POPULAR BOYCE HOUSE WILL VISIT CISCO

Boyce House of Ft. Worth, once mentioned with the Cisco Daily Press and well known throughout Texas as a columnist, will speak at Cisco Lions at noon next Wednesday. House will be especially remembered by Cisco football fans for the thorough manner in which he handled the local football games when W. B. Chapman was coaching the Fighting Lions. At that time Mr. House was a staff writer for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. He is an interesting speaker.

The visitor's subject here will be "Give You Texas." He was

WILLIAMS DIED FROM GAS BURNS

R. L. Williams, 36, is dead and Mrs. Charles Grainger, 25, is in a very serious condition at Graham Sanitarium following burns received at 10 o'clock Friday morning at the Grainger Tank company oil lease four and a half miles northwest of Rising Star.

The explosion occurred when Williams lit a welding torch near escaping gas.

The unfortunate man, who lived at Breckenridge and leaves a wife and three children, was literally burned all over. He died at Graham Sanitarium at 3:10 Friday afternoon. The body was taken to Breckenridge for burial.

Mrs. Grainger, a widow and owner of the business, was not as badly burned as her employe, but her condition is said to be very serious.

Her burns, sustained largely in her frantic efforts to extinguish the burning clothing of Williams, are confined mainly to the lower limbs.

NANCE BOWLED 192 AV.; DR. PAUL, SECOND

Four teams of the Cisco Bowling league had a hot session Friday night when Cisco Gas Corporation defeated Palace Theater three straights and Thomas Funeral Home and Collins Hardware tied in the first encounter and each won a game of the two others. By agreement, the team winning the second game was awarded the tie game, which gave the Thomas keepers two out of three.

Pete Nance of Cisco Gas Corporation got his shander up and averaged 192 for the three games, which made him tops for the week. Dr. C. E. Paul of Collins Hardware crowded the champ with a three-game average of 189. E. T. Thomas lacked one pin of equalling the Paul score.

RED ARMY GOAL

LONDON, Jan. 22.—A Russian general predicted today the Red Army will occupy Berlin. The Moscow radio reported the prediction in an account of a meeting of Soviet war leaders headed by Marshal Stalin, called to commemorate the anniversary of Lenin's death.

STILL MUDDY IN ITALY—Yes sunshine is still a rarity on the Fifth Army's fighting front, as Pvt. Conner Madden of Evans, Ky., can prove to you. Sticking a restless hand out of his bunk, a few inches above the rain-soaked terrain, he wakes up with a fist full of slimes mud. He describes it as "sticky, like taffy."

J. W. ALLEN ILL.

J. W. Allen is critically ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. C. Hamilton, in Baird, where he has been for the past four years. Another daughter, Mrs. Carl Baird of Amarillo, formerly of Cisco, is also with her father.

CISCO HIGH SCHOOL IS COMMENDED

Notice from the state department of education to Supt. R. N. Cluck of the Cisco schools that Cisco high school has retained its All-Southern Affiliation of schools with colleges and universities of the United States without adverse criticism, is a high honor to the work of principals and faculties of Cisco's school system.

This rating is emphasized the more when one considers that many of the high schools in this section have been removed from the list by student failures within the last year or two.

Affiliation is based on the work done by Cisco students at universities following their graduation from the local high school.

Principals and faculties of grade schools come in for their share of honor, too, since high school work reflects the quality of training received in the lower grades.

Mr. Cluck states, The efficient faculties of all Cisco schools, together with the adequate library facilities, are due proper credit for this distinct honor coming to Cisco. The letter follows:
Mr. R. N. Cluck,

Dear Superintendent: The state executive committee of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools met in San Antonio, November 26. All applications for membership in the association by Texas schools were reviewed at that time. Too many schools in the state do not have a trained librarian, or do not give proper training in the use of the library. The committee recommends that superintendents encourage under-trained librarians to take further training during the summer term. Large schools might employ a well trained assistant librarian.

In the annual session of the central reviewing committee of colleges and secondary schools held in Chattanooga, Tenn., December 8-9, your high school was accepted for membership in that body for the current year. The action of the central reviewing committee of the association in extending the membership of your high school in that body for another year is significant in that your school passed the review of the committee without adverse criticism. Your excellent showing is outstanding and emphasizes the constructive educational program and the leadership in charge of your public schools.

Sincerely yours,
JOSEPH H. GRIGGS,
Chm. State Executive Committee.

