Cisco Airport Adds Many Service Features

Improvements and extensions of aviation service and instruction are gradually making Cisco Municipal Airport into one of the leading subsidiary aviation centers in this section of the state. Already the field, one and one-half miles north by west of Cisco, is the site of a flourishing plane repair business. Eleven planes were on the field today undergoing or awaiting repair and service at the hands of the A. & E. shop established there by Bill Strain. Seven other planes were due to be flown in for work, Mr. Strain said. He and his mechanics have their hands full of this character of work. Meanwhile the flying school, with Haywood Cabness and G. P. Mitchell, Jr., in charge of instruction, is very active.

A power line was recently completed to the port by the West Texas Utilities, the city furnishing poles and wire, and electricity for lighting and for powering the machine tools of the repair shops is now at the field. Southwestern Bell Telephone company has run a line to the port and installed a pay station telephone for the convenience of fliers and others who have business at the port. The power lines, incidentally and through the cooperation of Bob Weddington, who owns the land north of the site and of L. B. Norvell, who has that land leased, have been run some two hundred yards beyond the north runway to constitute no hazard in their approach from the high-line along Highway 23. This location of these lines maintains the advantage which the Cisco airport has in the absence of any such hazards for planes landing and taking off in all directions. An electric gasoline pump with extension delivery has also been installed.

Bill Strain, who owns the airplane shops and instruction franchise at the port, this week announced a new feature of the service he is establishing. It is an A. & E. mechanics school, which will be taught six nights a week in the former Texas Motor Co. building on west Third street. Under the direction of Burrell Tibbs, a mechanic and pilot of some 30 years experience and recently with the A. & M. ground school unit at North American, Grand Prairie, Texas, students will be given courses in airplane mechanics leading to A. & E. certificates which will entitle them to work in any airplane repair shop. Students will be required to attend at least three nights weekly, and courses will consist of one hour of lecture and two hours of actual work. A year of such training will be required before a license can be issued. The school will start about November 10 and anyone who wishes may take the courses.

Cotton Storage Space Serious Problem Now

DALLAS, Nov. 3.—All Dallas and Fort Worth compress warehouses were embargoed Wednesday night and at least 75 per cent of all others in Texas were wholly or partially embargoed in one of the most serious congestions of cotton storage space cotton men have ever seen.

An OPA order designed to move bales into open yards was put into effect. Temporary ceiling prices for emergency open yard storage of cotton in Texas and Oklahoma were established. They are the existing maximum prices for the storage of cotton in enclosed warehouses plus 25c per bale in Texas and 60c per bale in Oklahoma.

American Legion Plans Greatest Of Xmas Parties

The American Legion and its Auxiliary plans the world's greatest Christmas party for hospitalized service men and women this year, says Rex Moore of the local John William Butts Post, who invites Ciscoans to pack boxes, place their names and addresses therein, then notify him and the local post will do the rest.

The 12,965 posts of the American Legion and the 9,499 units of its Auxiliary, with their combined memberships of more than 2,100,000 will seek to collect 500,000 Christmas gift boxes for delivery to every wounded and sick fighting man and woman in a government hospital in the United States on December 25. Both the national executive committees of the Legion and its Auxiliary approved the project enthusiastically at their meetings in Chicago during the 1944 national convention.

FD Unfriendly To War Vets States Owsley

DALLAS, Nov. 3.—President Roosevelt has been unfriendly to war veterans, followed an isolationist policy that encouraged Hitler and has bungled foreign relations to such an extent that many governments are turning against America, Col. Alvin M. Owsley, former national commander of the American Legion, declared here yesterday.

