CISCOAN LAID TO REST IN FORT WORTH

Funeral and burial of Max E. Goldberg, who died at his home in Cisco Friday, was held in Fort Worth Sunday afternoon and was attended by a large number of friends and relatives from Cisco and various Texas points. The funeral was conducted at Robinson-Muller chapel, which was filled to capacity.

The sermon by Rabbi Philip Grauhart of Fort Worth was very impressive, the speaker dwelling on the good citizenship record of the departed and also speaking of the fine loyalty of his seven daughters who, though living at widely separated points, were all with him when death came and were all present for the last sad rites. The body was laid to rest in Hebrew Rest cemetery, Fort Worth.

Mrs. Goldberg, wife and companion for more than 42 years, remained in Fort Worth with her daughter, Mrs. Nymen Shambum, but will probably return to Cisco within the week.

END OF THE ROAD—In hurry to evacuate San Vittore, the Nazis left their dead behind. The grotesque position of this German corpse found in a cart startles these American soldiers who were among the first to enter the battered Italian town.

WORK ROOMS CLOSED.

The regular dressings rooms of Cisco Red Cross will not be open this week. Workers will be notified through the Daily Press when new material is received.

Through publication in the Chicago Sun of the Acme photo she holds, above, Marilyn Midda, 17, missing from her Cleveland, Ohio, home since Nov. 4, was found in Chicago. She had been working as the 540-a-week head of a Chicago transportation company's payroll department.

BEEF, PORK FAMINE SAID NEAR AT HAND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—An official of the National Livestock Producers Association predicts a civilian "famine" in pork and beef within 60 to 90 days.

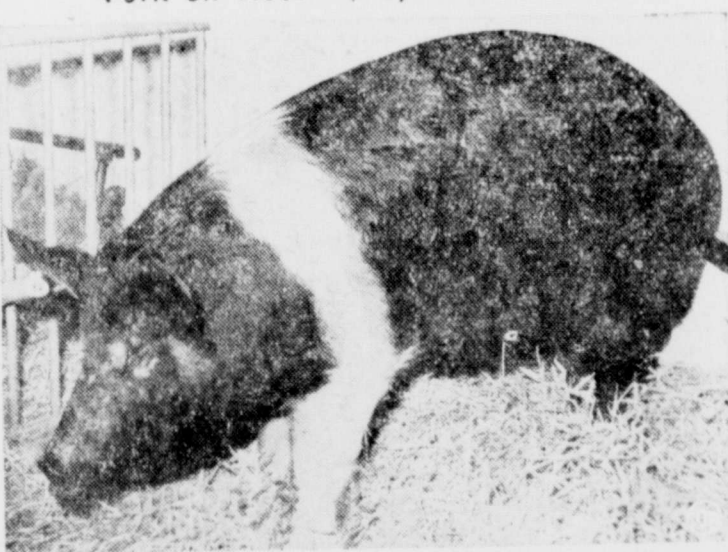

The shortage is developing, says P. O. Wilson, executive secretary of the association, because "ill advised" government policies are forcing farmers out of livestock production.

"Within a short period . . . this country will be practically on a famine basis with respect of supply of beef . . . the pork supply will have shifted from a feast to a famine . . ."

GEORGE BUCKNER DEAD.

Private George L. Buckner, brother of J. W. Buckner of Cisco, died yesterday at Waco. The body will arrive in Cisco tomorrow and funeral and burial will be held at Sabanno tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, according to Thomas funeral home, which will have charge of the remains. Cause of death was not made known to the funeral home and J. W. Buckner, the brother, left for Waco immediately when notified of his brother's death.

Pork on Hoof—$70,055 Per Pound

Pictured above is undoubtedly the highest priced pork in the world. She's Iowa Queen, 300-pound gilt who, at war bond auction at Freuhaf Farms, near Cedar Rapids, Ia., brought total of $21,016,500, or $70,055 per pound. Donated to war loan cause by Freuhaf Brothers, world's largest auto truck trailer manufacturers, Iowa Queen was bought, turned back and resold nine times in 15 minutes of frenzied finance. Largest sale was for $15,000,000 to Des Moines Bankers Life Co. Final sale was to the Killian store, which, for $11,500 in bonds got the porker.

FRAZAR POULTRY FARM.

T. J. Strickland, owner of the Frazar poultry farm on Beach and Sixteenth streets, has 900 white leghorn layers and 80 triple-A young roosters. The entire flock was blood-tested in December. The Frazar farm is also equipped with a 10,380-capacity incubator. Mr. and Mrs. Strickland moved here from near Moran about five years ago. Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Robinson are employees of Mr. and Mrs. Strickland.

IVIE PROMOTED.

