ALLIES, AXIS BATTLE FIERCELY AT ANZIO

MRS. SAM HULL WAS 89 YEARS OLD FEB. 15

The Daily Press is in receipt of a highly treasured letter from Mrs. Sam Hull, route four, Cisco. The communication is of especial interest from the fact that while the writer celebrated her 89th birthday on St. Valentine Day, February 14, she is nevertheless able to write legibly and logically. Moreover, the letter, which follows, reflects her complete dependence upon God for continued life and all worthwhile things:

"Dear Editor: Today, February 15, is my birthday and I am 89 years old. Yesterday being Valentine Day, I had the greatest day of my life.

"Without warning, I stepped into the midst of a host of friends, who showered me with so many valentines, love greetings, good wishes and useful presents that I hardly knew who I was. I did not know I had so many friends.

"Recently a young friend said I would live to be 125 years old. I replied that I did not have much faith in his prophecy, but that I would like to live as long as God would let me live.

"I am thankful each day for my life and daily bread and for friends and loved ones.

MRS. SAM HULL."

MORTON VALLY STOCK SHOW FEBRUARY 26

The annual Morton Valley Livestock Show will be held Saturday, February 26, on the Morton Valley school grounds, says Sam S. White, vocational agriculture teacher, in a card to the Daily Press.

All FFA and 4-H boys and stockmen interested in exhibiting stock are invited to participate.

There will be classes in Jerseys, Herefords and Angus cattle, as well as goats, hogs and sheep, with a nice prize for the best FFA and 4-H club showman.

TEXAS OIL

AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—The petroleum administration for war certified that Texas' production of all petroleum liquids during March should be 2,018,000 barrels daily. The certification was unchanged from February.

MAILWOMAN—WAC Cpl. Lakiska Sherlin of Newport Ark., is the only woman postman at Fort Hancock, N. J. Women have replaced men on 23 different jobs at the post, some of them highly technical.

LIONS TALK OF AFTER-THE-WAR EFFORTS

A talk, followed by a round table discussion of post-war planning, led by Lion Jay Garrett, was the subject of the program at Lions luncheon Wednesday, when Carlos J. Turner, vice president, presided in the absence of President R. W. McCauley.

Lion Garrett, who was recently appointed to head the Lions scrap paper drive, announced that Lions Harry Schmidt and C. M. Nevill would aid in the organization of the campaign to begin next Wednesday afternoon, when housewives are asked to place their tied-up bundles of papers at convenient places near their curbs, just as they did in the tin scrap drive. Trucks will pick the paper up and it will be sold immediately.

At the business meeting the club voted to give Lewis Starr and Lion Austin Flint votes of thanks for their part in launching the Teen-age Canteen. Starr was responsible for the decorations which were pronounced outstanding, and Flint was largely concerned in the organization and general supervision of other details.

Mr. Garrett read a very excellent paper on the need of suggestions for post-war planning for Cisco especially, emphasizing the need for citizens to get together without waiting for Washington to lead in the work, in order that business men and farmers may plan for the necessary changes at the end of the war. He said he believed that Lions and Rotarians should get together and a planning committee be organized to lead in finding solutions for the problems which are likely to confront Cisco.

The speaker suggested that Cisco has many qualities necessary for prosperity and urged that we become active at once in planning for the building of after-the-war prosperity.

Following this, voluntary speakers gave their ideas as to some of the problems that might confront Cisco and the rest of the United States.

Lion Flint thought that the glove factory would be an important factor in building Cisco and talks by O. L. Stamey, Charles S. Sandler, L. W. Seymour, W. H. Cole, Paul M. Culp, P. R. Warwick and Charles J. Kleiner, followed.

Mr. Cole also agreed that Cisco should have an active planning committee, made up from Rotarian and Lions clubs, to become active as leaders of the town thought, and that they should be organized immediately.

Mr. Kleiner said that supply and demand would continue to play their important parts as they always have. He thought problems would become more numerous than at any time before, because so much of the world will have become devastated and plans for feeding them must fall upon the western hemisphere. Speaking locally, Cisco will have to build many new homes, which will give employment and outlet for new merchandise, he said.