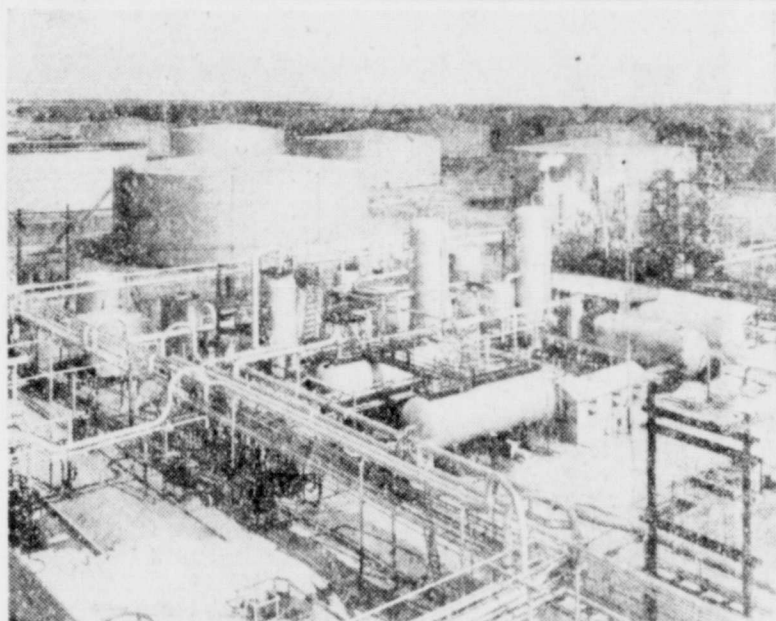

"Servicemen of America owe Franklin Roosevelt absolutely nothing," Owsley, who was an adjutant in the 36th Division overseas in the first World War, insisted. "He vetoed the bonus bill and it took all the strength of the service organizations to pass it over his veto."

Owsley, enroute to Oklahoma City to make a speech for Thomas E. Dewey, quoted the president as saying that "the mere fact that a man wore the uniform of this country places him in no preferred position to ask special favors from his government."

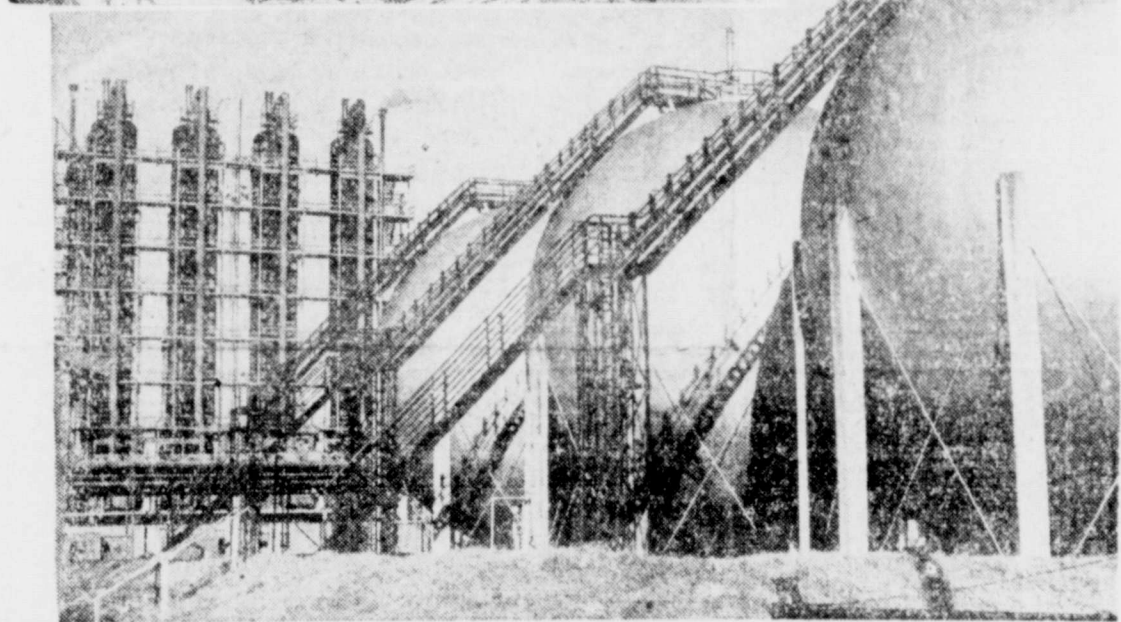

Governor Dewey has pledged aid to veterans, Owsley said, accusing the new deal campaign of promising special favors only to those who join the $1,000 Club.

Ralph Crocker, district price executive, said. Acute labor shortage is blamed as the No. 1 reason for warehouse problems which have dammed the normal flow of cotton, and cotton merchants listed as others the storage of government-owned cotton (which last year accounted for 50 per cent of sales) and slowed up movement to textile mills.

Baylor Hospital Observing 40th Birthday

DALLAS, Nov. 3.—A spade dipped into the earth at Junius and College streets forty years ago Sunday lifted the first load of dirt to make way for the building of Baylor University Hospital in Dallas.

