Dewey Speech of Acceptance Made Hit With Huge Throng

CHICAGO, June 29. — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey accepted the Republican presidential nomination last night with a pledge to "end one-man government in America," crush Germany and Japan's will to make war, and devote himself to "rewinning freedom" at home.

The Roosevelt administration, he told cheering delegates in the jam-packed bowl, is grown "old and tired and quarrelsome in office," and is unequal to the great pressing problems of war and peace.

Declaring that the military conduct of the war "must remain completely out of politics," Dewey said he wanted to make it "crystal clear" that any change in administration would not involve changes in the high command.

General Marshal and Admiral King are doing a superb job. Thank God for both of them," he exclaimed.

Flown here from Albany after his nomination the short-statured New Yorker told the delegates: "I accept the nomination."

"I come to this great task a free man," Dewey said in a prepared address. "I have made no pledges, promises or commitments, expressed or implied, to any man or woman. I shall make none, except to the American people."

Asserting that "we shall not make secure the peace of the world by mere words," Dewey reaffirmed his support of the Mackinac Island declaration of the Republican party for responsible participation by the United States in an international security organization.

His views on this question had been awaited eagerly by party members, who said that the new nominee's interpretation would be of more force in the campaign than the GOP foreign policy plank, which was criticized by Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 nominee, and several governors.

"When we have won this war, we shall still have to win the peace," he declared. "We are agreed, all of us, that America will participate with other sovereign nations in a co-operative effort to prevent future wars. Let us face up boldly to the magnitude of that task."

"We shall not make secure the peace of the world by mere words. We can not do it simply by drawing up a fine-sounding treaty. It can not be the work of one man or of a little group of rulers who meet together in private conferences. The structure of peace must be built. It must be the work of many, many men."

"We must have as our representatives in this task the ablest men and women America can produce, and the structure they join in building must rest upon the solid rock of a united American public opinion."

"I am not one of those who despair of achieving that end." He criticized the administration for what he said were "squabbles between cabinet members, feuds between rival bureaucrats and bitterness between the president and his own party members, in and out of congress."

"In the vital matters of taxation, price control, rationing, labor relations, manpower, we have become familiar with the spectacle of wrangling, bungling and confusion," he said.

Asserting that this election will bring an end to one-man government in America," Dewey told the convention that it would be his purpose, if elected, to appoint a "cabinet of the ablest men and women to be found in America."

powers of their offices," he said. "They will be capable of administering those powers. They will each be experienced in the task to be done and young enough to do it."

Dewey said the war must be fought to a total victory so that Germany can "never again nourish the delusion that she could have won. We must carry to Japan a defeat so crushing and complete," he declared, "that every last man among them knows that he has been beaten. We must not merely defeat the armies and navies of our enemies. We must defeat, once and for all, their will to make war."

There are few men, he said, who "really believe that America should try to remain aloof from the world," as well as few who "believe it would be practical for America or her allies to renounce all sovereignty and join a super-state."

"I certainly would not deny those two extremes the right to their opinions; but I stand firmly with the overwhelming majority of my fellow citizens in that great wide area of agreement. That agreement was clearly expressed by the Republican Mackinac declaration and was adopted in the foreign policy plank of this convention."

Lieut. Glen A. Tableman, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Tableman, was a member of a recent large graduating class at Ellington Field, Tex. In making this announcement the public relations office at that field mailed the Daily Press a photo of Lieutenant Tableman, which has been placed in the paper's picture gallery.

The cadets receiving their silver wings and commissions were trained in the operation of twin-engine planes and after receiving additional training will be given duty assignments. Principal speaker at the exercises was Lieut. James F. Bruno, pilot instructor from Waukesha, Wis., a veteran of fifty combat missions as pilot of a Flying Fortress in the North African theater.

Employers in Eastland county will be permitted to hire male workers without referral by the United States employment service under authority of the area director of the war manpower commission and the Abilene area management-labor committee. This constitutes a special arrangement under the priority referral program of the war manpower commission, which goes into effect at midnight, June 30. Q. R. Rodden, manager at Abilene, says and is subject to change if operating experience and national manpower needs dictate.

No local office of the United States employment service is located in Eastland county, Mr. Rodden said, and undue hardship would be imposed upon workers if they were required to make a trip to Abilene to secure a job.

It was emphatically pointed out, however, that while these arrangements permitted a worker to seek employment within the county without having to be channeled through the employment service, that the employment stabilization regulations were still in effect and that any worker now employed or employed during the preceding 60-day period in an essential industry could not be hired except upon referral by the United States employment service or upon the presentation of a statement of availability.