Mr. Warwick suggested that soldiers will return to private life in sections, a fact that will facilitate re-adjustments in many ways. Paul M. Culp suggested that merchants might expand their businesses and thus aid in spreading new items of manufacture and augment sales.

LIVABLE HOUSES SCARCE

R. E. Key, who has farmed in the Winters area since 1937, was in Cisco today and called at the Daily Press office. He had expected to retire next year, he said, but Mrs. Key's poor health necessitates removal to some other point and he has been investigating Cisco with the intention of locating here. He has sold his home in Winters and if possible would rent a five or six-room house here while he determines the city's general desirability as regards Mrs. Key's health.

TIME OUT—Natives of New Guinea who are accustomed to working in the hot, humid climate construct a converted bomb shelter in rapid time under the direction of T-3 Jesse Opperman of Detroit, Mich. Picture was snapped while the men took time out for rest and refreshment.

OSCARS READY—The bronze and robust Oscar of old has gone to war. Norman Twitchell puts the finishing touches to the pale plaster of paris models that top movieites will receive this year as awards for outstanding performances.

LOBO NON-CONFERENCE GAMES BE STIFF ONES

Monroe Sweeney, high school football coach, furnishes a list of non-conference games to be played by the Lobos next season, as follows:

Polytechnic high school, Ft. Worth, Sept. 15.

Big Spring high school, Big Spring, Sept. 22.

Eastland high school, Cisco, Nov. 23.

Midland high school, Midland, Nov. 23.

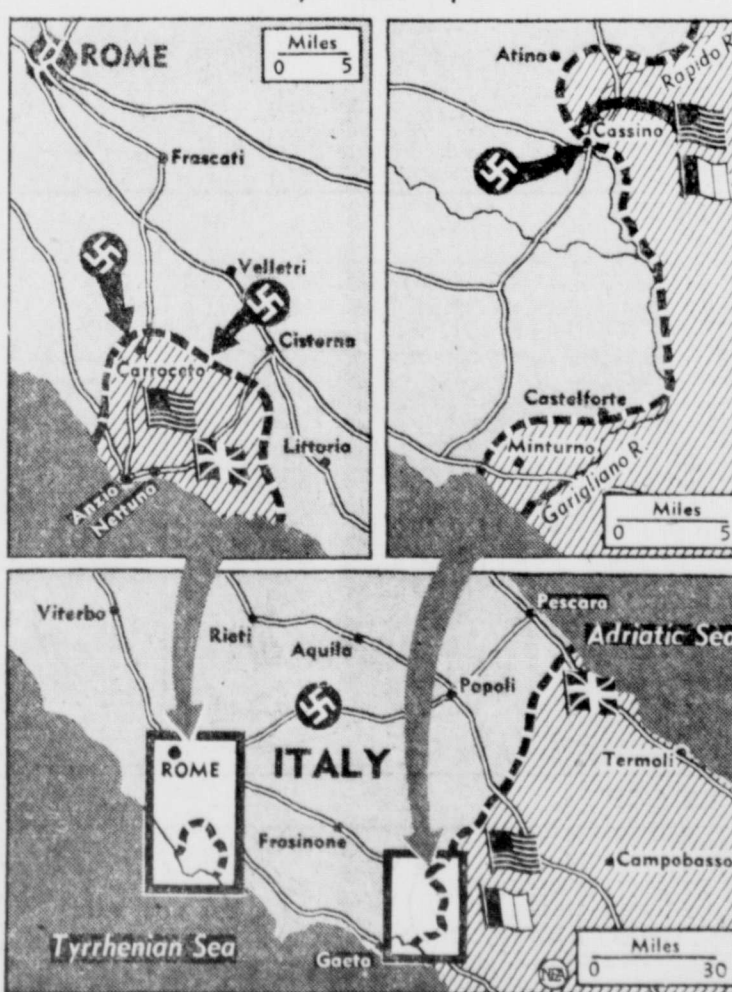

These games, said Mr. Sweeney, added to our conference games, comprise the ten games permitted each high school by interscholastic rules.