That ceremony, on Nov. 5, 1904, climaxed months of effort by Baptist leaders, civic-spirited philanthropists and the local medical profession to erect a great modern hospital in Dallas. Inspiring them to the task was a renowned European surgeon who came to America to treat the child of one of the nation's wealthiest families and lingered in Dallas to help thousands of Texas' crippled children.

The fortieth anniversary of the ground-breaking is being observed this weekend by intensified efforts in the current Baylor-in-Dallas campaign to expand the hospital through erection of the Truett Memorial Building and new buildings for the Baylor College of Dentistry and the University School of Nursing.

Building of the original hospital was brought about largely through the spirit and vision of the late Dr. George W. Truett, it was recalled by Dr. Justin F. Kimball, former executive vice-president of Baylor University in charge of the Dallas units. Upon his death four months ago, Dr. Truett was the last surviving member of the original board of directors, having given continuous service since its founding.

Efforts toward establishment of the hospital began in 1903, when Dr. Adolf Lorenz, bloodless bone surgeon of Vienna, Austria, came to the United States to perform an operation on a lame child of the Armour family of Chicago.

On the rather audacious invitation of a group of ambitious young Dallas doctors, led by Dr. C. M. Rosser and Dr. E. H. Cary, Dr. Lorenz stopped over in Dallas to hold a free one-day clinic for crippled children. Throngs of lame children attended from throughout the southwest.

His visit was climaxed by a civic banquet in the old Oriental Hotel. Among the banquet speakers were Bishop A. C. Garrett and Dr. Truett, then a young Baptist pastor who had lived in Dallas less than a decade.

Dr. Truett stirred his audience by describing the throngs of suffering children and in closing roused ringing applause by his declaration, "It is now time to begin the erection of a great humanitarian hospital, one to which men of all creeds and those of none may come with equal confidence." That was the hour of Baylor Hospital's inception, Dr. Kimball stated.

In October, 1903, the state of Texas granted its charter and Dr. Truett was chosen as recording secretary of its board of directors. All the minutes for more than ten years are written in his characteristic handwriting.

MRS. J. M. LITTLE DIES—Mrs. J. M. Little, 84, former resident of Cisco and a most estimable woman, died at her home in Dallas shortly after noon today. She ate dinner, laid down for a nap and died a few minutes later. The body will be brought to Eastland tonight and will rest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. L. Cooper, 613 S. Mulberry street, until brought to Cisco—probably Sunday afternoon—for burial in Oakwood cemetery. Surviving children are Mrs. T. L. Cooper, Mrs. Albert Ezzell, Mrs. C. I. Hyatt, Eddie Little, Everett Little, Elijah Little and Weldon Little.

CISCO GOOSE-EGGED—In the football game at Chesley Field this afternoon between Brownwood and Cisco, the visitors copped the game by the score of 23 to nothing. There was a good attendance.

SEA APPROACHES TO ANTWERP VIRTUALLY IN HANDS OF ALLIES; HARD BLOW TO GERMANS

The battle to clear the approaches to Antwerp was virtually over today, with all vital parts of Walcheren island in Allied hands, and on the U. S. First Army front in Germany American infantrymen plunged toward the fortress town of Hurtgen against tough Nazi resistance.

The Germans, smashed back both in western and eastern Europe, staged under a mighty aerial blow over the Rhineland yesterday, described in a communique as the U. S. Eighth Air Force lighters "greatest victory of the war over the Luftwaffe."

The vanguards of the U. S. First Army which burst through the gloomy Hurtgen forest yesterday after a long lull in the sector were within eight miles of the road center of Duren, itself 20 miles from Cologne and the Rhine, but the significance of the attack was yet to be assessed.

The full scale offensive against the German homeland may wait final clearance of the approaches to Antwerp.

British Commandos and infantry on Walcheren island, last point from which enemy guns could command the Scheldt approaches, overran Vlissingen (Flushing). Other Allied units moved southeast from the Westkapelle beachhead to within two miles of the city.

The few German guns remaining on flooded Walcheren island on the north side of the Scheldt mouth after the capture of Vlissingen were rapidly running out of ammunition.

Only a few scattered snipers remained to harass the Allies on either side of the river mouth, entrance to Antwerp port.

