PUBLIC HAS RIGHT KNOW WHO DID IT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—Director Elmer Davis of the Office of War Information announces that an unidentified British editor was responsible for the distribution among American troops of a news pamphlet containing a story that political foes of President Roosevelt were ready to spend $50,000,000 to block a fourth term.

Davis characterized inclusion of the story in the news sheet for newly arrived men as a mistake in judgment. He said he was satisfied the British ministry of information didn't know it was to be done.

In a letter replying to a request from Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia for an investigation of the incident, Davis said proper steps were being taken to prevent a repetition.

He said the story was sent from the United States by a news agency which he did not name, and had been printed in British papers. Byrd, in a second letter to Davis, asked for the name of the agency.

EASTLAND, Mar. 1.—Judges selected for the county livestock show to be held Saturday, all of whom have stated they will be present, are as follows: Joe Shelton of Brownwood, famous Jersey breeder, will judge the dairy division; J. W. Riddle of Lingerville will judge sheep and goats and T. H. Roenech, county agent of Fisher county, will judge the beef cattle and hogs.

Judging will start immediately after the parade, which will begin at 11 o'clock.

Rip Galloway, parade marshal of many years' experience, asks the cooperation of all high school bands, 4-H clubs, FFA chapters and horseback riders and would like to have them meet at Pickering Lumber Co. yards at 10:30 o'clock to begin forming the parade lines.

Cisco, Ranger and Eastland chambers of commerce have raised $300 to finance the show and with full general cooperation by these three cities the event should be a successful one, notwithstanding the many war-time handicaps.

IOWA REPUBLICANS FAVOR THOS. DEWEY

PRINCETON, N. J., Mar. 1.—Republican voters interviewed throughout the state of Iowa by a Gallup poll indicate a preference at this time for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York for the GOP presidential nomination.

Wendell L. Willkie finished second in the survey with a substantial vote, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur third.

Iowa's twenty-three voting delegates to the presidential nominating convention in June will be uninstructed although, in the wake of Willkie's western tour which took him into Iowa, his friends say they expect substantial support for him from the Iowa delegates.

