NAZI LINES BREAK NEAR CAEN

FALSE STATEMENTS WILL BE REFUTED

EASTLAND, Aug. 8.—Aroused by charges that he is the candidate of the CIO and that the CIO Political Action Committee sponsored a series of billboard advertisements of his candidacy in the first primary and is sending "large sums" of money into the district to support him, Clyde L. Garrett, seeking election to congress from the Seventeenth District, brands such charges as politically inspired falsehoods. He bluntly declared he had never received any such contributions, never solicited them and would not accept them if offered.

He promised that the facts about the "CIO" billboard advertisements would be placed before the people of the district through the newspapers within the coming week.

"I had hoped," said Garrett, "that the campaign would be conducted upon a plane of dignity consistent with the importance of the office. But since it has been directly reported to me that my opponent, in a speech at Stephenville and at other times and places over the district, charged that billboard advertising in my behalf had been paid for by the CIO Political Action Committee and that "large sums" of money were being sent into the district to elect me, I cannot, in justice to my friends and neighbors who are supporting me, and to myself, refrain from nailing this falsehood and showing up such tactics for what they are. It shows clearly that we must be on guard against unscrupulous "politics" which will resort to vilification and misrepresentation. I am compelled to believe that my opponent is afraid of his record.

The facts as we shall present them are clear and irrefutable. Those who are responsible for these charges will have to do some explaining to the people of this district. We have nothing to hide. I do not need to slip through any side doors or go outside the district for support. My friends who contributed to my campaign without any solicitation on my part, feel that these charges are not only an attack on me, but a personal affront to themselves who, as American citizens and legitimate voters in this district, are only exercising their right to support a man of their choice.

"The facts will appear in the advertising columns of the papers of the district this week and next. Watch for them!"

WILL CONTINUE FIGHT.

DALLAS, Nov. 8.—Notwithstanding their defeat by decisive figures in the local option elections of Saturday, Dallas and Tarrant county dry forces announce that the fight will continue unabated, with other dry elections in both counties at the appropriate time.

DEATH TAKES HOWARD MOYER GOOD CITIZEN

Howard J. Moyer, 60, thoroughly respected and well liked Cisco citizen since 1926, who formerly operated a machine shop here, died at his home at 7 o'clock Sunday evening.

The funeral will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at First Baptist church, with burial in Oakwood cemetery. Rev. Evan Holmes of the East Cisco Baptist church will officiate and the body will be in charge of Green funeral home.

Mr. Moyer was born December 26, 1884, at Huson, S. D., and is survived by his wife, three sisters, four brothers and a host of friends. He married Miss Jennie Hanson of Crookston, Minn., May 6, 1919. One child, deceased, was born of this union.

When the call came for skilled men in defense plants, he responded and was located near Salt Lake City, Utah, for seven or eight months, or until a severe heart attack made it necessary for Mr. and Mrs. Moyer to return to Cisco.

Pallbearers will be Bill Dean, Harry Schaefer, Jesse Proctor, Len Mayhew, George Free, Coe McLeroy and A. Sandhofer.

FINE CHRISTIAN WOMAN DIED SUNDAY

Mrs. Maggie Sharp, 63, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. T. C. Cozart, near Nimrod, at 9:45 Sunday morning. She had been ill only a short while and death was caused by a heart ailment.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Nimrod Baptist church, with burial in the Pisgah cemetery. Rev. Mart L. Agnew, Baptist minister, officiated and the remains were in charge of Thomas funeral home. Assisting Mr. Agnew were Rev. Floyd Allen and Rev. Mr. Little.

Mrs. Sharp was born in Dallas county, June 23, 1881, and had resided in the Nimrod community 57 years. She had been a consistent member of the Baptist church since early girlhood and was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends.

Survivors include the daughter, Mrs. Cozart; two sons, B. B. Sharp, Chinchilla, Calif.; Floyd S. (Buck) Sharp, Cisco; three sisters, Mrs. Ed Townsend, Nimrod; Mrs. W. H. Hall and Mrs. Joe Sheridan, Cisco. There are also six grandchildren.

