DEADLY MARAUDERS, HAVOCS

CALLAWAY TO REMAIN ON OPA BOARD

The Daily Press has been instructed to remove the name of Judge J. J. Callaway, candidate for federal representative, from its political announcement column, which has been done with regret. The Ciscoan, a valuable member of the Eastland County OPA board, found it necessary to resign from this important board or withdraw from the legislative race. In the following communication he explains his action in a manner that should be thoroughly satisfactory to a large circle of legislative supporters, here and throughout the two counties:

Gentlemen: When a short time ago I announced that I would later open a campaign as a candidate for state electoral representative for Eastland and Callahan counties, it was my intention to sever all connections as a member of the local Eastland County OPA Board. For it is not proper to mix this with politics. There was then hope that the National OPA Act, which every one knows will soon expire, would be modified and simplified to where it would not defeat the purposes for which it was created. However, this hope has now vanished and the law is to be re-enacted without removing the objectionable features that render it unworkable unless administered by local boards with practical minds. It is my sincere belief that this agency shows promise of being promoted to a growth far beyond its original intention, and finally to a point where we shall have with us many years after this emergency has ceased to exist. I fully believe that I can serve the public better by remaining in my present position and striving to help see the work done locally from a common-sense standpoint, rather than to see it fall into inexperienced hands.

Therefore, I take this opportunity to inform the public that I am withdrawing my candidacy for representative as above mentioned. I do not feel this action less courageous than to brace a political contest, whether mild or fierce. For the real test of courage is to submerge oneself for the common good. This I am now endeavoring to do by sacrificing any personal ambition in order to serve in the post I now hold, without pay, a task somewhat burdensome, yet from which one may draw the consolation that perhaps he may in some small way contribute to an early winning of the war, with the least possible damage to the home front.

Please remove my name from your announcement column and allow me to thank many friends and acquaintances for the kind offers of support they have voluntarily given me in the race I had contemplated. These I appreciate. I hope that I can compensate by continuing the service I am now trying to give. Respectfully, J. J. CALLAWAY.

REAMES PICTURED RECEIVING CITATION

An 8x10 photograph received by the Daily Press from the naval air training command at Corpus Christi shows Capt. J. R. Thomas, USN, awarding presidential unit citations to four U. S. sailors, among them Raymond E. Reames, ARMC, Cisco, Texas. The Cisco young man, who served 13 months in the Pacific area as radioman, returning to the states for further training a few months ago, is now at the Jacksonville, Tex., air field flight school. His wife, the former Miss Marion Jacobs, is with him. The photograph has been placed in the Daily Press picture gallery and may be seen by the young man's family and friends.

DENTON SCHOOL MAN SPOKE TO LIONS, LADIES

More than 100 Lions and guests attended Lions ladies night exercises at Hotel Laguna Friday night when Prof. Earl Jackson of Denton college spoke on "Are You Prepared for What Happens to You?" emphasizing that we are seldom able to enjoy the discomforts that come to us, because we are not able to see the funny side of life, most especially when it touches our purse.

A delicious meal was served and much merriment was indulged in during the preliminaries, paving the way for the delightful program that preceded the address of the evening.

President L. W. Seymour introduced Marshall D. Fox of Cisco high school as toastmaster, who had all members introduce themselves and their guests. Features of the program were a vocal solo by Miss Marilyn Shertzer, accompanied at the piano by Miss Doris Jamison; reading by Miss Veda Ramsoner and a vocal trio by Misses Marilyn Shertzer, Doris Jamison and Bonnie Jean Wilson, with Miss Cathryn Shepard at the piano.

The speaker began his talk with humorous stories that continued to drive home his points of philosophy that could not help from taking root in the minds of his audience. His continuous flow of wit kept the group shaking with mirth as one story succeeded another as he was reminded, as he said, of appropriate illustrations that made his good humor contagious.

Professor Jackson was showered with words of appreciation at the close of his talk and H. H. Tompkins, who introduced him and who went to Denton to bring him to Cisco, returning him to his home that night, was congratulated for his successful entertainment.

