BUSINESS MEN VISIT BUSY DAIRY FARM

CISCO CHILD NEAR DEATH FROM ACCIDENT

An interesting glimpse of what can be done in this country with a dairy industry developed upon a foundation of pure bred stock and good management, was afforded a group of Cisco business men who took time from their businesses Friday afternoon to visit the H. L. Ratliff Dairy Farm, two miles southeast of the city.

Guided by F. E. Walker, plant superintendent and dairy expert, the group spent an absorbing hour at the plant. The men watched some of the 60-odd cows in production being milked by machinery in the modern milking barn. They followed the course of the new milk through a process that ended with sudden chilling in a refrigeration house and its storage in cold cans to await delivery.

They visited stalls where 21 aristocrats of the splendid herd, sleekly groomed, and protected with blankets, were being prepared for showing at the West Texas Fair at Abilene, September 5.

Roy Thackeron, 5, son of First Class Petty Officer and Mrs. C. A. Thackeron, 1107 F avenue, was seriously if not fatally injured late Friday afternoon when he employed a dynamite cap he had found while at play.

The child was conveyed to Graham Sanitarium, where it was found that his left eye was gone, a finger on his left hand blown away and other fingers on the same hand partially missing. In addition, three pieces of the cap had pierced the little fellow's stomach.

Some members of this show herd already are veterans of the fairs, with many ribbons to their credit. "I'm Dreaming Pioneer," chief sire, hasn't been beaten in show competition, Mr. Walker revealed proudly. "But he can," said Walker, and as he selected individuals and led them before the Cisco group he pointed the features that make or break an animal in the eyes of the judges.

A. G. MOTOR CO. EXPANDS AND REMODELS

But show quality isn't necessarily herd quality, said Walker. Some of the best individuals are complete washouts in the ring. He led the Ciscoans to a stall where a young bull, brought from Canada, was kept. None of the spit and polish of the show barn was there. "He's too dumb," said Walker. "But as a sire, he's tops. Before he is five years old we hope to see him ranked among the highest priced sires of the Jersey breed in this section."

A. G. Motor company has just completed some drastic remodeling over a period of several months, which has included changes for the office, parts room, washing and lubrication department and the paint and body shop.

The office and parts remodeling has included segregating them in separate brick and glass enclosures, with rounded brick to give an artistic effect. In the parts room, new table-type display bins have been installed in place of old-style bins.

The washing and lubrication department has installed new equipment and has been moved to the southeast part of the building, giving much needed room and easy access from either front or side street.

The paint and body shop has been moved across the alley adjoining the main building, thus making use of a part of the building recently purchased by the company. Having this department isolated from the rest of the shop activities allows for a better job, with no interfering delays.

The entire shop is well lighted with fluorescent lighting system, enabling workman to render their usual better service, regardless of dark days or enforced night labor.

MAJOR LOVELADY HERE.

Major Bryon Lovelady, division chaplain of the second tactical air division at DeRidder, La., will preach at First Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock, says the pastor, Rev. Leslie Seymour. Chaplain and Mrs. Lovelady and their small son Joe Robert are visiting in the home of Mrs. Joe Lovelady. Before going to DeRidder he was stationed at MacDill Field near Tampa, Fla., for several months. Born and reared in Cisco, he received his theological training at S. M. U. and after graduating from the seminary served for a number of years as pastor in the Texas conference of the Methodist church.

lished to accomplish by example what he so insistently and eloquently preached to the people of this section. Mr. Lee's dream may be in the process of being realized.

Among the business men in the group Friday were Mayor Edward Lee, son of the late congressman; S. H. Nance, George Boyd, E. P. Crawford, E. G. Dameron, J. R. Deen, J. B. Eldier, Homer Ferguson, Austin Flint, W. P. Gunn, Lester Jenkins, Leon Maner, Nick Miller and B. A. Butler.

It is significant, perhaps, that it is doing so on the very farm and in the very barns which the late Cong. R. Q. Lee, outstanding West Texas agricultural leader, established to accomplish by example what he so insistently and eloquently preached to the people of this section. Mr. Lee's dream may be in the process of being realized.

