PATTON'S MEN IN GERMANY

John J. Butts West Ward P-T A Tells of Daily Sociable Will Life in France Honor Fathers

Sgt. John J. Butts, infantryman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Butts of Craig, Colo., and nephew of Mrs. Forrest Wright and Miss Mary Jane Butts of Cisco, writes a most enlightening letter from somewhere in France, which is published in full because it shows so vividly what this young man and other American lads are enduring daily that the world may be free of dictators and despots. Sergeant Butts went to England last April and has been in France since shortly after D-Day.

Extensive preparations are being made for the meeting of the West Ward Parent-Teachers' association to be held at west ward school building at 7:30 Monday night, says Mrs. Sutton Crofts.

The affair will be in the nature of a sociable and the fathers will be honor guests.

Mrs. Fred Scott will be in charge of the program, which will consist mainly of musical numbers, it is said. The school rooms will be open for inspection, with teachers acting as hostesses to the parents of their pupils. All parents are urged to attend.

C. B. Midloff, west ward principal, will demonstrate some of the visual educational devices which are used greatly in the instruction of classes, and refreshments of coffee and cookies will be served at the close of the program.

The Letter

Somewhere in France, Oct. 27, 1944.

Dear Folks—Please pardon me for not writing to you all for about three weeks but I will explain every thing later in this letter. I sure have a lot of news to tell. I don't know if I can write it all. I haven't written a letter for the last three weeks, so I really have a stack to answer.

Right now, we are in a rest camp, near a fairly good town. We are sleeping in a large factory building. It is a hell of a lot better than what we have had. We have straw on the floor and it is dry. We have plenty of blankets now, so we are warm. Incidentally, it is cold here.

We have shows every night and right now there is a band playing. A Red Cross truck comes out during the day with donuts and coffee, but if you go to town, they have a Red Cross there and you can get some more. We have been here three days and I have eaten at least two dozen each day. The town looks like any U. S. town as far as the men are concerned. Soldiers cover the streets.

We had a USO show here yesterday but it wasn't so good. Oh yes; we saw Bing Crosby way back in Champs, France. That was where the 79th division got its name in the last war.

We don't know how long we will be in this rest area. We are quite far back from the lines and I wish that we could stay here. We have heard rumors that it will be from 2 to 8 weeks. Also there are a lot of rumors going around that they are going to take the 79th back to the U. S. But none of us believe that. More rumors are floating around. It is really funny where they start. But I sure hope that we can stay here for at least six weeks. I am so tired. The weather here is wet and cold.

Before we came here, we were really going thru hell. And I mean hell. For the last month, we have been in woods, which makes it worse for many reasons. It is darker at night and your nerves are a lot worse. It rains so much that the trees are dripping constantly. And when it really did rain, we would be rained out of our holes. We would have to bail them out to hide and sleep in. The mud was dreadful. The last place we were in, seeped water and our holes had water in them all the time. We had to sit on our helmets for 48 hours before they relieved us. It was time they relieved us as we had all reached the last point of endurance. I have never seen a bunch of men so completely worn out. Some of them cracked from battle fatigue, exposure and just nerves. I have never had battle fatigue, but now I realize I was as close to it as it is possible to escape it. The Germans had really been shelling us. They have sure got the big shells and they don't mind using them. They have plenty too.

I have to go up before the Battalion Commander and receive my Silver Star and also my promotion to a Sergeant. I suppose you can call me Sergeant from now on. I will mail you my medal and you can have it. I will give it to you for a Christmas present until I can pick up something else for you. Now, will try and answer your questions. I will let you know who sends me boxes. Received one from Mary Jane not so long ago. No, my Dear, that was not your darling that Addie Mae saw in Life. We did not see that show. No My Dears. We are not with Patton. We haven't been for some time. Also we are not in North France or Belgium. We were up on the border of Belgium last summer. I am glad we are not there now as it is snowing up there. It rains here and the rain in these mountains surely is bad. We have not been with Patton for some time.

When we were relieved last week, it was the best feeling I have had since coming overseas. To be out of that artillery continual firing is a relief. When we come down that hill and got in the jeeps, I surely was happy. They gave us a bath and all new clothes. I had a hair cut and a shave in town. I hadn't even washed in three weeks. I was just one big mud heap.

All my letters have been collecting for four weeks. I can't carry them all, so will burn most of them. I haven't received any Xmas boxes as yet.