Polytechnic high school, the coach continued, was one of the strongest teams in District 7AA last year and lost but one game, that with Northside high school of Ft. Worth for the championship. The game with Polytechnic will be the first Cisco high school ever played at Ft. Worth team in Ft. Worth. Midland and Big Spring also have strong teams, the coach said.

ORDINANCE WITH TEETH

FT. WORTH, Feb. 17.—Rigid control of the dog population will be provided in an ordinance being written with "teeth in it," in order to curb rabies, City Manager Bothwell says. "Every dog in town must be vaccinated if we are to solve the rabies problem," Bothwell told city commissioners.

Fifty Miles Apart

Two Allied battlefields in the maps above are separated by 50 miles, varying from the mountainous terrain near Cassino to the swampland south of Rome. Nazi legions are attacking the Anzio-Nettuno beachhead in force, while Allied armies are seeking a breakthrough in the Cassino bulge. Lower map shows location in Italy of close-ups shown at top.

ONE FOURTH FOR WAR

AMES, Iowa, Feb. 17.—Approximately one-fourth of all the butter produced in the United States

this year must be set aside for direct war use, says Tom G. Stitts, chief of the dairy and poultry branch of the War Food Administration.

KNUDSEN SAYS LET-DOWN NOW BE DANGEROUS

FT. WORTH, Feb. 17.—Judging from a statement here by Lt. Gen. Wm. S. Knudsen, chief of production for the war department, this is no time for too much post-war talk. Mr. Knudsen ended his local visit with the message: "Let's start the war over."

The exhortation was a reflection of Knudsen's feeling that the home front is beginning to slacken in its enthusiasm for war production, and just at the point where military plans for invasion of Western Europe call for vast quantities of materials.

LABOR DRAFT WOULD HURT SAYS GREEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—A. F. of L. President William Green told the senate military committee a civilian labor draft would ruin the morale of war workers and might break up millions of American families.

The law, urged by President Roosevelt as the keystone of the administration's new legislative program, would force labor to work for the profit of private industry, Green declared in a fist-pounding denunciation.

"Thousands of small business enterprises might have to be abandoned," he said.

R. J. Gray, president of the building and construction trades department of the A. F. of L., following his chief to the stand, accused government agencies of "bungling, fumbling, delays and breaches of faith" in their relations with organized labor.

CARBON 4-H BOYS, GIRLS JOINT MEET

Four-H boys and girls held a joint meeting at Carbon February 7, which is said to have been an unusually pleasant and profitable event. Betty Jo Byrd presided and Uvonne Driver directed group singing and led in the pledge and prayer. Floyd Lynch, county demonstration agent, explained construction of a home-made lamp brooder.

Following the demonstration the two clubs held their monthly meetings separately. Arduth Beaty directed an interesting program and Miss Loma Faye Hearne explained the making of expense books and laundry bags.

Girl club members received promotions in the 4-H victory army as follows: Esther Lee Gilbert, captain; Dorris Neal Stokes and Minnie Clara Eaves, second lieutenants; Charline Tom, Mildred Murray, Arduth Beaty, Jo Oliver Greer, sergeants.

GERMAN WAR PRISONERS

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The first group of German prisoners of war to be interned in Arizona arrived here at the Paragon War Internment Camp recently. Phoenix residents near the internment camp saw the trainload of prisoners arrive, estimated their number to be between 600 and 1000.

HUGE NAVAL SUM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—President Roosevelt today asked the largest appropriation in history for the navy — $30,789,000,000 for the 1945 fiscal year.

GERMANS HURL FULL STRIKING FORCE AGAINST NARROW SECTOR; ALLIED LINE FIRM

NAPLES, Feb. 17.—A massive battle of planes, tanks and infantry swirled over the Anzio beachhead today, and official reports indicated the Germans were being fought to a standstill in their second major attempt to drive the Allied invaders into the sea.

Putting an end to the three-day lull that followed the collapse of their first counter-offensive last week, the Germans hurled their full striking force against a narrow sector on the northern flank of the beachhead yesterday morning.

Under cover of a terrific rolling barrage laid down by their massed artillery and fighter-bombers, waves of Nazi troops charged against the British positions astride the Aprilia-Anzio highway.

