2 EASTLAND CO. BOYS IN U. S. HOSPITAL

The public relations office of Stark General Hospital, Charleston, S. C., informs the Daily Press that when the hospital ship Refuge docked in that harbor it brought 27 Texans back from overseas duty, most of these being veterans of the Italian campaign.

The several hundred men aboard the Refuge are now quartered at Stark hospital, where they are enjoying American food and atmosphere until they are evacuated to inland general hospitals nearer their homes, or to general hospitals for specific treatment.

Among the returned men are Pfc. George A. Fox, route two, Cisco, and Corp. Jay Davis, route one, Eastland.

PURSE OF $50,000.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Pensive, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, will be the favorite to complete the turf's triple crown in the $50,000 Belmont Stakes tomorrow, but at least five other 3-year-olds intend to give Warren Wright's chestnut an argument.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION DIRECTOR HERE

Miss Dorothy Abernathy, director of religious education for the Ft. Worth and Brownwood presbyteries, has arrived in Cisco and will make this city her headquarters, with offices in the Spencer building, atop E. P. Crawford insurance agency.

Miss Abernathy succeeds Miss Ruby McDorman in this Presbyterian church work, Miss McDorman now being stationed at Big Spring.

The two presbyteries cover a wide territory, hence the new director will spend much of her time away from the Cisco office. Her work covers a multitude of activities such as organizing or helping rehabilitate Sunday schools, assisting with vacation Bible schools, leadership training courses, summer camps, rallies and the like.

REVIVAL TEAM LAUNCH MEETING JUNE 7

The annual summer revival of the First Baptist church will open Wednesday night, with Rev. Vernon G. Miles of Minden, La., in charge of the preaching. Music will be under the direction of Joe Trussell of Houston, who has made a big hit with Cisco audiences in previous engagements.

These two revivalists, says the pastor, Rev. Cooper Waters, are much in demand for meetings and it was only by booking them a year in advance that they could be secured for Cisco.

Evening services will start daily at 8:30 o'clock with an inspiring song service. Morning services will be held at 10 o'clock each week-day morning, except Saturday. Arrangements have been made to have the nursery open each evening for small children, Mr. Waters said. The pastor extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend all services.

PHONE GIRL ATTACKED BY NEGRO DIES

SAN ANGELO, June 2.—Peggy Arnold, 20-year-old employe of the San Angelo Telephone company, died at a local hospital from injuries received May 27 when she was attacked by a Negro identified as a Peoria, Ill. soldier.

The public relations office at the San Angelo Army Air Field said that new charges were being prepared and would be flown to Brig. Gen. Walter F. Kraus, commanding general at Randolph Field, San Antonio. Information in the case was gathered by military authorities for the consideration of General Kraus and his associates.

Miss Arnold was attacked by a Negro as she waited on a street corner for a bus Saturday night. She never regained consciousness.

TEXAS VALLEY HAPPY.

HARLINGEN, June 2.—The Lower Rio Grande Valley citrus industry looked back today on its first $50,000,000 plus season in history. Estimated value of the crop of grapefruit and oranges, the last crop of which has moved, was placed at $53,000,000, of which amount the growers got $34,000,000. This figure was some $8,000,000 above last year's gross.

RED CROSS OF CISCO NEEDS HELP

There were 17 surgical dressings workers at the Red Cross rooms both afternoons this week. Wednesday afternoon 770 2x2s and 492 4x8s were completed, but figures for Thursday's output were not given.

The work is dragging because of a lack of workers, a representative of the Red Cross told the Daily Press. She added: "Please say something through your paper that will awaken the women of Cisco to the need of more practical interest in this necessary war work. Cisco has had a good Red Cross record in the past, but we are in real danger of losing it if more Cisco women do not begin to understand that a real war is on and that the government expects cooperation from each and every citizen able to help."