Word from Dodge City, Kansas, army air field is that Wilbourne D. Ivie, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ivie of Cisco, was recently promoted to corporal. He is a member of the headquarters squadron of the 95th training group. Selected flyers who have graduated from advanced flying schools are training at Dodge City to become first pilots and commanders of the Marauders.

BROGDON SICK BUT CAN SEE HIS FRIENDS

Friends of W. L. Brogdon, staunch citizen and farmer, who has lived in the Romney area about 47 years, will regret to learn that he is sick and confined to a hospital at Gorman. However, he is not so ill but that he can see those of his many friends who may find it convenient to visit him there. That was the gist of a message he sent the Daily Press today.

Mr. Brogdon is 81 years of age and a native of Alabama. He had gone to Gorman to visit his daughters, Mrs. George Blackwell and Mrs. Edward Blackwell, when he became sick. Other children are O. D. Brogdon, Gorman; Mrs. F. J. Harnelson and Guy Brogdon, Cisco.

COOKSEY WILL FISH.

S. A. Cooksey, Cisco home owner and good citizen here since 1912, will depart soon for Baird, where he will spend some time fishing and recreating. Mr. Cooksey has a cabin near Lake Baird and will enjoy the comforts of home life while resting up. He was formerly an employee of the Texas & Pacific railroad and lived at Sunset, Tex., but was let out in 1928 because of advanced age. The Daily Press will visit him regularly while he is away.

REDS SPLIT GERMANS AT NIKOPOL

MOSCOW, Feb. 8.—Red armies of the Ukraine stormed into the manganese center of Nikopol today and, whittling away another 50 square miles, almost split in two the remnants of 100,000 German troops encircled below Chernkasi.

On the north-east front, Gen. Lenoid Govorov's forces are fighting their way through the outskirts of the Estonian fortress of Narva, main defense outpost for the capital, Tallinn.

(A Berlin broadcast acknowledged that the Soviets had forced the Narva river and penetrated into the southern part of Narva itself, but claimed the Russians subsequently were driven back and "annihilated." The broadcast said 40 Russian divisions—about 600,000 men—were in action on the Narva front.)

The Russians broke into Nikopol, a city of 57,000 on the lower reaches of the Dnieper river, with a series of flanking maneuvers that engulfed Dovoglevka, two miles to the east. Novopavlova, three miles northeast, and a number of other villages on the outskirts.

Five German divisions totaling 50,000 to 75,000 men, their escape to the west already cut off and all but encircled, fought desperately to hold Nikopol and its rich manganese mines, which in peacetime produced 1,000,000 tons annually.

EUROPEAN RELIEF TO CUT FOOD IN U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Civilians were warned today that they cannot expect a greater food supply this year and may even get "somewhat smaller" allotments.

A department of agriculture report predicted that food production will surpass the 1943 record yield, but said that any increase will go for greater military and lend-lease needs and possibly shipments for European relief.

Meat production will probably go up 8 per cent, but civilians will get no more than in 1943 unless a contingency reserve set up by the war food administration is not used for war purposes.

DISCOVERED GOLD—In a "pig in a poke" clearance auction, Charles Prince of Pomona, Cal., bought a box for $5.00. When he opened the lid, he found to his amusement, 241 ounces of pure gold worth about $5000.

LOSSES ON BOTH SIDES PROBABLY HEAVY, BUT HOPE STRONG FOR ULTIMATE ALLIED VICTORY

ALGIERS, Feb. 8.—The battle for Cassino raged into its eighth day with unabated fury today while American and British 5th Army troops fought grimly with their backs to the sea to hold their 100-square-mile beachhead below Rome.

A terse message revealed that American tanks and infantry maintained their incessant attacks on the almost-encircled German garrison inside Cassino and the Nazi positions in the hills north of that fortress town yesterday, and the bitter struggle continued on through the night.

On the Anzio beachhead front, 50 miles to the north, however, embattled Allied troops dug in under a rain of enemy shellfire along a 14-mile battle line extending some eight miles inland from the sea.

Allied troops "consolidated their positions" in the beachhead, the communique said.

(A highly-placed British military source in Washington conceded that the battle of the beachhead was not going according to plan and said that bad weather had prevented the Allies from maintaining a tight aerial patrol over their supply lines there. He emphasized, however, that it would be "unduly pessimistic" to conclude that the Allied armies would be driven from the beaches.)

The report gave no details of yesterday's fighting in the Cassino and Anzio sectors and indicated that there had been no changes in the main battle lines during the past 24 hours. On the British 8th Army's Adriatic front, active patrol operations continued.

Front dispatches said the Germans still held the major part of Cassino while American forces fought their way up the slopes of Abbey Hill just behind the town to within a few hundred yards of the historic 1400-year-old Benedictine Monastery on its crest.