Rodden also said that while workers would not be required to go through the USES when seeking a job inside the county that they should understand that no such arrangement exists in counties in which an office of the USES is located and that in those counties no employer should hire a male worker except upon referral of the USES.

GOING HOME—Although they expect to find their village devastated, these French peasants and their children start to trek homeward as soon as the fighting has passed on. Here, with animals and a balloon-tired wagon, they begin their journey. (U. S. Signal Corps Photo).

BRITISH BEAT OFF MANY ASSAULTS BY 150 GERMAN TANKS IN HEAVY BATTLES NEAR CITY

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, LONDON, June 29.—British armor has beaten off all assaults by 150 German tanks in heavy battles southwest of Caen, a front dispatch said today, and Allied planes are "slaughtering" Nazi reinforcements moving toward the battle zone.

The fiercest armored fighting of the invasion campaign appeared to have subsided somewhat today in the area between the Orne and Odon rivers below Caen, on the basis of Normandy reports that numbers of "individual" tank engagements were going on and that the British were edging forward within striking distance of the Orne line.

On the other prong of the assault are being clamped against Caen, Canadian troops were out-flanking the German anchor base in struggles to the north and northeast.

In line with the bridgehead reports of reinforcements moving up to the front, aerial reconnaissance showed the Germans were shifting troops on a major scale from eastern France and Germany itself for an expected effort to smash the Allied foothold in France.

"The Germans are making a desperate attempt to move up infantry by daylight, but they are being slaughtered by the Royal Air Force," a field report said.

MOSCOW.—Red armies, supported by the greatest aerial onslaught of the war in the east, raced to within 35 miles southeast and 40 miles northeast of the White Russian fortress of Minsk today and sent a new column spearing toward the Baranowitz Gap, historical gateway to Warsaw.

The Germans were reported retreating in panic southeast of Minsk, abandoning their positions even before they were attacked, and resistance was only slightly less feeble on the northeastern approaches to the White Russian capital.

Military quarters here believed Minsk will fall like a ripe plum as result of the complete dislocation of the enemy forces in White Russia and the Nazi command's failure to extricate more than a small portion of the 22 divisions making up the garrisons of Vitebsk, Mogilev and Bobruisk.

The Red air force's sturdy Stormovik assault planes were revealed to have flown more than 3000 sorties alone in raining bombs and bullets on German armies fleeing in disorder through Minsk.

Massed flights of American attack planes also joined in decimating the enemy columns. Hundreds of smashed tanks, armored vehicles and trucks lined the road of retreat, testifying to the effectiveness of the raids.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Japanese troops hammering at Hengyang have captured the U. S. Air Force base there, thus reaping one of the first major fruits of their drive to slice China in two. It was partial recompense for the progressing American conquest of Saipan in the Pacific.

Chungking, conceding abandonment of the advance field, reported the vital Chinese city had burst into flames under the pressure of the greatest Japanese China offensive since 1935.

Loss of the base was a hard blow to the Allies, and Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's fliers quickly retaliated, dropping 1,000-pound bombs from their P-51s and knocking out one runway.

Hengyang, key point on the Hankow-Canton railway, is surrounded. Its loss would greatly advance Japan's presumed aim of bisecting the country along the rail line and blocking the Allies out of coastal China.

Chennault's 14th Air Force threw all its weight into the Hengyang battle, but Chungking previously had acknowledged the Chinese ground defenses were in a critical position.

Twenty thousand Japanese battled with fury to stem American forces slowly wedging them into the northern neck of Saipan Island.

DALLAS LEADS COUNTRY. DALLAS, June 29.—Metropolitan Dallas was the first county in the United States to secure its war bond quota. The U. S. treasury department said Wednesday night that this city, by selling a $76,545,837.09 total, had led the nation's larger cities. Eleven days before the official July 8 closing date of the Fifth War Loan, the $74,890,000 quota had been licked in a historic bond-buying surge that netted $33,000,000 in the last two days.

POISON GAS HINTED. MADRID, June 29.—The latest German propaganda for distribution in neutral countries hints obliquely that the Nazis may resort to poison gas to combat the Allied invasion of France. Pamphlets have been received here bearing the title "Against Invasion by North American Beetles" and pointing out that beetles can be combatted by "chemical means."

AMERICANS, UNITE!

(By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL.)

Abraham Lincoln was not afraid of being seen with Democrats. He was elected on a platform which promised to restore the "federal government to the principles of Washington and Jefferson." The two men who ran with Lincoln for vice president in 1860 and 1864 were or had recently held office as Democrats. Lincoln had been a Whig Congressman.

