LIEUT. BAKER Laid to Rest in Oakwood MOTHER OF R. JONES DIED HERE Monday

Lieut. Wm. C. Baker, 26, who was killed Friday afternoon in an airplane accident at Houston, was laid to rest in Oakwood cemetery Monday afternoon, following impressive services at Green Funeral Home by Rev. J. R. Wright, pastor of First Christian church.

Mrs. J. C. Jones, 68, of Lometa, died Monday afternoon at the home of her son, R. R. Jones, in Humbletown. The Green funeral home left with the body at noon today for Lometa, where funeral and burial will take place at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The maiden name of deceased was Anna Susan Dodson and she was married to Mr. Jones in 1895. She was born in Kentucky and came to Texas when a small child.

Survivors include the husband, three sons and a daughter, as follows: J. C. Jones, the husband; R. R. Jones, Cisco; T. P. Jones, Midland; R. H. Jones, Bangs; Mrs. Ed Dobbins, The Dalles, Oregon.

MRS. BRUNKENHOFER LED THE BOWLERS

The local funeral, which was attended by a large number of friends of Lieutenant Baker and his family, was preceded by a military service in Houston Sunday afternoon when Chaplain Brown of Ellington air field officiated.

Four teams of the Women's Bowling league competed on the local alleys Monday night, with Drumwright's Inc. winning two out of three from Carmichael Grocery and Elite Beauty Shop also taking a majority of the games from Nance Motor Co. Mrs. Alec Brunkenhofer was high for the evening with an average of 140. In the race for second place Mrs. C. B. Shaw, Mrs. Les Jenkins and Mrs. C. E. Paul tied with total scores of 136 each.

Next Monday night the women will be paired as follows: Drumwright vs. Elite Beauty Shop and Carmichael vs. Nance Motor.

Last night's games in detail: Drumwright's Inc.—Mrs. Jerry Locke 132-104-110 Mrs. G. J. Ward 124-128-121 Miss V. HIGH SCHOOL BASKET BALL FINALS MAR 4

AUSTIN, Feb. 29.—The playing of the final high school championship basketball games will be divided into two periods on March 4, according to R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the University Interscholastic League, in charge of all events.

The final games of the A and B divisions will be played at 2 p. m. on March 4. The class AA final game will be played at 9:15 Saturday night.

A special network of 26 radio stations has been formed to carry a play-by-play report of the two championship games Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock and the championship game Saturday night. Broadcasts will be sponsored by Magnolia Petroleum Co.

Dean T. H. Shelby of the extension division, University of Texas will present to the winners of the three divisions and their individual members the various trophies which will designate the 1944 state basketball champions.

Basketball fans will again listen to Ves Box and Charlie Jordan, the play-by-play announcers, with George Harding and Jim Crocker giving the descriptive color of the three games. These sports announcers have handled the basketball broadcasts for the past two years.

FRENCH CHIEF — Directing French troops battling in the treacherous mountain territory flanking Cassino, five-star General Alfonso Juin eats a roadside repast beside his jeep rather than take time out for a slower meal at regular Army mess.

JUNGLE MACHINE SHOP—Proving that Navy men are valuable assets on land as well as water, bearded, first class shipfitters Stephen Barker of Concordia, Kans., and Richard Williams of Evansville, Ind., do their jobs in heavy equipment maintenance shop on Bougainville.

CHECKING UP—Housewives, who volunteered to help OPA police ceiling price violators in New York City, were taken on test inspection tour of East Side groceries. Here, Joe Ronga, grocer, points out to Mrs. Michael Sexton that he's living up to ceiling price laws.

SENATE WILL TRY TO MAKE EMPLOYEES TALK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—A senate agriculture subcommittee investigating the Rural Electrification Administration was to meet in executive session today to consider the possibility of instituting contempt proceedings against two government officials who refused to testify at the hearing.

Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina, committee chairman, ordered the committee action after Jonathan W. Daniels, administrative assistant to President Roosevelt, declined to testify on the grounds that his testimony would be "of a confidential nature and not in the public interest."

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard likewise refused to testify on certain REA policies in a similar appearance before the committee several days ago.

Senator Aiken of Vermont said the committee would seek to clarify the fundamental issue of whether an authorized congressional committee could compel employees of the executive departments to testify on matters affecting the welfare of the entire government.

RATION BOARD BE CLOSED ON MARCH 1 AND 8

Eastland county war price and rationing board announces that because of the unusually heavy work incident to gasoline renewals and registration of restaurants and cafes in the county, the board will be closed all day tomorrow, March 1, and also on March 8.

The public is asked to assist the board by not calling at the office on the days mentioned.