Among the guests other than wives of the members were Mayor and Mrs. Edward Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Davis, Mrs. Mary McKinney, Rev. and Mrs. James R. Wright, Miss Lauvael Snider, Barbary Grist, Mrs. M. Mayberry, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Nance and Emer Tompkins. Harry W. Schmidt and Jay Garrett acted as tailwisters and many members paid for their misdeeds in the loss of ties through the agency of clipping scissors. Lion Paul M. Culp led the singing of patriotic songs and Rev. W. H. Cole gave the invocation with Jack Anderson leading the Lions' Roar.

THURSDAY RED CROSS BLOOD DONOR DAY

Cisco people who are to assist next Thursday at the Red Cross blood plasma receiving station in Eastland will meet at the Methodist church in that city this afternoon at 2:30 for instructions, says Rev. Leslie Seymour, chairman of the local committee on arrangements.

Cards have been mailed to the first 200 Ciscoans who registered for blood donations, giving them the exact hour they are to be at the receiving station next Thursday, as well as other information essential for them to have. The late registrants, those above the first 200, will likely have to wait until the next visit of the mobile unit to this county before they can give their pint of blood.

R. N. Cluck, chairman of the transportation committee, says arrangements will be made for all to have a way to get to Eastland who do not have their own conveyance. The exact schedule for this transportation will be announced Tuesday or Wednesday.

AMERICAN NATIVES—Indians fighting with U. S. Army forces in the Solomon Islands campaign gave the natives a shock when they picked up old and ends of Solomon native gear and bedecked themselves with it to appear in almost full American Indian tribal regalia.

NOW MOBILE—British censors reveal that biting Bofors gun is now mobile. Tommies have mounted famed 40mm. ack-ack weapon on Morris chassis. It has road speed up to 40 miles an hour, is automatic, and fires two-pound shells at speed of 120 rounds a minute.

SPARKS ASKED TO ENTER FLETORIAL RACE

Following the withdrawal of Judge J. J. Callaway of Cisco from the race for fletorial representative from Eastland and Callahan counties, the Daily Press was informed that friends from various parts of the county were soliciting Frank Sparks, Eastland attorney at law, to enter the race.

In a telephone conversation with Mr. Sparks late Saturday, that gentleman said it was true he had been asked to make the race, but that he had not yet made a decision in the matter, but might announce his intentions next week. Mr. Sparks served one term in the Texas legislature in 1925. At the close of the session that year he resigned to accept appointment as county attorney of Eastland county, following the resignation of W. J. Barnes, who moved to Houston and became connected with the Humble company in a legal capacity. With the withdrawal of Judge Callaway, W. B. Starr of the county is at present the only announced candidate for the legislative place, so far as the Daily Press knows.

AT 8 THIS MORNING. ANZIO BEACHHEAD, ITALY, April 22.—Army Radio Station J.J.R.P. voice of the beachhead, will go on the air Sunday (8 a. m., Cisco time) with a full-fledged special program to carry the voices of some of the troops here to the folks back home. The broadcast will include soldier interviews and spot news reports. All major American networks will participate.

CISCO AIRPORT IN CARE ALERT COMMITTEEMEN

The Cisco city commission, fully recognizing the transportation trend of the times, is doing all it can with limited funds to give the city an airport that is hoped will receive government recognition within the near future.

The commission recently appointed Commissioner H. S. Drumwright chairman of a committee to begin improvements of a practical nature at the port, the chairman being instructed to choose other committeemen to work with him, which he did by naming Mayor Lee, County Commissioner Arch Birt and Haywood Cabaness.

There was a drain through the west part of the airport runway, as well as other low places in the field, and these have been filled, leveled and rolled, which puts the entire field in excellent condition. The dirt road from the Moran highway west to the field has been graveled and is now an all-weather road. The five-room house inherited from the Texas & Pacific railroad has been moved to the field and is being rehabilitated for occupancy by the airport custodian and his family.

Other improvements will be made from time to time by the committee as such is deemed necessary or desirable. Planes from Coleman, Brownwood and San Angelo are now using the local port for their cross-country flights, following inspection and OK of the field by army air corps officials.

TYPHOID GAINING. AUSTIN, April 22.—Twenty-two cases of typhoid fever reported in Texas during the week which ended April 15 is the highest number for the year.

LOOKS LIKE DEWEY AND BRICKER

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Lull before-the-storm deadens Washington. Government marks time, awaits invasion flash. Decisions are postponed, plans held up. Even political squabbles lack zest. Guesses on invasion start with "tomorrow," range along the calendar. Best judgment here is that not even Eisenhower knows the exact day. When everything else is ready, the weatherman will pick it.