Further, in 1864, Lincoln ran for re-election on what he called the Union ticket. He thought the preservation of the Union was more important than party labels.

The Republican party started out as a States Rights party. It wanted each state to have the right to determine whether it should be slave or free. Jefferson and Lincoln were both opposed to slavery. What Jefferson tried to do with the Declaration of Independence, Lincoln did with the Emancipation Proclamation.

Americans should unite today, not to preserve the Union alone, but to preserve America.

It's tough enough to have to fight in Europe without Europeanizing America at home.

In Mississippi, the Democratic convention keynote said: "Four million of our boys are fighting dictatorship abroad, and three million bureaucrats are fighting to establish it at home. The day for pussyfooting is gone. You are either a New Dealer or a Democrat."

In the Texas Democratic convention, the Communists circulated a leaflet which hailed "our ability to dissolve the Communist party and diffuse its progressive principles into the body politic of the Democratic party."

Politics makes strange bedfellows, but the strangest sight I have ever seen are Jeffersonian Democrats in bed with the Browders, Hagues, O'Connells Kellys and various fellow-travelers. Mark Twain said that he was superstitious; he hated to sleep with thirteen in the same bed.

Democrats and Republicans should unite to fight for a humanized capitalism in an expanding economy as opposed to State Socialism in an economy killed by taxes and debt.

There are patriots in both parties and both north and south of the Mason-Dixon Line. Today, they have the greatest opportunity to unite the nation that they have had since the Civil War.

Outstanding Democrats who have proved under fire that they are real Americans should be in the next cabinet. The 30 million people in the South are entitled to representation.

There are more Americans in America than Europeans, even though the boats which are taking our fighting men to Europe bring able-bodied refugees to America on their return trips!

The preservation of the American Constitution for our sons when they come home is more important than who runs Italy, France or Spain.

When I say "American" I mean everyone who cherishes this country above any land on earth. I don't care whether he came over in the Mayflower or is a naturalized citizen. Steinmetz, Flexner, Michael Pupin, and millions more like them, are what I mean by "American." Their creed, color or race belongs to them. Their hearts belong to us.

Our fathers said, "Sweet Land of Liberty." They said of this great land, "Liberty has still a continent to dwell on."

Let us keep it such for our soldier sons.

Republicans and Democrats, clasp hands as your sons have gripped each other's hands beneath the Flag!

SLAUGHTER IS NOW PRESIDENT CISCO ROTARY

Evan Holmes, pastor of East Cisco Baptist church and his father J. D. Holmes who is visiting him from DeLeon, were the speakers at Rotary luncheon today, at which time President Lonnie Shockley retired from his office to hand the gavel to his successor, J. W. Slaughter. Retarian O. D. Dillingham of Abilene was a visitor today.

J. E. Hays made announcements regarding attendance, bringing out the fact that the Cisco club has been in the upper-ten bracket all this year, having eleven perfect attendance months out of the twelve. This month thus far has shown a perfect attendance.

Pastor Holmes took as his subject, "How America Was Built," beginning with the efforts of Columbus to secure permission and finances for a voyage of discovery, thence to his sailing on August 3, and landing here October 12, 1492.

The speaker then reviewed briefly the purchases and annexations that included the Louisiana Purchase by Thomas Jefferson in 1803, the Florida Purchase and the annexation of territory following the Spanish-American war in 1898. Also the troubles that arose with the mother country which resulted in the overthrow of English rule, giving the colonies their independence.

Mr. Holmes then mentioned the civil war of the sixties, which decided that slavery could no longer exist in this land of the free. Another step to hurdle toward American liberty and justice was World War One.

"Now," the speaker said, "since we have gradually worked our way into the position of being a nation dedicated to right and justice, shall we not keep it so in order that our sons fighting in foreign lands may find it intact when they successfully conclude the present war and come home to us?"