Pallbearers were J. L. Thornton, A. N. Simpson, H. H. Harrellson, O. T. Harrellson, Clifton Barron and Buford Cozart.

NEGROES AND CIO GROUP BOYCOTT SOUTH

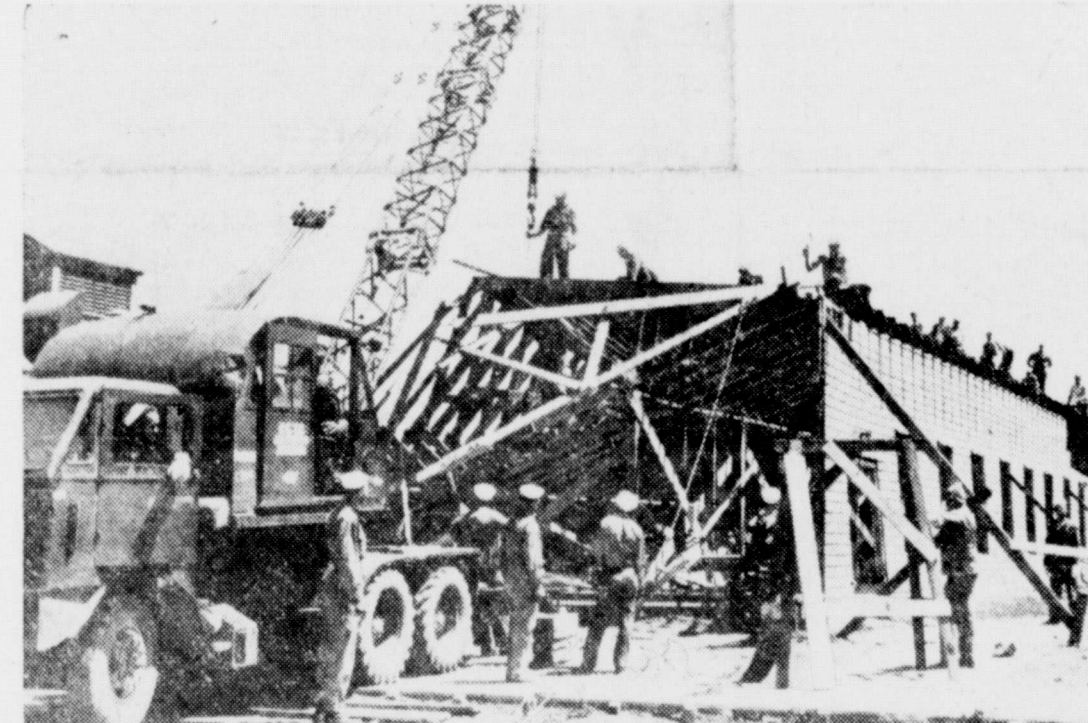

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 8.—A "boycott and proscription" of the South by "powerful Northern Negro groups" and the CIO's Political Action Committee caused the defeat of southern candidates for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, says Governor Broughton.

Broughton said that at the Democratic convention in Chicago—"the wildest and most bewildering session of recent decades"—these groups seemed to have "resolved that the people of the south should forever be but the hewers of wood and drawers of water within the Democratic party."

However, he predicted that President Roosevelt will be re-elected in November and that the south would support the Democratic nominees.

CROFTS GAMELY BATTLING RARE DISEASE

Mr. and Mrs. Sutton Crofts and family have returned from a stay of several days at the H. E. Crofts ranch, Marble Falls, from where they paid daily visits to Mr. Crofts' brother, Franklin Crofts, at Blanco hospital, Blanco, Tex. The latter has been ill the past two months from a rare disease known medically as coccidioidomycosis, or a fungus growth on the lungs.

The sick man, well known in Cisco, is reported somewhat improved following a severe attack during which oxygen and blood plasma were given. He expressed a desire to thank his Cisco friends, through the Daily Press, for their kind letters and cards. These remembrances have cheered him immeasurably during his long illness, the end of which is not yet in sight.