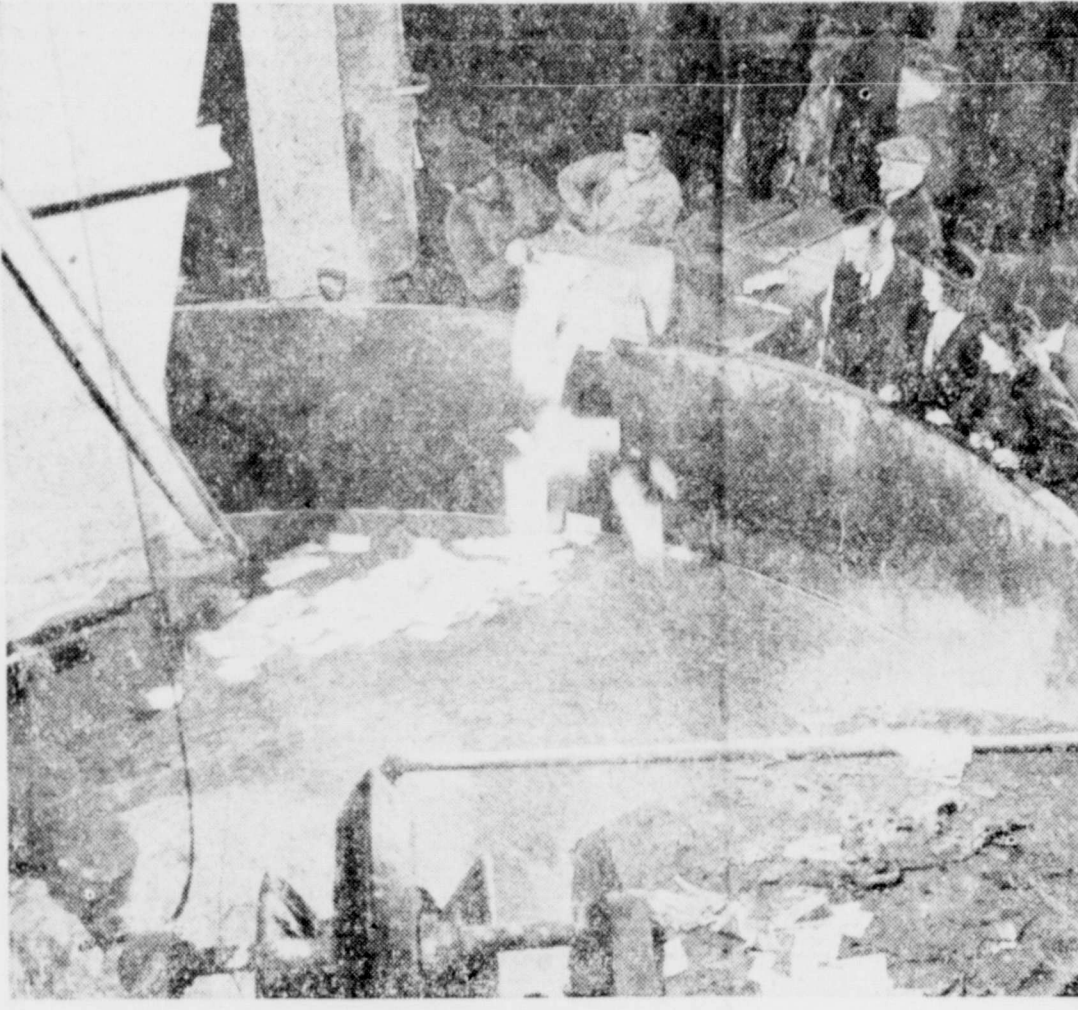

To determine rank and file party sentiment throughout the state, interviewers for the institute presented to each person interviewed a list of various men who have been widely talked about as possible candidates for president. The preferences of those voters who named a Republican were as follows:

Thomas E. Dewey, 40 percent; Wendell Willkie 25, Douglas MacArthur 16, Harold Stassen 13 and John W. Bricker 2.

EXCEEDED THE STANDARD. Wyman Blair of the Corinth community exceeded the poultry standard for January by approximately three eggs per hen, says Floyd Lynch, county agent. Blair has 961 hens and it was through proper care, management and the culling program that he was able to do this. For replacement, Mr. Blair has 1,000 triple A English white leghorn baby chicks and expects to secure an additional thousand.

VEGETABLES PLOWED UNDER. RAYMONDVILLE, Tex., March 1.—Thousands of acres of vegetables are being plowed under in Willacy county, as angered farmers refused to harvest them at a loss. Large acreages of cabbage were being turned under and spinach, turnips, mustard greens, beets, radishes and other vegetables were also forfeited because there was no market for them.

DANCERS REPROVED. LONDON, Mar. 1.—The Rome radio reported that 100 persons, arrested when Fascist police raided a dance hall in Milan, were forced to parade through the streets wearing signs around their necks reading: "We dance while the Motherland is suffering."

WAGE SCALE HIKE WOULD COST PLENTY

AUSTIN, Mar. 1.—The state highway commission has made formal written protest to the federal wage adjustment board against proposed extension of the Houston pay scale for operators of construction equipment to fifty counties of a so-called San Antonio area, principally in southwest and west Texas.

The brief prepared by Atty. Gen. Grover Sellers said that the proposed increases, if applied to an average of 2,050 miles of state highway construction would cost Texas taxpayers $8,200,000 a year extra or result in 410 fewer miles of highway improvement.

The state contends that the wage adjustment board is without authority to ask that the pay provisions of state laws be changed.

Students were sent home as strikers blocked out halls and classrooms, maintaining only enough heat to prevent water pipes freezing. ### ANOTHER MAJOR STEP FORWARD IN M'ARTHUR'S COMEBACK TRAIL TO HIS GOAL, THE PHILIPPINES

NEW GUINEA, March 1.—American troops who stormed ashore on the Admiralty Islands under General MacArthur's personal command were cleaning out last pockets of Japanese resistance on Los Negros today, after a major step along MacArthur's comeback trail to the Philippines.

In a sunrise invasion of the islands, lying only 610 miles from Truk and 1,300 miles from the Philippines, MacArthur's swift-moving forces flanked three major Japanese bases in the Southwest Pacific, and sealed the fate of 50,000 more Japs in the Bismarck Archipelago.

