AIRMEN SWEEP OVER MANILA

JIM FERGUSON, STRONG CHARACTER AND STORM CENTER OF TEXAS POLITICS, DIES AT 73

AUSTIN, Sept. 22.—James E. Ferguson, twice governor of Texas, died here today at the age of 73.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the Ferguson home in West Austin, with burial at the State Cemetery here.

Once a Bell county farmer and banker, Ferguson twice was elected governor of Texas, was removed by impeachment but returned to see the voters honor his side, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, in two terms in the office. Texas annals show no parallel for the achievement.

With "Farmer Jim" when he died were Mrs. Ferguson and their two daughters, Mrs. George Nalle and Mrs. Stuart Watt, both of Austin, their only children.

For two full decades Ferguson stood as a giant across the political pages of Texas.

"For him or agin him," to repeat the words Farmer Jim employed so often in his weekly Ferguson Forum, Texans knew that Ferguson was in politics.

Born Aug. 31, 1871, in Bell county, Ferguson had a rugged upbringing as farm hand, water-catch worker, hotel bellboy, an itinerant carpenter and miner in the western states. Back on his native soil, Ferguson rose to success as a civic-minded lawyer, banker and farm operator.

Moderately wealthy and of inquisitive nature, Ferguson happened into politics at the age of 40 when he wrote a letter to Houston and Temple newspapers suggesting that a friend was a proper candidate for governor. The friend declined and called upon Ferguson to run. Ferguson set aside $20,000, a phenomenal sum in those days, for his campaign fund and went after the state's highest office.

His first venture brought Ferguson victory over Thomas H. Bell in the Democratic primary, 1914.

The black-haired, handsome lawyer came to Austin as governor, bringing into public life a sensible mind, a folksy tongue, and an ambition to help the tenant farmer.

Political observers reflect upon Ferguson's first term in office as exemplary. He passed a far-reaching act designed to help the sharecroppers.

Also looking back over his entry into politics, Ferguson said in 1940: "I believe I would have had greater success if I had followed my original idea of a business career. I believe I would have avoided lots of trouble and tribulation."

That trouble and tribulation shared Ferguson during his second term as governor. He tangled with friends of the University of Texas, (1) stating "too many people are going hog-wild over higher education," (2) opposing President Robert E. Vinson as "a sectarian preacher," and (3) vetoing the appropriation for continuing the school's operation despite a protest march upon the capitol by its students.

Impeachment proceedings were instituted by the legislature the same year. Charges included his treatment of the university, alleged deposit of state funds in banks in which Ferguson was interested, and the source of a $156,000 loan which the governor refused to divulge on the ground that he would have to violate a confidence.

Defense Attorney Clarence Martin described Ferguson during the trial as a man to be remembered in history "as the tall sycamore

KLEINER HOPES TO COME HOME IN TWO WEEKS

The many friends of Charles J. Kleiner, city finance commissioner, oil man and native-born Ciscoan, will be pleased to learn that he hopes to return home from Mayo Bros. hospital, Rochester, Minn., in about two weeks, barring a setback. Mr. Kleiner had a major operation at Mayo's on August 26.

The news concerning Mr. Kleiner's condition came in a letter from Mrs. Kleiner to her sister, Mrs. H. C. Rogan, and was received yesterday. It said he is now able to be up about three hours each day and has walked about his room some.

FANNIN HASN'T MISSED PRESS IN TWO YEARS

The Daily Press today received an air mail letter from Tech. Sgt. Almus Fannin, headquarters European division, air transport command, in which he noted a slight change in address and sent his regards to members of the Daily Press force. The brief letter said:

"Dear Editor: May I take this opportunity to thank you for the splendid job you are doing in getting the Daily Press out to the boys in the service. I have been in England almost two years now and haven't missed a copy."

"I find the Daily Press a real morale builder, as there is nothing like the hometown news and you give us lots of it. Please convey my regards to Mr. Brecheen and the rest of the gang."