Big German tanks lunged in behind the infantry, probing for a weak spot in the Allied lines, and came to grips with American and British armored forces.

Hundreds of Allied fighters and fighter-bombers streamed into the battle, tangling with the low-flying enemy planes and ripped up the charging German troops with bombs and gunfire.

Front reports said the enemy offensive was met everywhere by determined resistance and it was indicated that the British lines were holding fast.

The German attacks continued throughout the day and all last night, however, and at day-break this morning they were increasing in fury as the Germans fought frantically to achieve a breakthrough.

(The German High Command tacitly acknowledged that its offensive had not yet succeeded in breaking the Allied lines. The Nazi communique this morning reported that British troops and tanks counter-attacked in the Aprilia sector and made no reference to German gains.)

American planes dive-bombed the Ostiense and Tiburtina railway yards in Rome yesterday for the second straight day, while medium bombers and fighter-bombers sprayed high explosives and fragmentation bombs over the entire beachhead area.

American airpower also blanketed the main Fifth Army front around Cassino, where the Germans launched a small-scale diversionary attack to coincide with their main offensive against the beachhead.

American invaders returned to dive-bomb the ruins of the 1415-year-old Benedictine Monastery on Mount Cassino yesterday, piling new wreckage about the heads of Nazi gunners entrenched behind the massive walls of the abbey.

(A British radio broadcast heard in New York said the German attack was preceded by a 24-hour artillery barrage, and Radio Rome said that "Never before in Italy has there been such a powerful development of artillery as in the beachhead.")

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC — Allied airmen stepping up an already heavy offensive on Japanese bases in the Southwest Pacific, unleashed sledge-hammer blows on enemy strongholds from the Bismarck Sea to the Caroline Islands, it was disclosed today.

Land-based Army Liberators made their deepest penetration of Japan's mandated Caroline Islands on Monday, dropping 55 tons of high explosives on shore installations at Ponape, only 437 miles from the big Japanese base of Truk and 650 miles southwest of newly-conquered Kwajalein.

The bombers of the Seventh Air Force encountered no opposition in the raid, sank a small cargo ship in Ponape Harbor and blasted shore installations at will.

Allied bombers delivered their hardest blow of the war on the Japanese base at Kavieng, New Ireland, Tuesday, in a low-level attack that left the town a mass of flames and smoke.

Altogether the Allied raiders during the day shot down or destroyed 20 enemy planes; destroyed or severely damaged 30 others; sank seven enemy ships and several small craft, and damaged a submarine chaser.

The only ground activity was reported from the Cape Gloucester area of New Britain, where Allied troops cleared the Borgen Bay and Cape Mensin section of enemy soldiers.

MOSCOW — Russian troops hammered frantically-resisting German survivors deeper into the Cherkasi pocket with bayonets, rifle butts and grenades today as the battle of extermination against the encircled Eighth Army reached the final hand-to-hand stage.

On the northwest front, Soviet spearheads swept to within a little more than 35 miles of Pskov, strategic northern gateway to the Baltic, in pursuit of fleeing German units. The enemy appeared to be in full retreat through the forests and lake country.

Close-quarter fighting developed in the Cherkasi pocket in the central Ukraine as the Soviets' relentless tightening of their ring of encirclement robbed the German remnants of freedom to maneuver and to stand almost back to back in fighting off Russian attacks from all sides.

Though the Russians threw back a new rescue attempt, this time from the southeast, yesterday, front dispatches said the Germans were maintaining the rhythm of their counter-attacks, regardless of cost, in futile efforts to extricate the Cherkasi pocket survivors.

GEORGE WASHINGTON TEA IN MERKET HOME.

The annual George Washington tea was held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. W. Merket by the Methodist women's society of christian service. A splendid mission program preceded the social hour. Other hostesses assisting Mrs. Merket were Mrs. B. E. Morehart and Mrs. Geraldine Merket. House decorations and all appointments carried a patriotic motif.