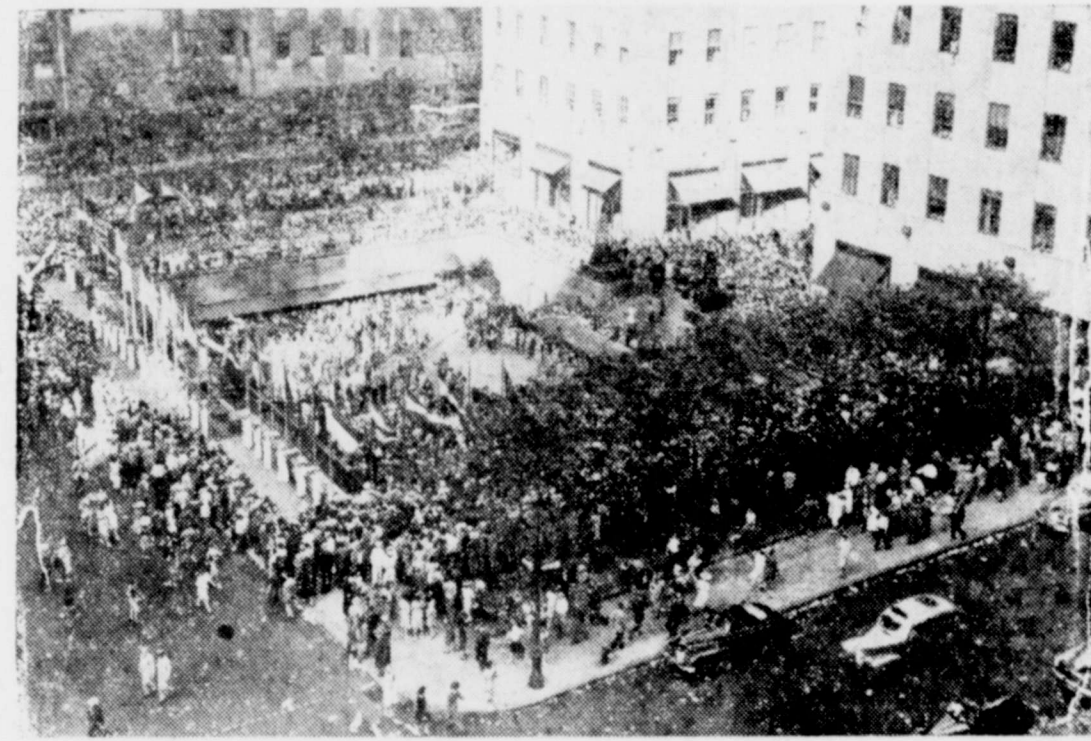

CRIME DOESN'T PAY—Facing possible life imprisonment, these juveniles of Omaha, Neb., learn penalty of crime. Accused of kidnapping Chicago salesman and transporting stolen car across state line, they are from left, Edward Neerose, Antony Medina, Pauline Barrett, Tom Murphy and Robert Campbell. Boys are 16 and girl, 15.

ALTMAN STYLE SHOP IS BEING ENLARGED

Altman's Style Shop, which opened for business here in 1932, at 704 D avenue, has found it necessary to increase its floor space and is remodeling the adjacent store room at 702 D avenue preparatory to occupying both places. With this new addition, the local institution and the Altman store at Abilene will represent two of the most complete women and children's stores in central West Texas. The Cisco store has shown a consistent growth ever since its establishment, although the depression years made the going pretty rough for the new business, said F. B. Altman.

The Altman's are old-timers in the drygoods business, the family having been operating stores ever since S. W. Altman, fresh out of school, entered the grocery business at Hico in 1900. He later included drygoods at Hico and finally dealt in drygoods exclusively.

The Cisco store has been managed by F. B. Altman since its beginning and he and his employees extend an invitation to the public to visit the enlarged store, while at the same time extending their sincere thanks to the people of Cisco and this area who have made the growth of the business possible.

DOGGETT MEMORIAL SERVICE IMPRESSIVE

Impressive memorial services for Corp. Clifton Warren Doggett, who was killed in action at Saipan, were held at First Baptist church Thursday night.

The colors were presented by boy scouts and the audience sang two hymns. Rev. Cooper Waters read from scriptures and spoke a few words, after which O. L. Stamey, high school principal, spoke on the school life of the young man. He said he was a good scholar, good athlete and a leader.

The Marine hymn was played and there was a prayer by F. E. Shepard. Taps were blown by Harry Grant.

A huge wreath encircling a picture of the soldier was placed before the audience. This was later taken to Goldthwaite to be placed on the grave of a brother.

Out of town relatives included the 22-year-old boy's mother, Mrs. C. C. Doggett, Houston; a sister, Mrs. M. L. Lindsey, Goldthwaite; a brother, Lt. Glenn Doggett, Beeville; his grandmother, Mrs. Lankford, Goldthwaite.

GERMAN MILITARY SPOKESMAN SAYS ALLIES ARE THRUSTING FROM VERDUN TOWARD LONGWY

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Sept. 2.—American armies today fanned out through Alsace-Lorraine to within artillery range of Germany and approached and perhaps crossed the Belgian border on a 65-mile front.

