PRESBYTERIAN CAMP GROUNDS ARE POPULAR

O. L. Savage, pastor First Presbyterian church, returned to Cisco yesterday from Kerrville, where he spent ten days in attendance at the Presbyterian young people's conference, held at the Westminster encampment grounds here.

The conference, sponsored by the Texas synod, was attended by some 400 young people from churches in all sections of the state, plus about 75 adult leaders as instructors. This conference is an annual affair and is always well attended and of constructive nature in addition to its recreational features.

Young people of what is termed the western presbytery are now in session at the camp and there will be leadership and religious educational conferences at the camp later in the summer, Mr. Savage stated.

Those enjoying the outing and picnic supper were Mrs. John Ertzer, Mrs. L. H. McCrea, Sr., S. O. L. Stutenroth, Mrs. E. O. Holt, Mrs. T. J. Dean, Mrs. J. Anderson, Mrs. Bob Latimer, S. R. S. Elliott, Mrs. Charles Herty, Mrs. G. P. Rainbolt, S. S. H. McCantles, Mrs. A. R. Strahl, Mrs. Philip Pettit, Mrs. W. Merket, Mrs. C. E. Hickman and Miss Joyce Elliott.

AIRMEN CRASH, BATTLE CROCS; ALL ARE SAVED

Mrs. O. L. Savage, who has just returned from a visit with her parents in Cleburne, received word while there that her youngest brother, Lieut. Herbert A. Munday, had a narrow escape from death in the South Pacific recently.