Dewey on the first ballot, insiders say, with no preliminary intraparty faction. MacArthur boom, promising 10 days ago, is over. Looks like Bricker for second place.

Conservative Republican guesses on Capitol Hill say in letters sent back home that the only fairly certain victory as of today is control of the house of representatives. They predict a gain of 7 or 8 seats in the senate, which would bring their total to 44 or 45. Presidential contest, they say, is in the lap of the gods.

Since getting out of the presidential race Wendell Willkie has done more to improve his relationship with Republicans in congress than ever before. He sent friendly letters of thanks to supporters and urged them to stand by the principles for which they fought. And he indicated he'd have more to say on this subject as the campaign progresses.

Reason planes are being returned to air lines is to prevent breakdown of domestic air-mail service. In a recent week 10,000,000 airmail letters failed to get air transport; priority cargoes took all the room. Lines probably will get 24 planes back shortly, more later. They have 195 in service now.

Allied prisoners of war will keep on getting food packages when invasion starts. British Red Cross has 20,000 tons of packages stored in Switzerland in case regular transportation routes break down.

GARRETT WILL SPEAK AT DAR MEETING HERE

Charles Crawford Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will present a Texas Day program at 8 o'clock Monday night, First Presbyterian church. There will be a musical program and Clyde Garrett of Eastland, former congressman, will speak on "Texas Part in National Defense."

Mrs. William Pouch, president-general of the D. A. R., has asked all chapters to assist the women's army corps in securing additional members for that important branch of the armed forces. The local chapter also received a letter from Col. Walter Jessee of the Eighth service command asking the aid of the Cisco chapter in this work and requesting permission to send a representative to the Monday night meeting to speak to the group in regard to enlisting members in the women's army corps.

The general public is cordially invited to be present Monday night and hear the two out-of-town speakers. Lieut. and Mrs. Frank Langston of Camp Forrest, Tenn., are visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Langston.

ALLIES BIGGEST OFFENSIVE FROM BRITAIN IN ITS FIFTH DAY; COLOGNE NOW BURNING

LONDON, April 22.—American Marauders and Havocs in strength attacked military targets in northern France Saturday, carrying forward the Allies' biggest aerial offensive from Britain into its fifth day after a night strike against burning Cologne by RAF Mosquitos.

The medium Marauders and light, fast Havocs were covered by swarms of RAF. Dominion and Allied Spitfires in the cross-channel attack. Many squadrons of U. S. Thunderbolt fighters also were observed in the air.

All the Mosquitos returned safely from the Cologne raid, as did other planes that laid "many mines," the air Ministry said.

There was no indication of the force of the Mosquito attack, but the RAF sometimes has sent more than 50 of the wooden bombers loaded with two-ton blockbusters against similar targets.

Cologne, one of the most important railroad centers of western Germany, still was afire from 1,800 tons of bombs poured on it by British Lancasters and Halifaxes Thursday night in a 5,000-ton assault against four key rail centers.

Mosquitos now have ranged over Germany 11 nights this month, bombing Cologne and Berlin three times and Hannover twice.

STOCKHOLM.—Adolf Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, bluntly warned the German home front Saturday that it will be confronted this summer or even this spring by the hardest and bloodiest battles of history.

Picturing the probability of a western invasion launched simultaneously with a new Russian offensive, the newspaper indirectly hinted that new territorial losses might be expected with this answer as to how the German command will meet another Soviet offensive:

"There are territories which can be given up even if it should hurt, but there are others which must be held at any price."

"This summer may be the last bloody war summer," it went on.

(Bjorn Bjornson, NBC reporter in Stockholm, broadcast a prediction Saturday that the Allied invasion will come some time before the first of May. This prediction, he said, is being widely circulated in the Swedish capital on the basis of these factors:

- (1. That the period of the greatest tides will occur within the next 10 days, and these tides would facilitate Allied landing operations.
- (2. There has been a lull in ground fighting, while the Russians mass their forces along the eastern front, and the Allies, reportedly, move reinforcements onto the Anzio beachhead.
- (3. The overpowering Allied air assaults aimed at the invasion defenses and the supply points behind the line.)