American and British smashing against the hard circle of German defenders holding south of the Maas (Meuse) on the road to Rotterdam, restored a bridgehead over the little Mark river within six miles of the Moerdijk bridge.

On the southern reaches of the Allied front, Allied troops battled deeper into the rising hills of the Vosges, capturing eight towns and villages and approaching to within from three to eight miles of the first towns inside six passes leading to the Rhine flatlands.

SIGHT SPIRES OF BUDA

MOSCOW.—Marshal Malinovsky's Cossack patrols today swept within sight of Pest, the eastern half of Budapest, and panic was reported within the Hungarian capital with hundreds of merchants and wealthy industrialists fleeing before the Red army's advance.

Front reports to the Soviet press said that Malinovsky's main forces were thundering toward Budapest with German and Hungarian resistance disintegrating. Ahead of the main forces Cossack horsemen raced across the wide Hungarian plains to sight the spires of Buda on the Danube's left bank.

Southern columns from Yugoslavia were also moving north along the Danube and the reports indicated the city was doomed despite desperate Nazi efforts to organize last-ditch resistance.

The correspondent of the Red Star advised that in several sectors German and Hungarian units were barely able to keep ahead of fast moving columns of Soviet tanks and motorized infantry. Masses of prisoners were streaming back through the travel-stained columns of advancing Red army men. Prisoners who had only arrived at the front from Budapest within the past two or three days reported that panic was spreading through the city.

Dewey Informed He Has Pennsylvania in Bag

ENROUTE WITH DEWEY TO ALBANY, Nov. 3.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey buckled down today to what advisers call his No. 1 task of the presidential campaign—carrying New York state—as he traveled homeward with Republican-voiced assurances that he would win in Pennsylvania.

The Republican presidential nominee called for time out to prepare what may be one of the most important speeches of his campaign—his address tomorrow night at a great rally in Madison Square Garden in New York City.

Dewey came out of Pennsylvania with a prediction by Gov. Edward Martin, that the Republicans would carry that pivotal state. Martin told reporters in a train news conference that he did not know how Philadelphia would go, but added "it couldn't possibly go bad enough for President Roosevelt to carry Pennsylvania."

Truman Certain Of Democratic Victory Nov. 7

PITTSBURG, Nov. 3.—Senator Harry S. Truman hit the trail for home today after a vice presidential campaign tour which has carried him more than 8,000 miles and into 23 states.

The gray-haired former chairman of the senate's war investigating committee, left shortly after midnight for Kansas City, from whence he will go to his home town of Independence, Mo., to make a final appeal to the voters Saturday and to await next Tuesday's returns.

Roosevelt's fourth term running mate told reporters that he was confident "not only of a Democratic victory in the nation, but of a majority of at least 100,000 in my own state."

FOR TEXAS REGULARS

DALLAS, Nov. 3.—A Texas Republican leader says he will vote for the Texas Regular electors Nov. 7. Capt. J. F. Lucey of Dallas told the Dallas Morning News that he was acting independently and had made his decision without consultation with Republican state officers.

MINISTER IMPROVED

Rev. O. O. Odom, former pastor of Cisco First Methodist church, suffered a heart attack while attending the Methodist conference at Mineral Wells and was rushed to Graham Sanitarium Cisco, yesterday, for treatment. Report from his physician today was that the popular minister rested well last night and is much improved.

STRIKE VOTE NOV. 16

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 3.—The National Labor Relations Board has set Nov. 16 for a strike vote requested by Local 316, Oil Workers International Union (CIO) of Humble Oil and Refining Company's plant at Ingleside, near Corpus Christi. The company contends that the union proposes to call a strike because Humble failed to add a maintenance of membership provision to the collective bargaining contract.

ARGENTINA'S PARTY

Some American commentators are in high dudgeon because Argentina, which is a nominal republic actually operating as a reactionary dictatorship, has had the nerve to call a Pan-American conference. Such procedure, historically, has usually been a function of the United States. And very likely the action was taken as a snub to this country. The Argentine government is saying, in effect, "We have as much right as you have, to give a political party. And now will you come, or won't you?"

There is no need for sensitive North Americans to get excited. If Uncle Sam doesn't care to grace that party, it is very simple to inform Argentina, with polite dignity, that the conduct of her government lately has not been of such a nature as to make free and friendly North Americans feel at home in such an environment. As a matter of fact, Argentina's present government has not been recognized by the United States.

