Cisco's Aid To Slaughter To Farmers Wins Head Community Chest Again

The plan of Cisco business men and the public schools to assist hard-pressed farmers of the Cisco area in gathering peanut and other crops has met with widespread approval and appreciation from the farmers who have had benefit of the program, the chamber of commerce said Saturday.

While the assistance that can be given is of course limited, both in scope and in the efficiency of workers not accustomed to farm labor, yet it has provided invaluable aid in gathering the crops during the happy sunny season that has prevailed.

Saturday the chamber of commerce received more requests for laborers than it could supply. This was due to the fact that the weekend is a pressing time for merchants in their own places of business and to the fact also that the number of youngsters willing to work in the fields is much less. Some 30 workers were sent into the fields yesterday, but this was only about half the number wanted. Some 20 of the student workers were secured by using a broadcast car to summon them.

The harvest season will probably reach its peak during the coming week and the chamber of commerce urged that all business men who can possibly spare time from their work during that time place themselves in readiness to respond to calls. While an effort has been made to organize groups for designated days, yet experience has shown that the need of workers and the time for these "harvest crusades" cannot be accurately predicted. Hence, it is necessary to be prepared for emergency calls and the chamber requested that business men of the city recognize this difficulty whenever appeals are made. So far the cooperation given by the business men has been magnificent and the chamber expressed its gratitude for the generosity and willingness with which these business men sacrificed their own interests to respond.

It has been demonstrated that Cisco business men are alert to the community of interest between their city and the rural areas around it, and that they are aware also of the contribution to the war effort which such a program makes possible," said the chamber. "The old Cisco spirit that prevailed in the prosperous days of the twenties is certainly not dead. With such a lively and cooperative sentiment we can do many things that might be thought impossible. It is a cheering proof that Cisco business men, at least, are not 'tired and worn out.' They have placed before other cities of the nation a practical demonstration of farm and town cooperation that should be an inspiration."

KEEP VOTES INTACT

ABILENE, Oct. 28.—W. Lee O'Daniels, Texas, junior senator, came to Abilene last night to appeal to a large crowd gathered on Federal lawn not to divide the anti-New Deal vote in Texas but to "keep all our eggs in one basket" to try to see that neither the Democratic nor Republican tickets may get the state's 23 electoral votes. "Vote against any person who has even a speaking acquaintance with the New Deal," he admonished.

STILWELL RELIEVED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell has been relieved as U. S. commander in the Far East in a sensational move which, the United Press learned, stemmed from a direct demand by Generissimo Chiang Kai-Shek that he be removed.

At a meeting of Community Chest directors Friday night, J. W. Slaughter was elected chairman for another year.

Slaughter stated that he will call another meeting soon to map plans for the annual campaign for funds to support the local agencies that are members of the Chest, this drive to be some time in December likely.

The directors expressed a desire that the people of Cisco understand that the recent National War Chest drive did not cover the Community Chest. Last year there was some confusion, due to the fact that many people thought both agencies were included in the one campaign.

The Boy Scouts, the high school Bible course, the Service Men's club and City Welfare are the local agencies that participated in the funds of the past year's campaign.

Poes Observing Golden Wedding 2 Till 5 Today

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Poe, 502 West Eighteenth street, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary today with an open house from 2 until 5 o'clock. Besides friends and long-time acquaintances, more than 70 relatives are expected to be present, many from out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Poe were born in Columbia county, Ark. They were married in Arkansas and left for Texas Nov. 21, 1894, four days after their marriage. Mr. Poe stated yesterday that they were 23 days on the road.

This highly esteemed couple have four children—E. J. Poe of Cisco, Mrs. E. F. Altom and G. P. Poe of Eastland and Sat. A. C. Poe, stationed at Mobile, Ala. There are also nine grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Profile Picture Of Cisco Today To Be Broadcast

A "profile" picture of Cisco as it is today, prepared by Cisco chamber of commerce, will shortly be broadcast to all areas of the war fronts by short wave radio, a letter from Major William B. Murphy of the army service forces, announced.