ALL-DISTRICT HONOR PAID LOBO CAPTAIN

Homer Tompkins, co-captain of the Fighting Lobos during the 1943 season, who made the all-district 9-AA team as a half back, was presented with a handsome gold miniature football Monday at high school chapel exercises, the presentation being made by Monroe Sweeney, coach.

The honor token contained this inscription: "Tompkins—all-district 9-AA, 1943." The entire high school and the faculty witnessed the presentation, which was made by Mr. Sweeney in behalf of Cisco high school.

The last all-district honors conferred locally went to Coy Warren, half back, in 1940.

HUNDRED NEW ENSIGNS

AUSTIN, Feb. 29.—An even hundred naval ROTC students—including 15 bridegrooms—received ensign commissions at University of Texas exercises Monday night. "The navy is as good as the men in it and no better," the graduates were told by Rear Adm. C. P. Mason.

EISENHOWER TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—General Eisenhower scheduled from London and Governor Dewey from New York are expected to be heard tonight as the networks continue all-day broadcasting on behalf of the Red Cross War Fund drive, which starts Wednesday.

STALIN SPEAKS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Marshal Stalin of Russia today underscored the Allied understandings reached at Moscow and Tehran late last year, and advised President Roosevelt he was convinced the time is near when cooperating forces of the Soviet Union, the United States and Great Britain will bring about "the final defeat of our common enemy, Hitlerite Germany."

NAZI AIRFIELDS AT EDGE OF HOLY CITY POUNDED FOR THE SECOND STRAIGHT DAY, REPORT

NAPLES, Feb. 29.—American dive bombers pounded German airfields in the suburbs of Rome for the second straight day, a report said today, as Allied ground forces improved their positions on the rain-swept Anzio beachhead after beating off new German counter-thrusts.

While the Luftwaffe remained grounded by intermittent rain squalls that hampered ground fighting on all three main battlefronts in southern Italy, swarms of Allied medium and fighter bombers struck repeatedly at enemy targets in the Rome area and along the Nazi-held railroad lines feeding down from the north.

Other raiders swept across the Adriatic to bomb and machine-gun German shipping off the Dalmatian coast.

American A-36 Invaders spearheaded the assault, dive-bombing and strafing the Littoria Airfield in the southern outskirts of Rome and the Guidonia and Marcigliano fields in the northern part of the city.

Lt. Nick Kasun, Detroit, who led the fight against the Littoria field, said his formation laid its bombs squarely across the Nazi hangars and the adjacent railway yards and then swung back to strafe freight cars stalled in the yards.

The central Italian railway junctions of Chieti and Terni also came under the Allied bombsights, while another raiding force hit at enemy coastal shipping off the Adriatic port of Ancona.

The raiders met no aerial opposition over Italy, although 20 German fighters circled harmlessly over the Invaders during their attack on the Rome fields, and the three Allied planes lost in the daylight operations were believed to have been downed by anti-aircraft fire or had bad weather.

On the Anzio beachhead, American and British troops continued their limited offensive in the area south and southwest of Aprilia behind a steady artillery barrage that crashed down throughout the day on Nazi troops massing before the Allied lines.

(A United Press Madrid dispatch quoted reports from Rome that Marshal Albert Kesselring was reinforcing his air squadrons in the beachhead area and would launch his expected offensive as soon as the mud hardened sufficiently to permit the movement of mechanized forces. Men and equipment were said to be clogging the roads south of Rome.)

On the Cassino front, Allied troops entrenched with a few hundred yards of the ruined Monte Cassino Abbey mopped up isolated German patrols who had infiltrated their lines during the night.

Brisk patrol fighting also was reported from the British Eighth Army's Adriatic front.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC — American airmen, aided by Navy PT-boats in a running battle off Bougainville, delivered another smashing blow on the beleaguered Japanese throughout the Southwest Pacific Saturday, destroying or damaging 29 planes 34 barges and two cargo ships, it was announced today.

The aerial offensive was centered on New Britain and New Guinea in the drive to neutralize the enemy's largest bases in this area.

More than 200 Solomons-based bombers hit Rabaul on New Britain for the 24th consecutive day with 164 tons of bombs, again encountering no opposition from enemy fighters, and only one plane was lost in the attack. Fourteen barges, four jetties and an ammunition dump were destroyed or damaged at Rabaul, while two other barges and a small cargo ship were sunk off the Duke of York Island.

MOSCOW.—The battle of Pskov opened today as Gen. Markian M. Popov's Red Army raced over the approaches to the key stronghold in the German defenses on the Baltic front and neared its outskirts.

Russian forces swept through a whole series of hedgehog outposts in a converging drive on Pskov from three directions, and if the advance continues at its present rate it will topple the rail hub of the northern front with a minimum delay.

