PACIFIC'S GREATEST AIR BATTLE RAGING

PICTURE SHOWS CISCO BOY IN FINE FETTER

The Daily Press is indebted to the U. S. Army signal corps for a handsome photograph of Pfc. B. F. Graham of Cisco and Pvt. Truman D. Stinson of Redlands, Calif., taken in the jungles of Bougainville, Pacific area.

Both of the young men are dressed to the waist and are apparently engaged in turning out the family wash with latest type electric washing machines and clothes wringers. Judging from the picture, the boys are in tip-top condition physically.

Graham was born in Cisco and is a son of Mrs. Myrtle Lavender and a nephew of Miss Kate Chamberlain of this city.

TEEN-AGE CANTEN BE OPEN TWO NIGHTS

Teen-age Canteen Council met last night and decided to open the Canteen two evenings each week—Friday and Saturday nights.

Austin Flint, chairman, said this morning that students had enjoyed the Friday night meeting so thoroughly that they had asked for an additional night.

Opening and closing hours Friday nights will continue as originally started—7 until midnight—but on Saturday nights the Canteen will close promptly at 11 o'clock.

The chairman stated that the loan or donation of bridge tables, ping pong raquets and balls, or other table games, would be greatly appreciated by the Council.

BOSS GLOVE FACTORY MEN AT ROTARY

Rotarians Thursday voted to embark on an active campaign of providing waiting depots for traveling soldiers who might be going to or from visits to their homes, and finding ineluctable pending during the stop-over, providing conveyance to their destination. A committee was appointed to carry through on the project and F. E. Shepard, member of the committee, stated that $10 was subscribed immediately following the luncheon hour. Other members of the committee are W. W. Fewell, chairman; J. E. Hays and O. J. Russell.

Another important feature of the program was the introduction of N. R. Cutler, acting manager of the Boss Glove factory, now installing machinery, and his assistant, Joe Graf, guests of R. N. Clark and Edward Lee. They expressed themselves as delighted with the friendliness of the city, and Mr. Cutler said they would be ready for operation in about two weeks. He also said that prospects for labor was very satisfactory.

Rotarian Clark moved that the club appoint a committee to act with one from the Lions club to set the date and arrange for a Lobo banquet. The motion carried and President Lonnie Shockley announced that he would appoint the committee at a later date.

The entertaining feature of the program was a picture brought by Rotarian Burl Williams through the courtesy of the high school, entitled, "Our Fighting Allies." Members expressed themselves as delighted with the picture and thanked Mr. Williams for the program. Williams explained that this picture was sent to the high school by the United States government as a part of its contribution in the educational program of the schools of the nation.

Farrell managed Sox for one game in absence of Manager Jimmy Callahan and beat New York Giants, 1-0, in an exhibition game, 1913.

EASTLAND CO. PEANUT HAY DISTINCTIVE

George Drewery, brother-in-law of J. T. Anderson and well known in Cisco, owns a 600-acre farm just north of Dallas and has about 100 head of white-faced Hereford cattle thereon. Some time ago Mr. Drewery bought a quantity of Eastland county peanut hay from Mr. Anderson and later he wrote Anderson as follows:

"Earl says he fed the stock the peanut hay for two days. Then came a wet day and, the peanut hay shedding more than sudan, he offered them sudan. However, they just smelled it and followed the truck to where he kept the peanut hay. Earl says he explained to the choosy Herefords that peanut hay was for sunny days, but that they still refused to eat the sudan until after night, though there was nothing else on the table for them during the day."

COUNTY'S BOND TOTAL $660,000

Eastland county appears to have gone over the top in the Fourth War Loan Bond drive by more than $100,000 or a total of about $660,000, according to information from the law offices of Judge Cyrus Frost, county chairman, this morning.

No figures could be obtained as to status of Series E bond sales, an important feature of the drive.

Cisco topped its E bond quota as well as the general quota, but it will take several days to secure correct totals for Eastland county as a whole, especially as to the percentage of E bond sales.