Those present Wednesday were Mesdames L. A. Harrison, C. A. Williams, H. J. McArdle, E. H. Hester, R. C. McCarter, J. A. Jensen, W. J. Poe, Ed Aycock, Don McEachern, O. G. Lawson, Jack Anderson, Wilke B. Dunn, W. W. Moore, G. R. Nance, F. E. Shepard, R. W. Merket. Thursday workers included Mesdames L. A. Harrison, H. J. McArdle, E. H. Hester, R. C. McCarter, Sam Kimmell, J. A. Jensen, Ed Aycock, W. J. Poe, C. A. Williams, J. T. Anderson, O. G. Lawson, Austin Flint, Willie B. Dunn, Cecil Shaw, Les Jenkins, R. W. Merket, W. L. Lancaster.

THIRSTY DALLASITES.

DALLAS, June 2.—Thirst has boosted receipts at the Dallas customs office from $39,427.72 in May, 1943 to $162,881.95 for May, 1944. N. M. Williams, deputy collector of customs, says. Williams said most of the unusual increase was the result of the importation of liquors. The customs office now collects $2.50 a gallon duty and $9 per gallon internal revenue tax.

SWEEPING CONTROLS OF LABOR

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Sweeping new controls over the nations' dwindling supply of male workers were ordered today by WMC to be placed in effect by July 1.

They provide that virtually every job-seeking man in America will be required to apply to the United States Employment Service for assignment to the war plant where he is most needed, regardless of where that plant may be located. Employers, on the other hand, will be permitted to hire only those men referred to them by the USES.

The successful conduct of the war now requires the channeling of all available male labor in the nation to jobs of greatest war production urgency, and the retention of such labor in those jobs," Paul V. McNutt, WMC head, declared.

KEEP RUMP ELECTORS OFF BALLOT - MOODY

AUSTIN, June 2.—Former Governor Dan Moody, who served as temporary chairman of the recent state Democratic convention, says the executive committee should stand pat and refuse to place presidential electors selected by the bolting faction on the primary ballot.

The committee meets June 12 to make up the ticket of candidates for state office, and the fourth termers, or bolters, have announced their intention of demanding that the committee include electors instructed for Roosevelt.

The regular convention is sending an uninstructed delegation to the Chicago convention and by resolution released electors from supporting the party nominee unless the national convention complies with certain conditions.

The executive committee should stand pat by all means and refuse to put the fourth term electors on the primary ballot," Moody said. "For they were not selected by the convention. This may throw the case into the courts, and because the statutes are either vague or silent on electors I do not know what the courts may do. However, it has been the time-honored custom for the spring convention to select these electors."

ALLOUT ASSAULT NEAR.

NEW GUINEA, June 2.—Massing of American reinforcements for an all-out assault on tough Biak Island in the Schoutens and pincer moves aimed at trapped Japanese on two other fronts were announced today.

THE LAST OFFICER.

SHREVEPORT, June 2.—Gen. O. R. Gallet, 99, the last surviving commissioned officer of the Confederate Army, died Thursday. He was sitting in the American Legion service office talking to friends when he was stricken with a heart attack. He was born in Mississippi and enlisted in a Mississippi regiment in April, 1861, and was taken prisoner in March, 1865, and held until the end of the war.

POPE PIUS MAKES DRAMATIC PLEA THAT "MOTHER CELL OF CIVILIZATION" BE SPARED

NAPLES, June 2.—American forces cracked the two anchors of the German line guarding the approaches to Rome today, blasting their way into Velletri and slashing across the Via Casilina escape highway near Valmontone in an all-out drive on the capital.

The twin penetrations were announced in a special communique while other American units of the Fifth Army were clearing the enemy from the Artemiso Mountains more than two miles north of Velletri and preparing to storm Mt. Della Faeta, last height before Rome itself.

The Fifth Army was reported officially to be attacking all along the 26-mile length of the front from Valmontone to the Tyrrhenian Sea in a powerful attempt to smash completely through the belt of enemy fortifications and reach Rome, only 13 miles away at the nearest point.

The American thrusts across the Via Casilina in the "Valmontone area" crumpled the strongest center of enemy resistance in the whole line and may trap enemy remnants falling back along the Via Casilina from Ferentino, 19 miles to the southeast and now under attack by Canadians of the Eighth Army.