Sweeping in at the near record pace of almost one mile an hour, the Russians were less than seven miles from Pskov and were believed to be shelling the stronghold commanding the way to Latvia and lower Estonia.

(A German communique said the Red Army attacked with several infantry divisions northwest of Nevel, 140 miles southeast of Pskov on the lower route to the Baltics, and claimed that repeated Russian onslaughts failed east of Lake Pskov and near Narva.)

SHARP CUT POINT VALUE PORK, BEEF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Sharp reductions in the ration values of pork and many beef cuts will go into effect Sunday.

But the ration values of veal, lamb, mutton, butter, cheese, lard and all other fats and dairy products will remain unchanged through March, OPA said today.

Only the values of spare ribs are unaffected in a general reduction of pork points. The cuts range from one to three points, bringing the average ration value of pork down to 1.7 points a pound. Beef cuts used for roasts, rib steaks and steaks are also reduced.

MASONIC PROGRAM

Cisco Masonic lodge held a Washington birthday observance program Thursday night following the regular meeting. Judge Frank Roberts of Breckenridge made a splendid address on George Washington. The assembly was also delighted to have with them H. E. Chandler, district-deputy grand master, who was making his official visit. Other visitors were present from Breckenridge and McCamey and there was a large delegation from Moran.

Segt. and Mrs. James A. W. W. of Big Spring spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lawrence.

COSTLY BUILDING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Representative Engel of Michigan, the "one-man congressional investigation," estimated today that the Pentagon Building here had cost $86,000,000, considerably more than twice the amount allocated by congress.

GREATER ARMS OUTPUT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Charles E. Wilson, executive vice-chairman of the War Production Board, today reminded management and labor that "the heat is still on" for greater arms output in 1944 "despite all this talk about cutbacks."

CONGRESS AND PRESIDENT.

(Fort Worth Press.)

Now that Congress has over-riden the President's unprecedented veto of a tax bill, and Senate Democrats have endorsed Leader Barkley's revolt against Roosevelt usurpation, where do we go from here?

The answer is far more important than the political fortunes of any man or party. Winning the war and winning the peace are at stake. There can be no national units and no efficient war government as long as the President and Congress are fighting each other. Teamwork between the White House and the Hill, in the letter and spirit of co-ordinate constitutional powers, is the most acute need in America today.

Such co-operation will not be easy to achieve. Congress has been alternately ignored, smeared, and bossed for so long by the President that its human temptation is to pay him back now that he has over-reached himself. Freedom that comes from successful revolt is a heady wine — Congress could get drunk on it.

Co-operation is even harder for the President. By temperament and habit he is a one-man show. Moreover, as wartime commander-in-chief he is in a spot where even the humble Lincoln found it necessary to be dictatorial at times.

But above all other causes of growing conflict between the President and Congress is the fourth term friction.

It is hard for him to divorce War President Roosevelt from Candidate Roosevelt, and still more difficult for Congress to do so. Even when he speaks with wisdom and selflessness, he is heard as a clever politician maneuvering for 16 years' rule. And when he loses his poise—as in his recent insulting messages—he is jumped on as a blundering candidate, rather than helped out as a national leader who sometimes stumbles under the world's heaviest load.

Despite all barriers the President and Congress must get together. Congress must forget and forgive his past usurpations, remembering its own frequent defaults of responsibility.

The President must learn, from the humiliation which he has just brought upon himself, that he no longer can drive the elected representatives. He must lead, if they are to follow. He must reason, if they are to agree. He must respect their constitutional function, if they are to work with him.

The present tax and foreign policy disputes are typical. The Constitution makes Congress chiefly responsible for taxation, and the President chiefly responsible for foreign policy, but both responsibilities are to be shared. We repeat here the proposals we and others have made so many times for joint executive-legislative committees. Unless the President and Congress can get together on a simplified program for increased taxes, the nation is threatened with inflation and worse. Unless they can get together on a foreign policy, the nation is threatened with another Wilson tragedy and loss of the peace.

They can get together, if they will.

ALL QUEER BUT US.

More or less talk seems to be going around in this country that is derogatory to Britain. Many of our soldiers don't like the Englishmen and their ways, and among friends they don't mind saying so.

Well, the British and Americans always have had a tendency to "gird" at each other, and perhaps they always will. We find their ways queer, and their speech more so. Their defects, to us, seem many and obvious.

At the same time, it is interesting and a bit shocking to discover that they regard us, ourselves, as rather queer in speech, manners and outlook. Could it be that both sides are queer, and have shortcomings, and are a bit hard to understand and get along with?

