THE YOUNG IN COLLEGE.

Nat R. Howard, columnist, and former assistant to Byron Price in the office of censorship, recently absorbed a great deal of college atmosphere in one day. In the morning, at a woman's college, he conferred with a round-table of students of journalism. In the evening, at another, this one a co-ed institution, he was one of a panel on public opinion and the press. He writes:

"I gather the impression that you amount to little as an intellectual in college today, or even as an average dope, unless you know what is wrong with the world and offer, with some violence, the cures for these wrongs. I would be scared to go to college today. My classmates would be more informed and much more positive than I could be."

"These are terrorists, these 1944 collegians! They are quick and expressive and tremendously informed in public affairs, and militant about the sloppy evils of our civilization. They are bent on getting what is coming to them as free Americans. They will drop everything to lend Right a hand in a battle with Wrong just as fast as they can find where Right is. I never heard of such children! In a few years, they might really clean some of our troubles right off the slate, if we don't watch out. I fled the beautiful village with a sinking feeling that newspaper readers are getting harder to fool about things. They might even demand better newspapers."

Youth is always inclined to be a little too sure of itself and of everything else. Experience of life as it really is tends to unsettle somewhat the hard-and-fast conclusions youth draws so lightly. But it is splendid to find the young of today so alive to its world and the need of improving it.

LIFE AND STARS.

An editorial writer was asked lately what he could possibly find to write about after the war. "Plenty," was the reply.

"Even if there were no matters of tremendous import coming along in the political settlements among nations, and no entertaining entrance of new post-war gadgets on the scene, just plain, every-day living is so full of intense interest and variety that there could never be a lack of things to write about."

"Here's something, now." He lifted a clipping from the desk. A photograph had been printed with the caption "Tracers illuminate Nettuno." But an astronomy professor, looking at it, had decided it was a natural error to call it so.

"It seems that the photographer opened his camera some time after 2 a. m., pointed it toward the west, and before dawn he closed it. The chances are that the exposure was over two hours. The night was clear and free from anti-aircraft fire. This photograph shows no tracer shells, but parallel star trains. It is easy to ascertain the stars in the constellation of Orion and the bright star Sirius."

War or no war, the stars shine on, the planets revolve about the sun and man finds eternal interest in the marvels of nature.

That Russian campaign is beyond praise, but worries the other Allies a little. What right have they to humiliate the democracies this way?

CRIME WAVE.

There seems to be an unusual outbreak of petty crime lately, in many American cities. One of the most common offenses is the slugging and robbing of women, especially in the larger communities where it is easier for the culprit to escape and hide. The worst part of it is the brutality with which so many of the hold-up men treat their victims. Often elderly women are seriously hurt.

It is hard to provide adequate protection against such offenses in war-time, when man-power is short and cities are under-policed. All the more reason, therefore, to be especially severe with the villains when they are caught. The Nazis simply shoot such men, as unworthy to live. Americans are not much inclined to imitate them in any respect, but our lower courts often seem unduly tolerant and the parole weakness grows apace. There must be more effective war against domestic crime as well as foreign crime.

A Little Lesson in Abstracting—

The abstract is a written history of the title chain. If carefully prepared it will (1) definitely locate the tract under search. (2) Reveal, if possible, the true ownership. (3) Show liens, if any, and (4) the defects in the deed or other written documents. It may or may not prove the title to be good. This is the reason for the abstract and why it is necessary in every real estate transaction.

REPORT FROM THE FRONT AT PALACE

"Excluding wives and sweethearts, there's one particular girl who rates high with our boys overseas," says Humphrey Bogart, recently returned from a tour of the battlefronts where he entertained our troops. "She's the girl in a gray uniform," the actor explains, "and she wears a Red Cross on her sleeve."

LEGAL NOTICE.

A RESOLUTION ORDERING AN ELECTION TO BE HELD IN THE CITY OF CISCO, ON THE 4TH DAY OF APRIL, 1944, FOR THE PURPOSE OF ELECTING THREE COMMISSIONERS FOR THE CITY OF CISCO.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF CISCO:

That an election shall be held on the first Tuesday in April, 1944, same being the 4th day of April, 1944, at which election the qualified voters of the City of Cisco shall elect three commissioners, each to hold office for a term of two years;

That said election shall be held at the City Hall of the City of Cisco between the hours of 8:00 o'clock a. m., and 7:00 o'clock p. m., to be conducted according to the Ordinances and Charter of the City of Cisco, and in compliance with the election laws of the State of Texas.

Public notice of this order shall be given for a period of not less than twenty days next preceding the date of said election by publication in each issue of a newspaper published in the City of Cisco.

Signed and approved by the Mayor, and attested by the City Secretary, this 8th day of February, A. D. 1944.

EDWARD LEE,
Mayor of the City of Cisco.
GEO. W. DOWNIE,
City Secretary.

CITY ELECTION.

The Daily Press is authorized to announce the following candidates for city commissioner, subject to the will of Cisco voters at the election to be held Tuesday, April 4, 1944:

CHARLES J. KLEINER,
HENRY S. DRUMWRIGHT,
A. D. ANDERSON.

POLITICAL.

The Cisco Daily Press is authorized to announce the following candidates for the offices under which their names appear, subject to the action of Democratic voters at the primaries to be held Saturday, July 22:

COUNTY CLERK

vicemen and women, and he claims it is impossible to overestimate the value of the miracles accomplished daily by the Red Cross in rendering humane aid and comfort. According to the actor, the Red Cross is the first agency our boys turn to for help when the need arises. "Your sons, brothers, husbands and sweethearts," says the star, "all gave me the same answer when I asked what kind of job the Red Cross is doing. The answer—every time—was: 'Terrific!'"

ON GUARD—Chinese soldiers of the China Air Task force maintain 24-hour vigil over these two-engined American BB-25 bombers in China-Burma-India war theater.

POLES REMEMBER—With bitter memories of Nazi murder and devastation in their homeland, these Polish soldiers fight Germans wherever they find them. Here, on the Italian front, two Poles with British 8th Army along the Adriatic, man a gun.

OIL-PLATING YOUR ENGINE is like outdoing the future—today

"A bird in the hand" is worth a whole flock of 1950 cars with wings—oreven more moderate 1945 models that aren't here yet either. Better grasp the big advancement that's ready now... Better have your engine OIL-PLATED!

Conoco Nth motor oil, for your needed Spring change, at once brings your engine internal OIL-PLATING—the foe of cursed engine acids. These unavoidable "leftovers" of combustion were a menace even when partly driven off by the steady heat of long trips. But rationing brought short jumps, with overcool operation that magnified acid attacks. It's high time now—in any car, under any conditions—to check rampant acids. And you'll succeed with Conoco Nth oil, containing an advanced synthetic. This acts "magnet-like"... makes metals attract and hold their acid-resistant shield of OIL-PLATING.

Though your engine's cool or hot—running or not—the OIL-PLATING doesn't all promptly drain down to the crankcase. And where there's OIL-PLATING, the acids that want to destroy are told to "Keep Off!" That's how Conoco Nth oil can advance your car's chance to keep going. Change for Spring today at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company