Judge Frost could not be contacted personally, being confined to his home in Eastland with a severe cold. He has been laid up since his return early this week from a business trip to Kentucky and Washington, D. C.

BRITISH PAPER BOOSTS FDR TO SOLDIERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—An apparent attempt by the British government to boost President Roosevelt for a fourth term to American troops abroad stirred widespread interest in Washington today.

Articles circulated among U. S. soldiers contained the following statements:

"Roosevelt's opponents are ready to spend 50,000,000 dollars to beat him as—they assume—he makes his fourth term bid for President in the November elections.

"Despite this, no political expert is willing to put his money down and bet Roosevelt will be beaten.

"In the unofficial anti-Roosevelt campaign, which is already booming, 'constitutional clubs' in 250 key constituencies controlled from New York and supported by many industrialists are attacking the New Deal, food subsidies and high taxation.

On the same page as the above article is a paragraph in the lower right hand corner which says that 'Welcome' is:

"Published by the Ministry of Information, and printed by Associated Scottish Newspapers, Limited, at Kemsley House, Glasgow."

JUNIOR CLASS SCRANTON HIGH ACTIVE BODY

Scranton high school junior class met Wednesday and elected class officers for the remaining school term, as follows:

Bobbie June Stewart, president; Donald Rhyne, vice president; Billie Ruth Parks, secretary; Fern Bentley, reporter; Jane Clinton, treasurer. Donald Rhyne is program chairman.

Wednesday night of next week the class will hold a pie supper and everybody is invited to come and bring a pie. J. H. Shrader is sponsoring the event and funds acquired will go towards financing a junior and senior banquet.

The class consists of Ora Jane Clinton, Billie Ruth Parks, Bobbie June Stewart, Fern Bentley, Katie Beth Speegle, Viola Threet and Donald Rhyne.

ASSAULTS SMASHED.

NAPLES, Feb. 18.—American and British troops, supported and covered by hundreds of warplanes, have smashed back every German assault on their beachhead below Rome, it was disclosed today, as the massed guns of American forces on the main 5th Army front opened a thunderous pre-attack barrage on Nazi positions in the hills above Cassino. As the second battle of the Anzio beachhead roared into its third day, the German onslaught showed no signs of slackening.

TEXAS STARTS ON GREAT RESEARCH TASK

HOUSTON, Feb. 18.—The $1,000,000 M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research, founded to unravel the mystery of the cause, prevention and cure of cancer, was dedicated yesterday at ceremonies attended by Gov. Coke Stevenson, distinguished medical authorities and University of Texas officials.

One of six eminent cancer authorities to speak, Dr. Lauren V. Ackerman, director of the Ellis Fischel State Cancer Hospital, Columbia, Mo., suggested that Texas has a unique opportunity to set up a model cancer research program.

A legislative appropriation of $500,000 for the hospital was matched by a $500,000 gift to the university by the Anderson Foundation, the largest trust fund for charitable purposes in Texas.

NO ELECTION - JUGGLING.

Whatever reasons or persons may be at the bottom of the proposal to delay the presidential and congressional elections for a year, it seems unlikely that many citizens or lawmakers will take them seriously. Our national elections have long been fixed, like the ancient "law of the Medes and Persians, which changeth not." And in a world-shaking time like this, when so many old practices and landmarks are going by the board, it seems especially desirable that stability be maintained in the realm of government.

It would be a dangerous precedent. If national elections could be juggled around once, for whatever reason, they could and probably would be juggled around again. The average American probably sees no more reason for postponing the date of a presidential election than he would for postponing Christmas, New Year's or the Fourth of July. These are all national festivals and landmarks, and as such should be preserved intact.

SHOULD GRANDPA VOTE?

Wise or otherwise, extending the vote to the 18-year-olds is already looming up as tomorrow's political issue. A counter-suggestion comes from a midwestern writer and business man, who would take the privilege away from those above a certain age.