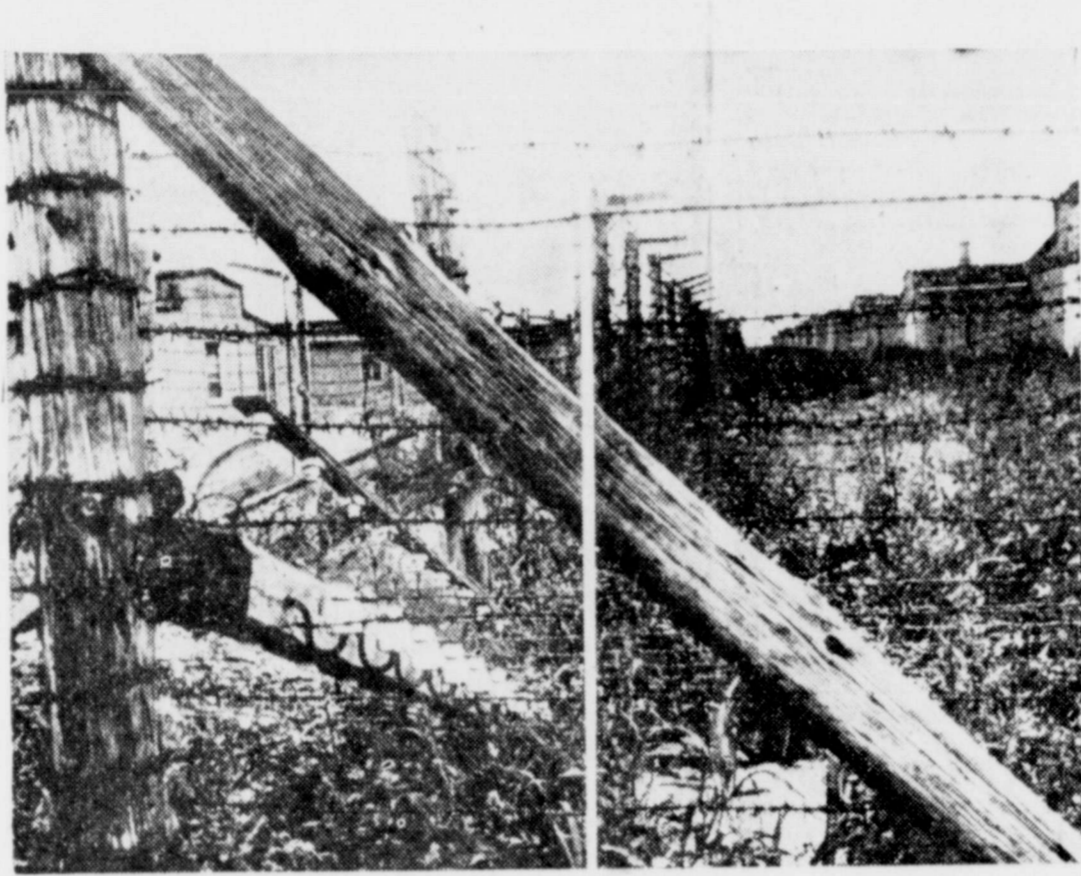

Sergeant Fannin, son of Mrs. Joe Hale, who lives in the county near Cisco, was a former employee of the Daily Press and is remembered with affection and esteem by those with whom he formerly worked.

DRESSINGS HONOR ROLL

Twenty-six women completed 1,910 4x4 surgical dressings at the Red Cross work rooms yesterday afternoon. Those who worked from 1 until 5 o'clock included Mesdames J. E. Hart, Bob Latimer, E. H. Hester, Paul Poe, W. J. Poe, L. A. Harrison, R. C. McCarter, J. E. Burnam, J. J. Tableman, Ed Aycock, J. A. Jensen, J. T. Anderson, G. R. Nance, O. G. Lawson, W. W. Moore, Lora Ford, Roy Fonville, Harold McGovern, C. A. Williams, O. Thomas, W. C. McDaniel, Les Jenkins, W. H. LaRoque, G. B. Langston, W. B. Dunn, J. E. Caffrey.

who, standing in political strife with the lightning of passion flashing around him, yet came out unscathed." Shortly thereafter the state senate vetoed to remove the governor and barred him forever from holding a state office.

