PERIL OF FIFTH ARMY BEACHHEAD IS ACUTE

CANTEEN TO OPEN TONIGHT

The recently organized Teen-Age Canteen, which is sponsored by the Lions and Rotary clubs, will open formally tonight in the building at D avenue and Fifth street. All preliminaries have been perfected and an unusually attractive scheme has given the quarters a cheery, home-like appearance and atmosphere. Lewis Star is largely responsible for the decorations, but received much help from school students, and Austin Flint, Canteen chairman.

Officers and Canteen council to advise the recreation project have been elected and will be present this evening to see that the local movement is properly launched. Students may come at any time between the hours of 7 and 12 p. m., and may leave as early as they please, but the Canteen will be closed promptly at midnight. A cover charge of 10 cents will be collected from all who attend and hamburgers and soft drinks will be sold. For the present at least, the Canteen will be open each Friday night.

Games and all forms of activities will be suggested by the students, subject to approval by the council, it was stated. Parents may drop in to observe, if they like, but there will be ample chaperones present at all times.

The governing body is made up as follows:

Austin Flint, chairman; A. E. McNeely, treasurer; J. W. Slaughter, secretary.

Canteen Council — Doris Jamison, Veda Ramsower, Winifred Johnson, Jean Grantham, Norma Jean Cropper, Homer Tompkins, Walton Baum.

Executive Committee — H. H. Tompkins, Austin Flint, M. D. Fox, Carlos J. Turner, J. W. Slaughter, J. J. Collins, S. E. Hittson, A. E. McNeely.

PLENTY COLD.

It was cold enough for all reasonable persons when Ciscoans arose this morning, many thermometers recording 18 and 20 degrees at 7 o'clock and some were reported down to 16, the change of the Mobley Hotel registering the latter figures. A stiff wind added to the discomfort of early risers. The weather moderated rapidly after 10 o'clock, but the prediction for tonight is more cold weather. Amarillo and Pampa claimed 10 and 13 above the zero mark.

MRS. ALLISON DIED SUDDENLY LAST EVENING

An acute heart attack caused the sudden death here last night of Mrs. Mary E. Allison of Bartlesville, Okla., who died about 6:45 o'clock in the home of her sister, Mrs. R. L. Ponsler. Mrs. Allison came to Cisco January 3 to spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Ponsler.

Funeral services will be held at Stanley McCune funeral home in Tulsa, Okla., Saturday afternoon, with burial beside her husband, the late Ben Allison, who died about ten years ago. Deceased was a splendid woman, a member of the Presbyterian church and attended services regularly at Cisco First Presbyterian church.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. William Pollock, Bartlesville, Mrs. Gratta Mills, Tulsa; her sister, Mrs. R. L. Ponsler, Cisco, and a brother, J. E. Geyer of Hutchinson, Kansas.

Green funeral home prepared the body for shipment.

STUDY COURSE INTEREST, ATTENDANCE GOOD

East Cisco Baptist church training union study course closed last night and the pastor, Rev. Russell Dennis, says it was one of the best of local record. There was an increase in interest and attendance from the first service, a total enrollment of 106, average attendance of 70 and 65 received awards. Mr. Dennis complimented the minister, Littleton and Rev. Henry Starnes for their excellent work. A fine social hour and refreshments were enjoyed by a large group at the concluding service last night.

NO BEEF AT HOME—Variety is the spice of life on New Guinea. Looking over the menu, members of a Yank Signal Corps liaison team assigned to an Australian division headquarters find that there's beef, and for variety it can be boiled, baked, broiled, roasted, fried, stewed, plain, or made into steaks or hamburger. REV. W. H. SYMANK CALLED TO ALABAMA

Rev. W. H. Symank, pastor of Grace Lutheran church since October, 1940, has accepted a call to Mobile, Ala., as missionary of the Greater Mobile area. Mr. and Mrs. Symank and their two children, Carolyn and Donald, will depart for their new home about March 1.

Mr. Symank said he would leave Cisco with genuine regret, having formed many close friendships during his stay here. He came to Cisco from Bowie and has been in the ministry about six years. The Daily Press joins a large number of citizens in wishing the minister and his family good fortune in their new home.

The minister also stated that provisions have been made for continuing Grace Lutheran's popular day school. The mission of this school is to give children religious training as well as teaching the usual secular branches of primary grades. No foreign language is taught and about 40 percent of the students are non-Lutherans.

Until a new pastor has been called, Rev. G. A. Obenhaus, retired, and well known in the Cisco area, will supply the pulpit and carry on as pastor.

'SMOKE SCREEN' REVIEWED BY R. L. PONSLER

Rotary program was an unusually good one yesterday, when the principal speaker was R. L. Ponsler, who reviewed the "Smoke Screen," a book written by Samuel B. Pettingill in 1940, which warned of the approach of socialism in the United States. The speaker was introduced by J. W. Slaughter, program chairman.

T. J. McCarty and Glenn Dugan, Rotarians from Abilene, were present. Following the introduction of visitors by Secretary Pete Nance, J. E. Hays read a list of club absentees and make-ups during the year. There were twelve Rotarians with an attendance of 100 percent during the past year.