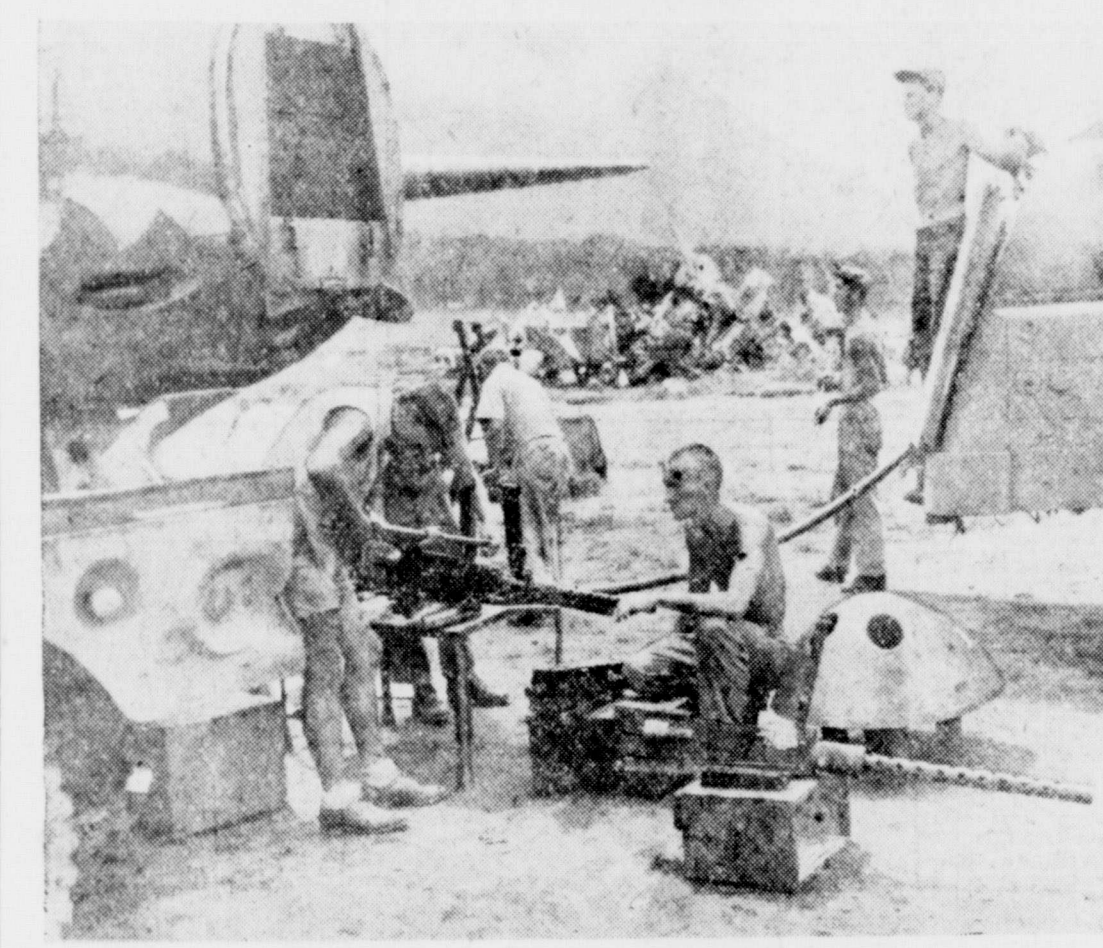

The 22-year-old Texan, bombardier on a B-25, together with the crew of six, crashed and were in the ocean for more than two hours, or until picked up by a Dutch ship in the early hours of the morning. While in the water the airmen had several hand-to-hand battles with crocodiles but, except for more or less minor bruises, were in good shape when rescued.

HUNDRED AND FOURTEEN.
MODESTO, Cal., June 16.—Death came yesterday to Thomas (Scotty) Irving, who said he was born in Scotland 114 years ago. Irving's birth date was listed as Feb. 13, 1830. He came to California 76 years ago.

TRULY DEMOCRATIC.
WASHINGTON, July 16.—Senator O'Daniel of Texas declared last night that what he termed the recent "uprising of Texas Democrats" originated "at the grass roots of democracy." In a radio address O'Daniel said the action of the Texas state Democratic convention in nominating presidential electors free to vote for any democrat might go down in history "as the turning point in our national government."

STABILIZING ONIONS.
DALLAS, June 16.—The Dallas regional office of distribution of the war food administration bought 20 carloads of onions in Collin, Kaufman and Dallas counties yesterday, the first day of purchases to support the market.

WILL STRIKE AGAIN—Crew members of fast strafing and bombing A-20 ready their guns and ships for another raid on Biak as soon as they return from first attack on enemy stronghold. In background is wreckage of junked Jap bombers damaged on Hollandia.

FOR THE SOVIETS—First of series of mobile steam power plants to be built for the Soviet Union is turned over to our Ally at American Car and Foundry company's Berwick, Pa., plant. Power plant is housed in 10 car train which can be run into war-devastated areas to meet emergency needs.

CISCO'S RED CROSS QUOTA IS FINISHED

Cisco Red Cross surgical dressings workers to the number of 19, made 1,066 2x2s yesterday, which completed the largest work quota that has been assigned to Cisco for some time. Mrs. Austin Flint, in announcing completion of the quota, stated that local workers would be notified through the Daily Press when the next work assignment is received.

Those present yesterday were Mesdames H. J. McArdle, G. P. Rainbolt, Bob Latimer, O. G. Lawson, Ed Aycock, J. T. Anderson, W. J. Poe, James Moore, Alex Spears, T. O. Thomas, Jack Anderson, J. E. Caffrey, E. J. Poe, Don McEachern, Sam Kimmell, J. J. Tableman, Mrs. Austin Flint, Miss Mayme Estes and Mrs. G. H. Steadman, the latter of Wickett, Tex.

PERMANENT CITIZENS.
N. R. Cutler, local manager of the Boss Mfg. Co., left today for Kewanee, Ill., to complete arrangements for bringing his family and household furnishings to Cisco. Upon his return, Mr. Cutler will become a permanent resident of Cisco, where he and Mrs. Cutler have already formed many warm friendships. They have one child, Judy, about four years old, and will reside at 1201 West Ninth street.

MEDICAL SUPPLIES—Paratroopers landing behind Nazi lines in France found medical supply packages like these on the ground and ready for use almost as soon as they hit their targets. Securely wrapped in matting and plainly marked with Red Crosses for easy detection, medical supplies were parachuted to our fighters. (U. S. Signal Corps Photo).

WOMAN SAYS TEXAS GOVERNOR WRONG

AUSTIN, June 16.—Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, Walker County farm operator, opened her campaign for governor here with a plea for greater support of the war effort from the state government.

Mrs. Cunningham declared that opposition of Gov. Coke Stevenson to some domestic policies of the national administration has caused confusion on the home front. She criticized Stevenson's stand on gasoline rationing, the feed shortage and his recent letter requesting to know whether the fair employment practice committee's activities in Texas were contrary to state segregation laws.

The governor, Mrs. Cunningham charged, has attempted to undermine the morale of the people of Texas.

SOUTHERNERS TO FIGHT FEPC TO LAST DITCH

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Senators from southern states decided at an informal conference to carry their fight against an appropriation of $500,000 in the war agencies appropriation bill to finance the President's Committee on Fair Employment Practices to the senate floor.

