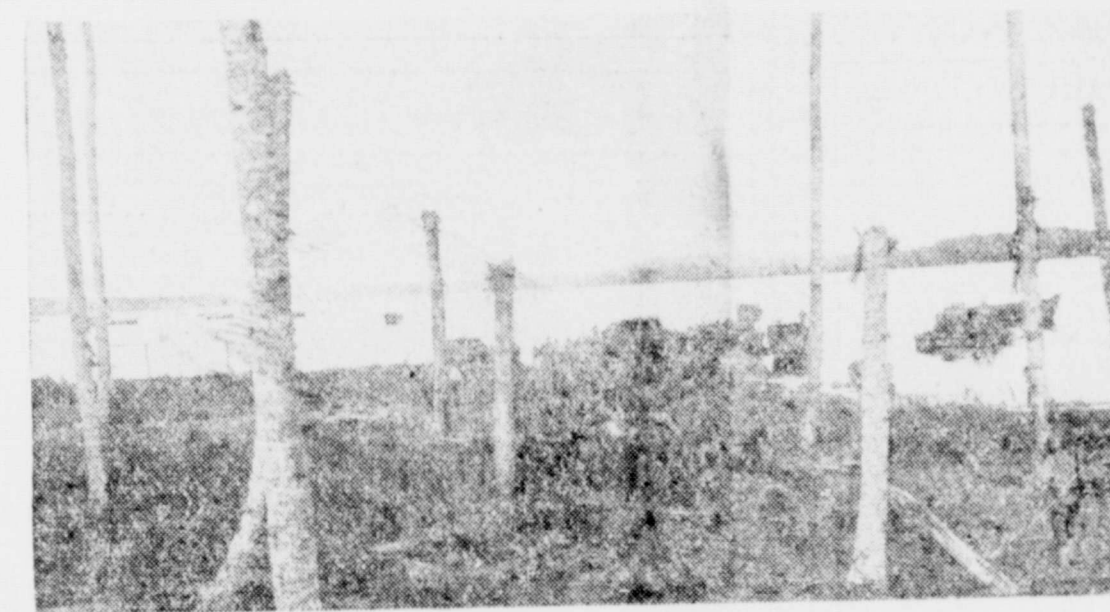

The former officer's defense was that he had lived a virtually blameless existence until the five months he was in the police department prior to the night of Oct. 15 when he hustled the young girl and her 15-year-old escort into his car, drove to a point near White Rock, forced the girl to disrobe, then attempted to assault her.

The girls youthful companion grabbed the policeman in the back with a pocketknife in a successful effort to thwart him.

In a speech to the jury Asst. Dist. Atty. Angelo Piranio paid tribute to the bravery of the youth in fighting to protect his child companion.

OFF TO THE RACES IN 1944—It's a long, long trail that winds to Florida's Tropical Park track, and it seems even longer to these racing fans, hoofing it to the racetrack from Coral Gables because of Uncle Sam's recent admonition to motorists who formerly used their cars for this trip.

WARTIME COCOANUT GROVE—Stumps of what were once luxurious coconut trees are all that remain of this grove as more Yanks land at Arawa on the island of New Britain. Branches were clipped by high explosives during barrage laid down by warships during invasion.

R. A. F. "FORTIS" AT AZORES BASE—Recent Portuguese grant of facilities for Allied air and naval fleets in the Azores bears fruit as Flying Fortresses of the R. A. F. Coastal Command nestle on a broad field ready to do their part in convoy protection and scouting.

PORKERS REPAIRED AT TARAWA—Two littlepiggies which were casualties during the American invasion at Tarawa get expert medical care from medical corpsmen after they'd been brought to the first aid station. They'll come in handy later if chow gets monotonous on the island.

U. S. ARMY CASUALTIES. WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Secretary of War Stimson revealed today that army casualties through Dec. 23 totaled 103,229 — 16,831 killed, 38,916 wounded, 27,067 missing and 25,413 prisoners of war. Casualties among American elements of the Fifth army since its invasion of Italy amounted to 18,119—2,798 killed, 11,762 wounded and 3,559 missing.

PRESIDENT WANTS 100 BILLIONS VIOLENT OFFENSIVE IN WHITE RUSSIA MAY DRIVE GERMANS INTO THE PRIPET MARSHES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—President Roosevelt laid before congress today his second $100,000,000,000 war-time budget embodying plans for at least 18 months more of global conflict but at the same time reflecting preparations to absorb the impact of sudden victory in Europe.