COUNTERFEITERS BUSY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The new A-11 gasoline coupon, not valid on the East Coast until Wednesday "already has been extensively counterfeited," OPA said today. Several types of counterfeit coupons have been seized, OPA said, adding that its special agents have learned from "underworld sources" that large numbers of bogus A-11 coupons have "been printed, distributed to peddlers and sold to black market dealers."

WARREN DOGGETT KILLED, SAIPAN ISLAND

News has been received in Cisco from Mrs. C. C. Doggett, 1910 Lamar street, Houston, that her son, Corp. Warren Doggett of the U. S. Marines, was killed in action on the island of Saipan. He was 22 years of age.

The family formerly resided in Cisco and Warren Doggett was a graduate of Cisco high school and very popular with the younger set, being active in football and other high school activities. Details of the young man's death will be published when received.

CISCOANS ENJOYED GORMAN WATER MELONS

Men of the church were guests of the pastor, Rev. Leslie Seymour, for a melon cutting on the town Monday night, after the monthly meeting of the board of stewards of First Methodist church.

W. J. Foxworth presided at the official meeting during which a proposal was made for doing some repair and repainting of the church building. The chairman was authorized to appoint a committee to determine the amount of work that needed to be done and to proceed with the raising of the necessary funds. The pastor made a brief report on the revival meeting he recently conducted at the Methodist church of Gorman.

After the business session adjourned a brief period of fun and fellowship was enjoyed while the "cutting committee" prepared the Gorman-grown melons. Present for the occasion were: Ed Huestis, W. R. Huestis, A. B. Westfall, O. L. Stamey, C. J. Turner, W. M. Reagin, W. J. Foxworth, J. T. Anderson, A. D. Anderson, C. E. Hatley, Sam King, D. P. King, Jack King, Dr. C. E. Paul, Dr. W. A. Cox, S. H. McCanlies, G. R. Nance, A. B. O'Flaherty, Rev. Wayne Cook, Miss Mina Robinson, Mrs. Ed Huestis, Mrs. A. B. Westfall, Fred Scott, Rev. B. J. Osborne, A. V. McCarty, J. E. Hays, R. W. HOLBROOK IS SUSPICIOUS OF MR. BLALOCK

AUSTIN, Aug. 8.—Texas Democratic National Committeeman Blalock, who has sounded state Democratic electors as to their support or non-support of party nominees at the Sept. 12 state convention, said today that his intentions had been questioned by Elector T. J. Holbrook of Austin.

Holbrook, former Galveston state senator, chosen as an elector by the regular Democrats of the May 23 convention, received the Blalock "support" query and fired back the following question:

"Are you going to fight on the side of the regular Democracy of Texas, or are you going to take orders from the Chicago meeting, controlled by Communists, the CIO, a few city bosses such as Hague from New Jersey, Kelly of Chicago and others?"

Holbrook said he was withholding his answer to Blalock's inquiry until he learned Blalock's intended stand.

STRONG CANADIAN AND BRITISH FORCES GAIN FOUR MILES ON SHORTEST ROAD TO PARIS

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 8.—Powerful Canadian and British forces, striking in the wake of history's mightiest air bombardment, plunged nearly four miles into the heart of the German line southeast of Caen on a three-mile front today in a full-scale offensive designed to blast open the shortest road to Paris, 112 miles away.

All initial objectives were taken and what was described officially as a "break-in" was achieved in the first few hours of the assault which began with a record-shattering 6000-ton saturation aerial bombardment of the German lines by more than 1000 RAF 4-engined bombers by moonlight last night.

While Lt. Gen. H. D. G. Crerar's 1st Canadian Army struck at the hinge of the Caen front, fast-rolling American armored columns from Brittany were approaching Le Mans and Alencon on the southwestern road to Paris. At some points, front reports indicated, American vanguards were only a little more than 100 miles southwest of the French capital.

A German communique hinted that the big submarine base and port Lorient on the south coast of Brittany has fallen to the Americans advancing west from Vannes. The communique said German "covering forces smashed enemy attacking spearheads and subsequently detached themselves to sectors west of Lorient according to orders."

