J. V. HEYSER CISCO FARMER WRITES HOME HAS EXCELLENT FROM INDIA CROP MELONS

Writing from India to his friend C. A. Shockey, as of July 15, Pfc. J. V. Heyser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Heyser, who is attached to an army engineering group, said: "I have a little time, so I am going to write and let you know I am fine and that I think of you often. Time is limited over here, but we try to drop a word now and then to the loved ones back home."

"I still see many things of interest I never expected to see. India is a strange, colorful land. Costumes, language, dress, color, religious beliefs and political institutions have little resemblance to anything we see at home. About the first thing you notice is the strange dress of the Indians. After you are here awhile and experience the sun, you realize that the clothing worn by Indian men and women results from centuries of living in a climate, as we say, that's 'too hot, too cold, too wet, too dry.'"

"The people are shy and reserved to foreigners, but respond to friendly treatment. If you don't do anything to insult their religious beliefs, you'll have little trouble making friends. Nine out of ten Indians live off the land, farming small patches of earth and realizing an incredibly poor living."

"There are about 100 languages and dialects, but only about 20 in popular use. The Hindu, religiously, is a Brahma believer, but they only worship their PRESENCE, not them directly. That is why we are not allowed to touch them. There are about 300 million cows in India, one for each two persons. They wouldn't think of killing a cow or bull. "When I visited the temple and the houses of worship, I walked up to the steps, pulled off my shoes and then entered. We had a very competent guide and he helped me as we walked along. "The country is very ancient and rich in lore, with contrasting splendor and poverty and filled with sights you will never forget. Some of the wildest and least explored country on the globe is to be found in the north. As always." J. V. HEYSER.

CISCO YOUNG MAN IS WOUNDED IN FRANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flaherty have been notified by the war department that their son Pfc. Charles Flaherty was slightly wounded in action in France, July 7. Flaherty was raised in Cisco and attended Cisco schools. He enlisted in the army in March, 1942 and at the time he was wounded was fighting with the 90th Division.

Another son, Seabee Ralph Flaherty who is a shipfitter in the navy, is in a hospital in Hawaii having recently undergone surgery. He has been in the service since October, 1942.

Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty have two other sons in the service, Tech. Sgt. Julian Flaherty, now stationed in New Guinea, and Radio Technician Donald Flaherty, with the navy in Hawaii.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Magill enjoyed visits from their daughters and families the past week. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Newberry and son, A. W., Jr., returned to Dallas Sunday and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Baumgart and son returned to New Ulm Monday.

J. W. SHEPARD TALKS OF FBI TO LIONS CLUB

J. E. Spencer of Cisco who sold about 500 bushels of select peaches from his farm in the Long Branch community before the season ended, notwithstanding the disastrous freeze, is now bringing in a load of watermelons for the Cisco public almost daily. The melons are of two varieties—Improved Blue Rind Long Tom Watsons and Texas Golden Yellow Meats. The weight runs from 25 to 50 pounds per melon and they are bringing 1½ cents per pound. The Cisco farmer has about 20 acres of land in melons, which were planted at well-spaced intervals, thus guaranteeing a steady flow of ripe melons until frost.

J. W. SHEPARD TALKS OF FBI TO LIONS CLUB

J. W. Shepard of the FBI was the speaker at the Lions luncheon today, telling in substance some high lights and activities of the organization. The talk was along the same line as that delivered at the Rotaract club last week. Vice President Harry Schmidt read a message from President C. J. Turner, who is attending the International convention at Chicago, telling of some of the doings by that great body of delegates from the 14 countries represented.

Other guests were A. D. Anderson, Jr., and F. E. Shepard. Charles Clark was program chairman, introducing F. E. Shepard, who after a few minutes presented his son, J. W. Shepard, who had delayed his departure to his new station at El Paso in London to make the talk to the Lions. Young Shepard said he had been a member of the FBI about three and one-half years. He then told of some of the qualifications necessary, among which was proper physique, health and educational training. He then paid a tribute to J. Edgar Hoover who was responsible for building this greatest of all crime-detection group in the world. He said Mr. Hoover in accepting the job had insisted that it be non-political, not under civil service and based entirely upon efficiency. He mentioned the 57 different divisions or fields into which the country was divided, with a man in charge of each group. It is a "we" organization rather than individual. It may take many workers to unravel a crime or to bring a culprit to justice, and so it would naturally be hard to place the credit at the feet of any one individual. It is intensely cooperative.

In order that an operative may be competent to do whatever job presents itself, each operative is trained in all phases of the work. The more delicate clues for identification are sent in to headquarters, since those experts in the home office at Washington can find the answer in a few seconds. For this training special schools are conducted and members of law-administering forces over the country may receive free training, along with the new members of the FBI.