MOSCOW, Jan. 13.—Red Army forces cracked the outer defenses of Germany's White Russian stronghold of Mozyr in a new offensive today and joined another Soviet column to the southwest in relentlessly driving the enemy into a Pripet Marshes trap.

The German High Command reported that the Red Army had opened a violent offensive against the German bridgehead across the lower Dnieper from Nikopol, a drive apparently coordinated with the Soviet attacks along the Ukrainian front to the northwest. The Nazis said the Germans were engaged in heavy fighting with "advancing" Soviet forces west of Sarny and Novograd Volynski.

Gen. Konstantin K. Rokossovsky, liquidator of the Sixth German Army at Stalingrad and the Red Army's ablest fortifications-buster, ripped an 18-mile gap in the defenses north, northeast, east and southeast of Mozyr, last German bastion in southern White Russia, during the first 24 hours of fighting and engulfed more than 30 localities in a 10-mile advance.

While Rokossovsky pressed his crushing advance, Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin sent vanguards of his 1st Ukrainian Army 17 miles up the Rovno-Vilna railway from the captured junction of Sarny to seize Dumbroviska, only 40 miles southeast of Pinsk and 130 miles southwest of the White Russian forces.

The jaws of this new pincers slowly were squeezing the Germans into the soggy, almost roadless Pripet Marshes, where heavy equipment is useless and the Germans will be at the mercy of Cossacks and guerrillas.

All German communications with Mozyr, a city of 12,000 some 125 miles northwest of Kiev, have been cut except the railroad running west to Brest Litvosk.

Rokossovsky sent his tanks slashing through the German lines before Mozyr after heavy artillery preparation.

Vatutin also extended his front inside the old Polish border to 95 miles with the capture of the border town of Pischev, 17 miles west of Novograd Volynski.

ALGIERS, Jan. 13.—American Fifth Army infantrymen broke into the center of the German defenses before Cassino today as a mixed force of American and French troops turned the enemy's left flank in a sudden thrust through the mountains north and northeast of that stronghold.

A headquarters communique revealed that the Americans swept into the fortress town of Cervro at 1 p. m. Wednesday and moved on down the Rome road for a frontal assault on Cassino, four miles to the northeast.

Simultaneously a Franco-American force under Gen. Alphonse Juin advanced in the Acquafondata sector five miles north of Cervaro and drove 1000 yards through the enemy flank.

Beating down fierce enemy resistance in tough mountain country made almost impassable by melting snows, Juin's forces captured several important heights surrounding Acquafondata and overlooking the lateral highway from Colli to Antina, a main supply road for the Germans in Cassino.

Bad weather limited Allied aerial operations, but medium bombers struck at the German communications center of Arce, 14 miles north of Cassino while fighter-bombers hammered the enemy lines around Orsogna near the Adriatic coast.

Only moderate patrol activity was reported from the British Eighth Army sector, but British warships continued their nightly attacks on enemy positions along the Adriatic.

NEW GUINEA, Jan. 13.—U. S. Marines, supported by heavy bombers, beat off two Japanese attacks in the Cape Gloucester, New Britain, area Monday and Tuesday, killing 300 of the enemy, it was announced today, as Allied air and naval units sank or damaged 48 Japanese barges, many of them loaded with troops.

Headquarters spokesman said that 2400 Japanese bodies had been counted in the Cape Gloucester area since the Marines landed there Dec. 26. American dead and wounded totaled "around 400" a margin of six Japanese killed for every Marine wounded or killed, the spokesman said.

At Guadalcanal it was announced that Solomons based planes attacking the Japanese base at Rabaul, New Britain, had destroyed a total of 242 Japanese planes from Dec. 12, 1943 to Jan. 11.

Carrier based planes downed 16 others at Kavieng, New Ireland, during the period while Allied losses were 57 planes.

GEORGE HULL HAPPY AND IN GOOD HEALTH

Mr. Carrie Hall, route four, Cisco, was made very happy recently when she received a letter from her son, Corp. George B. Hull somewhere in England, which said he was well and happy.

Paragraphs from the delayed communication, which was written Christmas Day, are as follows: Dear Mother: Hope you are getting along as fine as I am. This is Christmas Day and every one is happy and having a good time. Have just finished dinner and it was a dandy one. We had turkey and dressing, cranberry sauce, English peas, potatoes, corn, green beans, coffee, candy, pumpkin pie, butter and ice cream.