Ferguson resigned and set forth upon a campaign of vindication which covered fifteen years, helped him become the only Texan ever nominated for president of the United States, brought his wife two terms in the governor's office, and kept the Ferguson name in the political limelight until they retired in 1925 to their home in West Austin with honors enough.

FACTIONS ARRANGING FOR BITTER FIGHT

DALLAS, Sept. 22.—Opposing factions of the Texas Democratic party are preparing for the most bitter campaign since the 1928 split over Al Smith.

Strategy for both sides must depend on the State Supreme Court decision, expected Saturday, which will hold whether Roosevelt or anti-Roosevelt electors will lead off the Democratic party column on the general election ballot.

Leaders in each camp of the intra-party dispute expressed confidence here Thursday that the court would decide in their favor, and both factions announced meetings that probably will lay campaign groundwork.

First formal session of the new Pro-Roosevelt State Democratic Executive Committee has been called by State Chairman Harry Seay for Monday at Baker Hotel.

A week from Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in Junior Ballroom of Hotel Adolphus, Congressman Martin Dies will be honored at a banquet to be given by the Southern Democratic Clubs, whose leadership includes E. B. Germany and Mrs. F. R. Carlton, both of Dallas and both anti-Roosevelt Democratic electors, nominated at the May convention at Austin. Invitations have been sent out over the state. Dies, frequent administration critic, did not stand for re-election this year.

Since the Supreme Court decision will be known before these meetings, it is probable that the gatherings will be occasions for announcing campaign moves.

Opposing leaders would not entertain the thought of court defeat nor venture a prediction based on that possibility when questioned Thursday. But this much is certain—the Roosevelt camp is, in one way, in much better shape to take a legal beating than are the anti-new deal Democrats.

If the May electors are upheld, then the Rooseveltites will file as a third party and campaign for the national nominees.

But should the action of the Sept. 12 state convention designed to replace the anti-Roosevelt electors be upheld, then the Democratic faction opposing the President probably would split wide open. Some of the most bitter new deal critics would go over to the Dewey-Bricker camp and campaign with the Republicans. Others would remain loyal to the straight Democratic ticket.

The Roosevelt Democrats, it is understood, are ready for a last-minute filing of their list of electors as a third party if defeated in court. In this event, Dallas will become headquarters for three campaigns—Roosevelt Democrats, anti-Roosevelt Democrats and Republicans.

On the second floor of the Southland Hotel, a staff of Dewey-Bricker state campaign workers already is busy distributing Republican literature. From the presses Thursday came the first issue of the Texas Dewey-Bricker News. More than a million copies will be showered on Texas a few weeks before the general election.

Dewey-Bricker organizations now are functioning in 232 of Texas' 254 counties. George C. Hopkins, assistant state campaign director for the GOP, said:

OVERSEAS PACKAGES.—Since SEPT 15 to date, approximately 175 Christmas packages have been mailed in Cisco to men overseas. Weight of the packages averaged about four pounds. Postmaster L. H. McCrea said. Packages mailed after October 15 will likely fail to reach the soldiers before Christmas day, postal authorities state, and they urge that when possible packages be mailed before October 1.

205 JAPANESE PLANES AND 37 SHIPS KNOCKED OUT IN ONE OF OUR GREATEST AIR VICTORIES

SAN FRANCISCO.—Waves of American carrier planes swept over the Manila area today for the second successive day. Japanese broadcasts reported, after knocking out 205 Japanese planes and 37 ships in one of the greatest air victories of the Pacific war.