The war agencies bill will come before the senate today for action and the fight on the FEPC appropriation will be launched then.

Richard B. Russell of Georgia, leader of the group fighting the FEPC because of its activities in stirring up racial strife in labor ranks, indicated that no organized filibuster will be launched but said that the southern senators will attempt to advise the country of the inherent dangers in government by executive order.

"We will undertake as best we can to advise the senate and the country of the dangers of legislating in this haphazard way," Russell said. "The executive order of the president creating the FEPC has been interpreted as giving it almost unlimited powers."

The southern senators will contend that congress should enact specific legislation creating such agencies and should define the authority and powers of such agencies to guarantee that there may be no abuse of executive authority. They will insist that if the FEPC is to continue as a government agency its powers must be defined by legislative action of congress.

CISCO NAMES ON PLANE.
The "V Grand," the 5000th Liberator B-24 recently completed at San Diego, Calif., by the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation, bears the names of three Ciscoans—Mrs. Eva Bishop, daughter of Mrs. Horace Winston of Cisco; Mrs. Bernie E. Allen, daughter of Mrs. Bishop and granddaughter of Mrs. Winston, and Mrs. Allen's husband, Corporal Allen, stationed in the South Pacific. Mrs. Bishop is an inspector at one of the Consolidated plants and Mrs. Allen is a dispatcher at another plant. This information was furnished the Press in a letter from California.

NAZIS MERCILESS.
STOCKHOLM, June 16.—The Stockholm Dagens Nyheter said last night it had learned from a Dutch source that 60 Dutchmen were executed by the Germans between May 28 and June 7 for resisting occupation authorities.

FANTASTIC STREAM OF PILOTLESS BOMBERS RAINED FIRE AND EXPLOSIVES LAST NIGHT

LONDON, June 16.—A fantastic stream of pilotless Nazi bombers rained fire and explosives across southern England all last night and through the morning hours today, and Radio Berlin said the robot fleet had smashed at London itself in "the beginning of vengeance" for the Allied attacks on Germany.

Adolf Hitler finally had launched his boasted secret weapon against Britain and the mighty invasion arsenal piled upon the island, and British official sources made no effort to minimize the gravity of the attack.

All southern England was alerted, and Home Secretary Herbert Morrison confirmed the existence of the robot raiders and promised immediate counter-action, in a statement to commons.

Flashing across the night skies like a string of fiery comets, the mysterious projectiles whooshed down on scores of unidentified districts in southern England, exploding into gigantic balls of fire.

Eyewitness accounts of the raid varied, but all reports indicated that the missiles were either rocket-bombs or radio-controlled planes crammed with high explosives set to go off within a matter of seconds after striking the ground.

Britons were warned that the pilotless bombers contain an explosive charge which may detonate within five to 15 seconds after the plane's engine stops.

Reports from eyewitnesses who watched the Welshian parade swoosh across southern England during the night poured into official London today, including one account that told of automatic machine guns raking the countryside.

Observers said the projectiles came over at terrific speeds, singly or in groups of two or three, some soaring 3000 feet or more in the air and others slamming over the rooftops in level flight.

RAF night fighter pilots went up to challenge the robot raiders, diving recklessly through a terrific hail of flak—thrown up by the British ground defenses in an effort to explode them in mid-air.

Many of the projectiles were believed to have been hit and eye-witnesses reported seeing tremendous explosions high overhead.

Many more fell with terrific impact on the countryside, and preliminary reports indicated that considerable damage and casualties resulted. Rescue squads still were digging through the wreckage for victims in a number of southern districts this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—American B-29 Super-Fortresses smashed at Japanese industrial targets at Yawata in their historic attack yesterday and returned with a loss of only two planes, the War Department announced today.

The War Department described the task force which carried out the assault as "sizeable" and added that the two losses were not due to enemy action. The department communique added that one of the crews was safe.

The joint American raiders encountered enemy aircraft and anti-aircraft fire was moderate to intense, a three paragraph communique said.

Flyers reported the bombing was accurate and caused large fires and explosions.

The communique was based on preliminary reports from the combat zone which were incomplete, the War Department said. It confirmed that the attack was launched from China.

The Super-Flying Fortresses dropped "tons upon tons" of bombs upon Japanese homeland steel plants in the raids, Roy Porter, representing the combined U. S. radio networks on the flight, said today in a broadcast from Chungking.

"Tons upon tons of explosives were dropped on the coke ovens and upon open hearth furnaces," Porter said. "Japanese anti-aircraft fire poured into the skies. The bullets and shell fragments dug deeply into the super-bombers, but the engines kept turning and nearly all the ships came home."

