CISCO FIREMEN WORTHY OF ALL CONSIDERATION

"The Man From Down Under" is the title of a picture that is being shown at Palace theater tonight and tomorrow. It is presented under sponsorship of Cisco volunteer fire department and is said to be well worth seeing. From it the firemen hope to receive a sizeable sum for their emergency fund, which is maintained for use of the volunteers in times of sickness or as the organization deems proper. Fred Grist is fire chief and Arlin Agnew is assistant chief.

The firemen have been selling tickets in a big way and the success of the effort seems to be assured, since many people are glad to buy tickets as a means of showing their appreciation for the year-around good work of these volunteer fire fighters, who do so much to save Cisco property without personal recompense. As an evidence of how the tickets are going, it is reported that Clarence Tume had sold more than 300 this morning, with Joe Britan and Jay Garrett having sales of 75 and 56, respectively. Many other firemen have sold tickets in smaller numbers.

The department is divided into two ticket-selling teams, as follows: Company 1—H. O. Anderson, captain; Clarence Tume, A. W. Watson, J. T. Waddell, Jack Norman, J. J. Collins, Hal Sledge, C. R. Hightower, Jody Baker, John Sledge. Company 2—Joe Britan, lieutenant; Clyde Withers, W. W. Sledge, Jay Garrett, E. S. Townsend, Don Roper, Charles Pence, Charles Huntington, S. B. Parks. Firemen will take tickets and act as takers at the Palace.

ALAMEDA CLUB GIRLS, BOYS GO FORWARD

Alameda 4-H club girls and boys held their annual achievement night program Friday night. With Ima Louise Little as toastmaster, Berlie June Blackwell, Fred Rodgers, Harless Logan and Colleen Davis led the group in songs, pledge, motto and prayer in the order stated. A short skit in the depicting 4-H club work in the community and community and including demonstrations of a frame garden and a home-made brooder, was given.

Charles Sullivan gave a summary of boys' club work in the county. Bennie Watson told of the accomplishments of the Alameda club and Junior Love and Earl Little demonstrated control of the cattle grub.

Mr. and Mrs. John Love, sponsors, presented the honor awards. Forty boys of the 42 enrolled received awards; as did 15 girls of the 24 enrolled. Homer Smith, county school superintendent, presented films of "Twenty Fighting Men" and "Our Fighting Allies."

It has been custom for Home Demonstration club to sponsor the 4-H girls and boys and provide them with money. This year John Love was elected local leader for the boys and, through his ingenuity, the Alameda boys are no longer considered orphans. The Home Demonstration club has adopted them along with the girls.

CARDS NECESSARY

Students of teen-age, not in high school or Junior college, who wish to participate in Teen-age Canteen activities, may apply at Canteen school business office and high school membership cards, said Miss Winifred Tichenor, member of the Canteen Council, today. Hereafter, Miss Tichenor stated, all must have official membership cards to gain admission to the cards to gain admission to the Canteen, Friday and Saturday nights.

PRISONERS COME YOUNG—Boarding a train that will take them to an internment camp in England, these boys are part of group of 800 German prisoners captured on the Italian front. Note that war prisoner in center and one preceding him look no more than fifteen years old.

LIEUT. BERRY OF AIR FORCES LISTED MISSING

Word has been received by William Reagan from his daughter, Mrs. Gladys Reagan Berry, that her husband, Lieut. Charles Berry of the U. S. air forces, has been missing since February 4, following a mission over France. The Texan was on his thirteenth trip into enemy country.

The lieutenant is a son of Mrs. Kate Berry Brown of Brownwood and the late George E. Berry and is 29 years of age.

Other Cisco relatives of the missing airman are his grandmother, Mrs. W. L. Harrell and his uncle, Frank E. Harrell.

SCALE OF ALLIED ATTACKS TO REACH FAR BEYOND ANYTHING IMAGINED, SAYS CHURCHILL

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today that the Allies will step up their assault on Germany "far beyond the dimensions of anything yet employed or indeed imagined," but warned that the Nazi command was preparing to retaliate with attacks by "pilotless aircraft, rockets or both on a substantial scale."

In his first full address since his return from the historic conferences at Cairo and Teheran, Churchill said Britain, the United States and Russia were bound in a solemn compact "to fall on and smite the Hun by land, sea and air with all the strength that is in us this coming spring and summer."

