SCRAP PAPER PICKUP BEGINS THURSDAY

Jay Garrett, chairman of the paper scrap drive, says eight teams and as many trucks will be out Thursday afternoon, August 24, to gather all the scrap paper that is bundled and placed at the curb for the Lions club campaign.

C. M. Nevill and O. L. Stamey are on the committee with Mr. Garrett and they are organizing the drive with quite a lot of publicity, including telephone calls and placards advertising this particular date for the first drive.

Binding cord may be obtained free at Cisco Lumber & Supply company by calling for it. Slick paper and books and magazines are to be tied in separate bundles from scrap newspaper, while cardboard is to be in still separate bundles from those two.

Mr. Garrett calls attention to the paper shortage that has become so acute that in many places soldiers are gathering it, and the people are very patriotically cooperating in every town. He calls attention to the recent drive in Fort Worth which was such a great success and thinks Cisco should do its best, too.

The W. P. B. has been notified of this activity in Cisco and it sends its best wishes and thanks for the effort here to come to the aid of the country in this dire need for more scrap paper.

Remember the date: Thursday, August 24, and for any other information phone Mr. Garrett at 288 or 16-J.

BLOOD DONORS SIGN UP HERE THIS WEEK

Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week a registration booth will be maintained in the front offices of West Texas Utilities company, 518 D avenue, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. for all who want to give a pint of blood to the Red Cross blood plasma bank.

Wednesday, September 6, will be Cisco Day at the Red Cross receiving center at First Methodist church in Eastland. The mobile blood unit will be stationed there all of that week for the convenience of Eastland county people.

Many who gave a pint of blood when the unit was here in April indicated they would give again on the next visit of the unit. These will not need to register now but will be notified some time this week the hour of their appointment on September 6, says Rev. Leslie Seymour, local chairman on arrangements.

Only those within the ages of 18 to 60 are eligible. Unmarried women from 18 to 21 must have a release signed by parents or guardian, and men from 18 to 21, both married and single, must have such a release unless they are in the armed forces.

Those who have ever had tuberculosis or undulant fever and those who have had malaria in the last 15 years are ineligible, as are also those who have rabies vaccine within five years, or jaundice in six months, or a major surgery in six months, or a cold within the previous week. Other conditions of eligibility will be given at the registration booth, or Mrs. Slicker may be called by telephone for information. The minimum weight of donors is 110 and during the summer it is advised that those who weigh less than 125 should not give blood.

Chairmen of special committees in preparation for Cisco Day are Mrs. D. Ball to secure nurses and nurses aides, Mrs. Paul Pöe to secure help for the canteen service, Mrs. Homer Slicker and Mrs. Philip Pettit to secure hostesses and assistants, R. N. Clack and R. L. Pensler for transportation.