Those enemy troops, coupled with 22,000 more doomed in the Solomons by the tight Allied blockade, constitute roughly five divisions that the Nipponese warlords must write off the books.

Covered by naval and air bombardment which wreaked havoc among the Admiralty chain—325 miles northwest of Rabaul—dismounted U. S. cavalrymen streamed ashore and speedily captured the well-constructed Momote airfield on Los Negros.

MacArthur watched the landing from the deck of a warship, spotting the invasion moves as he had planned them.

It was apparent that Japanese resistance was slight, so great was their surprise. The attackers were carried to the islands by destroyers, which took part in offshore bombardment in support of the invading units of the 1st Cavalry Division, dismounted, who carried out a successful advance to the farthest northern point in the South Pacific.

The 1st Cavalry Division is commanded by Maj. Gen. Innis P. Swift of El Paso, Texas, and belongs to Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger's 6th Army, which has furnished troops for other invasions in the Southwest Pacific.

It was significant that MacArthur's communique pointed out that the newly-won territory, with its excellent airfield, lies only 1,300 miles from the Philippines, which he has vowed he would recapture.

By his bold stroke, MacArthur outflanked Rabaul, in New Britain; Kavieng, New Ireland, and Wewak, New Guinea, the enemy's three prime bases in the South Pacific. Close by Los Negros lies Manus Island, largest of the Admiralty Islands, site of another important airfield, both of them within medium bomber range of Truk.

Lorengau, on the northeast tip of Manus, may be the next objective of the Americans. It is on Seadler Harbor, a 55-mile waterway formed by a lagoon which could accommodate a large fleet.

The Admiralties, former German possession and an Australian mandate under the Versailles Treaty, were occupied by the Japanese in January, 1942. The enemy has been using them as a refueling stop on the line from Truk, 750 statute miles northeast, to New Guinea.

Not only will Allied occupation of the Admiralty Islands sever the Japanese supply line to its bases in New Britain—already invaded on its western coast by U. S. soldiers and marines—and New Ireland, but the move will relieve the Allied supply line from danger of a flank attack.

NAPLES—German armored forces, equipped with radio-directed robot tanks loaded to the turrets with high explosives, struck with gathering force at the Anzio beach-head today in what appears to be their third major attempt to hurl the Fifth Army invaders back into the sea.

Grimly-fighting Allied forces were reported holding firm under every onslaught, but headquarters spokesmen indicated the full weight of the Nazi offensive was just beginning to enter the battle and that the decisive test lay ahead.

(A German High Command communique said a "fairly large" Allied battle unit had been encircled southwest of Cisterna during the initial Nazi attack).

MOSCOW.—Soviet armored forces broke into the outskirts of Pskov, invasion key to the Baltic states, today and in a companion drive turned an enemy retreat into a rout only six miles from the last German-held north-south railway in northern Russia.

The Red Army's double threat to the main defenses guarding Latvia and southern Estonia gave promise of an early battle for the Baltic states themselves.

WORLD'S GREATEST SHOW.

Paricutin is one year old. A year ago Dionisio Pulido, a Mexican farmer in the province of Michoacan, 200 miles from Mexico City, had a terrifying experience. He saw a volcano burst out in his cornfield. Steadily growing, the new peak has now built up a cone 1,500 feet high, a pillar of cloud by day and of fire by night. While it has some way to go, it might yet rival Mexico's pride, Popocatepetl, a dormant volcano which is 17,550 feet high. After all, time is nothing to a volcano. Already it is, in the words of Dr. William F. Foshag, curator of mineralogy in the Smithsonian Institution, "the greatest show on earth."

Paricutin is a reminder that the earth is far from dead. We are used to imperceptible changes, a shore steadily eaten away here, or a river delta built up by constant deposits of mud. To have a new natural feature rise up suddenly is very unusual.

Niagara Falls, we are told, will eventually wear back to Lake Erie, and cease to be, at least as we know it. If this happened overnight, it would be a wonder on the order of Paricutin.

NERVOUS SUPERMAN.

The war is evidently getting on Hitler's nerves. Recent accounts from Sweden have told of the Superman flying into such a rage that he ordered several high Nazi officers shot for military failures. General Lindemann, commanding in the Leningrad area, has been reported as avoiding such an end by suicide.