POLITICAL DOPE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Odds favor house approval of "states-rights" servicemen's-vote bill over rival administration-backed measure for federal ballot. Polls by leaders of both parties indicate slight Democratic majority for federal ballot, large Republican majority against it. Senate has already licked federal ballot by slim margin, and majority will be increased on second vote if house has knocked it down.

Gov. Ellis G. Arnall of Georgia leads movement to force concessions from FDR for southern viewpoint on national policy, in exchange for fourth-term support. In a few days he'll handpick the Georgia delegation—which will be unopposed and subject to his orders at Chicago.

Negro leaders think they have a natural in this year's political situation. They want congressional support for establishment of a permanent commission with legal authority to prevent employment discriminations because of race, color, religion, or national origin.

NETTUNO HARBOR, 32 MILES FROM CAPITAL, OCCUPIED IN DARING, SURPRISE LANDING

ALGIERS, Jan. 22.—Powerful American, British and French invasion forces seized a deep, miles-long beachhead below Rome in a daring landing on the Italian west coast today while Fifth Army troops to the south broke through German defenses at three key points.

The official German news agency DNB acknowledged that Anglo-American forces had occupied the harbor at Nettuno, 32 miles south and slightly east of Rome and 55 miles northwest of the main front. Landing under cover of darkness, the Allied troops "succeeded in building beachheads between Nettuno and the Tiber estuary south of Rome," DNB said.

The DNB reference to the beachheads "between Nettuno and the Tiber estuary" implied that the Allied forces were even closer to Rome than the occupation of Nettuno harbor would indicate. The Tiber empties into the Tyrrhenian Sea 16 miles southwest of Rome at a point 30 miles northwest of Nettuno, which is one of the seaports of the Italian capital. The port of Anzia, only a few miles west of Nettuno, also may have fallen, it was believed.

Under the cover of darkness last night huge invasion ships packed with troops, guns and probably tanks slipped along the Italian coast and took up positions offshore while Allied troops and night bombers sent tons of explosives into the coastal sector marked for the landings.

The first assault landing craft, carrying American Rangers and British Commandos, moved toward the shore just before dawn while shells from the covering warships still were arching overhead.

NEW GUINEA, Jan. 22.—Allied naval and air blasting of Japanese attempts to reinforce their New Guinea garrisons were reported today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, with the operations hinting a determined two-day drive on the strong enemy coastal base of Madang, on the northern coast.

Allied medium bombers and fighters dropped 74 tons of bombs on Japanese positions in the upper Ramu Valley, American P-T boats, speeding through the Japanese-controlled waters off Madang, sank four enemy troop-laden barges and other medium bombers and fighters sank 20 barges and damaged others at Hansa Bay 100 miles north of Madang.

The concentrated air attacks in the Ramu Valley, a headquarters spokesman said, indicated a possible Australian offensive with limited objectives as the veteran jungle fighters continued to improve their positions only 30 miles south of Madang.

The attacks by the P-T boats Thursday night carried them farther north than at any time previously and followed Allied successes in extending their control of the coast to a point 45 miles below Madang.

MOSCOW, Jan. 22.—Red Armies cleared the Germans from a second direct railway between Leningrad and Moscow today and pressed on in pursuit of enemy units fleeing in disorder from their northwestern front defenses.

The Soviet High Command said the remnants of German divisions which besieged Leningrad for more than two years were abandoning one stronghold after another and casting aside their arms in a panicky attempt to escape a Soviet trap that threatened to annihilate 300,000 of them.

Enemy forces immediately south of Leningrad were squeezed into a 35-mile-wide corridor that was disintegrating rapidly under Soviet pressure from three sides. Considerable numbers of prisoners were being rounded up, the Soviet High Command said.

WRIGHT MODERNIZING FEE BUILDING

F. D. Wright, always a progressive in matters pertaining to the betterment of Cisco, is completely modernizing the historic building at 514 D avenue recently purchased from Samuel Greer. The old floor has been taken up and a 2-foot dirt fill made preparatory to laying concrete. An attractive new front will also be added, together with other improvements deemed necessary.

The building is about 30x90 feet and the walls are of stone.

Charles H. Fee, about 1892, or before the great cyclone, Mr. Fee handled hardware, farming implements and also carried a large line of buggies. Mr. Fee is said to have brought the first rubber-tired buggies to the Cisco country. Later the late Henry Rominger was in partnership with Mr. Fee and at one time the partnership consisted of Fee, Rominger and Arthur Grist. When Mr. Fee retired from the business many years ago, he sold to E. C. McDonald, who carried on for a time and then sold to Mr. Rominger. At Mr. Rominger's death in the middle twenties, Mr. Grist took over and operated the business until he retired a few years ago.