"The task is heavy, the toil is long and the trail will be severe," he said in concluding his 76-minute speech. "Let us all try our best to do our duty. Victory may not be far away and certainly will not be denied us in the end."

At the same time, however, Churchill said he never had taken the view that Adolf Hitler was about to collapse and never had given any guarantee "or even held out any expectation that the year 1944 will see the end of the European war."

With American air strength in Britain now beginning to surpass that of the RAF, he said, the spring and summer will show a "vast increase" in the strength of the Allied air offensive against Germany and occupied territory — "the foundation upon which our plans for overseas invasion stand."

"The scale of attacks will reach far beyond the dimensions of anything that yet has been employed or indeed imagined," he told Commons.

In warning that Germany was preparing to retaliate with pilotless-plane or rocket attacks, Churchill for the first time gave a clue to the targets on the French invasion coast which American and British planes have been attacking almost ceaselessly for more than a month.

"There is no doubt that the Germans are preparing on the French shore a new means of attack . . ." he said. "We long have been watching this with the utmost vigilance. We are striking at all evidence of these preparations on occasion when the weather is suitable."

Other highlights of Churchill's speech included:

1. Allied air raids have tied down 3,000,000 German defense and air raid precautions workers, drawn off four-fifths of Germany's fighter planes, produced a dull apathy among the German people, and had a "noteworthy effect" on Nazi munitions production.
2. United States aircraft production alone is double or treble that of Germany.
3. United States - British strength at the opening of the Western Front will be "approximately equal," but if the struggle becomes prolonged the continuous flow of Americans will make their force the greater.
4. Germany still has 300 infantry divisions — at full strength 4,500,000 men—but many divisions have been reduced numerically.
5. The battle in Italy will be hard and long against 500,000 Germans, but Allied leaders are confident of final success.
6. There has been no cooling in Anglo-American-Russian friendship or rebirth of suspicion since the Teheran conference.
7. Some arrangement as to a Russian-Polish border should be made before the end of the war, and Russia's demand for reassurance about her western frontiers does not go beyond the limits of what is "reasonable and just."

REDUCE THE PRICE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The federal government is trying "desperately" to move the 138,000,000-bushel carryover from last year's record-breaking potato crop to avert the necessity for dumping to make way for the new spring crop.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

BROWNWOOD, Feb. 22.—John Bertram Davis, 35, was killed here this morning when his car was struck by a train. Davis, mechanic for a taxicab company, was on his way to work. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter.

FALSE TIME CARDS.

DALLAS, Feb. 22.—Three persons faced sentences ranging from a $100 fine to two years in federal prison today after pleading guilty to falsification of time cards at the North American Aviation plant here.

JAPS ARE PAYING.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Feb. 22.—Allied forces, in a non-stop offensive to neutralize Japan's Southwest Pacific holdings, sank or damaged at least 60 enemy ships last week, 12 of them in a heavy two-day aerial attack Saturday and Sunday on Kavieng, New Ireland, it was announced today.

KRIVOI ROG TOTTERS.

MOSCOW, Feb. 22.—The Red Army, slashing at both flanks of the German battle line, stormed through the streets of Krivoi Rog and raced over the approaches to Pskov today in bids for quick victories to celebrate the 26th anniversary of its founding tomorrow. Front dispatches gave every indication that Gen. Ridio Y. Malinovsky's Army of the Ukraine was prepared to smash German resistance at Krivoi Rog, great mining center anchoring the Nazi salient in the Ukraine.

LOS ANGELES STORM.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—A lashing wind felled trees and power lines today as the continuing rain reached a two-day total of 5.67 inches. One death was attributed to the storm, and sheriff's deputies reported a foothill bridge and two houses washed out. Water was reported from 1 1/2 to 3 feet deep at various places on at least two busy industrial thoroughfares in Los Angeles.

LEGION AUXILIARY WANTS SCRAP RECORDS

Mrs. Paul Poe, president of American Legion auxiliary, announces that the auxiliary will open a campaign tomorrow to secure all the scrap victrola or phonograph records available—that they may be re-made and placed in government hospitals for the entertainment of wounded or convalescing soldiers.

Cisco school children will aid in the worthy movement and boxes or baskets will be placed in the various schools for their convenience. Those having scrap records they wish to donate, but without means of delivering them, may telephone Mrs. Poe or any member of the auxiliary and they will be picked up.

The campaign will last one week.