(An Algiers broadcast relayed by London and recorded by CBS, said the Canadians had captured Ferentino.)

The German command had massed the whole Hermann Goering division, along with other enemy units which had escaped from the south, at Valmontone for a desperate attempt to hold the town at all cost, but the Germans finally broke after a week of almost ceaseless American pressure.

Valmontone, 23 miles southeast of Rome, controlled the "home stretch" of the Via Casilina, and its prospective fall should pave the way for an Allied advance around the southeastern flank of the Alban Hills.

Other American units were engaged in "fierce fighting" in the streets of ruined Velletri, Apian Way stronghold 10 miles southwest of Valmontone and 19 miles southeast of Rome, the special communique said.

Velletri already had been doomed, however, by the surprise thrust into the hills to the north and northeast, and its fall was believed near. The resistance inside the town was not expected to retard the Allied advance on Rome, though guns emplaced in the city added their harrassing fire to that of guns emplaced in the Alban Hills.

American tanks had been standing outside Velletri for several days, unable to enter the town because of fire from enemy self-propelled guns. An outflanking column finally penetrated its streets from the northeast after overrunning Lariano, four miles away on the road from Valmontone.

The Germans also rushed reinforcements into Velletri in an 11th-hour attempt to save the town and seal off the American penetration, but their effort apparently came too late.

Company butchers and horse tenders were thrown into the Germans' front line as fighting units.

American units clearing the enemy from the Artemisio Mountains in the heart of the Alban Hills were only two and half miles from Mt. Della Maeta, whose slopes descend to the wooded Campagna plain and Rome itself. Its capture would by-pass both the Germans' Apian Way stronghold of Albano and nearby Castel Gandolfo, site of the Pope's summer home.

LONDON.—Pope Pius XII, speaking against a background of distant gunfire, said today that Rome was facing "one of the gravest moments in its history" and called on the belligerents to spare it from battle.

"Whoever would raise his hand against this sacred territory—the mother cell of civilization—will be accused of matricide," the Pope told the College of Cardinals on the occasion of the Feast of St. Eusebio, his name saint.

"It is the duty of the Holy See and Apostolate to look after the welfare of souls and protect the town of Rome. . . . The church will continue its efforts to see Rome spared. No human hand could prevent us from carrying out our duties according to law and God."

The Pope's speech was broadcast by the Vatican radio while Allied and German armies battled only a dozen or more miles away. Neutral dispatches said the thunder of battle already was audible in the Italian capital.

The Pope disclosed that hungry, suffering refugees were streaming into Rome as the fighting drew closer to the capital.

"In few places in Italy and other places in the world is there such misery as in Rome, where the entire mass of people is suffering," he said. "The army of miserable people increases daily."

He said he had requested that food be shipped to Rome by sea, but still was awaiting the reply of one belligerent he did not identify.

DOCTORS IN POLITICS.

Nominate a doctor for president? It has never been done here, but is happening just now in Cuba. Ramon Grau San Martin, a wealthy surgeon, is one of the two candidates. He actually was president for a time in 1933, when he advocated policies resembling our so-called New Deal.

Dr. Rafael Angel Calderon Guardia, elected president of Costa Rica in 1940, is a surgeon, with a Belgian medical degree. The closest adviser of the president of Nicaragua is also a doctor. So is the director of the Nicaraguan national bank, who was former director of railways, and there are other doctors giving good service on the politics of Latin America.

Few doctors in this country have had political careers. Dr. Hubert Work, formerly president of the American Medical association, held two cabinet posts under Harding and Coolidge. Dr. Jacob H. Gallinger was for many years senator from New Hampshire and Dr. Royal S. Copeland was three times elected senator from New York. That pretty nearly completes the list.

Ahead there is a much longer roster. The German reichstag, under both the kaiser and Hitler, has had a good many physician members. This was true also of other parliamentary countries. Probably the most eminent doctor in public life was the premier who saved France in the last war, Georges Clemenceau.

Doctors frequently have much to offer public life in this country. The United States would be better off if more inducements were offered them to run.

REMEMBER THE TURK.