The Army News Service, in a letter to Cisco Daily Press, requested that an article of this nature be prepared for broadcasting abroad for the benefit particularly of Cisco service men, and the chamber of commerce prepared the story at the suggestion of the Press.

"Thank you for the 'profile' picture of Cisco as it is today," wrote Major Murphy. "It will be used on a short wave radio program which will reach practically every overseas area where there are United States troops, and should be heard by many men from your city."

Mrs. A. Z. Myrick and daughter Mrs. James R. Wright, arrived Friday night from Montgomery, Ala.

SIGNS OF DISINTEGRATION ON EIGHTY-MILE FRONT SAYS GEN. DOUGLAS M'ARTHUR'S REPORT

MACARTHUR HEADQUARTERS

LEYTE, Oct. 28.—American invasion forces roared up the west coast of Samar to within nearly 65 miles of Luzon and 320 miles of Manila today and Gen. Douglas M'Arthur announced that the Japanese all along the 80-mile Philippine front were bordering on "complete disorganization and disintegration."

Dismounted elements of the 1st Cavalry Division already were 10 miles beyond Cuthberton, liberated capital of Samar, after a 22-mile advance in a little more than 24 hours. With the aid of organized local guerrillas, practically the whole of Samar, this largest island in the Philippines, "is now under our domination," M'Arthur reported in a communique.

The speedy advance carried to within 57 miles of narrow San Bernardino strait, separating Samar from Luzon and one of two ship passages through the central Philippines. It was in San Bernardino strait and adjacent waters off Samar that one of the three Japanese naval forces which challenged the American Fleet came to grief earlier this week.

On Leyte, just southwest of Samar, other American forces lengthened their hold on the east and north coasts to at least 63 miles and were passing the beleaguered enemy garrisons toward the west coast and into the mountain ranges paralleling the Leyte valley on the southwest.

There was some evidence that the Japanese may be preparing to abandon Leyte except for suicidal rear guard resistance. American patrol-torpedo boats, boldly dashing in to Camotes sea under cover of darkness, sank 19 enemy barges loaded with troops and two coastal freighters in Ormoc bay on the west coast of Leyte.

Gen. Shiro Makino's infamous Japanese 16th Division, which marshaled American war prisoners in the "March of Death" from Bataan in 1942, already has been "thoroughly defeated" on Leyte, M'Arthur said.

He estimated Japanese ground casualties in the first week of fighting on Leyte at 14,945, practically half the enemy's entire strength on the island, while American casualties were 2,160—518 killed, 129 missing and 1,503 wounded.

Holland Nazis in Trouble
LONDON—The whole German stand in southwestern Holland is collapsing, front dispatches declared today, as British-Canadian columns raced toward the enemy's last two escape bridges in an effort to cut off perhaps 40,000 Nazi troops below the Maas (Meuse) river.

Canadians seized the Germans' western anchor of Bergen-Op-Zoom without a fight, and bit within a mile of the stronghold of Roosendaal. British army troops closed within five miles of the central bastion of Breda, after winning Tilburg as well as 'S Hertogenbosch.

The German defense line below the Maas "has fallen to pieces," one front dispatch declared. Another said Allied armor and infantry were moving so rapidly that Field Marshal Gen. Walter von Model either had to pull back across the bridges at Moerdijk and Geertruidenberg, 10 miles northwest and northeast of Breda, "or have his reeling forces cut to bits."

Big Guns Deal Death
MOSCOW—East Prussian front dispatches said today that the Germans had thrown several crack panzer and grenadier divisions into a roaring battle for the Gumbinnen - Interburg gateway to Konigsberg and they were counter-attacking upward of 20 miles a day.

Gen. Ivan Cherniakovsky's troops supported by new 24-barrel Katyusha and artillery massed in a drive averaging one big gun for each 30 yards, were leading after the counter-blows, slowly but steadily broadening the front between the Masurian lakes and the Baltic, and deepening the westward penetration.

