Gov. Dewey Says New Deal Fears Peace Resumption

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey entered into the active phase of his battle for the presidency last night with a declaration that the new deal is afraid of peace because "they are afraid of a continuance of their own failures to get this country going again."

"The administration knows that the war, with all its tragic toll of death, debt and destruction is the only thing that saved it," he said. "They are dead afraid that they will go back to the resumption of their own failures. That is why they are afraid to let men out of the army. That is why they say it is cheaper to keep men in the army than to let them come home."

Repeatedly Mr. Dewey lashed out at the Roosevelt regime as a "tired, exhausted, quarreling and bickering administration." He played on the theme that its replacement by a fresh and vigorous government would mean an early return of servicemen from overseas, when the war is won, and a revival of prosperity through free enterprise.

Declaring at the outset that he was not campaigning against an individual or a political party, the 42-year-old New York executive said:

"It is a campaign against an administration which was conceived in defeatism, which foiled for eight straight years to restore our domestic economy, which has been the most wasteful, extravagant and incompetent administration in the history of the nation and, worst of all, one which has lost faith in itself and the American people."

Calling for a "rebirth of faith in our future," he added:

"The new deal really believes that unemployment is bound to be with us permanently. It says so. They will change this twelve-year-old tune between now and election. They have done it every time, but they've always come back to it after election."

"The new deal really believes that we cannot have good social legislation and also good jobs for all. I believe with all my heart and soul that we can have both."

"There can be—there must be—work on 'constructive jobs and opportunity for all. There must be jobs for industry, in agriculture, in mines, in stores, in offices, at a high level of wages and salaries. There must be opportunity and incentive for men and women to go into business for themselves."

Asserting that victory is in sight and that the next four years will be largely, if not wholly, peacetime years, Dewey declared, "We are proving that we can wage war" and that "Germany and Japan shall be given the lesson of their lives—right in Berlin and Tokyo."

But, he said: "Now, Washington is getting all set for another depression. They intend to keep the young men in the army. The new deal spokesmen are daily announcing that reconversion will be difficult, if not impossible. They say that relief rolls will be enormous. They dreadingly promise us that we will need to prepare for an army of unemployed bigger than the armies we have put in the field against the Germans and the Japanese."

"Right in the final crisis of this war, the most critical of all war agencies—the War Production Board—fell apart before our eyes. This is also the board of reconversion and jobs. Yet we have seen quarreling, disunity and public recrimination day after day, as one competent man after another resigned and the head of the board was sent to China."

"When the WPB fell apart, so did your chance under this ad-

TEXAS BOLTERS PREDICT VICTORY TUESDAY

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—Leaders of pro-Roosevelt Democrats began cutting fuses here yesterday for the political barrage they hope will blow sky high the presidential election slate set up by the party's May convention.

Closed on the twelfth floor of Hotel Adolphus with a dozen or more shrewd political minds was James V. Alfred. Three floors down was Herman Jones, Austin, 33-year-old chairman of the Roosevelt-Truman Democrats and attorney. Busy on personal business was Senator Alvin Wirtz, also of Austin, but his counsel was sought by the political conferees who are satisfied that they will control next Tuesday's convention at Fair Park Auditorium.

Latest check on voting strength of delegates by Jones shows his side, he said, has an edge of 800 to 350, not considering the several contested and uninstructed delegations.

The Roosevelt leaders do not believe they need a compromise plan such as advocated by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson. The Governor would let both sides have their slates of electors, one for Roosevelt, one against the President, under the Democratic party banner. The double-slate plan would be an opportunity "to destroy the Democratic party in Texas," Jones added.

George Butler of Houston, serving his first term as State Democratic chairman, has Governor Stevenson's support for a second term, but a tremendous swing behind Roosevelt Tuesday would be likely to unsettle Butler.

However, the regular Democrats, who oppose a fourth term for Mr. Roosevelt, as well as the Chicago convention's attitude on the race question, are said to be at work on measures they hope will circumvent any plans the bolters, lead and directed by former Governor Alfred, may be able to forge.

administration for jobs after the war. For now the New Dealers have moved in, and their handiwork, their promise for America, is not jobs—but the dole. That's what's wrong with the new deal. That's why it's time for a change."