Porter said the planes left great masses of wreckage overhung by a gigantic smoke pall that stretched miles into the air.

"The attack . . . demonstrated," Porter said, "that while the enemy was caught by surprise in the initial attacks, he has prepared defenses and he can marshal enough night fighter planes to cause at least some interference with our bombing pattern."

KERR KEYNOTER.
CHICAGO, June 16.—Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, advocate of a fourth term for President Roosevelt, yesterday was named unanimously as keynoter of the Democratic convention in Chicago July 19 by the party arrangements committee. Kerr, 47, is an attorney and oil man before he was elected governor in 1942, was a reported white house caller several weeks ago. Indications were that the president had ruled on Kerr's selection. It was reported that Democrats of Oklahoma, rich in oil fields, will contribute heavily to the coming campaign.

TAKING A BEACH.

The more you read about the hard facts of that terrific fight of the Allies for the invasion beach land on the Cherbourg peninsula, the more incredible it seems that human flesh and blood should have won against the powerful entrenchments and the strength of the defending forces. The Germans had spent many months, perhaps years, in planning, building and strengthening those defenses. The obstructions seem to have been the strongest and most modern ever devised. So great were the odds that whittled Ernie Pyle, who weighs about 150 pounds, says the taking of that shore was "like me whipping the Louis XIV to a pulp."

But an expert says: "The only way to take a beach is to face it and keep going. It is costly at first, but it is the only way. Our men were pinned down for a while, but eventually they stood up and went through."

It may remind many of the Biblical account of what Joshua, leader of the Israelites, was up against in the novel, "The American and the mighty deeds he wrought. In his determination to enter ordered the sun to stand still until he should smite and overcome the enemies of the Lord. And it obeyed—at sunset to obey. Who shall question the issue, and the manner of it, when determined men rise to such imperative heights that they seem to stampel even the hostile forces of nature to do their bidding."

Surely something supernatural gave those Allies the confidence and strength to perform a military feat that by all normal standards was impossible, and to break a way into those unbreachable German defenses in their effort to re-occupy the European Continent in civilization.

USEFUL PLAY.

It was once said that Britain was saved upon the playing fields of Eton and Harrow, meaning that beautiful outdoor exercise had given her young men the stamina necessary to win a war. It that is true of cricket, which is regarded by Americans as a rather "slow" game, lacking in energy and toughness, what about our own athletic preparation for this war?

Certainly it is the toughest, toughest war in our history. And a good deal of the toughness that our men are showing in land, air and sea now comes from our own favorite games—baseball and football. The former sport particularly has gone into the American character. Our boys everywhere grow up on baseball, which develops more agility and resourcefulness than any other sport. And our football produces strength and tenacity such as dwarf British football in comparison.

This comment is not meant as a criticism of our English and Canadian allies, for in some other respects they are more athletic than we are. Walking, for example. And on the whole, the British probably took themselves in better condition than we do. But we were in need generally in the quickest, daring and resourcefulness shown by our games.

THE BAYEUX TAPESTRY.

The news that Bayeux was captured has made many people wonder whether the Bayeux tapestry does depict the Bayeux tapestry. This is the most famous piece of weaving in existence, depicts in 753 feet the conquest of England by William the Conqueror, and is said to have been woven by his queen, Matilda.

In the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 the tapestry was hidden away for safekeeping, and perhaps also in the last war. It may now be in Berlin in Reichsarchiv. But all lovers of ancient things will hope that no harm comes to one of the world's most famous examples of the art of the Middle Ages.

PUBLIC OPINION

White Christians.

The Daily Press.

We can search the pages of history diligently and minutely for the past 2,000 years and find that the only people capable of maintaining a republic or self-governing freedom were the white Christian people — and there were many republics in the early centuries of Christianity, and two hundred during the middle ages.

as discussed by Sir Mond, the Swiss historian, in his history of the republics of the middle ages.

Our republic is the composite product of white man's brains and Christian principles and, when it comes to be a replica of the white man's brains and Christian principles, they will be to republican liberty for any one.

All the early republics have long since gone down in darkness, never to rise again, most of them because they had no written constitution to bind the official and the mob mind, but trusted to men as in the Athenian Greek government and Roman republic.

One who reads all these things will realize and love the federal constitution as a necessary and passionate as any saint ever loved his sweetheart.

As Ben Franklin said, We keep the constitution therefore strict to the federal constitution, its meaning construed as intended by its makers. That is our only safe policy for the preservation of the republic, with political, civil and religious liberty."