There are some 90,000,000 fingerprints now on file, but they are so catalogued that often it requires only a few seconds to find if that print is on file and to identify it.

FT. WORTH, Aug. 2.—Summer's hottest night was followed today by another scorcher with temperatures upward toward the 100-degree mark. While Fort Worthers sweltered in last night's heat, the thermometer dropped no lower than 83 degrees, a new 14-hour minimum heat record.

HAVOC OF WAR—These ruins of Valmontone, Italy, still contain Nazi snipers so U.S. Infantrymen proceed cautiously through rubble-piled streets. Machine guns are ready for action. (U.S. Signal Corps Photo).

MEDICAL STATION—This is not what doctors call a well-equipped hospital, but these Medical Corpsmen are saving lives as one in background administers blood plasma. Others treat wounded Yank at casualty clearing station in France.

NO INJURIES—Twenty-three members of military personnel escaped injury when landing gear of this C-47 transport collapsed during take-off from LaGuardia Field, New York. Both propellers were torn from engine mounts and section of one wing was damaged.

HIGHWAY DEPT. PLANS COSTLY TUNNEL

AUSTIN, Aug. 21.—The state highway commission yesterday disposed of one of its heaviest dockets in recent months, appropriating $8,736,362 for maintenance during the next fiscal year and taking under consideration a proposal to connect Galveston Island with the mainland by a hurricane-proof tunnel. Low bids on new construction totaling $2,028,619.70 were tabulated, the largest amount at any letting since start of the war.

An increase of $5 per mile in cost of maintenance for 1944-45 was made necessary, the commission found, by the decrease in new construction since the start of the war.

A supplementary appropriation of $50,000 was made for the Amarillo district to defray abnormal repairs resulting from freeze damage last winter. An appropriation of $10,000 to cover road repair costs in the Tyler district was made. Heavy rains caused the damage.

A project was approved to provide for cleaning, repairing, reconstructing and reconstructing approximately 23,000 linear feet of expansion joints in concrete pavements in the Abilene district, with an appropriation of $14,490.

State Senator William E. Stone presented preliminary plans for the Galveston-Point Bolivar tunnel, which as projected would include an underwater tube, ventilated and electrically lighted, equipped with hurricane gates. The commission promised early consideration of the project, which ultimately would cost between eight and nine million dollars.

NAZIS TO SURRENDER SOON TO US. - BRITAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—The war in Europe will end in September with the unconditional surrender of Germany to the Americans and British rather than to Russia, Gen. John V. Cinnin, 19th World War I commander of the 130th Infantry in France, predicts.

He says there will be another "serious revolt within the German army in the next several weeks" and "Adolf Hitler will kill himself when he sees the Allied ring of steel closing in."

"Germany," he said, "will hand its unconditional surrender to the Americans and British rather than trust itself in the hands of Russia after some of the acts its armies and military leaders have committed in that country. I am sure the Germans must be filled with terror of Russia."

"As the strategy of the war has gone, Germany now must be defeated before we close in on Japan. We will make the little yellow men sick of war when we send 3,500 heavy planes from Chinese or other bases to dump bombs onto the Land of the Rising Sun."

AVERAGE COST LOW.

HOUSTON, Aug. 2.—The average cost to each Texan of a state judicial system which annually clears more than 100,000 cases is 33 and one-third cents—less than the cost of two packs of cigarettes, a report released today by the public relations department of the Texas Bar Assn., showed.

BULGARIA, ROMANIA, HUNGARY ALSO READY TO CHECK OUT AS GERMAN COLLAPSE INDICATED

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Nazi Germany's political mastery of Europe cracked today as Turkey broke off diplomatic and commercial relations in a defiant move that threatened to squeeze Hitler's Balkan satellites out of the war and force a general German evacuation of Greece and the Aegean islands.

Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu announced the long-expected break at a meeting of the national assembly in Ankara today, declaring that the rupture, effective immediately, was decided upon at the request of Great Britain.

Saracoglu brushed aside German threats of "grave consequences" stemming from the break, and declared that it is for the Reich to decide on war or peace with Turkey.

The action was expected to be followed by a Bulgarian attempt to make peace with the Allies, with Romania and Hungary probably following the Bulgars out of the Axis camp.

Bulgaria, and probably Romania and Hungary, were believed awaiting only a signal from Turkey to attempt to divorce themselves from the Axis and withdraw from the war. A cabinet crisis was reported already under way in Hungary, with army leave canceled, and Nazi SS Elite Storm Troops patrolling the streets of Budapest.

