Veteran Engine Rejoins Owners After 18 Months

15TH ARMY AIR FORCE (Mediterranean) — This is the story of an indestructible Liberator engine, a Pratt and Whitney R-18 30-43, that has rejoined its original owners after nearly a year and a half of operations. Now a veteran outfit with more than 130 bombing assaults, the Liberator group was in an embryo state at the Air Forces School of Applied Tactics, Orlando, Fla., when it was joined by the maintenance hero of this story. The engine helped to power one of the four original Liberators which were turned over to the group. The group moved, expanded, and moved again, and still the engine soared its daily song of power. It stuck by the group during its three months of operational training at an eastern air base, and was left behind only when the group left for the Mediterranean theater. Recently the engine turned up in a new shipment which was received by its former owners. First Lt. Crandall D. Jones, of Cisco, Texas, a squadron engineering officer and son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Jones of Cisco, recognized the serial number while checking through his records. Although shining and new in appearance, the accompanying records showed that it had been overhauled for the third time at 1,062 hours. Now installed in one of the group's operational aircraft, it is going into combat with the outfit it helped to train. The above communication was received by the Daily Press from "war Department Headquarters, Mediterranean Allied Air Forces," and along with it came a photo of the engine, with three officers standing beside it, as follows: First Lt. Crandall D. Jones, Cisco, engineering officer; Sgt. Wm. E. Dunsavan, 310 west 136th street, New York; Staff Sgt. Alfred (NM) Marini, 4409 NW seventh avenue, Miami, Fla., tech supply chief. Since the above communication was mailed out, Lieut. Jones has been promoted to captain.

MAN BITES MULE—Although that's only a slight variation of popular prescription for news, it's not news when soldier bites mule unless you're not familiar with ways of mule-skinners. Sgt. Fred Parke of Ozona, Tex., bites ear of mule to keep its mind off branding operation, while other Yanks divert animal's thoughts in various ways.

Glenn and Cisco Gas Wiped Platter Clean

Last night's contests at Cisco bowling alleys were a bit one-sided but interesting nevertheless. Glenn Furniture Co. and Cisco Gas Corporation each took three games from Paul's Chirus and White Tire Shop. Oscar Stutenroth was high man for the evening. Tonight's schedule is Collins Hardware vs. Cisco Lumber & Supply and West Texas Utilities vs. The Man's Store.

PROMOTED TO CAPTAIN Word has been received here that Forrest J. Mobley, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Mobley, a finance officer with the army air forces and stationed in Hawaii, has been promoted to captain. Captain Mobley graduated from Cisco high school in 1938 and later attended North Texas State Teachers College, enlisting in the army in July, 1940. His wife and infant son reside in Tulsa, Okla.

YARGER COMES HOME Frank Yarger, well known Ciscoan, who has been employed in defense work on the west coast for the past year, has returned to Cisco to spend the winter. Mr. Yarger covered lots of territory while away. He spent New Year's Day in Billings, Mont., was later employed at Paschal, Wyo., and more recently worked in the Kaiser shipyards at Richmond, Calif. He cast his vote this morning and will leave within a few days to visit his son at Hondo, Ciscoan.