There is a pretty good remedy for such mutual shocks and misunderstandings. It is to get acquainted with a few of the other nationalities in foreign parts. We generally find them even queerer than the English, and lacking in certain basic virtues which most Britons have in common with us.

Moreover, at present we're all in the same boat, and there's no sense in rocking the boat. It will be time for Americans to start criticizing when we have endured what they have already gone through in this war.

EXPANDING WAIST-LINES

Bay-windows are not the loveliest feature of the male form divine. Since they exist, however, and since the average owner does not do anything about them, it is up to the tailor to step in.

That is just what is going to happen, according to Raymond Twyeffort, chairman of the Merchant Tailors and Designers Association of America, who has just been showing post-war styles at a Chicago press conference. The suit shown has a slide fastener, which permits letting out the waists of trousers and vests.

"Except for riding breeches," says Mr. Twyeffort, "men's clothes are always fitted standing up. But men sit down nearly 80 per cent of the time, and when a man sits down his waist and abdomen expand from three to seven inches, depending on his size and weight."

Maybe the war will do the home front some good after all.

A Whole Freedom.

When Patrick Henry said, "Give me liberty or give me death," he was not too analytical, if we have the story straight. And we probably have, because his speech was too short for extensive revision.

New Yorkers and folk in nearby Long Island and New Jersey towns were thrilled by the sight above when the beacon atop the Empire State building blazed forth again — for the first time since wartime blackouts were instituted.

CITY ELECTION.

The Daily Press is authorized to announce the following candidates for city commissioner, subject to the will of Cisco voters at the election to be held Tuesday, April 4, 1944:

CHARLES J. KLEINER
HENRY S. DRUMWRIGHT.
A. D. ANDERSON.

Henry did not take-off on freedom from this, and freedom from that. He said he wanted liberty, which suggests something alive and all in one piece, not a cut-up carcass from a butcher shop.

Whenever we catalogue things, we define them; and when we define things, we limit their application. Experimental dissection is nice work in some fields but it's hard on the victim. Our liberty we don't want butchered. I believe the worst thing that ever could happen to Patrick Henry's beloved liberty would be having it drawn and quartered into four freedoms, especially when only two of them have any value.

Two Are Deceys.

Consider guaranteed "freedom from want" for example. It's a typical paper moon; worthless and out of reach. Nothing can ever free a people of want but their own work and wits. I learned when very young to believe the statement of Jesus: Ye have the poor with you always. And guaranteed "freedom from fear" is another swamp-ghost; a will-o'-the-wisp, if you prefer. Fear will never be trapped or jailed. The more we discuss freedom from personal traits the less it means.

Two Are Real.

But "religious liberty" is different. It has value. It is the foundation supporting the pillars of all human freedom. In fact, the essence of religion is liberty and freedom. If we lose that, we lose everything. A soul's right to worship God is just what led a large share of our forbears to this country. They paid for religious liberty with a bigger outlay of blood, sweat and tears per family than any subsequent American victory ever cost.

"Freedom of speech" is something else we can't do without too long. Even a thinking and powerful race can be enslaved without it, as Germany was. Of course, when a peaceful nation is fighting for its life is no time to squabble over who will face the microphone, but freedom of speech is still a cardinal liberty. Whenever men get smacked down for speaking up, the people are in bondage.

New Freedom?

America's cherished liberty is already bought and paid for. We can keep it as long as we understand and appreciate it. Along with religious liberty and freedom of speech our Constitution guarantees us many things. One product of freedom you rarely hear mentioned these days is the Property Right. That's the liberty to earn something; to have things and manage them. No matter who bellittles this, it is a rare and precious privilege.

The United States has become the richest and most influential nation on earth, and the best place in the world to live, by using the whole liberty, guaranteed under her Constitution. We would better keep it whole. However, if we must have a lot of little freedoms, I'd like to suggest one. It would be "freedom from pity." Pity destroys human independence, self-reliance and self-respect and gives us subsidy, patronage and PWA's instead, a sorry trade!

FIGHTING ON LAND AND SEA

"Water Buffalo" amphibian tanks, made by Food Machinery Corporation in plants at San Jose and Riverside, California, and Lakeland, Fla., are credited with taking Makin Island. These vehicles, military authorities say, have at least partially solved the problem of getting Allied manpower onto hundreds of beaches now held by the Japs.

Broom Corn Seed
For sale at forty cents per pound.
It takes about two pounds per plowing acre and one acre will produce five hundred pounds of corn.
I will contract to buy broom corn at $250 per ton, the ceiling price, up to the amount of $500,000 and take it when ready.
Crops should be harvested in July or August.
This would mean a good income for the people of Eastland county, whereas it is now being purchased in other sections of the country and shipped here.
I would suggest planting broom corn seed about the 15th of March.