(A German Transocean Agency dispatch quoted a Nazi military spokesman as saying the Allies were thrusting from Verdun toward Longwy, 40 miles north northwest of Metz and within two miles of both the Belgian and Luxembourg frontiers, and Diedenhofen, 17 miles north of Metz and 17 miles from the German border).

The British 2nd Army rolling up the German flank behind the robot bomb coast captured Lens, only 16 miles below the great industrial center of Lille, in a nine-mile advance from freshly-liberated Arras, capital of Pas de Calis department. British vanguards were within 20 miles of the Belgian border.

Front dispatches predicted the Allies may cross into both Germany and Belgium this weekend, if they have not already done so. Belgian sources said a Belgian underground army nearly 1,000,000 strong had been ordered into action and Nazi broadcasters acknowledged that Brussels may fall within the next 48 hours.

Even Adolf Hitler's own newspaper, Volkischer Beobachter, conceded by implication that the German army would be unable to stop the onrushing Allied armies short of the Reich's own borders and perhaps not until they were deep inside Germany.

The Americans, part of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3rd Army, were believed probing the approaches to Metz on the east bank of the Moselle 35½ miles east of Verdun, and already may have driven into that portion of Alsace-Lorraine which Germany annexed following France's surrender in June 1940.

Patton's forces were deep into the outer defenses of the Maginot Line and, moving northeast of Verdun, were well within long-range artillery shot of Germany itself.

MOSCOW.—Russian armored columns drove 70 miles or more beyond Bucharest today, capturing or by-passing the railway center of Pitesti in a fast-breaking advance that already has carried to within 100 miles of Yugoslavia.

Other elements of Malinovsky's 2nd Ukrainian Army linked up with Tolbukhin's 3rd Army to present a solid front touching the Bulgarian border at key points along a 150-mile stretch from the Danube river oil port of Giurgiu to the Black Sea.

Important developments were anticipated in Bulgaria as the two armies massed for their next move simultaneously with the fall of the Bagrianov government. Facing complete isolation from Germany, Bulgaria was expected to reach a momentous decision in the light of Russia's rejection of its declaration of neutrality.

ROME.—Four Allied columns, pursuing remnants of the German 19th Army up the Rhone Valley, converged on Lyon today with one salient less than 40 miles from that industrial city reported already in the hands of French forces of the interior.

The Nazi radio partially confirmed the reports by saying German troops had been ordered to put down a Maquis revolt inside Lyon. There was no Allied comment.

The Allied columns approaching Lyon were spread along a 70-mile front, 150 miles or more from the Mediterranean beaches where they landed 17 days ago.

As the two American columns and a similar number of French forces neared Lyon, headquarters reported that roads leading north and northeast of the city were filled with fleeing German forces apparently trying to avoid being trapped.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Liberator bombers from U. S. 14th Air Force bases in China raided Japanese shipping in Tokyo harbor of Formosa, northwest of the Philippines, while a Japanese Demet news dispatch reported today that a fleet of 40 other Liberators struck a new blow at Davao on Mindanao island in the southern Philippines at noon yesterday.

The Formosa raid was made at night with bombers hitting at a large concentration of enemy vessels and destroying or damaging an unestimated number.

Allied bombers renewed their attacks on shipping in the Dutch East Indies, sinking or damaging four vessels and 38 barges in raids Wednesday and Thursday. Bombers also attacked Timor island and dropped 45 tons of bombs on the Cape Chater airstrip and dispersal areas.

HATTEN RECOVERING.

First Lt. Leo A. Hatten of the army signal corps is recovering from wounds he received in France on July 14 and is now at a hospital in England. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hatten of Eastland and a nephew of Mrs. Reed Young, Mrs. L. A. Burkett and Mrs. W. P. Coldwell of Cisco. He is a graduate of Eastland high school, John Tarleton College and received his degree from Texas University. He was recently awarded the Purple Heart.

The proud militarists in Japan and Germany must feel a little humiliated by the fact that treachery and surprise gave them their only victories.

CIVIC LOVE.

"Paris, lovely daughter of France, is home again," writes an American correspondent, "and the family is superbly happy." Americans are proud to have had a hand in that restoration. Observing with what intensity Frenchmen love their famous city, members of many an American community may find themselves feeling just a little envious. Some find themselves thinking, "If we could only love our own city like this, and cherish it and sacrifice for it as the French do!"

We do not want war here at home to teach us such civic lessons. But wouldn't it be wonderful if that spirit could prevail more generally in American cities, and particularly in Cisco? Not the hoorah expression of love and loyalty which Americans often seem to substitute for the real thing, nor a provincial unwillingness to know and approve other cities, but a true, steadfast love for one's community and people and a burning desire to make the home town still more beautiful and serviceable.