ALLIES AND GOOD FIGHTER AXIS WAGING IS READY TO GRIM BATTLE TACKLE NAZIS

LONDON, April 22.—Lt. Gen. George S. (Blood and Guts) Patton, whose main aim is to whip Adolf Hitler and kill a lot of Germans, was in the fighting zones again today, this time the European theater where the Allies were massing for the final blow at Nazi Germany. NAPLES, April 22.—Liberators of the Mediterranean air force struck heavily at prime rail targets in Bucharest and Turnu-Severin at the Yugoslav Romanian border Friday and with their fighter escorts shot down 35 Nazi planes. Seventeen Allied planes, including eight heavy bombers, were lost during the day in this dash and other widespread operations against Nazi communications in Italy including rail targets in the Rome area. The Germans threw more than 100 planes against the "medium force" of Allied bombers and 10 were shot down by Liberator gunners. Allied fighter pilots accounted for the other 25, against a loss of five of their own.

The swashbuckling, pistol-packing general, who almost ruined his military career by slapping a hysterical soldier, was in this theater because Allied leaders know he is a dashing combat soldier. It was not determined if Patton had been given command of an invasion force. His arrival in the European zone was the first word of his whereabouts since March when it was announced he had left the Seventh Army to take over command of "another army."

RESPONSIBLE CHILDREN.

Conditions in this war time are obviously unfortunate in a great many cases, as far as children are concerned. Fathers are likely to be gone, and mothers busier than usual. It is a severe test for "socially desired conduct and good citizenship." But there isn't much really wrong with the young people.

"They are neither good nor bad except as their environment and training make them," says a pastor who has studied this problem. "The average youth is made into a good citizen first by training in his home and then at school and church, and is influenced by his social environment and the opportunities provided by the community to give vent to his youthful energies."

Children now are little worse than they were in more normal times, but they need more care and are getting less. Actually, the average child has always been neglected during the formative period. Today, with the facts of these times properly presented to them, with effective emphasis on their personal responsibility to country and those about them, they themselves may rise to the situation and do more for themselves in that direction than would be possible without correct tutoring at the right time. Rearing children for serviceable citizenship is work for skilled hands and trained minds.

PRECAUTIONS.

"In 1932," says Raymond Gram Swing, "the American citizen could not see that the place to avert Pearl Harbor was in Manchuria. Nor could the British citizen see that in Ethiopia and Spain he could prevent the bombing of London."

Many people are wiser now. But there are still educated and influential men who say, "After the war we ought to let the rest of the world stew in its own juice."

The wise man says: "If we are to have permanent peace, it will be just as necessary to police the sea lanes of the world as it is to police the streets of the home town."

MAIL CENSORSHIP.

There is no such censorship of the mails in this country as has been clamped down on Britain. Americans along with our Russian allies are allowed to send mail to Britain. But it should be understood that letters may be opened and read by British censors, although a special effort is being made by the British government not to interfere unduly with American mail.

As for Eire, which latterly insists on playing a lone hand, and has refused to close its German-Jap legations, mail for that country must all be written plainly and submitted to censorship.

Intelligent Americans should need no reminder that not only letters mailed abroad, but letters in this country, should be free in war time from anything suggesting possible disloyalty. In such times the government has a right and duty to inspect the mails when there is any suspicion of improper communication with the enemy.

Discipline is essential to any well-ordered life. The more mature one is in his personality the more does he realize self-discipline requires of him that he do not always what he wants to do or what comfort and pleasure tempt him to do, but the things he ought to do. The strong, rugged character has become so by a process of rugged self-discipline. Intelligent, persistent attention to the nurture of the inner man and the development of the larger vision is as much a requisite of a strong character as is proper physical exercise or abstention from debilitating indulgence for a strong body. KEEP SUPPLIES ROLLING

As the invasion nears for the western front we can readily see how important it is to keep supplies rolling. Vast quantities are going to be needed then — much more than now. Many tons of supplies such as food, ammunition, guns, trucks and heavy armor will be lost perhaps as the Allies from England try to make landings on the beach-heads of the continent to invade Hitler's iron fortress of Europe. Still other tons will be used, since men in actual combat use more of all supplies than when in camps.

Thus it means to us here in America, in Texas, in Cisco, that we must keep supplies of everything rolling constantly, in order that there be no interval of scarcity. That means plenty of money with which to purchase these items for Uncle Sam's army must be in the U. S. Treasury.

Don't wait for another special drive, buy Bonds today — every month if possible.