We are getting good warm food here—not field rations. We have a kitchen and eat out of our mess kits. This is like Heaven in comparison to the fox holes at the front where we stood in the rain and the mud in the holes. We had no sleep and K rations were eaten cold.

I will try and write to you again tomorrow but we have so much to do and I have so many grand letters to answer, that I may not get around to it. Also, I want to go to town and really fill up on donuts and coffee. So maybe I can remember the taste when I get back at the front. Want to take in a show. They have two shows and there are lots of head-quarter-men over there.

Please copy and pass this on. Will give you a list. I never could write all this again. I am nearly giving out, after such a long newsy letter. I will write V mails and tell them my mother is sending a copy of my letter that tells things.

If you don't hear every few days, please don't worry. I will have work to do and donuts to eat. I will be here for a short time, and will be O. K. in this rest camp.

Guess I had better close for now so I can write some more letters. Saw going again tonight and I am going a soldier has. What a guy! Poor Glen, getting married! Guess he wants more points for discharge. Don't blame him after that life up there. Enough is enough of this soldiering. Wondering about Bill. So long.

STAFFORD HONORED

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBER STATION, England.—Staff Sergeant James L. Stafford, 23-year-old tail gunner, of Cisco, Texas, has won the air medal in recognition of "exceptionally meritorious achievement" while flying in a B-17 Flying Fortress in the air war in Europe. Sgt. Stafford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don McEachern of Cisco, attended Cisco high school and was an oil field worker before entering the army air forces. He flies with the 100th Bombardment Group, part of the Eighth Air Force's Third Bombardment Division.

THURSDAY BE TURKEY DAY HERE

With the Cisco-Breckenridge football game as the highlight of the day, Cisco will observe Thursday, November 30, as Thanksgiving. Traditionally the United States has observed the last Thursday in November for the holiday, but political interference with the time-honored custom some years ago still exerts a confusing influence.

The Texas legislature, for instance, passed a law declaring the Thursday of the fourth week the period to be observed. In those years when November contains five Thursdays this causes a mix-up and that is the case this year.

However, it is understood that Cisco merchants have decided to observe the same day that the public schools observe—which is Thursday, November 30.

The Cisco-Breckenridge game will be played at 2:30 in the afternoon at Chesley Field.

Midland Game Was Good One Tho Lobos Lost

Spotting the Midland football team a weight advantage of nine pounds per man and yielding it the advantage of playing on a muddy field, the Cisco Lobos Friday turned in what was undoubtedly their best game of the season, losing the game in the last few seconds of play by a score of 13 to 7. The non-conference game was played at Midland.

With Nobles and Penn outstanding in the improved line play of the Lobos, Midland was unable to gain through the Cisco secondary. Both of Midland touchdowns were made on end runs. The first was scored from the kick-off, Midland receiving and running the ball over before the Lobos settled down. From that moment until the last minutes of play Midland was unable to score.

Johnson's passing, despite the rain, was highly accurate. In the third period one of his long tosses found Collins, who raced across the Midland goal—55 yards from the scrimmage line—to score for Cisco. From that moment the score stood at 7-all. In the last minute and a half of play, Cisco took the ball against its own goal and kicked off badly in the wet. Midland was able to score several plays later on an end run.

The Lobos clicked with a precision that was sadly lacking in their games with Weatherford and Ranger, and gave promise of much improved play for their games with Eastland and Breckenridge here. Eastland comes to Cisco Friday, November 24 and Breckenridge will play here November 30. Both games will be called at 2:30 p. m.

GREAT TIMES, THESE

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18.—A spreading "sympathy" strike of telephone operators reached 20 Ohio cities Saturday and others, sheep-like, seemed ready to follow suit and add to the war-time confusion. Everywhere long distance calls were challenged and put through only if they were military. Plain citizens didn't have a chance.

THIRD ARMY HAS ENTERED METZ ITSELF FROM NORTH AND SOUTH; FINAL DEATH BLOW IS IMMINENT

PARIS, Nov. 18.—General Patton's not-to-be-denied Third Army, pacing five other Allied armies in a mighty "victory now" offensive along a 400-mile front, crashed into Germany near the Luxembourg border and launched a blazing climactic assault on the French fortress city of Metz early today.