Midway between the two great offensive thrusts aimed at Paris, the Germans hammered at the center of the Allied line east of Avranches for the second straight day in their heaviest counter-attack since D-Day, June 6. The Germans penetrated up to three miles into the American line yesterday, but only at the terrific cost of at least 154 tanks—the equivalent of a Panzer division—destroyed or damaged severely.

MOSCOW.—The Germans burned houses, farms and other installations along the East Prussian frontier today in the first application of the scorched earth policy to their "holy" soil as Red Armies closed in along a 215-mile arc.

Civilians already have been evacuated from areas east of Konigsberg—a further sign that the Nazi command feels the Red Army is about to smash across the border into Germany's easternmost province.

Two more Russian armies—the 1st Baltic and the 2nd White Russian—were revealed to have joined in the mounting battle for East Prussia as Gen. Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky's 3rd White Russian Army bogged down five to 10 miles from the border in the face of heavy resistance from reinforced Nazi troops.

The battle for Warsaw roared on without a letup or decisive change, though Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's 1st White Russian Army was believed to have tightened its siege arc around the east bank suburb of Praga and to be striving to by-pass the capital from the north and south and encircle it.

PEARL HARBOR.—Air-supported American forces, advancing three miles in one day, struck northward at the apex of a huge bulge in the center of a line across Guam today to drive the last ditch Japanese defenders into a tiny area at the northern end of the island.

An undetermined number of enemy troops, cut off from supplies and reinforcements, were trapped in an area less than one-tenth of the island.

A message by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said Marines and Army troops, concentrated in the center of the line, captured the village of Yigo Sunday and over-ran one-third of the remaining enemy-held territory in the heavily-wooded plateau section of northern Guam.

The three-mile advance, which eliminated several enemy strong points, formed an arc in the American line with anchorages at Haputo Point on the west and Lumuna Point on the east.

The report disclosed that carrier aircraft, in support of ground forces, bombed and strafed the Japanese lines Sunday near Mount Santa Rosa, one of the two remaining elevations adaptable for defense bastions. The U. S. Line skirts the southern side of the mountain. In seizing the new area, the American troops discovered a large cemetery where the Japanese had buried their dead in mass graves.

PACIFIST POSITION.

Bombing German cities, one of the most popular acts of the war, was protested some time ago by 28 American clergymen and authors, chiefly because of the harm it did civilians whom this group called innocent.

The group will now stand better in public opinion because it protests with equal force against "the wanton cruelty of robot plane attacks or other methods of civilian bombing" of the English cities. This will relieve them from the charge to which their earlier protest exposed them, of being mainly interested in seeing that Germany did not get hurt.

It is now plain that they are pacifists first of all, since they say: "Our appeal in both cases is made from the standpoint of humanity and religion, which is above all nations and which calls on men everywhere to stay the processes of death."

No one can criticize the morality of the straight pacifist position. If, however, one nation or group of nations followed it and the rest did not, it is easy to see what would happen to the non-resisters.

MANCHURIA.

If the war started in any one place, that was Manchuria, which the Japanese seized in 1931 and renamed Manchukuo. Ever since then, except for the little effort the badly armed Chinese have been able to make, Manchuria has been singularly free from the ravages of war.

Those days are over. American Superfortresses have been bombing Anshan, the Pittsburgh of the province, and Taku, a port from which the Japanese ship nearly 3,000,000 tons of coal annually to the homeland.

These attacks met little plane opposition, either because the Japanese were taken by surprise or because they are finding it necessary to conserve what air strength remains.

The attacks on Japan now range from Burma in the far south to Manchuria in the bleak north. The Japanese are now finding that it is one thing to conquer a vast empire, and another to defend it.

USE FOR NAZIS.

German soldiers have their uses for Uncle Sam. At Greenville, Miss. between 200 and 300 former members of the German Afrika Korps are now busy plugging breaks in the levee to keep the Mississippi river where it belongs. They are lucky at that. They might be plugging holes in the German battle line, which would be harder work and a lot more dangerous.

A Chicago newsboy is going to make a crackerjack salesman. He called out, "Germans caught in death trap! Rommel reported killed in action!" Then, feeling that his hearers might not be sufficiently impressed, he added, "What do you want for a nickel?"