Before noon the Red Cross girls came out to camp and gave us candy, gum and cigarets and each boy an additional present. I received a warm wool sweater.

This is my second Christmas away from home. I don't mind, but I always think of the next one I will spend at home. I am happy and in the best of health; have plenty to eat and a good, warm bed to sleep in.

So, don't worry about me. With lots of love, I am, your son, GEORGE.

INCREASE FOOD OUTPUT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—President Roosevelt today called for the greatest production of food on record to meet expanding war demands in a budget message which eliminated major crop benefit payments to farmers for the first time since the birth of the Agricultural Adjustment administration in 1933.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL.

DALLAS, Jan. 13.—High school football in Dallas last season drew 156,000 fans, P. C. Cobb, athletic director of city schools, announced today. These spectators paid a total of $71,000. Cobb's figures do not include state play-off games.

MAPS IN THE WAR.

What is more vital to modern war than guns or tanks? The modern general will answer, "Maps." Then he will explain that the region to be conquered must be known in great detail: roads, lanes, watercourses, hills, hummocks, thickets, houses, and naturally all possible bombing objectives, such as factories, government buildings, power plants and arsenals. All these should be set down on a military map for the guidance of the attack.

The importance of maps was known in the last war, but as with everything else, the scale of production was far less. In World War I American military units printed 3,500,000 maps. In this war in a single operation over 2,000,000 maps were sent to one headquarters for use by attacking forces. More than 50,000,000 military maps have rolled off the presses so far.

In other words 23 years ago this country thought it was in a war. Now we know that we are in one.

BRITISH RAILROADS.

America's railroads are not the only ones trying to carry loads too big for them. Great Britain's last fall, says British magazine, had already had their passenger service cut down by thirty per cent. In the remaining seventy per cent of passenger space twice the number of passengers were carried as roads were accustomed to carry before the war. Of the passengers on long distance trains two thirds were troops being moved from station to station. The net result of this is that the civilian traffic has been cut down by about one to four.

In these United States the civilian traffic seems to have mounted instead of being cut down. Perhaps the difference is that in the British Isles there are as many American troops without relatives to visit them. Here young mothers with infants in arms add much to railway loads. Also hundreds of civilians who ought not to be traveling at all.

RUSSIAN MELTING POT.

Americans have long thought of their country as the melting pot of the world, where people of all races come and merge into one great unit.

In this we are not alone. The Russian Academy of Sciences estimates that there are 169 different nationalities in that country, representing practically all the races in the world. One quarter belong to the yellow race, and only 58 per cent are Russians proper. All are fighting nobly in the common cause, and are represented in all ranks from private up to the high command. General Bagramian, commanding on the Vitebsk front, is an Armenian, and Stalin himself is a Georgian.

Even the United States melts no more nations than this.

BOMBING NEAR JAPAN.

The Kurile Islands are in the news again, and that is bad news for Japan. From a bomber's viewpoint they are Japan's weakness, and a tempting approach to the homeland of our enemies. The long chain of islands fills up nearly all of the 750 miles from Kamchatka in Russian Asia to Japan. On this account the Japanese got them by a trade from the Russians 70 years ago, not of course then dreaming of attack from the air, but feeling easier with such a string of next door islands under their own control.

New our flyers have for the fifth time bombed Paramushiro on the northern end. The redemption of the Aleutian Islands made this possible. Whether the damage was great or small, to have American bombers strike so close to home must make the Japanese feel much as New Yorkers might if enemies dropped bombs on the tip of Long Island.

There will be further news from the Kuriles as time goes on.

A FORWARD POST is manned by British gunners from a British Regiment on the Eighth Army front in Italy. This is typical of the country over which the American and British armies are fighting.

DISCIPLINE.

I always wondered why the mind must go Daily in search of wisdom when the earth Seems always self-contained, and filled with mirth That birds and streams and singing waters know.

I always wondered why the flower, the plant, Just reached toward the sun, when flesh and bone, By discipline must be as carved stone, And lips that long to sing, be hesitant.

LEVER BROS. WIN INFRINGEMENT SUIT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—In a significant decision just handed down in Richmond, Va., the United States circuit court of appeals held that two patent claims of Lever Brothers company involving important principles in soap manufacture were valid and that these claims had been infringed by Procter & Gamble. In the opinion, copies of which became available today, Judge Armstrong M. Donie reversed the judgment of the United States district court for Maryland.