Third army patrols entered Metz itself from both north and south, feeling out the garrison strength preparatory to the final onslaught, and a front dispatch said it "appears certain that Metz will be unable to stand much longer against the constant pressure."

The American First and Ninth armies, already inside Germany on a 20-mile front on both sides of Aachen, pounded eastward across the Cologne plain within 28 miles of the Rhine river against stiffening enemy resistance.

At the southern end of the front, the French First army captured the enemy stronghold of Montebellard and plunged into the historic Belfort Gap within 25 miles of the Rhine and Bavaria.

British Second army forces, holding down the northern sector, cleared the west bank of the Maas river before Roermond in south-east Holland and carved out two bridgeheads across the Derivation or Zig Canal to raise a new threat to Venlo, 14 miles northeast of Roermond.

Patton's vanguards pushed across the border into Germany's Saar Basin in the vicinity of Perl, one mile inside the Reich near the junction of the French, Luxembourg and German borders.

Front dispatches did not make it clear immediately whether the Third army yet had crossed the frontier in strength. However, strong forces of both tanks and infantry were within a few miles of Germany all along a 12-mile front south of Perl yesterday.

Perl lies eight miles northeast of Koenigsmaacher, where the Third army crossed the Moselle for a drive into the Saar earlier this week, and 80 to 85 miles south of the American First army front inside Germany near Aachen.

Merschweiler, a mile south of the border, fell to the Americans yesterday.

Robert Richards, U. P. correspondent, reported from the front that Patton's forces launched a "great climactic assault" to capture Metz by storm early this morning. During the night, he said, patrols of the 95th and 5th divisions had penetrated the city's inner defense ring from the north and south.

A bloody fight appeared in prospect for the great French fortress which never in its centuries-old history has fallen in battle. The Third army already had thrown a ring of steel around the three sides of the city and reduced the escape corridor on the east to five miles of bullet, bomb and shell-swept terrain, however.

The final assault followed bitter fighting late yesterday on a small airfield southwest of Fort Privat, a mile south of Metz, last night. Fort Gambetta, a mile and half north of Metz, was surrounded.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First army doughboys already were within 28 miles of Cologne and only six miles from the bomb-wrecked communications center of Duren after capturing Gressenich, 10 miles east of Aachen.

Some of the fiercest fighting raged in the tangled Hurtgen Forest southeast of Aachen.

during the night on the front extending north of Gressenich to Gellenkirchen, but the attack was getting under way again with clearing skies this morning.

Supreme Headquarters reported the American Seventh and French First armies hammered out new gains at many points along a 100-mile front between the Swiss border and Blamont at the southern end of the front.

Advancing three miles on a 13-mile front, Maj. Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny's French forces captured Montclair and entered the Belfort Gap, historic passage to Bavaria, on a broad front. The advance carried to within five miles of Belfort itself and 25 miles of both Mulhouse and the Rhine river.

The Germans continued to apply the torch to French towns and villages as they fell back deeper into the Vosges. Among those fired yesterday was Ste. Marguerite, a southern suburb of St. Die.

George G. Goss Harvested 5,600 Pounds of Pecans

George G. Goss, who lives on route two, four and a half miles south of Rising Star, was a welcome caller at the Daily Press office Saturday morning. Mr. Goss is well known as an outstanding farmer and devotes much of his time to the cultivation of select pecans and other fruits.

He has 449 bearing pecan trees of the Burkett variety and this year he harvested therefrom 5,600 pounds of choice pecans. He personally planted the seed for these trees in 1921, budded them in 1924 and seldom fails to gather a good crop of the fruit.

In this connection the visitor stated "there are thousands of acres of land in Eastland and north Brown counties as well as adapted to the cultivation of pecans as any of my land."

Mr. Goss finds a ready market for his pecans at 40 cents a pound and fills orders for a large number of buyers in other states. Some of his shipments this year are as follows:

Marathon, N. Y.: 120 pounds.
Chester, N. Y.: 340 pounds.
Denver, Colo.: 114 pounds to the Woolworth office force.

In addition to his pecan orchard, Mr. Goss has 20 acres in peach trees.

WHAT A SANTA CLAUS!

Fifty million packages are on the way to American troops overseas. If there appears to be an elfpower shortage anywhere around, it can probably be laid to that great employer of elf labor, Santa Claus. Just think how many smart and swiftly working little people he must have kept busy to get those fifty million packages off.