Earlier, during a news conference discussion on postwar youth training, Dewey declared himself against "just another CCC as a substitute for jobs," and said:

"I certainly would not put anyone in the army unless we needed a force for the defense of the United States, which is a decision to be made based on all the circumstances after the war."

Preceding the candidate on the bunting-draped platform, Gov. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania assailed the present administration for what he called its extravagance and ineptitude.

Praising Dewey's debt-reducing record as governor of New York, Martin told the cheering crowd that the Republicans can end "this orgy of nonessential expenditures" in Washington by electing the Dewey-Bricker ticket.

Immediately after his appearance in Convention Hall, where he lost the GOP presidential nomination to Wendell Willkie four years ago, Dewey boarded his special train again for Louisville, Ky.

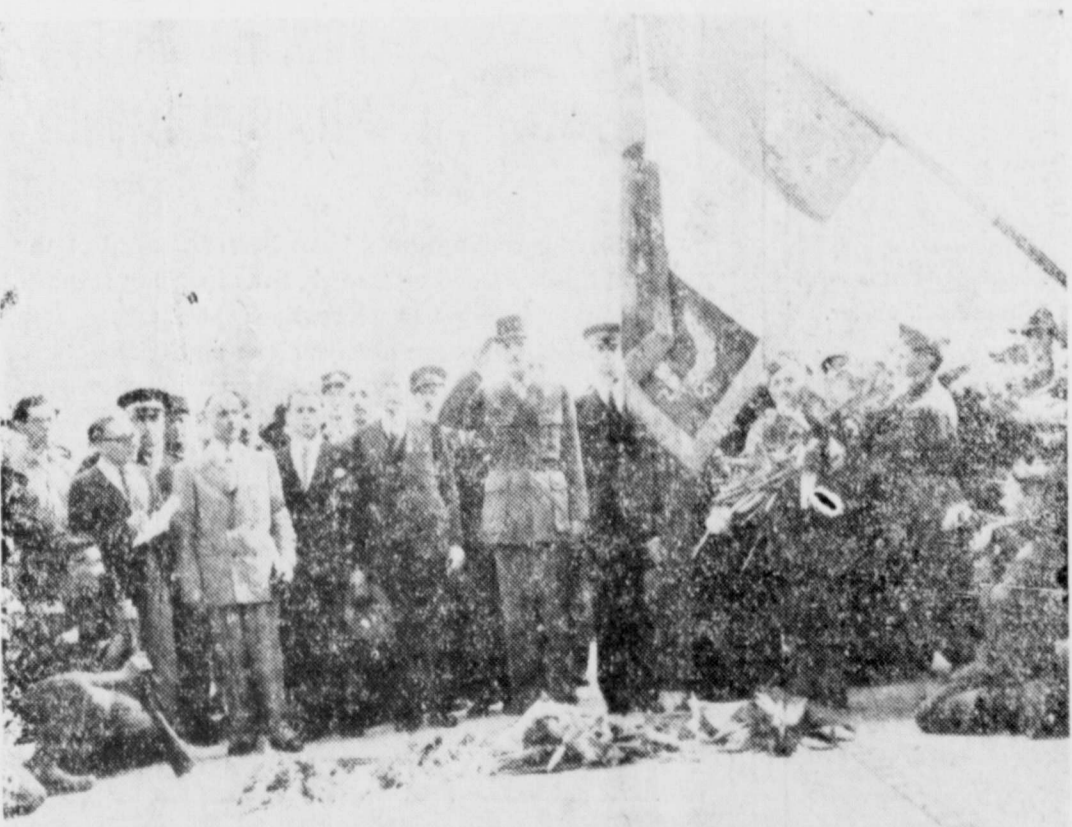

In another national broadcast tonight from the Louisville "Armory," the candidate promised to outline his postwar security plans.