The Turkish diplomatic stroke came hard on the heels of another blow to Germany's prestige in the north, when Finland appointed Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Emil Mannerheim president in an apparent move toward peace for that unhappy satellite.

Mannerheim's appointment appeared to presage a general re-shuffle of the Finnish government that rejected Russia's peace overtures last April.

Saracoglu disclosed his government's decision to break with Germany in a defiant speech to the National Assembly, which immediately ratified the cabinet action by unanimous vote.

He revealed that Britain had asked Turkey to sever relations with the Nazis under the terms of the Anglo-Turkish military alliance, and that the United States had supported the British in this request.

MOSCOW.—The battle for Warsaw entered its final stages today as Red Armies stormed through the eastern suburbs and swarmed across the Vistula River in a flanking drive, while far to the northeast other Soviet forces opened an annihilation campaign against perhaps 200,000 Germans trapped in the upper Baltics.

(Berlin broadcasts said the Russians had captured Vilko-vishki, 11 miles from the East Prussian frontier and 40 miles southwest of Kaunas; and Kalvaria, 20 miles south of Vilko-vishki and about the same distance from the border)

Front line dispatches reported a triumphal Russian march of historic scope and speed everywhere between the Baltic and the Carpathians, with the Germans facing a catastrophe of Stalingrad proportions in Latvia and Estonia where about 20 divisions were cut off by a Soviet drive to the sea.

PEARL HARBOR—Marines wiped out isolated nests of Japanese troops today on Tinian Island where a nine-day lightning campaign had ended all organized resistance while Americans on Guam smashed northward three miles to close a death trap on enemy forces.

The Second and Fourth Marine Divisions—conquerors of Saipan, crushed a counter-attack which cost the enemy 300 dead and overwhelmed the last Japanese positions on the southern tip of Tinian Monday night, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz's latest communique revealed. Nimitz said the Marines, who established a beachhead on the island July 23, still had some mopping up to do.

The island fell after the defenders had been battered by some of the heaviest aerial and naval bombardments of the Pacific war, as well as by a new, secret assault weapon.

On Guam a campaign similar to that carried out on Tinian was in progress, with Marines and Army troops, having cut across the island, swinging north to compress the defenders into a pocket surrounded on three sides by a sea under complete control of American warships.

OFFICES AND ISSUES.

Maybe politicians covet office as much as ever, but in their national conventions they at least preserve appearances better than formerly.

In the Republican convention of 1880 Delegate Flanagan of Texas won immortality when he blurted out, "What are we here for if not for the offices?"

A good many campaigns, if they have not always been waged with such embarrassing frankness, have seemed to turn on no better issue than whether the ins should stay in, or be replaced by the outs.

This year the prospect is that larger and better issues will be discussed, and finally turn the scale. The future of America, now and at all times, is dependent upon the number of voters who think for themselves and then cast their ballots without prejudice or hope for personal gain, but to further strengthen the great land our forefathers gave us.

FIRMNESS WITH ARGENTINA.

One trouble with the Argentine situation is the division of opinion in that country itself. Its government is Fascist, pro-German. It has given lip-service to a break with Germany but under cover it still serves the Axis.

It is believed that the majority of the people are not pro-German, and not in favor of their present government. If they were, that government would not be afraid to call free elections. But they are all pro-Argentine. They do not like the United States because they are jealous of its power. They crave the hegemony of South America for their own country.

If they were all pro-German, had elected their government and supported it, our course would be simple. If, on the other hand, they had a freely elected government it would probably not be pro-German. But in any case—pro-Argentine.

American business men have alienated Argentines of all parties by being supercilious, counting the days till they could "go back to God's country," packing exports carelessly and in other ways failing to give Argentine problems reasonable attention. Few of us know anything about South American countries or give their nationals due respect.

Argentina, however, is plainly playing Hitler's game, and firmness on our part is justified. She must declare herself either with us or against us. If with us, let her prove it by honestly casting out Hitlerism. If against us—she'll be sorry. From Canada on down the other American nations are her real friends. Trusting Nazis leads only to destruction.

THE RUBBER JOB.

Bradley Dewey, in giving up his big job and announcing that the synthetic rubber agency will be dissolved Sept. 1, gives Americans the feeling that "a miracle has been passed." An $800,000,000 synthetic rubber industry was created from the beginning in 1942 and now produces more than enough rubber to take care of the war. It is likely to survive into the peace, because synthetic will be, as Dewey expresses it, "a heaven-sent brake on the cost of tires."

It's a splendid job well done. William M. Jeffers, who saw it through the early struggles, deserves credit along with that given his successor.