United Press Correspondent Reynolds Packard, in a dispatch from the Anzio beachhead, reported that a German plane dive-bombed an Allied evacuation hospital Monday afternoon, killing 26 persons and wounding 43 with anti-personnel fragmentation bombs.

The dead included two women nurses, four doctors, four wounded doughboys who just had been carried in from the front, and 16 enlisted men attached to the hospital unit.

The 43 wounded included a dozen women nurses, one of whom may be dying. Two others were in grave condition.

The German dive bomber, which eye-witnesses said came as low as 500 feet, dropped eight small personnel bombs, which sent shrapnel whistling through the hospital tents, including two receiving tents, one evacuation tent, two ward tents, one X-ray tent and one operating tent in which several operations were under way at the time.

The shrapnel also perforated a number of tents where women nurses who had been on night duty were sleeping.

PEARL HARBOR — Front reports said today that American planes will begin raining new offensive blows on enemy installations along the main highway to Tokyo from Roi airfield on newly-captured Kwajalein atoll in the Marshalls within the next few days.

The week-old Kwajalein campaign appeared over, except for the mopping up of possibly a few score Japanese scattered over dozens of islets in the 66-mile-long atoll, with American casualties numbering only 1516 against 8386 Japanese killed or captured.

(A Tokyo domestic broadcast recorded by U. S. government monitors said "bitter fighting" was continuing in the Marshalls.)

Only 286 Americans were killed in the campaign compared with 8122 Japanese—a proportion of less than 1 to 28. The bag of 264 Japanese prisoners was the largest taken in any Pacific operation to date.

STATE CONTROL PROPER.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Senators Connally and O'Daniel of Texas Monday voted for a motion by Senator Overton of Louisiana to lay aside the Green-Lucas federal soldiers' ballot bill and consider instead a house measure which would leave the service vote problem up to the states.

PAMPERING CHARGED.

EL PASO, Feb. 8.—The Fort Bliss public relations office said today that the 200 Japanese internees quartered at the Fort for six months in 1942 "were so well treated that army officials received numerous complaints that internees were 'pampered'."

U. OF T. BONDS.

AUSTIN, Feb. 8.—The University of Texas permanent fund totaling $35,266,637 last Aug. 31 held US government bonds of $28,244,400, the regents' finance committee and Comptroller C. D. Simmons reported. More US bonds have been purchased since the last fiscal year ended.

BRIDGING THE SEAS.

Europe, so far, has almost monopolized American interest in the war scene. Only now has adequate attention turned to the Pacific sector. What is going on there is so tremendous that it is hard to realize the scope and power involved.

A recent report from the Marshall Islands, just above the equator and a little more than midway across the Pacific, tells of "transports filled with veteran army troops, moving in the center of the largest naval armada ever assembled—a mighty force attacking the Japanese stronghold on Kwajalein atoll." Never heard of before, presumably of little importance except for its position, yet drawing to itself, as one part of the great Pacific war, the biggest sea force of all time. The correspondent describes it as "spreading over hundreds of square miles of sea." There may be thousands of ships in it.

Yet that is only one of the navies at Unete Sam now has in action, and thousands more are coming down the ways of hundreds of American shipyards. We seem to be bridging the oceans with ships—and men to man them. It helps a landlubber to understand this war, and helps a patriot to understand his country.

POWER, HUMAN AND DIVINE.

It is promised in the Scriptures that righteous men "shall mount up as eagles" and "shall go from strength." It requires no great imagination to apply these virile promises to the present war. They are literally fulfilled in the defensive air forces created by the United Nations, starting from nothing except hope and faith. The strength developed to destroy the destroyers is now so tremendous that it would have been inconceivable to any former generation, and every day adds more power.

All this is a matter not for human pride, but for grateful recognition of the divine power that enabled our civilized world and nation to save themselves at the brink of disaster. Kipling's "Recessional" must not be forgotten.

"If, drunk with sight of power, we loose
Wild tongues that have not Thee in awe—
Such boastings as the gentiles use,
And heathen hordes without the law—
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget."

FEDERALIZING RUSSIA.

Russia always seems an incredible country to most Americans, and the last development there is perhaps the most incredible of all. In the midst of the greatest war of human history, Russia pauses on her home front to make governmental changes and give her people more freedom.

Ordinary nations at war, with the military struggle engrossing their attention and taking all their strength, are content to wait for internal changes until the conflict is over. Yet Russia, while fighting powerful Germany with one hand, so to speak, with the other starts remodeling her political structure. And instead of tightening on governmental control, she gives her people more freedom. Apparently, too, this liberalization is not forced by public clamor, but established as a matter of wise public policy.