12 CISCO BOY SCOUTS RECEIVE AWARDS

Stamey presided and the Court of Honor was composed of Robert Walker, W. W. Fewell, Dr. Charles Barnes, Ernest Hittson, G. N. Quiri and Guy T. Smith, the latter from Zephyr. Mr. Quiri is a district executive of the scout organization and Mr. Smith is his assistant.

WENDE GOT GOOD PRICE FOR PEANUTS

To Paul Wende, farming a few miles northeast of Romney, goes the distinction of harvesting and selling the first peanuts of the new crop, the sale having been made to Raymond Gray, local buyer for the Southwestern Peanut Co., of Abilene, says the Rising Star Record.

The peanuts were taken from a 15-acre plot, planted in April. The nuts, of good quality, testing 68, brought $2.34 per bushel and the hay was sold at the threshing for $1.00 per bale. The yield per acre was 20 bushels, which is considered better than an average yield in that vicinity.

Gray said only a few crops of early planted peanuts will be harvested in the near future, since most of the peanuts were planted late this year and are just now in the making stage. A good crop of both nuts and hay is predicted.

MISS SWIFT LEAVES CISCO.

Miss Ruby Ray Swift, teacher in the Cisco public schools for many years, left yesterday for Arlington to accept a position in the schools there. The change, she said, was made that she might be nearer her sister, who resides in Fort Worth. Cisco has had and still has many highly capable, popular school teachers, but probably none have been more capable or better loved than Miss Swift. Her home at 309 west Tenth street has been occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Ram-sower.

ALLIES CLOSE IN ON DEMORALIZED GERMANS ON BATTLE FRONT 250 MILES IN LENGTH

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS AEF, Sept. 8.—The U. S. 3rd Army, striking within 20 miles of the German frontier, opened a general offensive from its Moselle River bridgeheads today and front dispatches said Nazi lines were cracking under the terrific onslaught.

All along a front of more than 250 miles stretching inland from the North Sea coast Allied troops were closing in on the Siegfried Line, making giant strides on the British 2nd and American 1st Army sectors in Belgium, and slow but vital progress on Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army line.

The veteran Tommies in the north broke across the heavily-defended Albert Canal at Beeringen, 25 miles northeast of Louvain and pushed on another five miles to the northeast to Bourg-Leopold, 26 miles from German soil.

Simultaneously, American 1st Army tanks and motorized infantry swept 16 miles down the valley of the Meuse from Huy to the outskirts of Liege, 25 miles from the Reich.

Opposition was reported relatively light on the Belgian fronts but United Press Correspondent Robert Richards reported that Patton's Army was locked in a thundering battle of tanks and infantrymen along more than 30 miles of the Moselle, from above Metz to Nancy.

Giant American field guns hurled salvo after salvo into the makeshift German defenses in the hills overlooking the river, and Richards reported that the foot soldiers were slugging their way forward under cover of the barrage and slowly pushing back the enemy lines.

For the past 48 hours, Richards reported, American armor and heavy artillery have been pouring up the Moselle from the west in an endless parade to add their weight to the attack.

Some American armor already was across the four or more bridgeheads on the Nancy-Metz sector, and Richards said the Germans probably would be forced to abandon both fortress cities and fall back on their Siegfried Line within the next 48 hours.

Allied warplanes worked over the German lines with bombs and gunfire in support of the ground troops despite low-hanging clouds and intermittent rain in the Moselle sector. Late yesterday a force of fighter-bombers raked enemy columns in the path of Patton's troops and swooped down on the Siegfried Line itself to shoot up undisclosed targets there.

One American bridgehead was identified as being six miles west of Nancy and another several miles below Metz, but other units were understood to be operating north of Metz within 20 miles of the German border.

MOSCOW.—The Red Army slashed through the Balkans today in a three-pronged drive which promised to smash Hitler's fast weakening hold on that vital area and trap thousands of his troops by cutting all communications with the homeland.

Advanced Russian units moved west toward a juncture with Marshal Tito's forces and Allied troops in Yugoslavia, while others advanced steadily toward the important road and communications center of Sibiu in Transylvania.

Official sources were silent on military operations against Bulgaria and there was no indication of any response to Bulgarian pleas for an armistice.