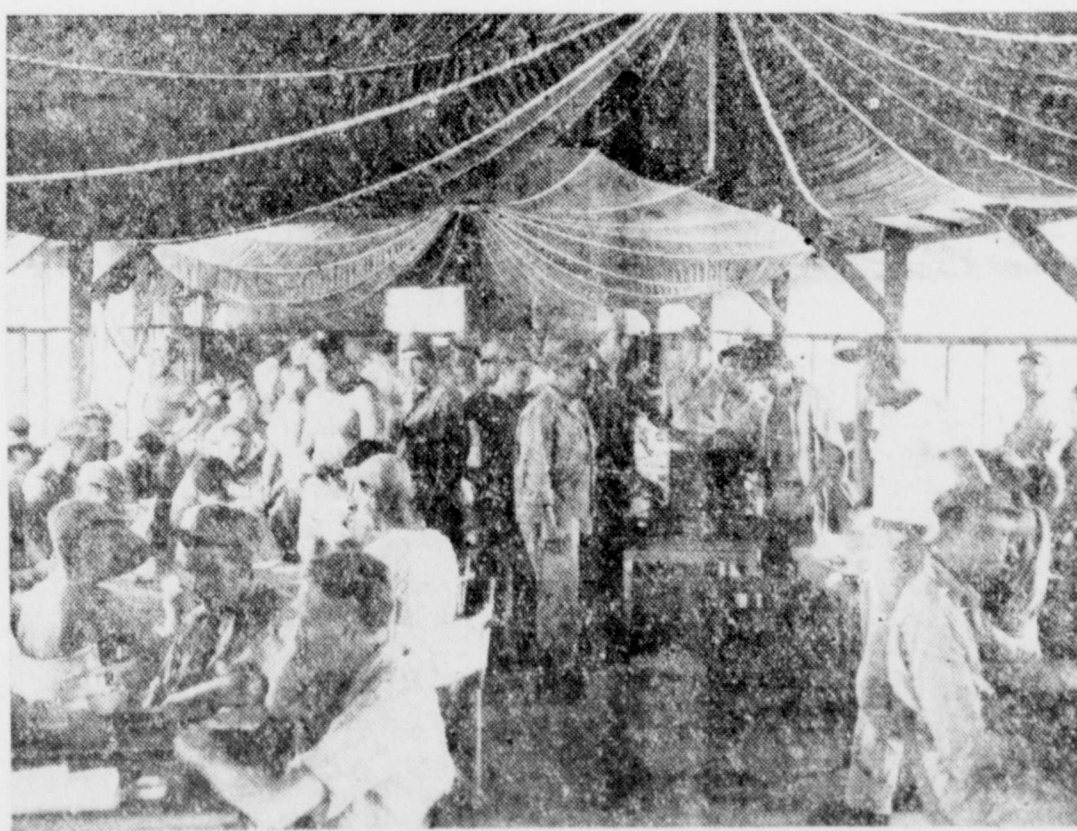

PHOTO OF ACCORD The Daily Press has just received a large and attractive photo of a U. S. coast guard crew of four men, one of them being Coxswain John J. McCord, 901 east Thirtieth street, Cisco. Photo and communication was mailed from the Coast Guard Service, Washington, D. C., and stated that the Cisco young man was a veteran of four invasions. The photo has been placed in the Daily Press gallery, where it may be seen by friends and relatives of the Ciscoan.

CLUSTERS OF TEN Mrs. Mary Abbott, 607 west Second street, has an unusually prolific pecan tree, judging from a sample cluster left at this office, which contained ten well-developed pecans. It is said the tree is loaded with pecans and that there are many clusters that carry as many as ten pecans.

RELAXING IN THE ARC—Ground crew members play cards, listen to music or just gab as they rest in Red Cross recreation room at a Dutch New Guinea air base. Such canteens have been established in all parts of New Guinea where air bases are maintained, and Yanks enjoy them.

1 MILLION TEX. VOTES PREDICTED

AUSTIN, Nov. 7.—A million Texans, men and women, faced democracy in the voting booths today. They surged to the polls, motivated by one of the bitterest campaigns in the state's history and by the necessity of choosing a president. The choice, with the grim backdrop of a world at war, was more deadly serious than ever before.

EARLY REPORTS FROM OVER THE NATION PRESAGE A TOTAL OF 50 MILLION BALLOTS OR MORE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—An unprecedented early and heavy turnout swamped polling places the nation over today, indicating a possible record vote of 50,000,000. Stirred by the first wartime election since 1864, the men and women who make up America began lining up to cast their ballots even before the polls opened. The first hours were orderly despite the warm feeling between some partisans of Franklin D. Roosevelt, 62-year-old third term in the White House, and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, 42, bidding for a first term.

The issue of the presidency overshadowed all else as the test of the three strongest parties was placed at last with the people. The test was whether Roosevelt shall have a fourth term. Behind him was the might of the Democratic party in Texas, a power beaten only once, that time in 1928 when Texans swung their weight for Herbert Hoover, Protestant, against Al Smith, Catholic.

New York City voting officials reported 25 per cent of the vote in by 9:30 a. m., and at most polling places 50 to 60 were standing in line. In Pennsylvania, whose 35 electoral votes many expect may be decisive in a close election, all indications were that the total vote would equal or surpass 1940 despite the absence in the armed services of thousands of younger men and women. Reports from other population centers across the country, such as Kansas City, Omaha, Des Moines, Oklahoma City, St. Louis, Detroit and Louisville, were similar.

Turning out in campaign-heated strength today were anti-fourth term forces—the Republicans, intent on victory for Dewey and Bricker, and the Texas Regulars, feverish tooust Roosevelt at any cost. Despite predictions, the Republicans and Regulars had failed to get together and the Regulars, disident element of the Democratic party, pinned their hopes on a belief that neither Roosevelt nor Dewey will obtain the required electoral votes. Texas has 23 of the 531 electoral votes of which 266 constitutes a majority. Voters were confronted with a newspaper-size ballot. Republicans oppose Democrats for 10 of 11 state officers. The exception is the post of commissioner of agriculture. B. J. Beasley of Tyler is running against incumbent Coke R. Stevenson for governor. There is a Republican ticket for 12 of 21 congressional posts and a scattering of Republican candidates for state legislative seats. The Regulars have no nominees for state offices. Myron Blalock, Democratic national committeeman from Texas, said more than 1,000,000 votes would be cast and that Roosevelt and Truman would poll "no less than 75 per cent of all votes cast."