We could get rough, and as one wrathful American editor suggests, go down there and tell the haughty Argentines to their faces to "stop their swordrattling and abolish their Fascism." But it doesn't necessarily follow that, as the same truculent editor insists, "America owes it to the other republics of the Americas to put a stop at once to this brazen attempt of Fascism to secure a foothold in this part of the world."

We don't want any Fascism, either down there or up here; but the sooner the boys in Washington understand that it is not our mission as a democracy to boss the whole hemisphere, the better off we'll be and the sooner the boys will be able to come home and stay.

POWER ON THE FARM

John C. Davis, farm commentator, says "equipment manufacturers planning to enter the farm market in the postwar era will do well to send engineers to farms to study home-made machines that farmers are using today." "The farmer, long known for his ingenuity in making things work, has been using electric motors for 'most everything.' One was elevating baled hay into the mow when Davis visited his farm. "The elevator was strictly homemade; its framework was of plank; the rollers were wooden cones from paper rolls; the belt tightener was a weighted contraption patterned from one in a saw-mill; the belts were old ones from the auto filter, cut down with cleats riveted to them. Transmission was through gears from an automobile junk yard and the contraption was made mobile by an old wagon axle. The entire cost was less than $30."

The electric motor which drove the outfit was mounted and fitted so it could be shipped into slots and used for the elevator or taken out and carried. The farmer used it for three other jobs—the feed mixer, a grinder and corn sheller.

Rural electrification has done much for the farmer. He turns his power to uses undreamed of when the lines first went in. The future seems to hold all sorts of possibilities for expansion in his use of electricity.

COUNTING THE ERRORS

Daily Oklahoman: Our editorial assertion that Governor Dewey has a flair for selecting competent assistants is fortrightly challenged by a thoughtful contributor who declares that Dewey proved his incompetency by selecting as his personal representative at an international conference a man who said as late as 1939 that the fear of our country being attacked was nothing but hysteria.

Maybe so. Maybe so. But if the 1939 error in judgment of John Foster Dulles renders him completely incompetent in 1944, just what shall be said of the presidential candidate who was so completely in error that he said on October 30, 1940: "And while I am talking to you mothers and fathers, I give you one more assurance. I have said this before, but I shall say it again and again: Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign war!"

If the 1939 error in judgment of Dulles renders Dewey unfit for the presidency, the 1940 error in judgment of the president may create a shadow of doubt of his presidential infallibility. In any event, the president was wrong more than a year after Dulles was wrong.

March, 1928

(Files of Cisco Daily Press)

Cisco had one of her old-time crowds yesterday. The streets were thronged with people from the surrounding rural districts as well as from neighboring towns. Cross streets, Baird, Putnam, Moran, Albany, Rising Star, Eastland, Carbon and Ranger were represented in the shopping district.

The approaching Easter season, aided by the glorious spring weather now prevailing, is augmenting the dry goods sales in most all stores carrying these lines. Shoe men are finding their daily sales increasing steadily. Ready to wear, for both men and women, is finding much favor now, while those desiring a new spring costume at lesser cost are patronizing the piece goods counters.

Haberdashers report shirts, ties, socks, women's underwear and ladies hose as going good. Barber shops and beauty parlors are finding favor in the eyes of those who have become infected with the Easter bug. Tailor shops are being called upon to clean the old clothes, dye them brighter colors and lay them up in general. Hardware men are selling dishes, sports goods, gardening tools, sprinkling hose and kindred lines. Lumber men are selling, in addition to their regular building bills, smaller ones to those who are making minor improvements and repairs about their homes.

Paint and paper dealers are finding much activity in the brightening up of homes over the city.

According to figures given out by John M. Mouser, superintendent of the land department of the Texas division of the Prairie Oil & Gas Co., there was produced by Eastland county gasoline plants during 1927 seventy-one million gallons of casinghead gasoline. This amount, Mr. Mouser's figures disclose, was 5,000,000,000 gallons less than the product of the plants here in 1926, due to the prevailing marketing conditions. Enough gasoline was produced from casinghead gas in Eastland county during 1927 to average a daily income of $11 a well for the total number of producing wells in the county, at the average price per gallon. The daily production for the county is approximately 200,000 gallons. According to the figures of Mouser, the county had an approximate amount of 183,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily at the first of the year 1927.