(A German report said Russian troops fanning out across Bulgaria in a drive toward the Aegean Sea had reached the area of Demotika inside Greece on the Turkish frontier.)

WASHINGTON.—Big American B-29 Super-Fortresses struck today at "important industrial targets" in Japanese-dominated Manchuria, the War Department announced, and the Tokyo Radio indicated that the targets were the factory cities of Antung and Anshan.

The new assault by the mammoth bombers against Japan's war-making potential was announced by Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces and head of the 20th Bomber Command, which guides operations of the B-29's.

Antung, a city of 315,000 population on the Yalu river seven miles inland from Korea Bay, is the center of the Manchuria Light Metals company, the Manchuria Electric Corp., and the Suicho hydro-electric plant.

THE TRUE GLORY.

Gen. Montgomery, in a message to his troops in Normandy, recently quoted a prayer of England's greatest seaman, Sir Francis Drake:

"O Lord God, when Thou givest to Thy servants to endeavor any great matter, grant us also to know that it is not the beginning, but the continuing of the same until it be thoroughly finished, which yieldeth the true glory."

The true glory today is not so much in fighting the war bravely, or even winning it, but winning the peace and preventing — if possible — wars like this in years to come.

STRIKES.

There seems to be developing lately an epidemic of minor strikes in industry. Most of them are not very serious — they involve comparatively small groups of workmen and are soon adjusted. But the practice spreads, and tends to involve more and more workers. Obviously such a trend might grow very troublesome.

The most surprising thing, however, about many of these strikes, is the seemingly frivolous way in which they are handled. Some, involving hundreds and even thousands of workers, have been called because of a casual complaint of one or two or half a dozen men, regarding matters which an average citizen would not consider serious at all. And when a strike is once started, there is no telling how far it will go, how many people it will involve, and how much harm it will do to industry in war time.

TWO SIEGES OF VERDUN.

An American army the other day took Verdun in a few hours, whereas in 1916 the most violent German assaults failed to capture it in seven months.

That measures the weakening of the German power. Vigorously defended, Verdun might have been as impregnable as in 1916. The fortress is a series of forts whose masonry is often eight feet thick. It proved extraordinarily resistant to the German bombardment in the last war. When the French recaptured Douaumont and Vaux, the two most battered forts, in October, 1916, they found that the steady shelling had wrought almost no damage. Marshal Petain, commanding the defending forces, estimated that Douaumont had received 120,000 shells, yet it was hardly marked. Such a fortress could easily have cost thousands of American lives. If the Germans could not hold Verdun, what can they hold?

Looking Ahead

By GEORGE S. BENSON

Tax Leaks.

Prophets of business trends for several years before Pearl Harbor were predicting a building boom to be in progress about now. They reasoned that one fourth of America's population, an unusually large share, would reach an age to be married between 1940 and 1946. It seemed reasonable enough to guess that a lively demand for new homes would develop quite naturally.

World War No. 2 gave this forecast a setback but did not change the facts much. A record-breaking number of new families are being started now without new houses and the need for building boom is growing while it waits. "When war ends and restrictions are removed from lumber and hardware," the experts say, "Look out for a big, hurry-up demand for places to live."

Build Good Homes

A home is a valuable thing, worth owning; every new one brings lasting benefit to a community if the house is worth what it costs. But houses that are not of sound construction are public liabilities. The owner of a good house in a good community pays taxes on his property willingly but an abandoned house yields no taxes and lowers the value of every other house for blocks around.

Most residences are built before they are sold and are bought with borrowed capital, the money lender holding a mortgage. There was a time when a mortgage was ample protection because land gained value faster than houses lost it, but not lately. Houses cost five to ten times as much as lots and, back in 1936, the government began insuring mortgages to keep business active.

Costs You and Me.

The depression-born idea still lives. The banker carries the house-buyer and the national treasury carries the banker, but who carries the Treasury? Answer: the taxpayer! If Mr. Buyer's new house is a "jerry" he abandons it. The banker takes it over and the Treasury pays off but the payer of federal taxes is stuck. He has a financial interest in every government-financed house.