It's only fair, of course, to give due credit to the friends and relatives at home, the postal employees and the shipping folks at the docks and on the seas for helping out. Santa Claus has used dog teams in the Arctic, camels in Africa, jeeps, trucks and special parachutes to get the Christmas goodies delivered, not to mention mere common trains and ships.

If the rest of us go a little slim on our Christmas gifts this year, what of it? The men who are fighting for us are getting theirs.

COPETTES

Los Angeles is employing 100 women in the police department to do desk work and make investigations, relieving the men on the force for active duty. This is a new venture. Policewomen have long been known, and have been useful in cases involving women and children. Their operations, however, have been limited. Having women do the work at the stations is a sensible idea which might well have been adopted long ago.

Undoubtedly in Los Angeles and elsewhere there will be cracks about fat cops whose figures will benefit by transfer from desks to active beats. These quips are out-of-date. In most cities the average policeman is young, active and intelligent. It may henceforth be even easier to get this type, now that women are joining the force.

OTHER EDITORS

Cleanup Demanded Ft. Worth Star-Telegram: The attorney general's ruling that the Senate's Educational Investigating Committee has full authority to inquire into the administrative controversy at the University of Texas was logical and proper, and should be gratifying to the people of Texas who are interested in seeing the fog which shrouds this matter being dispelled.

The committee, under the chairmanship of Senator Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo, had assembled in Austin to begin its work when its authority was questioned by Senator Houghton Brownlee of Austin. Lieutenant Governor Smith, while professing to have no objection to an investigation of the university, sided with Brownlee. Senator Metcalfe quite properly delayed the investigation until a ruling could be obtained from the attorney general. The Metcalfe committee was created primarily to investigate the purchase and sale of free textbooks but a clause in the treating resolution also gives the group authority to inquire into "such other matters affecting the schools of Texas as it sees fit." How anyone could question the inclusion of the university in that language is difficult to understand. The opinion written by Assistant Attorney General Ocie Speer leaves no doubt about it.

Not only is the university one of the "schools of Texas," but as Mr. Speer stated, it is the highest, greatest and in many respects the most important institution of the many great schools of Texas. It is to the schools of Texas what the constitution is to the acts of the Legislature—the supreme component part. Whatever affects the University of Texas affects in some degree every lesser state institution and public free school in the state.

A more accurate appraisal of the position of the university of our educational system could hardly be written. And the very fact that it occupies this position accounts for the interest of the people in the upheaval at the school.

A thorough legislative investigation of the affair is very much in order, and it is to be hoped that the Metcalfe committee goes to the bottom of the whole deplorable situation. The people have a right to know what the tumult and shouting is all about.

Pending the outcome of the probe, the Board of Regents would do well to make no effort to find a successor for Rainey. It is not likely that any man of the caliber required for this position would accept the place until the present trouble is cleared up, and rumors of this and that man being considered for the post serve only to divert attention from the real issues.

LOOKING AHEAD BY GEORGE S. BENSON President, Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas

SEIZURE

Wars result from thirst for power. Men try to gain sway over other men. Progressively they seek to widen their dominion as strength permits. They take resources by violence so they can hold what authority they may have obtained without force. The rapid rise of Adolf and Benito from obscure political bosses to dictatorship illustrates how totalitarianism grows.

Tyrants rise to power by dominating other men. At first the process is peaceful. Always there is a preliminary period of building up influence without the use of strong-arm tactics. Those are the days when, with reasonable foresight, violence can be forestalled. World peace, when it comes, could be preserved by keeping too much power out of the hands of too few men; simple but hard to do.

We Build Wrong

Thirst for power is not confined to the eastern hemisphere; people in America have it. All of us know such men personally. The United States' tower of centralized government built in late years is following a well known but dangerous pattern. I do not charge that the structure was be-

PALACE NOW SHOWING

HIS GREATEST ROLE!

Spencer Tracy

The Picture of the Year!

Not only is the university one of the "schools of Texas," but as Mr. Speer stated, it is the highest, greatest and in many respects the most important institution of the many great schools of Texas. It is to the schools of Texas what the constitution is to the acts of gun with a fixed aim to create a dictatorship but we are erecting what dictators use for climbing to absolute monarchy.