JAPANESE QUISLINGS.

The Japanese quislings, seeing the steady approach of American arms, must be having sleepless nights. Though less is heard of them than of the Nazi puppets who pretend to rule the conquered countries, every one of Japan's new territories has a quisling except Indo-China.

In many cases they are prominent persons. Manchuria is headed by no less a figure than the last Manchu emperor of China, Henry Pu Yi. He sits at the top, but does not govern; Chinese who have been subsidized by Japan do that.

In China the Japanese have found Wang Ching-wei very useful. With Chiang Kai-shek, he is one of the two leading disciples of the late Sun Yat-sen, the founder of Chinese democracy. To strengthen his position the Japanese have given him many concessions denied their puppets else where. He is now seriously ill, and his death would be a major Japanese defeat.

The Philippines have several prominent quislings. Besides Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, who fought for Philippine independence against the Americans when McKinley was president, there have been Jose Laurel, Secretary of the Interior in the Philippines before Pearl Harbor, Jorge Vargas, the late President Manuel Quezon's secretary, and Manuel Roxas, a general who held out with the guerrillas on Mindanao for over a year after the fall of Corregidor.

Burma has Ba Maw as premier, a post which he occupied under the British in 1935. In India the quisling is Subhas Chandra Bose, former president of the Indian National Congress. Only in Indo-China is there no figure-head; the Vichy French government does the dirty work.

How all of them must be worrying now!

Hamilton Fish's New York state farmers, who voted for his return to congress in spite of disapproval from Roosevelt, Dewey, Wilkie, Helen Hayes and the great Walter Winchell, have a certain resemblance to their neighbor in the white house. They don't like to fire an old friend, and when they get their Dutch up they won't listen to reason.

Building Cisco.

"Buy Fort Worth bread and build up Cisco industries." Of course that is home boosting with an inverted vision, but that is what we are doing. Cisco has three bakeries whose products would supply twice our population, but it seems we fall down on our loyalty to home institutions, as Fort Worth bread is still being largely handled by Cisco merchants.

We had a big booster meeting one night recently when over one hundred citizens assembled on the roof garden of the Laguna hotel for the ostensible purpose of boosting home business. Some pretty good talks were made, all favoring methods to increase Cisco business, but there was nothing said about patronizing our local institutions, or creating a market for products of the farms in the Cisco country. We can't improve the business of Cisco unless we patronize our farmers by furnishing them a market for their products, nor can we build up home industries by buying the products of other towns.

J. J. Collins, president of the chamber of commerce, told of some men who have attempted to build a small broom factory in Cisco, one large enough to supply the local demand, but these had to close their doors for lack of support. The owners reported, so Mr. Collins stated, that when outside concerns cut the prices the merchants would buy from others, while the home factory was idle.

But this is just one instance. Cisco has three bakeries, yet our people still consume bread baked in Fort Worth, while our home bakeries are idle. There is enough bread and bakery products sold in Cisco to keep several people busy if they controlled all the business, but a large percent of the bread we consume is baked in Fort Worth. Merchants justify handling this foreign product on the ground that "the people call for it." That may be true, but if their patrons were reminded of the fact that Cisco bread is baked in Cisco by Cisco people, who spend their wages with Cisco merchants, most of the people would manifest a loyal spirit by buying Cisco bread.

But the bakeries must bear part of the blame for Fort Worth bread being favored. There is an impression among some people that products made away from home are better. Erroneous, it is true, but it prevails. Home bakeries are doing nothing to break down this impression. We have heard local people say Fort Worth bread is better, so we set about to ascertain the truth of this statement.

We found that many consider bread 12 to 24 hours old better than bread fresh from the oven. When Fort Worth bread reaches the consumer it has been out of the oven 12 to 24 hours. To prove this assertion take a loaf of the Fort Worth bread, then get a loaf from either of the local bakeries that has been baked 12 hours, and you will admit that the home product is better. If our bakeries would push their product by advertising and other methods they could and would sell their bread to local people. Most people are loyal to their home institutions if the matter is properly presented. Merchants could do much if they would push home products by mentioning them in their advertising but it seems that they follow a course of least resistance by patronizing home institutions. In only a few of them give home products preference.