Local taxes are involved even more. Building helps a town, indeed. Each new home in a good subdivision means a new man to help pay the cost of running the city, "broadens the tax base." But vacant houses pay no taxes. They only raise the rates on other, older homes in more substantial parts of town. Such leaks of revenues ought to stop. With every economy, taxes will be higher after this war than ever before.

Everybody's Business.

Building booms affect everybody. Business improves when they start, prospers while they last and goes into a lull when they stop. But a boom can be a counterfeit. Loans ought to be easy on well-built houses and impossible on poor ones. When government underwrites a shoddy shack it amounts to making taxpayers guarantee a sweet profit to any dishonest builder who can fool a banker. It has been done.

At a very small additional cost any honorable builder can give assurance of a quality structure to his customers, to their bankers and to the Treasury, with a certificate of structural rating. Organizations of established real estate brokers have power to enforce standards of home construction as high as any community demands. Workable machinery exists already, at the command of civic leaders and taxing officials.

March, 1933

(Files of Cisco Citizen, R. W. H. Kennon, Publisher.)

A proposal from the Lions club and others to improve the property north of the federal building site into a park if the city would maintain it as such was acted upon favorably at the meeting of the city commission Tuesday evening. Commissioner J. T. Elliott reported on the progress being made on building the concrete steps and hand stand at the dam, and gave estimates on the cost to complete the project. On motion of H. C. Henderson he was instructed to complete the job. Henderson, W. R. Winston and Joe Clements, ayee; J. R. Burnett, no. W. H. LaRoque was elected a director of the chamber of commerce to fill an existing vacancy from a list of three names submitted to the commission, he having received the unanimous vote of the five commissioners. Mayor J. T. Berry not voting. Resolutions were adopted formally ratifying lease contracts for city lands previously negotiated.

The first business transacted by the commissioners' court Monday, was the confirmation of Commissioner Arch Birt's appointment of Joe Wilson of Cisco as justice of the peace of Precinct No. 6, to serve the unexpired term of Judge J. H. McDonald, deceased. Mr. Wilson is one of Cisco's best known citizens, having resided here for the past 50 years, and enjoys the confidence and esteem of every person who knows him, and they are legion. Commissioner Birt named him for the office among a field of eight original applicants, though the number was considerably thinned down before his name was presented to the court.

Sounder than ever in its history, the First National Bank opened its doors and resumed business Wednesday without restrictions or withdrawals, after the national banking holiday which began March 3. And in the opening Cashier Spears is about the happiest man in Texas, for he is again in his native element—busy. During the bank moratorium he was as restless and as anxious to go as a racer on the track, impatiently waiting for the fall of the barrier for the heat to begin. You have seen them, haven't you, roaring, champing their bits, eager for the contest? That's how Alex Spears performed during his enforced inactivity. But Spears and his force were not altogether idle. While other bankers and employees were fishing and enjoying the bank holiday, Spears and his force were at the bank arranging for the opening, and explaining the situation and advising their customers, which prepared them to make the remarkable demonstration that was seen on opening day.

General Eisenhower calls it "esprit"!

IT'S A SPIRIT that rises to accept each new challenge with dignity.

It's a spirit born of vision. Of a love of freedom so great it transcends human hopes and fears. And makes any sacrifice worth while.

It's the spirit that tackles all kinds of Army jobs. Humbly. But with a joyous pride.

A spirit that has its eyes on Tomorrow—a spirit that has won the eternal respect of the Army of the United States.