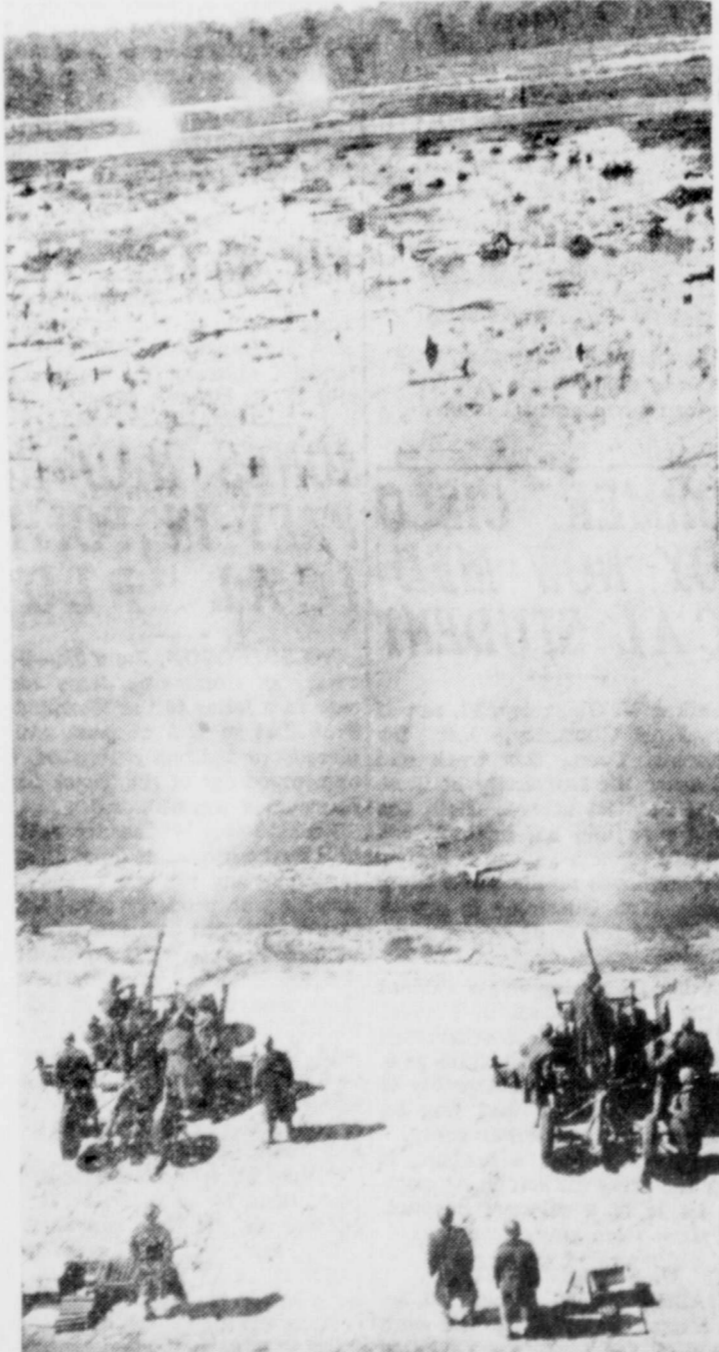

J. D. Holmes then spoke a few words emphasizing the last thought by his son, urging that we are duty bound to stand up for justice and the precepts of the Savior of men.

Before handing the gavel to his successor, President Shockley spoke his appreciation for the cooperation from members, while Mr. Slaughter said that he would do the best he knew how and would depend upon help from others to keep up the fine record made by his immediate successors. Mr. Slaughter said he would appoint committees next week.

Rotarian R. N. Cluck said he thought the club should pay at least half of the president's expenses to the Rotary conference, but E. P. Crawford rose to the point of order that this was the business of the board of directors, so Cluck withdrew his motion. Rotarian Cooper Waters, one of the retiring directors said he thought the new board should be instructed regarding its duties and thus prevent similar errors in the future.

IT'S POLITICS AGAIN

Now that we have two men to vote for as president and the same number for vice-president, voters of the nation have lots of chewing the rag to do. Strange to say New Deal and anti-New Deal is going to be the fire that will make smoke boil during the intervening months until election.

America has never faced a more critical time in its history than now. Making the peace terms is all important. We had better think deeply and pray much.

WOMEN ARE WORKING SIDE BY SIDE WITH THEIR MEN.

Woman has always carried on her side of the work and has never faltered in her duty as she saw it. No task has been too hard for her, regardless of its demands or magnitude, despite the lack of weight or muscular power.

Today women are doing men's work in factories and offices. They are helping gather the immense wheat and vegetable harvests with which America seems blest once more. No task is too menial, no hours too long to dampen their dauntless spirits.

Here's to the women of America who are going "All-Out" for the defense of their country, their homes, and to make it easier for their sons who are facing the guns of the enemy.

Will Cisco be going "all-out" for their town unless they go over the top with the Fifth War Drive? You answer.

Times Are Changing Fast--

... and so are governments, religions, economic principles and even human nature, whether we like it or not. Likewise, revolutionary changes have taken place in the field of land titles. In the old days most titles were simple and good, but today the records are voluminous and the changing times have clouded many titles. So don't buy real estate without knowing something about the title and always insist on a dependable abstract.