LAST OF THE OROLES.

Bobby Gilks, who has just died, must have been almost the last of baseball's most famous team, the Baltimore Orioles of the '90's.

Here was a team that revolutionized the game. The hit-and-run, the fundamental of baseball attack, was an Oriole invention. They perfected the bunt, and introduced the squeeze. A rough aggregation, a terror to umpires, they spent long hours in working out new plays. For a time their manager, Ned Hanlon, was thought unequalled. As he had only mediocre results when he managed Cincinnati 10 years later, he may have owed more to such stars as Kelley, Jennings, McGraw and Robinson than they to him. Gilks did not rank with these players, but was good enough to stay with them three years, and later to play and manage successfully for St. Paul and various Southern teams. The others all became successful managers in their turn, and many present-day baseball leaders go back, directly or indirectly, to Oriole training.

They are all dead now. Baltimore itself is no longer in the big leagues; but as long as it was there, it left a terrific impact upon baseball.

YOUNG VANDALS.

Many cities continue reporting an unusual amount of vandalism, mostly perpetrated by gangs of boys who derive a strange pleasure from such operations. It is the nature of youth, when left to its own devices, to commit more or less depredation, but the present troubles are exceptional. They occur mostly in the absence of fathers, at war or at work, and from the upsetting of normal standards of social conduct in war time. It is not surprising when so large a part of the civilized world is destroying property, in one form or another, that many boys and young men should assume that they, too, have a right to destroy things. In some places girls are the guilty ones.

But this kind of conduct is exactly the opposite of what intelligent and normal lads should do. The more destruction is wrought by war, the more earnestly civilians, young and old, should try to preserve and safeguard property. Perhaps there should be some kind of general organization among young people devoted to protection of useful things, so as to help restore the war's ravages at home and abroad.

Cisco Masons celebrated the Golden Jubilee of Cisco Lodge No. 556, A. F. & A. M. with a banquet at the telephone building last night and about 250 Masons and their wives were present. The banquet was prepared by the Eastern Star and a most tempting menu was set before the members of the lodge and their guests. The festivities were opened by a song, "Auld Lang Syne," led by W. F. Walker, which was followed by the invocation by Rev. E. S. James. As the guests were seated at the feast the address of welcome was delivered by G. B. Kilpatrick, worshipful master of the lodge. Introductions were made by Wm. Heagan, master of ceremonies, and a past worshipful master of the lodge. A prayer, "In Memoriam," was offered by Rev. E. L. Miley. John E. Patterson, the only surviving charter member and first worshipful master of the lodge, was the program for an address, but was not present, having departed for California for the winter a few days ago. A selection was rendered by the Masonic quartet composed of W. F. Walker, L. E. Boyd, B. W. Patterson and George Boyd.

Talks on Masonry were made by Judge D. K. Scott and Dr. W. P. Lee, followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. Coe McLeroy. Preceding a selection by "The Bald-Head Quartet" was an address by C. S. Karkalits. Rev. Stuart Pearce's address followed the quartet, and the program was brought to a close by "Blest be the Tie That Binds," led by W. F. Walker, and the assembly was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. C. C. Odum.

News of the passing of Judge John J. Butts, veteran Cisco attorney and member of the Eastland county bar, was a shock to the entire city where he was known and beloved by practically every person in Cisco and a favorite with the county bar of which he had been a member since his coming to Eastland county and Cisco in 1885. Judge Butts' death followed a heart attack on Monday, preceded by an illness of several weeks, though he had sufficiently recovered to resume his law practice, and Friday represented the city in the gas hearing at Abilene, with his son-in-law and law partner, F. D. Wright. Funeral services were held at the family residence, 711 west Sixth street, Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. E. S. James, pastor of First Baptist church, with Green funeral home in charge of the burial. From 2:40 till 4 o'clock, most of the business houses were closed as a tribute to this veteran attorney, who had helped build Cisco, and who numbered his friends by his acquaintances Judge Butts was a native of Tennessee, but came to Texas, via Arkansas, where he spent several years before removing to Texas, and later studied law at Austin, while acting secretary of state under Gov. S. L. Ross. Returning to Cisco he opened a law office here, under the firm name of Butts & Wright, which continued until his death. Judge Butts is survived by his widow and three children, Edgar Butts, Mrs. Wright, and Miss Mary Jane Butts. Another son, Major John William Butts, aviator in the world war, was killed in an airplane accident in 1918, for whom the local post, American Legion was named.

A corps of women from Cisco will be on hand at First Methodist church in Eastland where the blood center will be located to assist the official staff of doctors and nurses.

The entire week has been reserved for Eastland county, other places in the county having been assigned to various days of the week.