MRS. J. M. WITTEN
HOSTESS TO CLUB

Word Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. J. M. Witten Thursday afternoon with Mrs. M. P. Farnsworth presiding. The meeting opened with the club prayer, spoken in unison. Mrs. Ernest Schaefer called the roll, to which each member responded by telling of an improvement she would like to make in her yard.

Minutes of previous meeting were read, following which Bingo prizes, brought for hospital patients at Camp Bowie, were assembled. Members were requested to bring an article made from feed sacks, to next club meeting, in co-operation with "Achievement Day."

The meeting was then turned to Miss Myra Tankersley who brought a most interesting lesson on "Yard Work."

Refreshments were passed at the close of the lesson to Miss Myra Tankersley, Mrs. Philip Pettit, Mrs. M. P. Farnsworth, Mrs. Cora Plumlee, Mrs. J. D. Hall, Mrs. W. R. Swan, Mrs. Ted Bacon, Mrs. C. M. Britain, Mrs. W. C. Clements, Mrs. Ernest Schaefer, Mrs. J. D. Dunlop, Mrs. Frank Ziehr, Mrs. Rudolph Schaefer, Misses Alice Bacon and Willie Word and the hostess, Mrs. Witten.

SOCIAL CLIMAXED WEEK OF STUDY

A fellowship social in the basement of First Baptist church Thursday night climaxed a week's training union course, which was conducted by Miss Neila Casement of Dallas.

Classes were conducted for all departments of the union as follows: Adults, "Living Abundantly," taught by Rev. Sam Taylor of Rising Star; Young People, "Planning a Life," Dr. W. H. Clark of Ranger; Intermediates, "Pilgrim's Progress," Mrs. Egan Holmes; Primaries - Beginners, "World Friendship Room," Mrs. Charles M. Barnes. Two special courses, "Church Recreation Leaders Handbook" and "Junior and Intermediate Leaders' Manual," were taught by Dr. Charles M. Barnes and Miss Casement.

An interesting review of the book, "We Thought We Heard the Angels Sing," was given by Miss Casement during the week. Cooper Waters, Mrs. C. P. Cole and Mary Philpott were "decorated" Thursday evening for distinguished service rendered during the week.

The social at the close of the week's study was sponsored by the recreation class, with Dr. Barnes, Rev. Cooper Waters, Miss Louie Norris and Misses Marguerite Pittman and J. T. Richardson directing. Games were played and refreshments were passed to 75 people.

DINNER CELEBRATED WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Woodridge entertained a few close friends and relatives at noon dinner Tuesday in celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Baked chicken and all the garnishings were served at the sumptuous meal.

Those present were Mrs. Dave Jones of Rising Star, Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Wright, Mrs. Willie Bogan Dunn, Mrs. G. W. Troxell, Mrs. Wilberne Logan and the hosts. During the afternoon many friends of the couple called and expressed congratulations and good wishes.

A PROUD PAPA—John E. Olson, USCG, in southwest Pacific, keeps an expanding gallery of snapshots of his 16-months-old boy, whom he has seen in the flesh only once.

THIS LITTLE PIGGY'S GOING TO MARKET some day. Right now it's quite a pet, but by the time 3-year-old Billy Ricks of Artesia, Calif., shows it in junior division of Great Western live stock show in Los Angeles, Dec. 2-8, the pure bred Hampshire animal will no longer be a lap-dog.

AND SERVE HIM The Best Coffee MONEY CAN BUY

This Week Try SOMETHING NEW!

Drop off whatever brand of coffee you've been using and buy a pound of Admiration instead. But don't let the family in on your secret. Just serve up this delicious blend in the usual way. You won't have long to wait for the broad smiles of satisfaction. Up and down the table warm and hearty applause will attend the first sip. For in Admiration—at last—you'll find all the rich, mellow goodness you've always wanted, all the full-bodied flavor, all the room-filling aroma. Most of all you'll have in Admiration coffee that's the same today as 25 years ago—and that will be the same tomorrow and for years to come. Many roasters have cheapened their blends with inferior coffees, thus to "save" money. But not Admiration. The wholesome, delightful flavor never varies, even from package to package. By all means buy a pound today.