RO-TA-TOR EDITOR INVITED TO CONVENTION

Rotarian W. W. Fewell, editor of Ro-Ta-Tor, Cisco Rotary publication, has been invited to make a 15-minute talk at Rotary district convention in Lubbock, April 24. Mr. Fewell has been asked to discuss "Kinds and Costs of Club Publications."

The Ro-Ta-Tor, now two years old, has received wide recognition in the Rotary world because of its constructive articles and that fact is responsible for the special invitation to its editor.

District Governor M. W. Lar-mour of Graham will be present at the convention and several Ciscoans in addition to Mr. Fewell expect to visit Lubbock on that occasion.

NAZIS ARE MASSING.

NAPLES, Feb. 22.—Ground fighting slackened all along the Italian battlefield today as the wearied Allied and German armies massed troops and equipment for the third and possibly decisive round in their bloody struggle for the Anzio beachhead and the hills above Cassino. On the embattled beachhead front, British and American troops fought three sharp but localized actions around Aprilia yesterday and their massed field guns broke up a new German attempt to reform for a counter-drive.

PRESBYTERIAN MEN.

FT. WORTH, Feb. 22.—J. B. Graham, Waxahachie, was elected president of Presbyterian Men of the Synod of Texas, USA, as the organization closed its 18th annual convention at Hemphill Presbyterian church today.

PROCTOR HAD ROUGH TRIP TO S. PACIFIC

J. E. Proctor, Jr., 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Proctor, who joined the navy December 14, 1942, and was later transferred to the Seabees, is well and getting along all right according to a letter received by the parents yesterday. The letter was written February 11, somewhere in the Pacific area, and was the first communication received by the parents since the boy sailed from a Mississippi port, December 27.

Proctor, born in Cisco and a graduate of Cisco high school, wrote that he was on the ocean 43 days after leaving this country and that much bad weather prevailed, making the voyage an exceptionally rough one. Proctor is a refrigerating engineer.

VETERAN JOB HOLDERS ARE UP ONCE MORE

AUSTIN, Feb. 22.—Four state officials who jointly have a record of 46 years in their present jobs today were officially candidates for renomination in the July Democratic primaries.

Agricultural Commissioner J. E. McDonald and State Superintendent L. A. Woods filed with the Democratic executive committee their fee of $100 for a place on the July 22 ballot. Previously applications for a ballot place had been filed by Land Commissioner Bascom Giles and Comptroller George H. Sheppard.

Counting the present year, McDonald and Sheppard are neck and neck, each with 14 years in office; Woods has 12 and Giles six.

He's $2,000,000 Heir

Pvt. Ben R. Violette, above, of South Bend, Ind., was willed a fortune of $2,000,000 by his half-sister in Canada, but he wants his old job with the Bendix Corp. back when the war ends. Now an MP with the AEF in England, he thinks taxes will "eat up most of the money."

A BLIND ALLEY.

When any industry seeks to improve its competitive position by advocating restrictive legislation against other industries, it is playing with fire. Spokesmen for manufacturers of advertised brands of food are holding a match dangerously close to the coat tails of their industry. They are asking that food retailers be restrained from marketing their own private brand food products in competition with brands of large food manufacturers. They do not complain that private brand food distributors are becoming monopolistic, or that consumers are being penalized, but merely that "private brand products are marketed pursuant to the policy of systematically underselling competing manufacturer brand products..." In other words, they are kicking because a competitor is able to undersell them and thereby render better service to the public. They apparently would prohibit such price lowering competition through the enactment of legislation which in the end might very likely stop every merchant, who so desired, from selling homemade products of any kind.

Restrictive laws, once put into force, reach far and in unexpected directions. If food manufacturers turn to such laws as a weapon to limit competition, they will put themselves in peril of becoming a monopoly, thus bringing on the entire food industry an avalanche of oppressive regulation that would hurt manufacturers, retailers and consumers.

If the manufacturing food industry is wise, it will seek to improve its own competitive efficiency rather than cripple its competitors. That is the way of progress. Any other way leads inevitably up a blind alley of bureaucratic dictation, where free enterprise ceases to exist.

WAR STRATEGY.

"Coming events cast their shadow before." The European war may not end this summer, as most Americans have expected, or even this year, but there is no doubt left about the outcome.

Russia is near to delivering a knock-out blow to the Germans in Middle Europe. Germany is tightening her lines and getting ready to withdraw, when necessary, to her "inner fortress." There no doubt, she can still make a strong fight. The intensity and duration of that fight will depend on the peace terms which the United Nations are prepared to impose. The struggle in Italy and on other fronts, from now on, is a defensive German gesture to exact the lightest terms possible.