The Blue Streak, a B-24 Liberator, was one of the greatest bombers that ever climbed into the sky. She flew 110 missions... 300,000 miles... over Germany, Italy, Roumania, Greece, Austria, Africa, Sicily. Her air combat crews sank 4 Nazi freighters off Crete... blew up a tanker at Casilda... sent a destroyer to the bottom of Sicily Bay. They shot down 23 German and Italian fighters... dropped half-a-million pounds of bombs... won the Distinguished Unit Badge and countless individual decorations for gallantry in action. Yet in all her battles in enemy skies, not a man in any of her crews was ever wounded! Ask her pilot, Maj. Ralph P. Thompson, of Columbus, O., how she managed to roll up such a record, and he'll tell you "Because there were no individual stars on her crew. We flew her and fought her as a team — gunners, navigator, bombardier, and pilot, all working together to win. "And that's the thing any young fellow — who wants to win his wings in the AAF — should keep uppermost in his mind... "You're on a team in the AAF... from your first day of training until you get up there in action. And it's a team that's never been stopped... that never will be stopped... the greatest team in the world!" Today, the AAF is writing history. Liberators and Fortresses are blacking out the skies over Germany. Japan is already beginning to feel the awful power of the Superfortress. Swarms of heavy bombers, medium bombers, light bombers and fighters are spearheading the attack on every front. Today — more than ever before — there's a place for you on this great AAF team. If you are 17... if you want action, adventure... the finest, most thorough training any flying man ever had... an opportunity to make a career in aviation after the war... Then go to your nearest AAF Examining Board and see if you can qualify for the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve... with an opportunity to win your wings as gunner, navigator, bombardier or pilot in the AAF... the "greatest team in the world!"

MEN OF 17...

You can get ready now for your place on the "greatest team in the world" — the AAF. Go to your nearest AAF Examining Board... see if you can qualify for the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. If you qualify, you will receive this insignia... but will not be called for training until you are 18 or over. When called, you will be given further tests to determine the type of training you will receive. If you are trained at a gunner or technician gunner, you will get into actual combat as a non-commissioned officer. If your aptitudes are outstandingly high, you will be trained as a bombardier, navigator or pilot, and upon successful completion of training, will be graduated as a Flight Officer or Second Lieutenant. For pre-aviation training, see your local Civil Air Patrol officers. Also see your High School principal or adviser about recommended courses in the Air Service Division of the High School Varsity Corps. Ask about the opportunities for college training through the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program. U. S. ARMY RECRUITING SERVICE For more information contact nearest AAF Examining Board.

WHY GOOD MEN REFRAIN FROM OFFERING FOR PUBLIC OFFICE

(Editorial, Ranger Daily Times, August 6, 1944.)

The character of campaign being conducted by Mr. Omar Burkett for Representative in the 107th District is the principal reason why many good men decline to offer for public office. It follows that many offices of public trust are filled by pure politicians.

This newspaper is convinced that Mr. W. B. Starr and Mr. L. R. Pearson in the First Primary conducted clean campaigns, but so much cannot be said for Mr. Burkett.

During the night of June 27 a large number of photostatic copies of a certificate showing the past political affiliations of Mr. Starr were clandestinely mailed in Ranger. Both Mr. Starr and Mr. Pearson have disclaimed in writing any connection, directly or indirectly, with this matter. Mr. Burkett has remained strangely silent on this point. The clandestine mailing of these certificates was a dual strike at both Mr. Starr and Mr. Pearson — with the design that the Ranger postmark would injure Mr. Pearson and the contents of the letter would injure Mr. Starr, who is a thoroughly honorable man, and need have no regrets about his past political record.