PAY DAY AT LAST.

Electric utility managers have warned for years that the expanding drive for government ownership of electric light and power industry is but an entering wedge for socialism. In the light of events, their warnings should begin to sink home.

One of the characteristic evils of government ownership is the immunity from taxation. When the government builds a power dam and enters into competition with private electric companies, the private companies are faced with a nearly hopeless situation. Government measures in the public payroll unobtrusively take advantage of tax exemption privileges under government ownership to squeeze the heavily taxed private companies out of existence. The fact that private electric companies contribute substantially to the maintenance of government, has long gone unheeded just as has the warning that the base of socialism is inherent in the controversy over private versus public ownership of electric utilities.

At last these fundamental questions are coming to the surface with a rush. A large part of the productive capacity of the country is now owned outright by the federal government. State and local governments are complaining of lost taxes as a result of the substitution of tax-exempt government enterprises for tax-paying private enterprises. The danger is growing that states will have to depend on handouts from the central government for their existence, which will automatically destroy state's rights, state sovereignty, and eventually representative government as we have known it in this country.

In Multnomah county, Oregon, the maritime commission pays no local taxes on a $4,000,000 investment in shipbuilding improvements and facilities. If the commission's plants were privately owned, the personal-property tax would be at least $1,000,000. In San Francisco, it is estimated that the city's annual tax loss, through federal appropriation of form- only taxable real estate, and inability of the city to collect a personal-property tax on materials and equipment in de- vense plants, is at least $1,525,000. Los Angeles officials put taken off the books at $700,000. Up in King county, Washington, 42 per cent of the county's property is tax exempt, due in great part to government ownership of war plants. Similar situations in varying degrees exist through- out the country.

The private electric industry, as the first victim in the move toward federal socialization, saw the handwriting on the wall. Utility spokesmen are still saying what they have always said—the issue is bigger than any single industry. The issue is whether the people want to change their form of government. At present, knowledge or unknowingly, they are well on the way toward state socialism.

An adventure so vast it took the Northwest Mounted Police to the top of the world.

There is no substitute for safety... It is not always wise to take the short cut. At first thought it may appear convenient and cheaper to do so, but that depends on the risk involved. For example, it is both dangerous and costly to take the short cut and purchase lands and town properties without knowing titles proved to be good by the abstract.

Postwar "Dream" House

This trim bungalow will be the mobile Palace of the future. Built completely in the factory, it's ready for occupancy an hour after arrival at the site.

Mobile Bungalow Built in Factory, Set Up in an Hour

FLINT, MICH.—That postwar "dream" house has been built!

Produced by the Palace Corporation, the nation's largest builder of low-cost war housing, it is a five-room-and-bath bungalow, built completely in the factory and delivered to your lot by truck. An hour later you can have guests. If you move, the house goes along just as quickly. No fabrication at all is required.

Using an exclusive method of expanding a portable unit into a full-sized house by opening springs, Palace has answered all the problems of home ownership—risk of changing jobs, cost, planning, maintenance. Complete with the latest labor-saving features built in, including a complete bathroom, kitchen and basic furnishings, it will sell for $3,900, with more than ten years to pay.

The returning serviceman is Palace's special interest in produring this house. He'll have a place to live till he knows where he'll settle down. Then he can take his home along without any financial loss.

The house will fit any standard lot. Palace is also planning model communities of prepared sites in all cities, so the house owner can reserve a place and find his home ready when he drives up in his car.

BUY 4th WAR LOAN BONDS AND KEEP OUR SOLDIERS ADVANCING

The Allies seem to be advancing on every front --- faster in some sectors where the enemy has not found it practical to entrench himself. The Russians seem to be marching toward Germany at rapid strides and already the Germans are wondering if they had not rather be in the hands of the English and Americans than to be overcome by the mad Russians who give no quarter, capture few prisoners and serve out no free food to those whom they conquer.

But everywhere that our armies are gaining ground, it is a direct result of our money that has furnished guns, warplanes and other supplies. American money is winning the war.

Then we can see how necessary it is that Uncle Sam's treasury does not run dry. The 4TH WAR LOAN is coming up now, and it is up to the American people --- who may be making more money than they ever made before, to keep that treasury filled. BUY MORE BONDS. They are the best investment for your money.