The Turks, who joined the powers of righteousness in the last war, decided this time, in the words of Omar Khayyam, to "take the cash and let the credit go, nor heed the rattle of a distant drum." They cheerfully accepted the $80,000,000 worth of fighting material and supplies provided by the Allies and then stood pat on the Dardanelles, letting Europe go hang.

It was a slick trick, not expected of a nation with Turkey's record. She has usually been jealous of her honor. And it was especially bitter to the British, who had long regarded Turkey as a friend and ally. It can hardly profit the Turks in the long run, as the new world shapes up.

ANCIENT HIGHWAYS.

The world's most famous street is in the news, because of the Yanks' advance along Italy's Apennian Way. Begun in 312 B. C. by the old Roman Appius Claudius, it runs from Rome to Brindisi on the Adriatic, and is lined with handsome tombs and ruins of monumental buildings. Like many other Roman roads it was so durably built that stretches of it are in good condition even today.

Watling Street, another Roman thoroughfare, running from Dover through London to Chester, was the most famous road of early England. It is still the base for important English highways.

Today's famous streets, New York's Fifth Avenue and Wall Street, London's Piccadilly and the Strand, the Parisian boulevards, and every town's Main Street or Broadway, have varying claims to fame; but they cannot really boast until, like Watling Street and the Appian Way, they have lasted 2,000 years.

PUBLIC OPINION

(Speech of Hon. John S. Gibson of Georgia, in the national house of representatives, April 14, 1944)

Mr. Gibson. Mr. Speaker, I have been very deeply concerned over the purposes and activities of the organization here in Washington known as the Fair Employment Practices Committee. It is common knowledge that such an organization could have no proper functions in this democracy. It has been my opinion that it was born of the fertile mind of someone in this commonwealth of communistic philosophy and based on its activities I am convinced that my convictions were founded on truth and fact.

The Communists some months ago came out with the statement that the South was the black man's country and in substance that they expected to put him in possession of the property of the South and in control of its destiny and people.

I have recently procured factual information on the personnel of this committee, which I think will and should be of vital interest to the membership of this body and for that matter to every taxpayer in the United States. It is, of course, known that Malcolm Ross is chairman of the committee, whose function is reputed to be to see that there is no discrimination in employment account of race or color in this country. It is noteworthy in the organization of his committee this principle is most flagrantly violated. Over all, there are 106 paid employees—61 Negroes and 45 whites. Compare that with the percentage of Negroes against the percentage of whites in this country. I am a great believer in letting the people know the facts and that with such knowledge they will correct any wrong. When the people are called upon to favor increased taxes I hope you will remember this committee which is not only totally useless, but a vicious bureau that breeds disunity and costs the people each 12 months $317,160 or approximately $1,000,000 every 3 years. The 45 whites employed draw $143,600 per annum and the 61 Negroes draw $173,560 per annum. The employees of this bureau are the highest paid of any bureau or department of the Federal Government on a per capita basis. In the central office where all the policies are made and enforced here in Washington there are 13 white employees and 35 Negro employees, the whites drawing $48,540 per annum and the Negroes $94,220.

The chairman is white, his associate fair-practice examiner is a Negro. The office of the chairman is staffed by 2 other whites and 3 Negroes. His administrative office is staffed by 11 Negroes and no whites. His Operations Section is staffed with 7 Negroes and 6 whites, his Review and Analysis Section has 7 Negroes and 3 whites. His Legal Division 2 Negroes only. Hearing examiners, 1 white and 5 Negroes. The Director of Review and Analysis is a Negro. In fact, the whole set-up is strictly Negro dominated with just enough whites to give a slight diversity of color. This is the gang that goes into the South and sets up offices with Negroes and whites working together to Detroit and sets up an office with one Edward M. Swann, a Negro man, as fair-practice examiner, at a salary of $3,800 per year, with a white lady for his secretary at $1,620 per year, the 2 constituting the entire office force. This is the same gang that has told the management of southern railroads they must use Negro engineers and conductors, and union officials that they must accept Negroes in their organizations.