The idea is not advanced, it is asserted, just to start something, its proposer professing to believe that, while elderly folk may add to their knowledge as they grow older, they lose adaptability. They try to make attitudes which did very well 40 years ago fit the world of today. Their mental arteries have hardened. He doubts if their votes "can contribute anything to the imperative economy and social adjustments that must be made by the nations."

Of course this is not likely to be done. One obvious difficulty: at what age is the vote to be cut off? The proposer has the only answer that might prove generally acceptable. He says, "Somewhere above my age."

MERIT AND SPOILS.

Old-time political memories are stirred by the announcement that Grover Bennett Hill of Texas has been appointed assistant secretary of agriculture.

In 1892 the chief candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination were Ex-President Grover Cleveland and David Bennett Hill, three governor of New York, then beginning a term in the senate. On public questions they were not far apart, but on ordinary good government they were as distant as the poles. Cleveland believed in the merit system of appointment, and helped it along. Hill thought of office only as lubrication for the political machine and, like some people since his day, never expressed an opinion that might lose votes. Despite his real ability, he is now remembered, if at all, only as a party boss, of whom the country has had too many. He lost the nomination to Cleveland, and after the expiration of his senatorial term was rarely heard from.

Politics has long ceased to concern either Grover Cleveland or David Bennett Hill. Perhaps from some Olympian height they will watch with interest the career of the new secretary who combines their names.

A SENATOR - SOLDIER.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts has resigned to enter the army. This is striking news indeed. To senators might be applied Jefferson's remark about federal jobholders: "Few die and none resign."

Serving his second term, Senator Lodge apparently had a secure political career ahead of him. His resignation to serve his country is commendable as a real sacrifice.

Last year, as one of a party of five senators touring the battle-front, Senator Lodge came back with an idea which he published, contrary to a special request of the War Department. He blamed the Russians for not granting us bombing bases in Siberia. It was demonstrated that if they had done so, they would not only have become involved in war with Japan, but could not have held the Siberian airfields. The senator did not carry the discussion further.

In the army he should find a vehicle for his real talents.

No Time to Quit

Now that the Fourth War Loan drive has taken us over the top, we cannot afford to sit down and relax—to rest— There is work ahead. Gardens to plant and crops to make ready, while plenty of moisture gives promise of fruits for our labor. And there is some political thinking that should be done. Just buying our bonds and working at our jobs is not all a good American owes his country. Every citizen owes it to his or her fellow man to choose wisely in voting for those who are to be our representatives in making and executing our laws. There is a responsibility to good citizenship.

It's Our War Record-
We're Proud
Of It

At the moment, this may well be a 1-A problem for Congress as a postwar economy plan. What to do with returning veterans has been bothering the dreams of many politicians, and popular pressure obviously is mounting. We don't envy them their headaches.

Proud Record

Since the Germans invaded Poland the American electric industry has boosted its output 75 per cent with an addition to capacity of only 25 per cent. Notwithstanding early fears, no war program has been delayed by lack of generating capacity, nor has the civilian population been deprived of service.

The industry is proud to note that in spite of the attention which has been called to the contribution of such federal projects as TVA, Bonneville and Grand Coulee, these have only five out of the nation's 63 million kilowatts of capacity—and obviously have not won the war without some small assistance from privately owned power producers.

indoctrination

After dropping one active Communist propagandist, Cornell University has engaged another. Each Russian history to Army men being trained in special confidential work.

Twenty-five years ago, after World War I, German General von Hindenburg gave as the prime reason for Germany's defeat, "America's war industries entered the service of patriotism and failed not . . . they understood war."

And now history repeats itself. America's industries like America's men are fighting a war and fighting it well. Back of America's war industries is electric power . . . far more than all the Axis countries combined has. It is turning the machines that turn out everything from bullets to battle-ships. The electric companies under experienced business management, of which the West Texas Utilities Company is one, supply all but 3 per cent of the electric capacity and are capable of supplying that 3 per cent.

Back of it all is the American way of life . . . free men encouraged to create, invest, produce . . . everybody benefits from private enterprise . . . a reality that the Axis and totalitarian governments will never comprehend.