Motorists need not expect a sudden great increase in the number of tires. Cotton tire cord is short, and so is manpower. In fact, all war shortages of whatever kind, from bananas and butter to shoes and tires will disappear slowly. Even were the German war to end tomorrow, which it shows no signs of doing, many of the needs of war would still be present. All these adjustments require time.

But synthetic rubber manifests a miracle any how.

NOSTALGIA.

There's a range far west where the heavens rest On the peaks of eternal snow. And the plaintive call of the nightbirds fall From the pastures to creeks below.

While the Indian pueblos on the cold mesa Huddle low and are lost to sight, And the cowboys scale up a zig-zag trail As the herd stampedes in flight.

'Tis a ranchland brand by the cottonwood path At the edge of the world you'll find; And o'er range and dale beside the trail There are brands in stone enshrined.

There's redshaded roofs above pine log walls And cattle stand while men yearn for grass; And then rain and snow where the wind sobs low O'er the cowmen already ridden pass.

So I'm going back to the cattle grazing hills, To the trails through the prairie sand, To the dirt streets where the hot sun beats On a cattle herd and a friendly hand.

There to see again the branding of cattle While the sun falls in the golden west; When work is done and men's songs have sung There'll be a last roundup, empty saddles and rest.

UPPER LEON Soil Conservation District News.

Cecil Carter of the Romney conservation group strip, cropped 66 acres of peanuts with hegar and crotalaria planted in the same row. The nitrogen added to the soil by the crotalaria is increasing the growth of the hegar and it will correct the starving effect that sorghum tends to have on the following crop. Grain sorghums such as hegar, maize, kafir, and feterita have a rather extensive though fibrous root system which does not begin to decay until the soil becomes warm the following spring. The bacteria that decay the sorghum roots and residue consume much of the available nitrogen in the soil during the early part of the growing season that would normally be used by young growing plants. As the supply of nitrogen in the soil decreases this starving effect becomes more noticeable. Any legume such as crotalaria or cow pea interplanted with sorghums will add sufficient nitrogen to the soil to prevent the sorghum from being "hard on the land" the following crop year as well as increase the growth of the sorghum.

John Gerhardt has strip cropped his peanuts on long eight and four with sorghum and his deep sand four and four. Willis Cooper strip cropped last year eight and four with crotalaria and followed this year with even there is a good stand of volunteer crotalaria brought up by the recent rain. This volunteer legume can be expected to attain "waist high" growth by frost.

"Buck" Maples has strip cropped 74 acres of peanuts eight and four with brasham cow peas and crotalaria. The four row soil building strips have cow peas planted on the two inside rows and crotalaria on the two outside rows to prevent the peas from running into the peanut strips. Both peanuts and cow peas are fertilized with super phosphate according to recommendations of County Agent Floyd Lynch, as developed in cooperation with various local farmers. The cow peas will be hogged and the seed from the crotalaria will be harvested. George Lane, farm Security Supervisor, has cooperated with Mr. Maples in working out a water facility for livestock and home use and for fencing materials necessary for hog and dairy cow enterprises.

Watermelons planted on peanut land which was strip cropped eight and four with crotalaria last year have an excellent volunteer crop of crotalaria. Peanuts on last year crotalaria strips show a very noticeable increase in growth as well as a greener color. All volunteer crotalaria in the peanuts has been controlled by plowing.

The spirit that won the Army
AN AIR FORCE OFFICER came in for his routine checkup and was surprised to find a Wac in charge of the Link Trainer. "Why, that's no work for a woman!" he said. "I've been trained for it, sir," the Wac answered with a smile. "And if I can't do it, I don't belong in this man's Army." This Wac spirit isn't just one of brag or pride in the Corps. It's a spirit of confidence. For the WAC hasn't been given jobs, it has won the right to do them. When the WAC was first organized, there were only four jobs the Army thought women could handle. But the WAC rolled up its sleeves and showed the Army what women can do. Job by job, they demonstrated their aptitude, their earnestness, and courage. And the four jobs grew into 239. Today, wherever you find a Wac on the job, you find a job well done. G.I. Joe says it. The Colonel says it. And the General says, "I wish we had a million more Wacs!"

Your RED CROSS is at his side
RED CROSS WORKS AT HOME and ABROAD
The Cisco Red Cross has cooperated with the county and national organization by doing thousands of pieces of work to be sent to soldiers on the field of battle or wherever bandages might be needed.
These women of Cisco and Eastland county have entered enthusiastically and energetically into this work and have found pleasure in doing these deeds of mercy. They will continue to carry on as the women of America have always carried on --- like the women of the revolution who continued to fire her husbands gun after he had been slain.
We congratulate these women of Cisco and trust that their sons and sons' friends may return safely to their homes in America.