This litigation has attracted widespread attention in the soap industry because of the large interests involved. It grew out of Procter & Gamble's change in 1940 from the process long used in making "old" Ivory, to a different process by which its "New" Ivory has since been made. The difference in the process produced a floating soap having properties superior to those of the old floating soaps.

The court stated in summary that "we decide that Claim 5 and Claim 7 (the process claims), of the patent suit, as we have interpreted them, are valid, since they constitute a disclosure that satisfies the requirements of 35 U. S. C. A. sections 31, 33, and since they are not anticipated in the prior art. We held further, that these claims, so interpreted, were infringed by the defendants, Procter & Gamble."

"Accordingly, the judgment of the district court is reversed."

EFFORT MADE TO KILL CHIROPRACTIC LAW

AUSTIN, Jan. 12.—Texas' new chiropractic law was attacked in a case before the court of criminal appeals yesterday.

The law is broad enough in its import "to require a mother who massages the back of her injured child to require a license," argued Lawyer Otis Rogers of Fort Worth, in a 28-page brief filed on behalf of W. B. Halsted of Johnson county.

Halsted was charged in justice and county courts of Johnson county with violating the new law, and he sued out a writ of habeas corpus in district court on the grounds the act was unconsti-titutional. Upon hearing, the court remanded Halsted to custody of the sheriff, from which order Halsted appealed to the higher court.

Rogers' brief says the chiropractic law contains conflicting provisions which make it so indefinite as to be inoperative, and said further that nowhere in the legislation was there a definition of the practice of chiropractic or who shall be deemed to be chiropractors.

Tobacco was America's first major export. Even before the Revolution we were shipping over 99,000,000 pounds to Europe each year. American ships, running the blockade in the War of Independence, carried tobacco to France in exchange for much needed guns and other munitions of war.

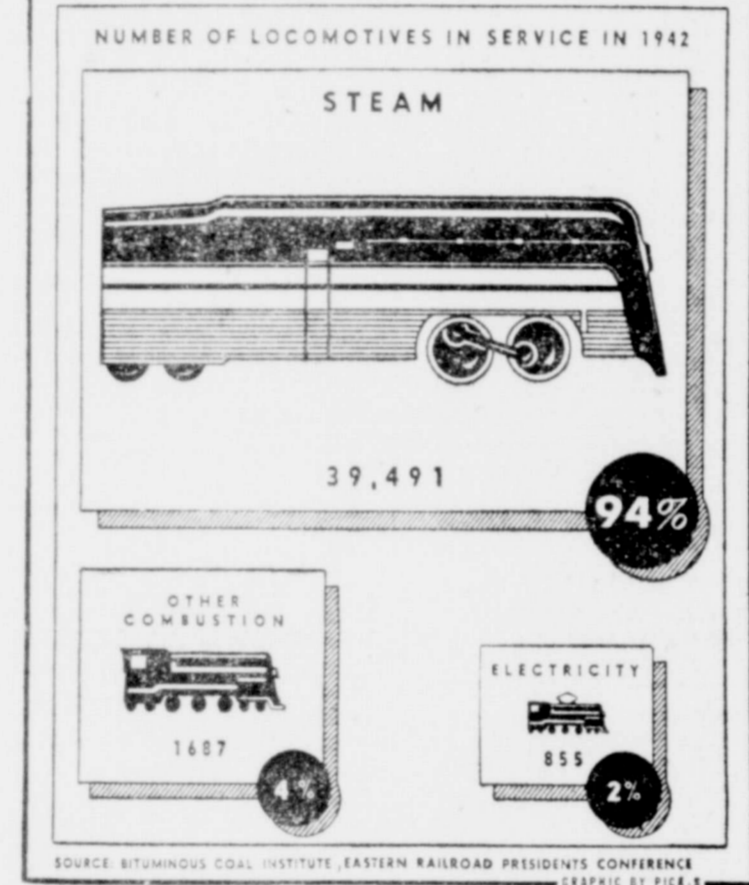

The ten top tobacco producing states are: North Carolina, Kentucky, Ohio, Missouri, Virginia, Tennessee, Illinois, Michigan, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Ten other states, shown on shaded area on the map, also produce or process tobacco.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Alex Spears, president of the First National Bank, who has been suffering from flu for a week, but still attempting to carry on at the bank, is now confined to his home and under the care of a physician.