Russia will have a pretty free hand in determining German penalties on the eastern front. Her sweeping victories and her incidental services to the Allies in western Europe give her that right. But Britain and America also must play a strong hand if they are to wield a reasonable share of control over western Europe hereafter, and also maintain their world prestige.

That requires victories in the West comparable to Russia's in the East. And that fact makes it clear why the British and Americans, with their continental friends, must win a sweeping victory in Italy.

HUMANITY MOVES FORWARD

A few weeks ago the Navy flying boat Mars landed in Hawaiian waters after a routine flight from California. The fact that the trip was scarcely noted in the press was the most spectacular aspect of the undertaking. World-wide air transport has become commonplace. Humanity has taken another step forward without realizing it.

Global air transport statistics since Pearl Harbor are hard to comprehend. The import of strategic war materials by air has been about 20 times as safe as such imports by surface vessels. While the average unit value of war commodities has been only 3 1-2 cents a pound when moved by surface vessels, it has been $2.85 when moved by air. Only high value materials are sent by plane.

The average American ocean vessel of the year 1798 was only 87 per cent as big, in gross tonnage, as the Navy flying boat Mars.

Eighteen U. S. airlines are now participating in domestic and over-ocean transport services operated by the Army and the Navy, and several great United States aircraft manufacturers produce transport type airplanes at top speed.

In one six-month period in 1943, almost 30,000,000 pounds of air cargo was flown by domestic airlines alone, as compared with less than 8,000,000 pounds for a comparable period in 1941.

Modern air transport is not a "war baby." Transoceanic clippers were flying long before the war. Military authorities point out that air transport on the present scale would never have been possible except for the years of pioneering carried on by the commercial airlines.

Those airlines were conceived in the minds of barnstorming pilots whose dreams were backed by business men with vision and unlimited faith in America and aviation.

These men, from grease monkeys to airline presidents, were "rugged individuals."

The country can be thankful that it had them before the war. It needs them now and will need them more than ever in the future, if our national stride is to remain unbroken.

January 3, 1922

(Cisco American Files)

PUTNAM, Texas, Jan. 3, 1922.—This was only the second Trades Day held in Putnam and an extremely disagreeable day, nevertheless there was a large attendance. The entertainment began with the favorite sport of goat roping. Those old boys glory in any sport which they can enter on horseback. There was a day not far gone when this was a great cattle country, and still there are many large ranches adjacent to the town. Most all of these cowboys and ex-cowboys possess their speedy automobiles and use them when quick transit is demanded, but whenever they can attend to affairs on horseback they use the horse, for they prefer the snappy movement of a classy saddle horse to mashing the upholstery of an automobile. Chas. Good won first money in the goat roping contest, his time being twenty three seconds. Gus Brandon was the taker of second money, performing the task in twenty-six seconds. Tom Edwards won first place in the cigar race, performing the feat of running his horse one hundred yards, dismounting and lighting a cigar in the high wind and returning in twenty-five seconds. Marvin Armstrong, Jno. Taylor and R. D. Williams performed this stunt in twenty-six seconds and tied for second honors, so they flipped heads and tails and the prize went to Jno. Taylor. Just before 12 o'clock fourteen ladies entered into a nail driving contest and the greatest of all miracles was that each and every lady hit the correct nail—the eight-penny and not the finger nail. Mrs. Elsie Green won in this contest, time three seconds. She used a three pound ball-pin hammer, owing to the fact that the judges ruled that no weight hammer was barred, and Mrs. Green decided she would use as large a hammer as she was physically able to handle. The result was she sent the nail up at one blow. Afternoon from one until two o'clock was the time set aside for the judging of livestock and poultry and while these events were in progress the boys were running horse races for pasture over in the square. Then, just to break the monotony of this slow exercise, Ed Peach of Albany rode a brown mustang bareback with a sureingle and no bridle. The horse certainly swung a wicked hip, but Ed stuck there like a leech. There was next run an automobile slow race, with all kinds of cars entered in the contest. The object of the race was to consume all the time possible in running one hundred yards and still run in high gear. The contest was won by a Seneca car driven by T. B. Heslip. It had been planned to have one and perhaps two basket ball games but owing to the extremely high wind all these were called off, although the ladies' team of Putnam suited out but found no one with nerve enough to show up against the wind storm.