I am a staunch believer of re-

GHENT TOWN—This is Ghent, a city of Belgium, when the Allied Fifth Army captured it. Here a lone tank waits through routine and surveys desolation that remains after war has passed on. Many set up stubborn resistance to hold this key town.

Times Are Changing Fast--

and so are governments, religions, economic principles and even human nature, whether we like it or not. Likewise, revolutionary changes have taken place in the field of land titles. In the old days most titles were simple and good, but today the records are voluminous and the changing times have clouded many titles. So don't buy real estate without knowing something about the title and always insist on a dependable abstract.

Katy Engineer Retires; May Hold World Record

After obtaining a national record, probably a world's record, the world engineer of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines has retired. He is John S. Tierney of Parsons, Kan.

JOHN TIERNEY

88 years of service with the Katy, of which 64 years were spent as a locomotive engineer. Born at Lawrenceville, Kan., October 24, 1860, Tierney moved with his parents to Parsons at the age of 11 and four years later found employment in the M-K-T shops there. After three years in 1879, he transferred to engine service as a freeman, and in April of the following year, was promoted to switch structure. Two years later on November 13 he experienced that greatest of thrills, the first run on the road, piloting a train from Parsons to Muskogee. After continuing as road engineer until 1912, Tierney was promoted to traveling engineer, holding that position until 1930, when he returned to Parsons in charge of the motor car which operates daily over the Nevada division between Parsons and Junction City.

"The Katy is a good line to work for," the Dean of Katy Engineers remarked upon retirement. "I have enjoyed my work and have done my duty."

Mr. Tierney and his wife reside in Parsons. They will observe their Golden Wedding anniversary June 13.

You Need for Full Production

BROODERS
The general bird chick brooder is built to accommodate 10 birds and is ideal for a small farm. It is constructed of galvanized iron and is approximately 20 inches long and 18 inches high.

HOG HOUSES
The A-type hog house shows the greatest advantage in construction. It is easily moved, cleaned and built.

EQUIPMENT
Lumber built from equipment, such as 200, 400, 600, 800, and 1000, are economical, efficient, and most important, they are available in the right size. Quick and simple to build. They increase your food production income.

INSULATION AND REPAIRS
Insulation (ready to install) material is available in bulk and in 50-pound sacks. In bulk and 50-pound sacks it is available in 100, 200, and 300 square foot quantities.

Your job of getting top production, and most farmers are doing it short-handed, requires time saving, labor saving equipment as well as good efficient buildings.

We are ready to help you in every possible way, with ideas, plans and materials. Build the equipment you need now and make necessary repairs before they grow serious.

SOCIAL SECURITY.

(By Ralph T. Fisher, Manager, Social Security Bldg., Abilene, Tex.)

To John Brown an 'dhis wife social security means a little home in the country, with time to devote to a garden, chickens and some of the leisurely pleasures denied them during their years of hard work.

Mr. Brown is one of the thousands of older men who are doing their part toward winning the war, along with the women and the younger men. He is now 63 years old. In normal times he would be looking forward to retiring from his refinery job in a few years. He still hopes he can give up his job soon after he is 65, but feels that he should stay right where he is until the war is over; the fact that he has two grandsons in foreign service gives him a very personal reason for wanting to do all he can to help

Mr. Brown knows, however, that his old-age and survivors insurance credits are accumulating. He hopes that by the time he is 65—the war will be ended and he can quit and turn over to some young war veteran. He has a little country place where he and his wife want to spend their declining years putting with garden, the chickens, and a few head of cattle. He expects his social security to provide them with a small but regular income which will make this possible.

He checked with the Social Security Board recently and found that he has every reason to look forward with confidence to such a prospect. He told the Social Security Board field office manager that his earnings from January 1, 1937, to January 1, 1946 (when he will be 65), should average about $150 a month. He also explained that his wife is two years younger than he. He received the following estimate of his benefits:

Upon retirement at or after age 65, a monthly life payment to you of $27.70.

When your wife reaches age 65 (provided you have retired) a monthly life payment to her of $16.35.

In case of your death after Mrs. Brown is 65, a monthly life payment to her of $24.52.

In case of your death before Mrs. Brown is 65, an immediate lump-sum payment to her of about $200, plus her $24.52 monthly payment at 65.

The Browns have been saving for many years to pay for security in the form of their little home. The social security payments that he has earned will now make it possible for them to realize their lifelong dream.