Quoting and reading from "Smoke Screen," Mr. Ponsler brought out that there was too much tendency toward socialism and centralization of powers at the expense of the rights of the people to act and govern themselves. The author seemed to think there was a strong tendency to dictate and regiment the powers of government, so that we are in danger of losing those rights of freedom of speech and of the rights to tax ourselves for purposes to be determined by ourselves and through our chosen representatives in congress.

Turning for a moment to the oil industry, Ponsler said that while he did not believe in subsidies, yet that which might apply to keep stripper oil wells in production, meant the life of their production. If they once stop producing, they can never begin again, he said.

Government competition in business came in for its share of criticism by the author as it reviewed acts of government toward the same kind of dictatorship through which Hitler obtained his hold upon Germany. The speaker, still quoting, said that while property had not been confiscated in this country, the profits were being taken, which he likened to letting us keep the hens, but taking the eggs they produced.

Mr. Ponsler concluded his talk by saying that we are not Communists, and should sell American to Americans and send strong men to congress to protect the rights of the people from deflecting the powers of government.

WAR CLAIMS SECOND CROSS PLAINS BOY

CROSS PLAINS, Feb. 11.—A second Cross Plains family has received the saddest message telegraph wires can bring. It came to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Slaughter and informed them that their son, Woodrow Marshall Slaughter, 25, popularly known as "Mutt," had been killed in action in the Italian theater of war, September 9, 1943.

Slaughter was one of the first Cross Plains boys to enlist for Military service when the ugly clouds of war darkened the horizon. He became a member of the 36th division at the time of its activation, trained in Brownwood for more than a year and later in South Carolina and Massachusetts. He is the second Cross Plains boy and graduate of the local school system to pay the supreme sacrifice in world war two. The first was Ray Smith, who died in the attack on Pearl Harbor.

CALLAHAN GOES OVER.

CROSS PLAINS, Feb. 11.—Calwest central Texas county to ex-lahlan county became the second to exceed its quota in the 4th war loan campaign last week as sales surpassed the assigned mark of $272,000. The climaxing event was a rally held in the district court room at Baird, where $189,512.50 worth of war securities were pledged.

NAZI HORDES UNLEASH FIERCE, CONTINUOUS ATTACK IN EFFORT TO DRIVE ALLIES INTO THE SEA

NAPLES, Feb. 11.—American heavy bombers have been hurried into the battle for the imperiled Anzio beachhead, it was revealed today, as American and British troops fought a German general offensive that threatened to drive them back to the sea.

Headquarters spokesmen admitted belatedly that the 5th Army beachhead was endangered gravely by the Nazi counter-blows, and it was indicated that the next few days would be the most critical period of the Italian campaign since Salerno.

Powerful German armored forces and shock troops opened their long-expected offensive yesterday, striking in great strength all along the 14-mile Allied front.

(A German report said Nazi forces had captured the railroad station of Aprilia, a key point in the Allied northern flank only six airline miles from the sea and 10 miles by highway from the beachhead port of Anzio.)

Allied airmen, battling to turn the tide as they did at Salerno and in Tunisia's Kasserine Pass, literally "threw the book" at the onrushing Germans.

American Flying Fortresses and Liberators spread fire and death through thousands of Nazi troops streaming into the battle area from the Alban Hills. The giant raiders strewn tons of high explosives and fragmentation bombs on concentrations of enemy troops and tanks at Cisterna, Albano, Veiletri, Campo Leone and Cecchina.

Simultaneously, Allied fighter bombers bombed and machine-gunned road lines north and south of Rome over which the Germans must rush additional reinforcements to the battlefield.

Against that concentration of airpower—the Allied forces flew some 850 sorties yesterday—the Germans sent only 30 planes over the beachhead. Three Nazi planes were destroyed at a cost of six Allied aircraft.

Elements of five German divisions, plus hand-picked Nazi Elite Guards—possibly 50,000 men—opened the main offensive yesterday behind a spearhead of armor and a curtain of artillery fire.

They attacked with a fanatical fury that bore out reports that Adolf Hitler had ordered the Allied invaders driven into the sea at all costs.

Official reports revealed that the brunt of the enemy attack centered on British units in the Aprilia sector and Americans west and southwest of Cisterna. Savage fighting raged all along the beachhead perimeter; however, and it was admitted that the battle had reached the touch-and-go stage where a major Nazi break-through might mean disaster.

"They come into us like a pack of wolves," a British officer said. "We mow down the first ones but others follow. They assault our outposts, leaving their dead and wounded where they lie."

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt issued a statement today in which he said a very tense situation and unusually heavy fighting existed at the Anzio beachhead below Rome, but that the Allies on the whole control the seas and the air.

MOSCOW—The Red army's seven spearheads thrusting against the steadily diminishing circle of death around Nazi forces in the Dnieper Bend were hacking German-held salients to pieces Friday and relentlessly cutting down all who refused to surrender.