Roosevelt summed up as goals for Americans: "To win the war and unite our fighting men with their families at the earliest moment, to see that all have honorable jobs, and to create a world peace organization which will prevent this disaster from ever coming upon us again." Governor Dewey likewise said "we want to make sure that this war will be the last war." He was critical again of home front measures of the Roosevelt administration and said "the great test is whether, knowing we need a new administration, we will make the change necessary to speed victory and to build the peace to come." And thus the campaign ended, with peace-and-victory calls from both sides. There was a quiet fade-out of the more extreme accusations that have been tossed back and forth in America's big show that comes every four years. The Republican presidential candidate's wife and his mother, Mrs. George E. Dewey from Owosso, Mich., were with him for the important day. Governor and Mrs. Dewey traveled from Albany to New York City, their legal residence, to get their votes in. Also on the eight column ballot are presidential electors for the Socialist, Prohibition, America First and Independents, as well as a blank column for write-in electors.

Walter Rogers, Republican state campaign director, estimated Dewey and Bricker would get 45.6 per cent of the votes, Roosevelt-43.4 per cent and the Texas Regulars 11 per cent. At Austin, Merritt H. Gibson, campaign manager for the Texas Regulars, claimed his party would poll 40 per cent of the Texas vote. He said 38 per cent of the votes would go to Roosevelt and 22 per cent of the votes would be Republican.

Our boys are counting on us to show the rest of the world that our kind of government is the best in the world—and the kind we propose to keep. And so when our people turn out at the polls tomorrow—and I sincerely hope that it will be fifty million strong—the world will respect our democracy." Roosevelt said in his talk from Hyde Park. "Our boys are counting on us to show the rest of the world that our kind of government is the best in the world—and the kind we propose to keep. And so when our people turn out at the polls tomorrow—and I sincerely hope that it will be fifty million strong—the world will respect our democracy."

At 4 p. m. 750 votes had been cast at city hall, with 350 at the east ward school at the same hour. At 4 o'clock this afternoon a local political observer predicted the total statewide vote today would be right at 1,000, with 400 on the east side, or a total of 1,400 for the city. This is a large vote, considering the large number of men in the army and at work on defense projects in other cities.

The same analyst (a Roosevelt man) thought the Cisco vote would average up 1 1/2 for Roosevelt to 1 for combined opposition forces.

THE SACRED DAY

Election Day is not a time for mood and fury, signifying nothing. It is not a day for prejudice and bigotry, wrath, backbiting and suspicion. It is—or should be—a holy day. It is a day of great responsibility for the American citizen, who is the real ruler of his country. On it he exercises his powers of government. It is he who shall be president and governor and congressman, senator, representative and county commissioner. In some places he may also be judge. He votes because the management of the country for the next period of years.

Guardian. Speaking to a group of Ohio teachers, she explains that the W.E.A. is on a voluntary basis, free from political and economic restraint. It is financed 75 per cent by the British Ministry of Education and the rest from local public funds, and cooperates with almost all of the English and Scottish universities. Chief present interests center in social subjects, such as economics, trade and international relations, American and Russian history, and the arts. There is no party bias allowed. All sides must be represented. "British labor knows that the propaganda way—the short way—is not the best."

Sept., 1919

(From Cisco Round-up)

American usually take their morning tea early, so much as a matter of course. But suppose they lived in Germany? Or even in Argentina, which has a Constitution modeled on ours, and which has been theoretically free from a foreign yoke since 1810, but in which there are no free elections. Would they not swiftly learn to prize this great privilege? They would, indeed.

Nothing is of more importance to any citizen than that he should cast his vote soberly, wisely, responsibly. Upon him depends the fate of the nation. And yet many otherwise intelligent Americans make no effort to vote in an election day.

LEARNING FOR GROWN-UPS

Adult education is not new in this country. But from the early days it has been developed by local groups. Nineteenth century forums and membership libraries, Chautauqua Assemblies, today's correspondence and trade schools, radio forums and lecture series were and are separate units. The Adult Institute, which now provides correspondence courses at any desired level for military men, through a co-operating group of universities and colleges, is the first large-scale project of its kind here.

In Britain today, the Workers Education Association provides a "bridge" between labor and learning on a national scale, says Miss Elizabeth Monahan, daughter of an editor of the Manchester conditions in Cisco for bringing up a family. I have held a great many meetings in my time and traveled throughout the length and breadth of the entire country. I never met a finer citizenship, a truer and nobler class of men and women than I found at Cisco. The personnel of the congregation that I preached to impressed me. More real genuine men and women in the congregation from day to day and night to night than I ever met before.

"While Cisco is hustling and building in a material way, the great rank and file of the citizenship are giving their first attention to the moral and religious education of their city and community.

"You are right when you state that it is a very serious problem as to where a man should bring up his family. Any other information I can give you, command me."