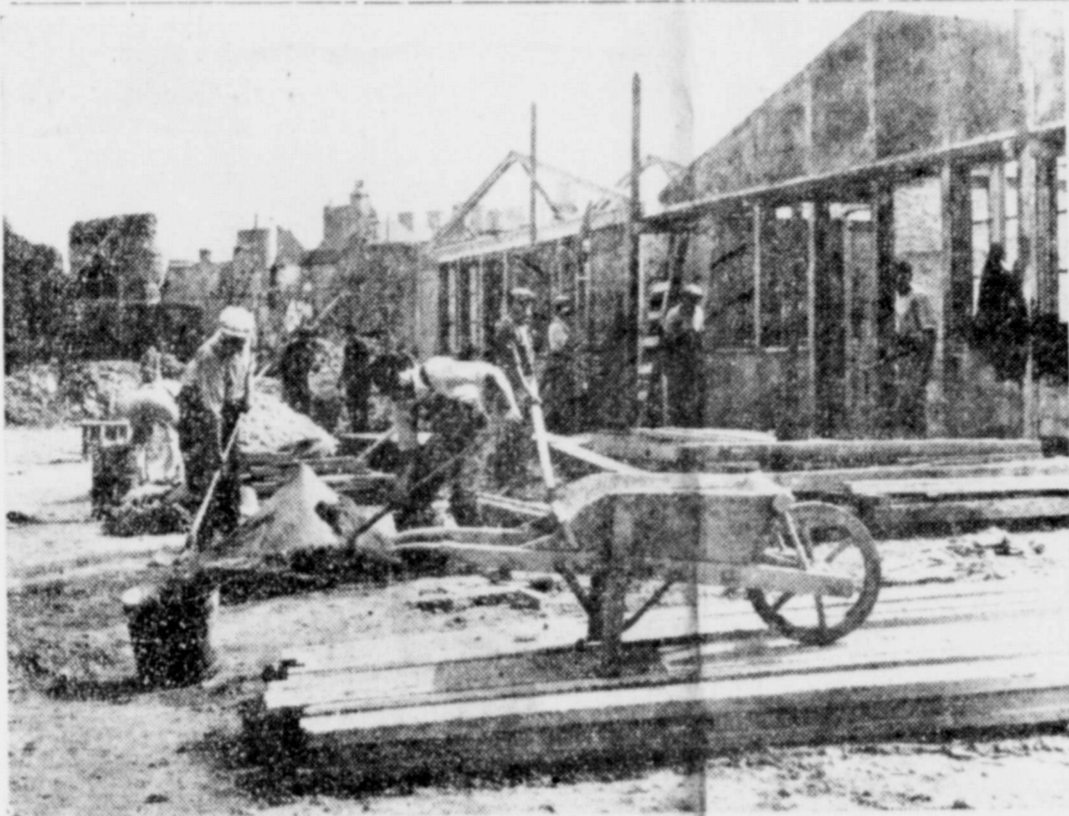

An expert staff of doctors and trained nurses will be in charge of the receiving station to be assisted by these local people chosen for special duties.

Cisco is asked to supply 200 pints of blood on this one day, which is 40 pints more than was given in April. It is expected that a minimum of 250 people must be registered in order to secure the desired amount of blood, since some will be discovered to be ineligible after they arrive at the station.

Eastland county is asked to give 1,000 pints during the week of September 4.

KIMMEL SAYS WHOLE TRUTH BE AMAZING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, former navy commander at Pearl Harbor, protested to Senator Harry S. Truman (Dem.) of Missouri that Truman had made false statements in a magazine article relating to Kimmel's conduct at the Hawaiian base prior to the Japanese attack in 1941. Kimmel's protest was expressed in a letter to Truman.

Both Kimmel and Gen. Walter C. Short, who was Army commander at Pearl Harbor at the time of the Japanese sneak attack, face trial by court-martial for alleged dereliction of duty.

By direction of congress, both the army and navy boards are conducting investigations into circumstances of the Japanese attack.

Kimmel told Truman that in the article in the Aug. 26 issue of Collier's "You have made false statements concerning my conduct. Your innuendo that General Short and I were not on speaking terms is not true. Your statements alleging failure to co-operate and coordinate our efforts are equally false.

Admiral Kimmel said Truman had relied upon the Roberts report on Pearl Harbor, compiled by Justice Owen J. Roberts of the Supreme Court. The report, Kimmel said, does not concern the

"This is evident," he added, "from the fact that no official action has ever been taken upon the basis of that report.

"Until I am afforded a hearing in open court, it is grossly unjust to repeat false charges against me, when, by official action, I have been persistently denied an opportunity to defend myself publicly.

POLITICAL SPEAKING THURSDAY

County and district candidates to be voted on at the Democratic run-off primary of Saturday have been tendered the use of the lawn at First Methodist church Thursday night for final messages to the voters of Cisco and this area.

The benches used at the union services each Sunday evening this summer are still in place, there are good lights and a loud speaker has been secured.

The speaking will start at 8 o'clock or as soon thereafter as possible and W. H. LaRoque has consented to serve as presiding officer.

Before the speaking begins, Mr. LaRoque and the various candidates will confer briefly and arrange for a satisfactory division of time.

Cong. Sam Russell, telephoning from Stephenville, said he would be here, and former congressman Clyde Garrett, speaking from Eastland, said he hoped to be present, but would send a representative if a previous engagement could not be postponed.

Other candidates expected to be present include Rep. Omar Burkett and Judge L. R. Pearson, candidates for floterial representative.

Lewis Crossley and Harl O'Brien, candidates for county judge.

Edgar Altom and Roy Lane, candidates for district clerk.

An invitation was extended to Attorney General Grover Sellers at Austin to be present, but Assistant Attorney General L. H. Flewelen said it would be impossible for either of them to be here Thursday night. On Mr. Flewelen's suggestion, Judge Cyrus Frost of Eastland was asked to represent Mr. Sellers and Judge Frost has consented to do so and will be here.

It is hoped a large crowd of people from Cisco and this area will attend the speaking and meet the visitors—both as a courtesy to guests within the gates and also that they may look the candidates over and be better prepared for the privilege of freely choosing those they deem best fitted for the various offices when they go to the polls Saturday.

RECEIVED 40 COPIES PRESS AT ONE TIME

W. L. Baird, first class engineer and serving on a submarine in Jap waters, is a subscriber of the Cisco Daily Press. Recently he wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Baird of route four and, among other things, stated that on arrival at a port some time ago he found forty copies of the Cisco paper awaiting him.

Baird is 38 years of age and attended school at Pioneer. He is married and his wife and two children reside at Odessa. He has been in the service 14 months and has visited many points in the enemy waters during the past year.