Manila and Tokyo radios said 200 U. S. planes came over in four waves this morning, striking for two and a half hours at air fields and harbor facilities around Manila bay.

The first Manila carrier raid carried out in daylight yesterday (Manila time) was a "superlatively successful attack which apparently caught the enemy completely by surprise," said Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

Martial law went into effect throughout the Philippines today as a result of the havoc they wrought in the first blow at the heart of the Philippines to avenge Bataan. Puppet President Jose P. Laurel said he ordered military rule "in view of the danger of invasion."

The raiders, "striking in great force," shot their way through a strong defensive screen of interceptors. They blasted 110 Japanese fighters out of the sky. Fifteen U. S. planes were lost. Another 95 Japanese aircraft were caught and destroyed on Clark and Nichols airfield where the Japanese knocked out most of the U. S. defensive airforce Dec. 8, 1941 in the first attack of the Philippines.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—British Tommies joined by American paratroopers hurled shells into the Arnhem area today and drove close to where airborne forces were reported holding open a bridge across the last branch of the Rhine.

(A London dispatch said the German radio reported that Allied airborne troops entered Arnhem at 2 p. m.)

An Allied end run around the Siegfried line into the war works of the Ruhr valley was in prospect.

Air reconnaissance reports that Arnhem was aflame and that the Germans were pulling back to the east suggested that the way was opening for an early link-up with the fiercely beset island of airborne forces who had held their isolated position since Sunday.

Officially, it was announced that the Allies had driven two miles north of Nijmegen after seizing the long bridge across the main Rhine branch, the Waal, and were within six miles of Arnhem.

But dispatches from the Arnhem sector said British guns already were shooting into German positions from which the units of the First Allied airborne army had been attacked.

These reports indicated the Allies were steadily gaining in a slugging advance, comparable to the battle going on at the opposite end of the 500-mile front where the Third Army was fighting it out with the greatest German armored force assembled since Normandy.

The Germans were guessing frantically as to the state of affairs at Arnhem where the Allied invasion flood threatened to burst the last dyke of defenses before the Reich.

The German communique said the Allied push from Nijmegen had been halted, and that an all-out attack had been launched with the aim of annihilating the isolated remnants of Arnhem, identified by Berlin as the British First Airborne Division. The Germans said yesterday the division had largely been wiped out.

Another German broadcast said the push from the south already had linked up with the Arnhem force. A third said the Arnhem force already had been liquidated. Again it was declared that the fierce fight was continuing and that German forces everywhere in Holland had gone over to the counter-attack.

Allied dispatches saying the air-borne force still held the Arnhem bridge was inconclusive, as they were dated two days ago.

Somerens, 10 miles east of Eindhoven, and Winteler, six miles westward, were reached, and the Waal crossing was made secure by wiping out in Nijmegen itself a pocket of Germans which advance elements had not bothered with.

Lt. Gen. Herman B. Ramcke, who commanded the Brest garrison, was flown to England as a prisoner of war. The Germans announced the beginning of attacks on St. Nazaire, another U-boat nest in Brittany.

The battle at the southern end of the front was a crescendo of destruction for German armored forces. The Germans, throwing in tanks with paint hardly dry had lost at least 105 in the woods, plains and hills east of Nancy alone—approximately half their available force in that area—and 196 in three days along the whole Rhine front.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's troops had battered their way to within six miles of Metz, perhaps the greatest inland fortress city in western Europe, had cleared the Nazis from Luneville, 25 miles southeast of Nancy, and won high ground along the Meurthe 10 miles farther southeast near Flin in a closing action on Baccarat, 40 miles from the Strasbourg crossing of the Rhine.

NEPHEW OF 2 CISCO WOMEN NOW CAPTAIN

James H. Wilson, nephew of Mrs. Coe McLeRoy and Mrs. J. M. Wilson of Cisco, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain at the eighth air force bomber station in England.