G. P. Micham, Charles J. Kiener, George P. Fee and J. L. Thornton attended the Hereford cattle auction at Flat Top Ranch, near Walnut Springs, Wednesday. Forty-five cattle sold for an average of $1,332.

Word was received from Atlanta Wednesday night by Mrs. Clarence Tink that her nephew, Ensign Guy Kenner of the naval air corps, is missing in action. Ensign Kemper is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Kemper, former Cisco citizens. Mrs. Oliver Kemper will be remembered as the former Miss Maud Judia.

Capt. Hanley A. Held, accompanied by his friend, Lt. Comdr. Fred Balyeat of San Diego, Calif., where they are attached to the medical corps of the naval reserve, spent Wednesday in the home of Commander Held's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Tableman, while enroute to Fort Worth.

Mrs. Cynthia May Watts of Lubbock, worthy grand matron of the Eastern Star of Texas, and Mrs. Mildred Garritz of Ft. Worth, grand deputy visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fewell Wednesday.

Lake Cisco Home Demonstration club will meet in the home of Mrs. W. W. Fewell Monday for an all-day meeting, with covered

"The Hour is Near"

THIS POSTER, a copy of which has been smuggled out of Belgium and sent to the U. S., is pasted on walls throughout occupied Belgium by patriots. Translated from the French it reads: "The Hour is Near" meaning, of course, that the invasion of western Europe by the United Nations is imminent, and that Nazi war criminals had better remember that the day of retribution is near.

CHILDREN'S COLDS

FOR DIRECT RELIEF from mucous, swollen, weeping, pinching, irritating, clogged upper air passages—rub throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub. Its potent steam-vapor action brings relief without dosing.

ALSO FOR HEAD COLDS: rub a spoonful of VapoRub in hot water. Then have the child breathe in the steaming vapors.

dish luncheon at noon. All members are requested to be present.

Mrs. James Haynie accompanied her mother Mrs. J. F. Benedict to Mineral Wells Monday where Mrs. Benedict will remain for the week.

L. Y. Suddall has returned to Houston after a visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Joubert.

Mrs. James Haynie has received word that her daughter, Mrs. Art Gutierrez of Madison, Wis., is improving after an attack of flu.

Mrs. J. T. Waddell and Mrs. H. J. McAvile visited in Breckenridge the first of the week.

Miss Betty Lou Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Miller, is a hospital influenza patient at Austin. Miss Miller is a student at Texas University.

First Lt. Howard Tableman of Camp Cooke, Calif., arrived this week for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Tableman.

Mrs. Bernie Allen is expected to arrive from Odessa Friday for a visit with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. James Waddell.

Mrs. Jessie Johnson is able to be at her place with the J. C.

Penney company after having been ill with flu for several days.

Irvin Allen Brunkenhoefer, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Brunkenhoefer, is among those with influenza.

Mrs. Just suppose we wives should go on a strike. Mr.: Go right ahead. I've got a peach of a strikebreaker in mind.

Between you and me, what do you think of Mary? Between you and me, nothing, but alone—oh, boy!

Wonder why officials spend weeks debating a wage demand when everybody knows it will be granted in the end.

1944 Must Be Met

The New Year with all its obligations and responsibilities must be met and we should get our business in condition to function to the best possible advantage. With a war to win and millions of soldiers to equip and keep in the battle fields during the year, there will be great demands on our resources.

We should organize our buying and selling so there will be the minimum of confusion. We as customers should make it easier on our merchants, while merchants should make it as easy as possible on their customers.

A TIME FOR TAKING STOCK FOR NEW YEAR ACTIVITIES

Preparatory to beginning the farm activities, the farmer sees to it that his machinery and equipment is in good repair --- ready for the year's work. He goes over his tractor and other farm tools, mending them where needed so that when the real work of ploughing or other uses come, there will be no necessity for stopping.

As businessmen, we have work to do. We must see to it that everything is in readiness for the year's business. Stocks and inventories must be taken and diminished supplies renewed if possible. Orders must be written and all obligations wiped out, if possible, so that the businessman may not be handicapped by lack of credit.

In addition to our regular business we also have a war to win. Extra efforts must be made to provide for the bonds and taxes that must be paid in order that our government may be able to carry on. We must be ready for the duties and obligations that will develop. Are we ready?