PATTON'S FAST-ROLLING TANKS CROSSED SEINE AND WHEELED NORTHWARD TOWARD MARNE

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 22.—American armored columns were across the Seine in force on both sides of Paris today, striking northward for the Channel coast in a whirlwind drive that had all but encircled the French capital and menaced its great port of Le Havre.

Henceforth the Allied armies will be able to advance virtually at will in France," high military spokesmen told a United Press correspondent in the field. "There is nothing that can stop us at the present time."

Front reports, which headquarters spokesmen refused to elaborate, said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's fast-rolling tanks and mechanized infantry had thrust across the Seine in the Fontainebleau area, some 32 miles south of Paris, and were wheeling northward toward the Marne and the battlefields of World War One through feeble resistance.

One American unit already was reported to have reached the Marne at Meaux, 22 miles east-northeast of Paris and 40 miles above the break through point around Fontainebleau. Another was said to be in Rozoy, 27 miles southeast of the capital.

Coupled with the broad American break-through across the Seine northwest of Paris, the new drive drew an armored ring more than half-way around the capital. Inside the city, great fires were reported raging at a score of points and German troops, their last escape corridor closing rapidly behind them, fought for their lives against a swelling army of thousands of French patriots.

MOSCOW.—Soviet tanks and infantry plunged through a 22-mile-wide gap in the German defenses northeast of Warsaw today and prepared to smash across the Bug river in a drive outflanking the Polish capital from the north.

Marshall Rokossovsky's 1st White Russian Army neared the south bank of the Bug on a broad front in a major breakthrough of German strong points along the Warsaw-Bialystok railway, capturing many towns and villages in advances of three to nine miles.

While the battle for Warsaw mounted in fury, German Panzer forces finally blasted open a narrow corridor along the coast of the Gulf of Riga and reestablished contact with elements of some 30 German divisions in Latvia and Estonia.

EMBITTERED FACTIONS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY IN SOUTH THREATEN FIGHT TO A FINISH

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 22.—From the Atlantic seaboard to the plains of Texas, discord was running high today among embittered factions of the Democratic Party in the South, while in Georgia disgruntled members out to beat the Roosevelt ticket were threatened with being black listed if they go so far as joining forces with independent factions or with Republicans.

In South Carolina, a lame duck senator, E. D. "Cotton Ed" Smith, sharp-tongued Administration opponent who was defeated in a recent primary, issued a call to "real lovers of the old (Democratic) party" to rise against the Roosevelt forces and fight.

Smith, who went to Congress for eight terms on platforms of White supremacy and states rights, indicated he might even consider running in the general election on the Southern Democratic party's ticket—if that anti-New Deal faction puts the proposition up to him.

Meanwhile, a former Georgia governor, E. D. Rivers, who was swept into office on a New Deal tidal wave and out again by the opposition influence, charged that Eugene Talmadge, the chief executive who once unseated him, was being deliberately built up for a comeback through a coalition between rump Republicans and independent Democrats.

Purpose of the fusion, he asserted, was to fix it so Talmadge could "fight the national Democratic ticket on the race issue," thereby building up his badly damaged political fences without "the onus of becoming an outright Republican."

In Alabama, Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel launched the American Democratic party's campaign to "oust" the New Deal Monday, charging that labor racketeers and New Dealers had "bought out the party" amid broken promises of the Administration.

Anti-Administration forces in Texas claimed that 15 and perhaps 19 of the state's 23 Democratic electors had agreed to repudiate the Roosevelt-Truman ticket, and half of Louisiana's ten electors were reportedly willing to follow suit.

A NEW REIGN OF LAW.

Along with the normal Americanism of Governor Dewey's recent formal statement on world affairs, there was also a liberal dose of internationalism. The time seems to have arrived when our two great political parties can accept a common basis for future world peace and security. If Americans can do so wholeheartedly, it may be assumed that Britain, Russia and China will do likewise. With these "four corners of the world" agreed in a sincere plan for general peace, it is hardly conceivable that beaten Germany and lesser powers will be much inclined to make trouble in the near future, at least.

Care must be taken, of course, to avoid arbitrary action disregarding the rights of the smaller powers. Any decent conception of world government implies an honest effort to restore the "international law" which succeeded fairly well, on the whole, for many years before this recent upset. The role of the big powers is properly that of friends rather than dictators. If the United States, the British empire, Russia and China can cooperate in a spirit of mutual good will, this generation may yet see a reign of universal law.

SUMMONS OF HITLER.

The last war ended with surprising suddenness. All at once, as it seemed, the armistice came and people were dancing in the streets. Many observers seem to expect such a sudden blessing this time, too. It is a matter that nobody can safely prophesy, but it seems reasonable to say that the collapse now will not come so quickly.