Captain Wilson, whose home is Edinburg, Tex., has visited in Cisco on a number of occasions. He is but 24 years of age and holds the distinguished flying cross and air medal with four oak leaf clusters. The honors were based on extraordinary achievement while participating in numerous AEF B-17 flying fortress bombing attacks on Nazi military and industrial installations. Wilson flew a majority of his bombing missions as a squadron lead pilot, carrying his formation over such important targets as the ball-bearing plants and electrical works at Berlin and oil refineries at Hanover.

NUMBER OF FEDERAL EMPLOYEES CLIMBS WITH EACH TICK OF CLOCK.

Statement presented to the Senate by Senator Harry F. Byrd, September 13, 1944—

Mr. President: I wish to present a report on civilian employment in the Executive Branch of the Federal Government for the period April 1, 1944, through July 31, 1944.

Total number of paid employees for July 1944 is 3,112,965 excluding 252,978 employees of the War Department outside of continental United States.

Total employment for July 1944, is 17,502 in excess of the employment peak of 3,095,463 reached in the month of June 1943. This figure is exclusive of the employees of the War Department outside continental United States.

37 departments and agencies have increased 101,749 between May 1, 1944, to July 31, 1944, while 26 departments and agencies have eliminated only 3,703 employees, making a net increase of 96,046 for the period. For the first seven months (January 1 to July 31, 1944) the net increase is 134,736.

Substantial increases were made by the following: War Department, 40,051; Navy Department, 31,030; Post Office Department, 9,001; Interior Department, 3,767; and Veterans' Administration, 2,535.

Greatest reductions were made by the following: Selective Service, 879; National Housing, 766; Tennessee Valley Authority, 657; and Office of Civilian Defense, 538.

The increase in the War Department is in part due to 24,000 force account employees and 9,600 not reported before as coming under the payrolls of A. S. F. (Army Service Forces) and Army Air Corps. Further information will be furnished by said department if necessary. The increase in the Post Office Department is due to the temporary substitute employees.

Following the last report to the Senate on the status of Federal Civilian employees of the Federal Government presented June 23, 1944, the Civil Service Commission, in a report to the President and a release to the press, indicated that there had been a reduction in the number of Civil Service employees and an increase in manpower utilization. Reports received by the Committee show quite the contrary. In presenting the last report on personnel in June, the record showed that there had been a steady net increase in the number of Federal Civilian employees for the months of January, February, March and April.

In submitting the present personnel report for the months of May, June and July, the figures received show that the number of Federal Civilian employees is still on the increase despite the impression made by the Civil Service Commission's press release that "personnel is being reduced" and "manpower utilization is being outstandingly increased." These increases are shown on the table attached.

On August 25, 1944, I wrote to Harry B. Mitchell, President, United States Civil Service Commission, regarding this report and press release and asked for information showing the reduction in total paid civilian employees within the continental limits of the United States since January 1, 1944. Reply to this letter was received under date of September 1, with a table enclosed showing figures for March 31, 1944, and June 30, 1944. The Commission implies in its letter that a reduction in paid civilian employees has been made, whereas the table enclosed shows an increase in the total paid civilian employees. The Commission states further that actually the personnel of the War Department has increased in recent months but fails to state or admit that the total paid civilian personnel also has increased. When we realize that the ratio of Federal civilian employees to State civilian employees is now about 7 to 1, it is further evident that the Federal Government is considerably over-stuffed. About five per cent of the working population of the United States works for the executive branch of the Federal Government, approximately 3,000,000 people. Approximately ten per cent of these are in Washington, D. C., area; another ten per cent in the state of New York, and approximately nine per cent in California. The remainder are scattered across the other 46 states. If this army of Federal employees were lined up four abreast in military formation, the line would reach from Washington, D. C., to New York City.