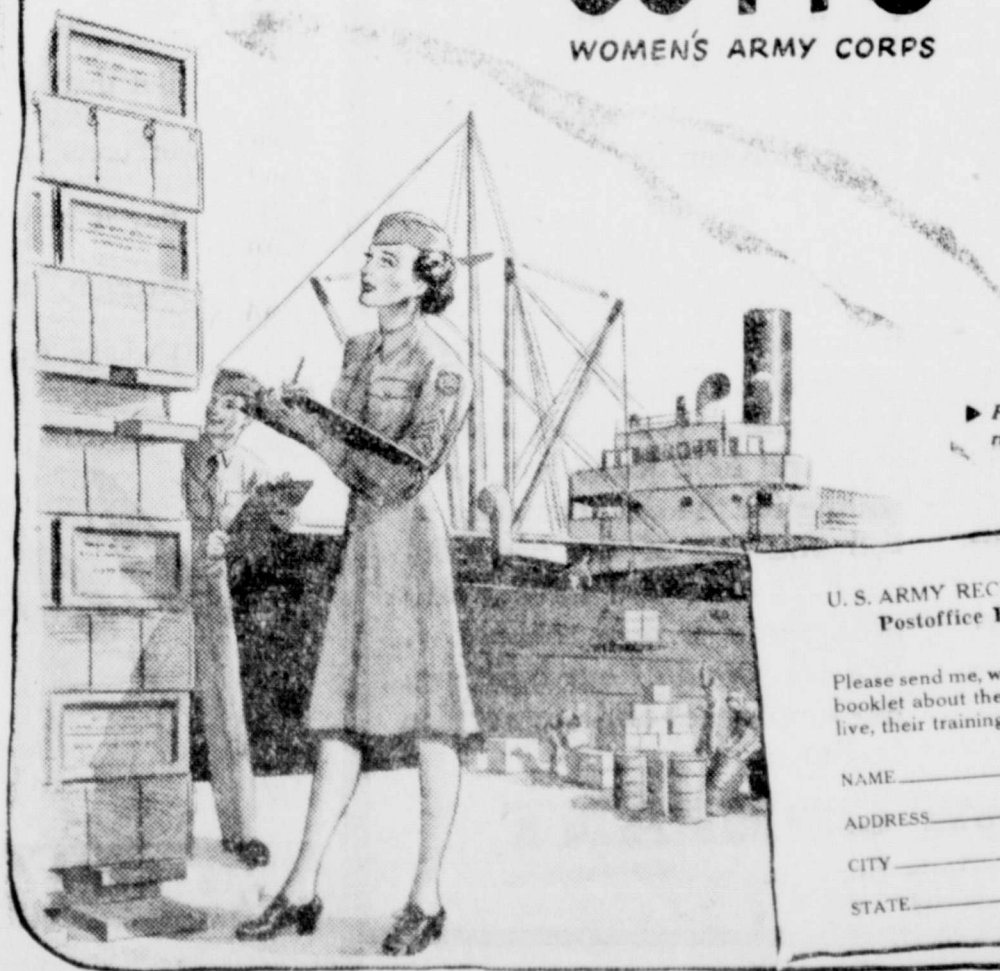

This is why General Eisenhower has said: "The esprit constantly exhibited by our Wacs is exemplary!"

Esprit! "I couldn't just wait for the war to end. I'm working for victory!" says Corporal Margaret Wynant.

Esprit! "I'm proud of my job—intelligence work at an Army airfield!" says Sergeant Anne MacIntosh.

Good soldiers... the WAC WOMEN'S ARMY CORPS

Esprit! "Being a Wac makes me feel I'm helping my country!" writes Sergeant Shirley Thomson.

HERE'S ONE COFFEE THE WAR HASN'T CHANGED

Has your Regular Brand recently been tasting FLAT or BITTER?

Has it suddenly become an altogether "different" coffee, flavorless, insipid, and sometimes even acid? If it has, then your experience is like thousands of other housewives. And these, we might add, are switching overnight to Admiration. Many roasters have cheapened their blends with inferior grade coffees to "save" on ceiling prices. This has brought about changes in flavor, richness, and freshness. In most cases it has changed up the whole blend. Inferior coffees produce a bitter, acid-tasting cup unlike anything you've been accustomed to drinking. No wonder you don't like it!

Admiration Is Absolutely Unchanged

The same identical expensive coffees are used today in Admiration as were used 25 years ago. It costs us more to keep Admiration quality at its customary high level. But that's our worry and expense. The loyalty of Admiration's great family of users is more important than immediate profits. No matter where you buy it or when, Admiration's rich, inviting flavor, its unique freshness and strength, its room-pervading aroma are found in every package. Buy a pound today and test this out for yourself.