Again, less than 48 hours before the opening of the polls in the First Primary Mr. Burkett and one "Nig" Taylor of Cisco caused to be printed and distributed over the District a circular designed to arouse prejudice against Mr. Pearson in that it charges that he is a "wealthy man who does not need the office." It goes so far as to list Mr. Pearson's property, including his oil production from a few stripper wells, and even includes the 1/8 royalty and makes no deduction for pumpers' salaries, supply bills, and numerous other expenses incidental to the production of oil. Thus, the circular does not give the full truth, and a half truth, is worse than a falsehood. If Mr. Pearson by hard work, industry and good judgment has accumulated the property mentioned in this circular he should be commended rather than condemned. The office of Representative is primarily, and rightfully should be, an office of honor and trust. The design of this political circular was to arouse prejudice against Mr. Pearson because he has made a fair success of his business. Any candidate who will mail blind letters, eleventh hour circulars, and anonymous communications to arouse class prejudice against his opponents is certainly a demagogue and a designing politician, as distinguished from a statesman, and is not worthy of the vote or confidence of the people.

In this campaign Mr. Burkett has issued at least seven circulars—five for himself, and one each against Mr. Starr and Mr. Pearson.

We quote from one of Mr. Burkett's circulars as follows:

"I have sponsored and was co-author of the following:
• • • Reduction of our State Tax Rate 30 cents on the $100 valuation."

Why this deception? The Legislature has nothing whatever to do with raising or lowering the state tax rate. This function is performed exclusively by the State Automatic Tax Board composed of the Governor, Treasurer, and Comptroller. This circular is both misleading and untrue. Also, in the same circular Mr. Burkett says he was "co-author" of a long list of bills, naming them. The "House Journal" is the official record of the House of Representatives and shows the authors of all bills introduced in the House. A copy of the Journal is available in the County Judge's office, and the Journal does not show that Mr. Burkett was "co-author" of any of the bills mentioned in his circular. Again we ask, "Why this deception?"

Mr. Burkett has already served three terms—six years—in the Legislature, and is not the sole author of a single piece of constructive legislation. In the last session of the Legislature he introduced seven bills and not one of the seven was enacted into law.

Also, Mr. Burkett's position on House Bill 9 is of interest to the people of the District. H. B. 9 is generally referred to as the bill which sets a "ceiling" on old-age assistance, limiting the amount that can be expended for pensions. Mr. Burkett signed H. B. 9 and voted for it twice. However, on final passage Mr. Burkett absented himself without excuse and did not vote on the bill. Only five Representatives voted against H. B. 9 on final passage and Mr. Burkett is not listed among the five. Mr. Burkett is now going over the District telling the old people that he did not vote for the "ceiling" on pensions contained in H. B. 9. The facts are Mr. Burkett supported H. B. 9 up until the final roll call and then went A. W. O. L. (House Journal, page 2745). Any Representative who would attempt to mislead his constituents—especially the aged and uninformed—is not worthy of re-election.

Also, in his circular Mr. Burkett claims he sponsored legislation aiding the teaching profession and public schools, yet he voted against House Bill 176 entitled "An Act Providing For a More Efficient Public School System in Texas," and further providing for an increased base pay for teachers. (House Journal, page 2840-41). Again we ask, "Why this deception?"

This character of campaign is the main reason many good business men will not offer for public office.

In the First Primary Mr. Starr was eliminated, leaving the run-off between Mr. Pearson and Mr. Burkett. Mr. Pearson is not a politician and has never before offered himself for public office, while Mr. Burkett has been on the State payroll for approximately twenty years.

Mr. Pearson's published platform is sound and constructive. He favors: No new State taxes for the duration; strict economy in all matters of government not directly connected with the war effort; post war planning now to enable business and industry to provide employment for our returning soldiers; eliminating the deficit in the General Fund and placing the State on a cash basis without a bond issue; clearing land titles where royalty or mineral interests have been sold and remained undeveloped for fifteen years or longer; proper support of our public schools and institutions of higher learning, including equally the Junior Colleges at Cisco and Ranger; reasonable regulation of business by the State rather than Federal control; the faithful discharge of the State Social Security obligations including old age pensions.

This newspaper is supporting Mr. L. R. Pearson for Representative because he has conducted a clean campaign, and advocates a sound constructive program, and has the ability to execute that program.