Not to care who else gets hurt, so long as "Big I" gets more and more power, is the hall-mark of the House of Tyranny. Somebody wants to boss the public schools and hatches a plan to put all teachers on one payroll for all or a part of their incomes, thus to grab their allegiance. It would ruin the schools. Parents would have no voice in their children's education... one-man rule.

Big Medicine Man

Somebody else covets a private domain of doctors and hospitals, and promptly paints a pretty picture of so-called socialized medicine. It would restrict the surgeon's knife to the precision of a drill-press. Picture a medical association affiliated with the international union of barbers and bartenders: daily pay-scale, 40-hour week, time-and-a-half on Sunday's and Dubs' birthday.

Doctors are men and those with ambition would surely quit the profession. Theorists, paper-work doctors and nurses with hook-worm would remain for the short hours and sure pay. The medical profession would be a joke; a grim joke. Without ambition, without zeal for service to humanity, there would be no clinics like Mayo and Johns Hopkins, of which we will need so many, and soon.

A Lethal Atmosphere

Imagine a ruptured appendix in your house with your trusted surgeon deer hunting, off duty until tomorrow. Imagine a union nurse walking out on a pneumonia crisis while you wait for Miss No. 72 of the graveyard shift to saunter in and take over. Think of 299,000 new doctors, likely required by the shortened hours, educated at $1,500 a year from taxes, 300 million dollars the first.

Politicians maybe can console themselves that everybody has to die sooner or later anyhow. Socialized medicine, like military aggression, is a tragic quest for dominion. Only congress has power to protect American institutions from pillage.

It is my prayer that America may never sinkle from resentment enough to foment a Black Shirt rally or a Beer Hall putsch. Wars result from thirst for power.

WILLING WORKERS HONORED MRS. SANDERS

Mrs. A. J. Sanders was the surprised honoree when members of the Willing Workers class of the First Christian church met in the church basement Thursday evening for a party.

When the honoree arrived she thought men of the church and their wives were holding a business session but, as she entered the dimly lit room, the lights came on and a chorus of voices sang "Happy Birthday to You." The room was gaily decorated with potted plants and autumn cut flowers. A pretty three-tier birthday cake topped with lighted candles centered the lace covered serving table. The honoree blew out the candles and the cake was cut and served to guests by Miss Ethel Mae Wilson. Mrs. E. A. Garverick poured coffee from a silver service.

Following the serving a playlet was given directed by Mrs. E. T. Thomas, author of the play, which depicted events in the life of the honoree. Appropriate music for each scene was played by Mrs. Troy Powell. The playlet was climaxed with an act in which Mr. Sanders and the children had parts, causing much merriment.

A lovely array of birthday gifts was presented Mrs. Sanders by Mrs. J. F. Benedict, class teacher. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sanders and daughters Dorothy Ann and Mary Ellen, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Powell, Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Brunkenhoefer and son Irvin Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Shockley and sons Fred David and Lonnie Gene, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Thomas, Mesdames Blake Stephenson, Ray G. Benedict, Misses Ethel Mae Wilson, Ella Gwen Waddell, Patty Nell Haynie, Margaret Ann Cousins and Harvey Haynie and an out-of-town guest Mrs. F. L. Brown of Denton. Those sending gifts were Mrs. Joe Tullos, Mrs. Wm. Hickey, Mrs. C. L. Martin and Mrs. Bernice Steinman.

Minutes were read by Mrs. Ernest Schaefer and roll call response was a suggestion for making a Christmas gift. Mrs. W. C. Clements made report of the council meeting of home demonstration clubs which met in Eastland. Plans were completed for making a display in a window on Main street for the weekend. There was discussion of the annual Christmas party, the date of which will be announced later.

THANKSGIVING AROUND THE CORNER

With bountiful crops and jobs for all who are able to work, there should be much cause for thanksgiving. Victory seems to be crowning the efforts of our soldiers in the various fields of battle. This should most certainly be a cause for much rejoicing in America and in the conquered states of Europe where they are now, or soon will be, released from their bondage.

But there will be little thanksgiving in America as long as the boys of these fathers and mothers are fighting in battle fields of far-flung sectors. Few fathers and mothers will be able to really enjoy a thanksgiving day with those empty chairs at tables where their happy voices once made music to the ears of other members of the family.

Yes, that is what most parents are praying for just now. They are hoping those sons will be able to do the job soon and be on their way back home by Christmas. Until they are once more safe at the fireside, thanksgiving will be but an empty name.