There will not be simply a vast empire ruled arbitrarily by one man, who has seemed to supplant the former czars. The all-powerful Stalin apparently relinquished some of his power. The 16 separate republics within the Soviet Union, will each have a liberal degree of self-government.

The precise role to be played by Stalin, or by any chief of state succeeding him, is not clear. But it does seem as if Russia is preparing to make her federal Constitution, adopted nominally a few years ago, a living reality. It may be that we shall yet see a United States of Russia operating somewhat on the model of our own federal system. Who would have thought it?

German photo, above, obtained through neutral source, shows civilian defense workers in Berlin carrying "poney" of paper mache to replace windows blown out by Allied air raids. Winter winds whistling through apartments are bad for homefront morale.

I WILL.

I will start anew this morning with a higher, fairer creed.
I will cease to stand complaining of my ruthless neighbor's greed.
I will cease to sit remaining while my duty's call is clear.
I will waste no moment whining and my heart shall know no fear.
I will look sometimes about me for the things that merit praise.
I will search for hidden beauties that elude the grumbler's gaze.
I will try to find contentment in the paths that I must tread.
I will cease to feel resentment when another moves ahead.
I will not be swayed by envy when my rival's strength is shown.
I will not deny his merit, but I'll try to prove my own.
I will try to see the beauty spread before me, rain or shine.
I will cease to preach YOUR duty and be more concerned with MINE.

C. F. DENDY HONOURED SATURDAY NIGHT. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Dendy were surprised honorees at a supper Saturday evening which was arranged in their home by a group of friends. Mr. Dendy is leaving this week for Camp Walters where he will be inducted into the army. The couple was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McNeely on a pretext while the group assembled and placed the sumptuous meal on the table. Following supper games in which all took part were entertaining features. A lively contest between the men and women was the closing number of the evening. Guests were required to do a special stunt. Two men, Roy Huffmeyer and the ladies were declared winners. Mr. Huffmeyer, in a few well chosen words presented a lovely gift from the group to Mr. Dendy. The honoree then expressed his thanks for the parting gift and for the good will shown by the group. The most list included Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Dendy, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wat-

Dona sings, plays the violin and used to conduct her own all-girl band.' 'HEAT'S ON - New York hit New York recently Imogen Carpenter an immediate use for some of her Christmas gifts. While for the star wears the radiating jacket. Not even her new fur-lined boots make Imogen cover those beautiful legs.' 'WILLIAM L. SHIRER, internationally known foreign correspondent and author of "Berlin Diary," is pictured here as he follows the news reports of Allied advances. The distinguished commentator is heard regularly Sunday nights at 7:00 P.M. (EWT) over the Columbia network.' 'LAST FREE WEDDING LICENSE - Harrisburg, Pa.—Walter M. Mumma, register of wills at Harrisburg, adds a final $3 to the more than $7,000 he has paid out of his own pocket for marriage licenses for servicemen. Only a few minutes before Mumma's term expired and his successor took office he paid the license fee for Miss Grace Comstun, 19, of Portland, Me., and her sailor sweetheart, Boat-swain's Mate Berhard Readinger, 25, of Williamstown.' 'NO FLINCHING—Even the Chinese children show bravery. Witness this youngster receiving an inoculation against cholera in a wayside clinic, one of many supported by United China Relief which is financed through American contributions to the National War Fund.' 'With quick-frozen baked beans now on the ration-free list, wartime meal planners can take their cue from our Puritan forebears and make beans the appetizing mainstay of dinner, lunch or supper. The quick-frozen beans are work-free, and come out of their cartons ready to be heated for serving. Prepared by an old New England recipe, with molasses and pork, they are baked twelve hours in old-style bean pots and are the closest commercial approximation of the delicacy which took great-grandmother 24 hours to achieve.' 'LIFE IMITATES MOVIES - Denver, Colo.—With a stifled groan, Pvt. Bob Jordan, an original "Dead End" kid, lifts a GI garbage can at the commanding finger of another dead ender, Sgt. Charles Peck, who in screen portrayals often felt the back of Jordan's hand. Bob is a cadet and Charles is in special service at nearby Duval Field. It's the sergeant's turn now!' 'SAVES LIVES AND SOULS - Philadelphia, Pa.—The Rev. Charles O. Leibig labors 18 hours daily, 8 in the engineering dept. of a precision instrument manufacturer turning out war equipment on submarines and aircraft, and the remaining 10 hours performing his church duties as pastor of the Hope Evangelical Reformed Church here. Show above, Rev. Leibig is on his daily shift at the Brown Instrument Co.' 'SUNNY SMILE - Australia—Mary Visalli, 17, who came here with her parents from Messina, Italy, five years ago, wields a man-sized hoe to prepare 20 acres for tomato planting. When the tomatoes are ready for picking, two Italian war prisoners will be allotted to help.'