The Russian vanguard slugged forward within 10 miles or less of the Inster river which angles through Interburg and threatened Gumbinnen from the northeast and southeast.

Japs Busy in China
SAN FRANCISCO—Japanese trying to offset surprising American successes in the Philippines, sent reinforced columns smashing against the outskirts of Chungking, Kweilin and Lanchow in U. S. planes at a superfort base.

Reinforced and regrouped Japanese drove six miles closer to Kweilin in the forefront of a three-fold assault on that key to southeast China defenses. Two columns advanced to within 14 and 17 miles east of the city while another pushed down from the northeast.

Other forces renewing the drive on the U. S. air base at Litchow advanced six miles, while the conquerors of Fochow pushed inland from the central coast port.

Loboes Lost To Weatherford By 18 to 6 Score

Cisco Loboes' usually tight defensive play failed to cover with the running power of the Weatherford Kangaroos Friday night at Weatherford and the locals suffered their first conference defeat by a score of 18 to 6. The Loboes scored their belated touchdown on a drive in the last minutes of the third period when their aerial game clicked with some good running by Tompkins.

The game was noteworthy for the absence of punting and the low penalty yardage. There was only one punt during the game, the Loboes kicking early in the first period after they failed to advance the ball after kickoff.

From then on both Weatherford and Cisco surrendered possession deep in opponent territory, either by interceptions of passes or failure to make a first down. Johnson's passing was usually accurate but he suffered more from the rushing of a hard-charging Weatherford line which consistently outplayed the Loboes' forward wall. The aerial game was a constant threat however and after their touchdown had been scored by a clever bit of strategy in a pass from Johnson to Tompkins on the two-yard line, the home team threatened again with its aerials. This threat was broken up by an interception against the Weatherford goal, however, and that was the story for the home team. The Kangaroos finished off with another counter and the Loboes staved off a fourth by bracing to smother a later drive past their 20-yard line. They had the ball when the game ended.

Weatherford scored in the final minute of the first half and ripped the length of the field for another shortly after the third period opened. Bill DeLulu's hard running featured Weatherford's attack. Ramsower, Collins and Williams were Cisco standouts on defense and Johnson and Tompkins were the offensive stars. The Loboes play their second home game here next Friday when they meet the Brownwood Lions at Chesley Field.

Capt. Merket's Group Is Cited For Good Work

From an Eighth air force Liberator station in England comes the following concerning a well known Ciscoan:

"The B-24 Liberator four-engine group in which Capt. Gerald C. Merket of Cisco, Texas, is a bombardier, was recently cited by Major Gen. Wm. E. Kepner, commanding a combat bombardment division, for distinguished and outstanding performance of duty.

"Merket's group, which has completed its 100th combat mission in England, was cited by Lt. Col. J. Fairbanks of Burt, Iowa, and had previously been cited by Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, commanding the Eighth air force, for low-level destruction of a bridge across the Loire, near Blois, France. Demolition of the span was ordered 'regardless of cost.'

"To achieve visibility necessary for destruction of the bridge it was necessary to descend below clouds to 6,500 feet, an altitude usually considered extremely hazardous for four-engine bombers. From this height the target was reduced to a heap of smoking rubble."

MEN AND DEMIGODS

Man has gone far in mastering the forces of nature and turning them to his own use. He has devised intricate machinery of a thousand kinds to do his work for him—often far more accurately than he can do it himself by manual labor. In chemistry and electricity especially he has wrought miracles. But it seems sometimes as if Nature herself resented such intrusions, and stood ready to punish man for his arrogance when, in his mechanical or electrical or chemical operations, he makes some slight slip.