For one thing, there is the fiery Hitler, fearful for his army and for his own fate, who may prolong the collapse or delay the surrender unreasonably. He might do this as a matter of pride, even while knowing that the situation is hopeless. Or if giving up in a more rational mood, he might cause delay through technicalities and confusion.

But the sturdy military leaders in charge of the Allied cause will give short shrift to any such effort. Soon enough will come the curt command from the conquerors, to sign promptly on the dotted line.

CHARTRES CATHEDRAL.

Chartres Cathedral, called by Rodin "the most splendid of all our cathedrals—the Acropolis of France," is the best preserved of the true Gothic structures that have come down to us from the late twelfth and early thirteenth centuries. Long the favorites of tourists, the cathedral has a beauty of architecture, sculpture, and stained glass that makes it the most sublime expression of the medieval spirit left to the twentieth century. The beauty of the cathedral lies also in the intangible—in the religious zest of its builders, in the prayers left there by countless pilgrims, in the music of old Gregorian chants now somehow become an integral part of the building. Napoleon felt these things when he said, "an atheist would feel ill at ease here." Everybody feels them who sees the afternoon sun come through the blue and red glass to cast bits of patterned color on the cathedral floor.

If in passing through Chartres the Germans bomb the cathedral, they will destroy building stones that can be replaced, and sculpture that can to some extent be mended. But the essential spirit of the cathedral would be irreplaceable. The twentieth century has its own high values, but it needs as part of its foundation the beauty and faith of the Middle Ages.

Exile for Nelson.

Dallas News: Russia's Czars used to send their political cast-off to Siberia. President Roosevelt sends his to China. The latest announcement in Washington is that Donald Nelson will be gone for several months, in the most critical period of the reconstruction task, and that his place will be taken by Charles E. Wilson, who disagrees with Nelson on the need of taking prompt steps to reconstruction to minimize postwar unemployment and industrial ailments.

As chairman of the War Production Board, Mr. Nelson has performed an almost miraculous job in getting American industry converted to war production and in stepping up the output of war equipment and supplies to meet growing needs. If left in Washington, he might have done an equally commendable job of making a start toward reconstruction to peacetime economy, in spite of Army opposition to reconstruction steps now. As one Republican Senator Kenneth L. Wherry of Nebraska remarked, "If ever there was a time when we need a man of Mr. Nelson's experience, it is right here on the home front at this time."

There is no doubt that China needs the kind of advice Mr. Nelson can give her leaders. He will do much good there. But it would have been easier to find some else for the China trip than to fill Mr. Nelson's shoes in the WPB. As one of his associates put it, the China assignment looks like a kick in the teeth. One story, pointed if apocryphal, has it that Henry A. Wallace asked Nelson that he intended to do after he got back. Congress should see to it that Mr. Nelson's reconstruction plans are not stymied in his absence.

OPEN FORUM

Howard's Good Work.

Editor Daily Press: In your front page article of August 20 regarding First Baptist church building, you failed to give credit where due. In the fifth paragraph of said article you say:

"More planning and talk continued, being more emphatic in 1922-23, when WMU ladies began purchasing brick and having it stacked on the grounds, after the old church burned in the early twenties."

The WMU ladies were not without the direction of an able pastor in the person of Rev. C. G. Howard. The facts are the present church building was well under way and the basement already completed under the direction of Brother Howard before the Rev. Miller was called to the pastorate. The plans for the present building had already been approved, much of the money already subscribed and the basement completed. And, a great deal of the material to finish the building accumulated and on the ground.

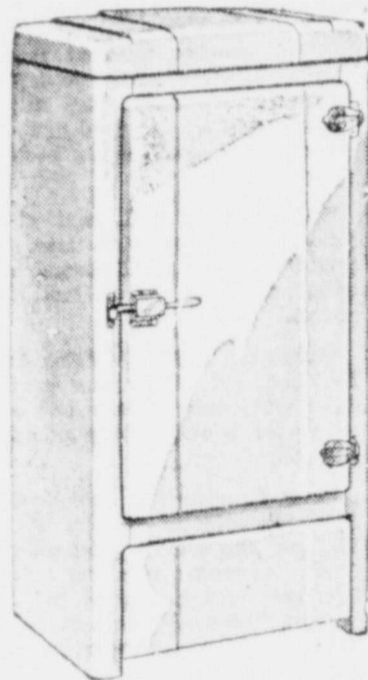

NOT just by the WMU ladies but, the whole church membership, before the Rev. Miller came on the scene. The WMU ladies DID take the lead in providing the brick.

It should be said of Brother Howard that no pastor labored under such trying circumstances with a more righteous zeal than he did. The incentive to build had already been inspired by Brother Howard and the activity was under way with a determination purpose by the congregation to carry on to its fruition long before the Rev. Miller was even considered as pastor. Please put the emphasis where it belongs. Respectfully submitted, W. I. GHORMLEY.