The program opened with a worship period led by Mrs. Wm. H. Cole, conference spiritual-life superintendent. Topic discussed was "God's Truth Abideth Still." Mrs. B. E. Morehart directed the mission program in which students from Alaska Methodist school, Japanese re-location center, a Mexican boy, a Brazilian student and an English girl refugee were impersonated. Mrs. Gerald Merket introduced the group, who were Barbara Grist, Lillian Shertzer, Marion Paschall, Mary Jean Flaherty and Jo Ann Scott. Pte. Joyce Rainbolt was presented in a talk about the WACS branch of the service.

The assembly was then invited into the dining room for refreshments. The table, covered with white linen cloth, held as a unique centerpiece "Uncle Sam's Hat," filled with small U. S. flags. Mrs. Fred Scott poured tea and refreshment plates of sandwiches, cookies and minis were served the guests.

Those present were Mrs. Wm. H. Cole, Mrs. T. J. Dean, Mrs. J. W. Slaughter, Mrs. J. J. Porter, Mrs. Hattie Fairless, Mrs. M. D. Paschall, Mrs. Crigler Paschall, Mrs. R. S. ### AUXILIARY CIRCLE MET IN CHURCH.

Presbyterian auxiliary circle one met Tuesday afternoon in the church for regular meeting. Mrs. J. E. Caffrey presided and opened the meeting with the Lord's prayer, in which all members joined.

During the business period the Tex-Mex school was discussed as a project for the circle. Routine business was transacted, following which Mrs. Willie Bogan Dunn brought an interesting devotional.

Mrs. P. R. Warwick discussed an article from the Presbyterian Survey, "After the Silence of the Centuries," by Dr. Frank C. Laudach. The meeting was closed by repeating the mizpah benediction in unison.

Those present were Mrs. J. E. Caffrey, Mrs. Willie Bogan Dunn, Mrs. John Garrett, Mrs. O. Gustafson, Mrs. F. E. Harrell, Mrs. Leith Morris, Mrs. A. Sandhoefer, Mrs. W. F. Watson, Mrs. P. R. Warwick and a visitor, little Miss Linda Caffrey.

Clip Joint

Corp. Italo Di Cicco of Worcester, Mass., has got his hands full if he expects to slip this New Guinea "Fuzzo-Wuzzo's" skin to G. T. Shortman. A barber for 15 years in 33 states, Corporal Di Cicco is stationed at a South Pacific base.

CHIC PATRIOTISM—Flaunting her colors with a tiny white hat, cropped indignantly in red and blue, Leslie Vegas, appearing in the Merry Widow in New York, proves that the fitted forehead hat is stylishly smart for those who don't like shades.

When the Long Distance circuits you want are crowded, the operator will say.... "Please limit your call to 5 minutes."

That's a good idea for war-busy days and nights. It helps everybody get better service.

No Time to Quit

Now that the Fourth War Loan drive has taken us over the top, we cannot afford to sit down and relax—to rest—

There is work ahead. Gardens to plant and crops to make ready, while plenty of moisture gives promise of fruits for our labor.

And there is some political thinking that should be done. Just buying our bonds and working at our jobs is not all a good American owes his country. Every citizen owes it to his or her fellow man to choose wisely in voting for those who are to be our representatives in making and executing our laws. There is a responsibility to good citizenship.

No, We are not too good for earth--
Not Sprouting Wings nor sporting a halo--
But we do feel proud of Ourselves!

The fact that Cisco went far over the top in the 4th Loan Bond Drive is no occasion for us to become too complacent or to begin imagining that wings will sprout from our shoulders, or a halo of righteousness will surround our heads.

In buying our quota of bonds we have only done what we should have done. If we have the money we should put it into use for Uncle Sam, and at the same time it is a mighty good and safe investment for any surplus money that one may have accumulated since the last war Loan drive.

But the fact that Cisco easily made her quota and then did not stop, speaks well for the patriotism of citizens of this community. Cisco is far from being a boom town with a lot of loose cash flying about, so when we do what we have just done, it means that many people have dug down deep into their pockets for the money with which to make these purchases.

Cisco does deserve a pat on the back—a word of commendation. It's good to know that we do business in a patriotic community that, having a task, we do it with little noise or spectacular acrobatics.