So it was in that terrible Cleveland gas explosion. It was as if some evil genie out of the Arabian Nights had suddenly loosed vast power stored for constructive purposes, and had turned it loose against man and his works. This, of course, is not literally true. But the disaster is another clear warning, such as occurs from time to time in many human enterprises, to be ever watchful in wielding these tremendous forces. There is an old fable that tells of a Greek demigod named Prometheus, who stole fire from heaven to use for human purposes, and was punished for it by being chained to a rock in the Caucasus mountains, while a vulture preyed upon his liver. It almost seems, sometimes, as if our industrial disasters represent punishment for similar enterprises. The vast forces used by industry must be ever watched and kept under control, lest they destroy men who wield them.

GO EASY HALLOWEEN

Halloweeners, like other people, may not need to be reminded that there is a war on. What they may need is to do something practical about their knowledge. For instance, they might go easy on their accustomed Halloween pranks. Carrying off ash barrels and door mats, and fastening tin-tacks to windows, may be good clean fun, in some years. Justified to the young people by the excitement of eluding the man of the house who might suddenly come out of a side door and give chase.

This year, however, many houses have no man. Uncle Sam has him, and the women are left alone. Pranksters should bear this in mind, and be chivalrous and patriotic enough to go easy on their holiday fun.

OTHER EDITORS

OWI Policies

Dallas News: Director Elmer Davis of the Office of War Information addresses a letter to The News, published on this page today, denying that there is any intention that OWI be continued as a postwar organization, and declaring false the statement that the OWI has been a propaganda agency insofar as its domestic operations are concerned.

The News did not base the statements in its editorial upon hearsay, as Mr. Davis seems to think. Some of OWI's bulletins carry anything but war information.

There is the elaborately illustrated brochure, Negroes and the War. There is interspersed through it some information about Negroes in the war, but there are other chapters. One is entitled, The Negro Farmer's Life Improves Steadily With Government's Help. It tells what the FSA, under the Roosevelt administration, has done for Negroes on the farm. There is a chapter, mentioning Louis Armstrong and his trumpet, W. C. Handy and the plaintive blues, barbers, house, boogie-woogie and show business, an all-night party in Harlem, laughter and an infectious drumbeat. (Is this war information?) There is a stable spread showing President Roosevelt on one side and Hitler on the other, each saying what he thinks about the Negro.

There is a chapter on Negroes in Athletics. There is another, We Are Moving Ahead, showing

President Roosevelt surrounded by the white and Negro members of the Fair Employment Practice Committee. There is a picture of Mrs. Roosevelt making a speech to the Negro branch of the National Youth Administration.

There is nothing in this bulletin that would not have been perfectly legitimate if it had been printed and distributed with other than expenditure of taxpayers' money, and if it had been openly presented for what it really is—a piece of campaign literature issued to win the Negro vote in the highly strategic political districts of New York, Pennsylvania and Chicago for President Roosevelt in the current election.

There is justification for OWI propaganda abroad to combat that issued by Hitler. But there was no justification for a broadside issued to American soldiers and aimed, by any common-sense interpretation, at winning the vote of the American soldier for President Roosevelt.

The OWI under Mr. Davis' direction has undoubtedly done much constructive work. At times he has gone fearlessly to bat for freedom of the press against the needlessly cautious and secretive procedures of the military and naval brass hats. In his enthusiasm for the causes for which he stands, he probably see full justification for the things he has done. But The News insists that, upon the record of OWI's own issues, it has been a propaganda agency in the domestic field in some instances, and a propaganda agency of the wrong kind in some instances in the operations of its foreign branch.

THIS IS NAVY WEEK

We salute our big two-ocean navy with all of its auxiliaries that is doing such wonderful work just now in the Pacific area. This is but just a continuation of the long fight that began in the South Pacific and gradually worked its way north to the positions it is storming today.

The Atlantic division has been no less glorious in its work of guarding convoys and searching out enemies that would have destroyed the transportation of soldiers, supplies and materials.

Indeed, our navy has had a glorious part in the winning of this war thus far. Again we salute the men and commanders of the American Navy.