LOOKING AHEAD

By GEORGE S. BENSON, President, Harding College, Seelye, Arkansas

Not Politics.

The Kiwanis Clubs of the United States recently launched and sponsored an educational program for the purpose of pointing out to all Americans this: America is what it is because of Free Private Enterprise. We have the only economic system that can exist under our Constitution. Any time America's business system comes to wreck, our Constitution is ready for the ash-can.

It was heartening to hear what Kiwanis did, for Kiwanis is no political organization. It is, however, completely patriotic. Its members are men of all political faiths. Their weekly salute to the flag and their lusty singing of "America" is not lip-service. They are not always in perfect harmony but they are solid on American fundamentals. They want victory on the home front.

Wholesome Variance

Politicians can, often do, disagree about how things ought to be done; disagree with perfectly honorable intentions. For instance—there are plenty of good Americans who, knowing very little of military strategy, argue endlessly about how to win the war. Their disagreements are on methods only. Without exception, all patriotic Americans hope for military victory and that soon.

The same principle applies on the home front. Good citizens want the United States to retain its position when the war is over, the most influential of all nations. Just the same, all wanting the same thing, they disagree about methods and argue. Such disagreement and discussion is wholesome until it makes us forget what we all actually want—victory on the home front.

Integral Liberties.

There are basic principles upon which the United States was built from 13 backwoods settlements to a power that towers over (not just the world) all history. These are not in politics. Foundation stones of self-government are too big to be called bones of contention. The American Constitution is not in politics. Representative constitutional government is not a political issue. It's a vital American issue.

To precisely the same extent, Free Private Enterprise is a fundamental American issue and not political. Why? Because the American Constitution provides for no other. Open competition is just as truly an American liberty as freedom of speech or the right to worship God as conscience dictates. All are fundamental and welded together. For national safety and stability we depend on them equally.

Kiwanis is Right.

Where government controls men's work, their trade and their property, it means government by countless bureaus, and government by bureaus is not the kind our constitution calls for. We have such a government now, in a year of emergency, but if it becomes permanent it will require a new constitution. A few changes wouldn't do the trick. It would mean complete departure from what made America great.

Under the American Constitution, laws must be enacted by elective representatives of the people. Accordingly, a new constitution permitting legislation by appointed bureaus would make every congressman a powerless figurehead. It would be impossible to do American freedom a more damaging disservice than to degrade fundamental American institutions to the level of political issues.

CONSTITUTION DAY September 17 was the anniversary of the adoption of our Constitution which grants to Americans more rights than has any other document ever written by men. It is founded upon the fact that we must do or give unto others what we would have them do or give unto us. Our right to do as we please is hinged on the granting of the same right to the other fellow, and, hence, must not interfere with each other. It is the duty of every American to defend these rights and keep them intact and in full force. What can we do to help? HYATT'S GROCERY & MARKET Cisco's Independent Grocer WE DELIVER. PHONE 118.

ADMIRATION IS 100% PURE A Blend of the Finest Coffees Grown!

Admiration is all coffee. It contains no chickory, no dust—nothing but the choicest, most expensive whole-bean coffees money can buy. The delicious flavor of Admiration is achieved by a skillful blending of various coffees. Each is chosen for some special quality. When all these are properly blended and roasted, they give to Admiration a unique flavor and aroma unlike that of any other coffee in America. Once you've enjoyed the habit of drinking Admiration no other coffee will satisfy you. No other coffee could. Buy a pound today and see for yourself.

Some roasters have changed their blends

Noticed a different taste lately in your Regular Blend? Bitter? Perhaps Acid?

Perhaps you've been using another brand than Admiration. Here lately it hasn't been right. Tastes flat, bites the tongue as never before. If so, don't blame your coffee pot or yourself. Blame the coffee. For many roasters have adulterated their blends with cheap, inferior grade coffees, thus to cut down on higher wartime selling costs. Try a pot of Admiration and convince yourself.