In the capital of my state, Atlanta, Ga., this same gang of Washington Negroes, by the authority of this committee, set up an office with Bruce Hunt, a white man, as senior fair-practice examiner, at $5,400 per year; John Hope, Jr., a Negro, as associate fair-practice examiner, at $3,800 per year; James H. Tipton, white, associate fair-practice examiner, at $3,200 per year; Myra Bunting, white, clerk-stenographer, at $1,800 per annum; and Thelma Horton, Negro, whose classification and salary was either intentional or inadvertently omitted. Please note that Hope, the Negro, and Tipton, the white, have exactly the same classification, the only distinction being color, and the Negro gets $3,800 and the white $3,200 for the same duties and in the same office, and yet this infernal committee is designated the Fair Employment Practices Committee.

They were liberal enough to let the regional offices in the deep South have a slight advantage in number of white personnel. In New York, however, the regional office has a personnel of nine, six of whom are Negroes and three whites. The big boss, head of the office, with the classification of regional director, is a Negro at $5,600 per year, and the highest paid white in the office is designated "associate field examiner" at $3,200. His white lady assistant clerk-stenographer gets only $1,620, while her Negro boss draws approximately three and one-half times this amount. There are four regional directors in the entire United States, one Negro at $5,600 per year and two whites at $4,600 and two whites at $4,600 per year. You will note in every instance the Negro has the controlling voice and the higher salary with the same classification.

I am wondering if our people have reached the great divide in the path of civilization and have started down the slope to the sunset of the same. I wonder if they have become so spineless—and in this I include the membership of the Congress—and so weak and faint of heart that they will see perish before their eyes all that has made our Nation great, and sleep through the operation being performed on our democratic system of government by the Communists of this country, and let them bury beside the heroes who made the air free for Old Glory to fly, the Stars and Stripes that has stood vigil over their tombs through the years of freedom and progress this Nation has enjoyed.

The greatest responsibility placed on mankind is to keep his race pure; the greatest destroyer of civilization and Christianity is the mongrelization of races. If this bunch of moral lepers is not stopped the depth to which they will bring our citizenry is unpredictable. God made his people as he would have them be, and if you doubt that the full plan and chart of these communistic rats call for a full race adulteration watch the years that are to follow soon, and your complacency so abundantly enjoyed now will stand before you an ugly skeleton of condemnation. I have in the past and expect to in the future warn my people of these dangers and fight these Communist enemies of America as long as I am able to speak.

I hope it will be borne in mind that the Congress had no part in establishing this Committee, nor was this body consulted with regard to the advisability of its establishment; nor has the Congress ever appropriated one dime for the operation of this Committee, the money for its operation being taken from the President's emergency fund. The President created the Committee by Executive Order No. 8946, May 27, 1943, said Executive order providing:

First. All agencies of the Government of the United States shall include in all contracts a provision obligating the contractor not to discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, creed, color, or national origin.

Second. All Federal agencies concerned with vocational and training programs for war production shall take all measures appropriate to assure that such programs are administered without discrimination.

Third. The Committee shall formulate policies to achieve the purposes of this order and shall make recommendations to the various Federal departments and agencies. It shall also recommend to the Chairman of the War Manpower Commission appropriate measures for bringing about the full utilization and training of manpower in and for war production without discrimination.

Fourth. The Committee shall receive and investigate complaints of discrimination. It may conduct hearings, make findings of facts, and take appropriate steps to obtain elimination of such discrimination.

Fifth. The Committee shall assume jurisdiction over all complaints and matters pending before the old committee.

Sixth. The Committee shall have the power to promulgate such rules and regulations as may be appropriate or necessary to carry out the provisions of the order.

I have given the full facts as disclosed by the records with regard to this committee's origin, powers, and functions. I leave it to the verdict of the citizenry who make up these United States of ours— First. Whether this Committee has any place in the orderly progress of our Nation. Second. Whether the powers granted this committee are beyond that which should be vested in a board of Negroes to exercise against the people of the United States.

Third. Whether the effects of the activities of this Committee create unity or discord and whether the war effort is advanced or retarded by its existence.