Where there is so much smoke, there must be some fire. Such stories are in line with Hitler's known character and precedents. One of the first steps in his bloody career was the shooting of several of his chosen associates for alleged disloyalty. Indeed he seems to have shot, or ordered shot, most of his original friends. That fact may account, in part, for his not having any friends left. He seems to have killed them all, or driven them into exile.

But that is only a detail. Directly or indirectly, he has doubtless killed more people than any other man in human history. And the most astonishing part of it is that people let him keep on with his slaughter.

There must be a thousand ways to kill such a monster, yet nobody does it.

A PROFITABLE ROW.

Washington's senatorial revolt has come and gone, leaving our system of government not weaker, but stronger. The Executive branch has lost some power and the legislative branch has gained. There is nothing like a revolution, of course; our government has not survived the strains and stresses of a century and a half to change form or principle now. Even the wrenches of our greatest war will not do that. But there has been, in an astonishingly short time, a shaking down and tightening up of governmental principles and procedures that have jerked us out of a dangerous situation, cleared the air and set us on the beaten path again.

The president in our constitutional system, has great authority, and there is always danger of its being abused by disregard of the legislative branch. The danger is naturally most evident in war time, when the president as commander-in-chief has abnormal powers. There are two checks upon such power—Congress and the Supreme Court. In this case, fortunately, there was no need of resorting to the court. Congress, which has the "power of the purse," rose as one man when the executive unwisely ventured to curtail legislative authority.

So a crisis seems to have passed. It may be a long time now before another chief executive undertakes to dictate to congress so boldly on fiscal matters. Presumably there will be more cooperation between the executive and legislative branches. In fact, there MUST be.

RIGID REPTILES—To rid the Minnesota capital in St. Paul of flocks of pigeons that have become a nuisance, Julian Sletten, State Director of Public Property, sets up some wooden asps and king cobras which, it is hoped, will frighten the birds away.

Report to the Nation:

When the 4th War Loan Ended— Our Fighting Men Kept Firing!

News that the 4th War Loan goal of $14,000,000,000 has been reached and passed will cheer American boys from Italy to the Marshalls. But they will hear the news not only over sputtering radios but over the din of battle.

For the war still goes on with ever mounting fury. And that means that our War Bond buying must go on unabated, too.

To the millions who bought extra War Bonds in this drive, all America gives thanks.

To the 5,000,000 and more volunteer workers who contributed their time and abilities to help make the drive a success, your Government and your fighting men give thanks.

To the thousands of patriotic newspapers, magazines, radio stations and networks, members of the motion picture industry, the outdoor industry, advertisers and agencies, retail stores, banks, post offices, credit unions, building and loan associations, labor unions, fraternal organizations and farm credit associations, the Nation gives thanks.

Once again Americans have proved their determination to "back the attack" to the full.

But the attack goes on

Look at Italy. When the 4th War Loan drive ended at midnight February 15, the drive on Rome was still going on. American boys were still crouching in water-filled foxholes—clinging with bitter and bloody tenacity to a beachhead the Germans were equally determined to take back.

Thus on the same midnight that witnessed the end of the 4th War Loan drive, the hands of the clock met like shears to snip the lives of scores of American boys engaged in the March on Rome. And the fight goes on.

Look at Japan. At the same hour that saw the end of the 4th War Loan, the "March of Death" that shocked all America to a realization of Jap brutality to American prisoners of war—that march was still going on.

To liberate those heroes of Bataan and Corregidor before it is "too late," other American boys stormed and took the Marshalls on the road to Tokyo.

But that March to Tokyo—still 2,000 miles away—that march goes on.

And we on the home front

—can we afford to stop now that the 4th War Loan is history, while our all-important job of supplying and financing this costliest war of all time still goes on? We have won a home front battle here, yes. But just as our boys continue even more vigorously once they have established a beachhead, so we must continue to build on the success we have already achieved.

The Bonds we bought last week and the week before are today's exploding bombs and shells, and spent bullets can never be used again. We must provide for tomorrow, too. The need for new guns, planes, ships and tanks goes on.

For the war still goes on with ever mounting fury. So while all of those on the home front who have bought Bonds and have worked hard to make the 4th War Loan drive a success have earned the Nation's thanks, none of us can afford to forget that our home front job, including Bond buying, also still goes on!