Red Star, Soviet army organ, said the Germans were being slaughtered like sheep on the open steppes and declared the entire garrisons of the villages of Yakhnov and Myled had been exterminated as two Russian columns isolated them from other Nazi units retreating toward Korsun.

OHIO GOVERNOR MAKES HIT IN CAPITOL CITY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, who has been browsing around the outlying precincts as a sort of Ferdinand-the-Bull candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, came to the capital, to the fair of the New Deal, to change all that—and how.

No longer was he the careful, cautious gentleman, a little timid about issues, spouting generalities.

He stepped right into the midst of the muddle on Capitol Hill, which has got President Roosevelt down for the moment. He came out for state ballots in soldier voting, which President Roosevelt has called "a fraud." He came out against subsidies, over which the senate is wrestling, taking direct issue with the president.

Governor Bricker's credo is strictly Republican conservative of the old school, entirely acceptable to the old guard element which is backing him, including Senator Taft of Ohio. He abhors the New Deal, lock, stock and barrel, and makes no bones about it. He disagrees, he said, with the whole philosophy of the New Deal. He did not temper his Lincoln Day speech here to concede anything to the Roosevelt dispensation.

All agree today that John W. Bricker must now be considered seriously as an outstanding aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination.

LOST EXPLORERS.

Col. Percy H. Fawcett is in the news again. This English explorer, with his son Jack, disappeared nearly 25 years ago in the Brazilian jungle in search of a legendary city of unparalleled magnificence, and to have been accidentally found in 1951 by the Portuguese. Though expedition after expedition has searched, he has never been seen since. Against the natural supposition that he is dead, it is argued that Fawcett was in splendid health, and a master of getting on with savage Indians.

Now Edmar Morel, a Brazilian newspaper man, has come out of the jungle with an Indian boy, who Morel says, is Jack Fawcett's son by a native mother. His light color bears out this interpretation, though this is not absolutely unknown among the Indians. Morel's story points to Fawcett's death somewhere in the jungle. It will probably not deter other explorers from trying their luck.

An American aviator, Redfern, also disappeared in the Amazon jungle at about the same time and has often been looked for. The passage of years makes it unlikely that either Redfern or Fawcett will ever be seen again, yet romantic expectations never die.

After all, over half a century ago the great African explorer, David Livingstone, was last to view for years before being run to earth by Henry M. Stanley. It is still barely possible that Fawcett may be another Livingstone.

FARM BOOM.

Even while this nation's attention is centered in a great war—or possibly on account of it—people's attention seems to be turning again strongly toward the land. Reports from the military camps and the fighting fronts tell of men from the cities and towns talking about getting a farm, or at least a piece of land in the country, when they return home. It may be merely a pleasant dream in most cases, a natural reaction from their military life. But anyway it shows what they are thinking now, and such thinking in thousands of cases will lead to action when the time comes.

It is natural enough. Americans have always been land-hungry. It has been shown equally in their love for the soil and in their purchase of homes in cities. And the love for home-ownership and farms seems to grow after every war. The land suggests safety and refuge. Modern transportation, which makes it easy to get back and forth, tends to spread out the cities until it is often hard to tell where city ends and country begins.

STILL BATTLING.

Prizefighters, in many people's eyes, are just one remove from common bums. Color is lent to this notion by the way in which most champions spend their earnings. Whenever a champion faces a serious contender, he is apt to lose his title; and the reason is always the same. He has gone in for drinking and night life on such a large scale that when he returns to the ring he is flabby and slow.

One exception is Battling Nelson, outstanding lightweight for over 20 years, and champion for nearly half that. An enterprising reporter has just found him in Chicago, still able at 51 to put in a full day's work as a common laborer in the post-office. Nelson never drank, and now weighs but five pounds more than when he won the championship from Joe Gans in 1908. His present humble job comes from his being "land-poor." He owns several pieces of property, but has always been too soft-hearted to dispossess non-paying tenants.

BOWING THE KNEE.

The Russian raid on Finland came as a shock to many Americans. Our people have not forgotten the esteem in which that courageous little nation was formerly held by the American people. But when Finland allowed herself, with apparent willingness, to be taken under the sheltering wing of the Nazi Germans, our people were surprised and disgusted. The disgust grew when Hitler visited Helsinki and got a warm welcome and Finland seemed to go over entirely to the side of the Axis.

It is unfortunate that a courageous but bull-headed little country took such a course, even though under virtual compulsion. She would be far better off now as an American ally. Traditionally she belongs rather with the Germanic peoples than with the Russians, and her culture has been mainly German. But it is a pity that at this time, when every nation has to stand up and be counted, and the challenge is "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve," the Finns are found in the service of Baal and must take the consequences.

MASTER Gary Hicks seems interested in the war which he probably doesn't understand. But when his mother told him to take the empty deposit bottles back to the store, he paused to glance at a Red Cross Poster. Bottled beverages are popular with our fighting men overseas. Every deposit bottle which is kept in action on the home front, making quick trips from store to home and back again, releases another bottle for our fighters overseas.