Fourth. Whether the expenditures of these great sums of money can be justified when the people are staggering under the tax load they are now carrying.

As of June 1 Young Men of 17 May again join the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve

ENLISTMENT in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve is once more open to qualified young Americans . . . who want to win their wings on the "greatest team in the world"—an AAF air combat crew.

In April, thanks to the air-mindedness of America's youth, the AAF's personnel program was well ahead of schedule. More than enough men were in training, and in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve, to meet scheduled quotas for combat crews. At the same time, the need for men in other branches of the army was urgent. Therefore, opportunities to join the AAF—including the 17-year-old Enlisted Reserve—were suspended.

As the Commanding General pointed out, the suspension of enlistments in the Reserve was intended only as a temporary measure. Accordingly, effective June 1, enlistments have again been opened in the 17-year-old Enlisted Reserve in order to insure a sufficient number of qualified individuals for training this fall.

The AAF is a Team Today, the AAF is the largest, most powerful air force in the world. Fighting side by side with the planes of our Navy and our Allies, it has won control of the air in every theatre—and has carried the war to the military and industrial hearts of Germany and Japan. It is daring the enemy to "come up and fight." Yet its losses have been less than anyone had anticipated or even dared to hope.

That all this has been accomplished is due, in large measure, to the fact that the AAF air combat crew is more than just planes and men. The combat crew is a team . . . the greatest fighting team the world has ever seen . . . with Gunners, Bombardiers, Navigators and Pilots flying and fighting together, to win.

And any young man who wants AAF wings should keep this ideal of teamwork uppermost in his mind. It is the key to AAF successes in battle. It will be the key to his own success in the AAF.

If you want to fly with the AAF, you may apply at any AAF Examining Board for enrollment in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. Upon passing the preliminary qualifying physical and mental tests, you will become a member of the U. S. Army Air Forces—on inactive duty. This means that you will not be called for training until you have reached your 18th birthday. If you are at work you may remain on the job until you are 18. If you are in high school, you may elect to finish the semester you are in when you become 18. If you are a high school graduate, not over 17 years and 9 months, you may elect to take advantage of the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program, which provides free college training for men approaching military age.

When called, you will first be given "basic" training. During this period, you will take "aptitude" tests to determine whether you will be classified for training as Gunner, Bombardier, Navigator or Pilot.

Your Place on the AAF Team If you have an outstandingly high aptitude rating for a particular position, you may be given an opportunity to compete for the classification that you prefer. But it is important to remember that all jobs on the AAF team are vitally important . . . that air combat crews not only are chosen from the very cream of the nation's young men, but that each seat in every plane must be filled by the man best qualified to fill it.

Gunners go into actual combat as non-commissioned officers. In addition to being the world's best aerial marksmen, gunners may qualify as trained technicians—in radio, armament or airplane mechanics. Pilots, Navigators, and Bombardiers are graduated from training as 2nd Lieutenants or Flight Officers.

Your job, and your rank, in the AAF will depend upon your own demonstrated abilities. For full information as to qualifying for the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve, see your nearest AAF Examining Board or local Army Recruiting Station.

For Pre-Aviation Training

Whether or not you have yet reached 17, you can begin now to prepare yourself to qualify for the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. See your local Civil Air Patrol officers about C.A.P. Cadet Training . . . also see your High School principal or adviser about recommended courses in the Air Service Division of the High School Victory Corps. Both offer excellent pre-aviation training . . . and help point the way to AAF wings.

ST. JOHN THE BAPTIST IS PATRON SAINT

DALLAS, June 2.—Annual elections will have been held by all of the seventeen Masonic lodges in the Dallas metropolitan area by midmonth and by several other Masonic bodies.

Since the Masonic year of the blue lodges is set by June 24, birthday of St. John the Baptist, patron saint of the blue lodge Masons, all elections must be completed by that date.

In early days when Masons frequently traveled some distance from farm homes to lodge meetings in towns, the annual meetings were set in June at a time when the moon was bright, so the brethren would have moonlight by which to make the journey home by horseback, buggy or wagon.
