Mrs. Irby And 45 Ciscoans At Library Staff tending Passion Rotary Guests Play At Abilene

Mrs. Loretta Irby and her library staff featured the program of the Rotary club Thursday, before a group of 45 Ciscoans, presented by W. H. LaRoque. The program was held at the Abilene library and was attended by 80 persons. Mrs. Irby announced that eight members were absent, with two women to have already made up attendance, and that while the club was still in the upper part of the month, it had dropped to eighth place on the top. Butler, chamber of commerce secretary, announced that 125 more women were needed at the glove factory.

OPA Promises More Cuts In Clothing Costs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—OPA today promised more cuts in the price of clothing and more low-priced garments on dealers' shelves.

The new twin assault on inflated clothing prices will be followed, Price Administrator Bowles said, by clamping down on the price ceilings of garment makers and tightening price rules governing retail stores.

As the whole program takes effect, "any increases in the cost-of-living index in the coming months will stop completely," Bowles predicted.

JESTER SEES THREAT

HOUSTON, Nov. 24.—The Anglo-American oil agreement, if ratified by the Senate, will take control of the Texas oil industry out of the hands of the state and place it in the hands of an international commission dominated by foreign powers, Beauford Jester, Texas Railroad Commission chairman, told approximately 500 persons at a luncheon club meeting here.

CHILDRESS FIRES

CHILDRESS, Nov. 24.—Two fires within a 24-hour period in Childress caused damage estimated at $174,000. Fires of undetermined origin early today destroyed part of the Childress Junior high school building. Damage was estimated unofficially at $75,000. Canada Ferninst Oversea Drafting Of Its Citizens

OTTAWA, Canada, Nov. 24.—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King told a troubled Canada yesterday that conscription for overseas duty would risk widespread national dissension and possibly weaken Canadian unity and strength for generations to come. Addressing a tense house of commons at the opening of a special session called to debate the conscription issue, which has split the country and already resulted in one resignation from the cabinet, King declared that any attempt to conscript men for overseas duty would almost inevitably result in a general election which would harm the war effort.

Should End Lend-Lease With War FD Told Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—President Roosevelt told congress today that lend-lease and reverse lend-lease "should end with the war."

The statement appeared to be a pointed reply to suggestions that some sort of lend-lease assistance should be continued to Britain and possibly other Allied nations even after both the European and Pacific war have ended.

Mr. Roosevelt had previously called for continuation of lend-lease as long as Japan remains in the war.

"Lend-lease and reverse lend-lease are a system of combined war supply," the chief executive said. "They should end with the war. But the United Nations partnership must go on and must grow stronger."

This policy declaration wound up a letter by which the president transmitted to congress a detailed report of reverse lend-lease from Britain. This showed that the United Kingdom had supplied up to June 30 this year, munitions and other goods and services valued at $2,437,082,000 and that Australia, New Zealand and India furnished $911,065,000—a grand total of $3,348,127,000.

The United States has furnished to the United Kingdom for the same period, ending June 30, a total of $9,321,549,000 of lend-lease and to all the Allies a total of $28,270,351,000 worth. But Mr. Roosevelt urged that no comparisons be made on a dollar basis. "We are not loaning money under lend-lease," he said. "We are not receiving payment under reverse lend-lease x x x"

"Neither the monetary totals of the lend-lease aid we supply, nor the totals of the reverse lend-lease aid we receive are measures of the aid we have given or received in this war. That could be measured only in terms of the total contributions toward winning victory of each of the United Nations."

"There are no statistical or monetary measurements for the value of courage, skill and sacrifice in the face of death and destruction wrought by our common enemies."

The chief executive summed up his estimate of the value of Britain's reverse lend-lease contributions by saying that without it "we would surely have been forced to delay the invasion of France for many months."

FRISCO, Nov. 24.—Ten bulls made an average of $1,692 and a top of $16,000 and the total 55 cattle sent through the auction ring Thursday in the Phillips Hereford Ranch and Kingford Farm sale made an average of $720—the highest average this week in the series of four Hereford auctions held in this area.

HUGE BUILDING PROGRAM

FT. WORTH, Nov. 24.—Regents of the seven Texas state teachers colleges approved today a proposed $14,000,000 building program intended to meet needs of the schools over the next six years. The regents acted on a consolidated report presented by President W. J. McConnell of North Texas State Teachers College at Denton, who is retiring president of the Teachers College Presidents' Council. The report recommended expenditure of $6,800,000 for erection of instructional buildings at the schools; $4,240,000 for living quarters consisting of dormitories, co-operative homes, and, in one or two cases, presidents' homes; $2,100,000 in miscellaneous construction, and $572,000 for rehabilitation of present buildings.

NIPS SAY 70 GIANT BOMBERS FROM SAIPAN ATTACKED CAPITAL IN WAVES FOR 2 HOURS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Scores of Superforts bombed Tokyo today in the first land-based air raid on the keystone of Japan's empire, overshadowing American capture of Limon in the Philippines and naval bombardment of enemy fortifications in the Kuriles within 600 miles of the home islands of Nippon.

The B29s struck at midday from bases on Saipan in the Marianas islands. Tokyo said 70 of the giant bombers attacked in waves from great heights and were over the capital for two hours. The Japanese insisted little damage was done and claimed three B29s were shot down, but admitted some important targets were hit.

U. S. air commanders said it was the opening blow in a relentless Superfort bombardment of every corner of Japan which will be developed from bases in China, the Marianas and Alaska and will continue until American assault forces invade Nippon from the sea and air.

American announcements also confirmed previous Tokyo radio reports of B29 raids and frequent reconnaissance flights over industrial Tokyo and environs. The raid was made by the 21st bomber command a new unit of the 20th air force.

Tokyo has long been preparing for this blow the first strike against the capital since Lieut. Gen. James Doolittle's carrier-borne raid in 1942 but all of her radio stations were apparently broadcasting as usual when the Superforts came over.

Here is what ranking U. S. air officers of the 20th air force had to say about the raid:

Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the 20th:—

Tokyo's war industries have been badly hurt. x x x

"The battle for Japan has been joined. The systematic demolition of Japan's war production, begun six months ago from China bases, henceforth will be carried out with decisive vigor, softening up the Japanese heart for the ultimate invasion by combined United Nations land sea and air forces."

Lt. Gen. Millard Harmon, deputy commander:

"No part of the homeland of Japan is now safe from land-based air attacks. x x x

"The time is not far now when Japan will be subjected to the combined efforts of air units based from Alaska through the Philippines and over into China—a ring of air effort focused on the imperial empire."

Brig. Gen. Haywood Hansell, Jr., of San Antonio, Tex., commander of the 21st bomber command:

"These raids should be regarded as in the experimental stage for a matter of months. Let none get the impression these initial raids mean the end of Tokyo or anything like it."

The raiders, led by youthful Brig. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell of Jamaica, N. Y., were carefully briefed and cautioned to respect the imperial palace and other enemy shrines.

JAP LINE CRACKED

M'ARTHUR HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 24.—Mud-covered American infantrymen lunged southward from Limon today after capturing that bastion of the Japanese Yamashita line in the climax to the longest and bitterest fighting of the entire Leyte island campaign.

The Japanese First division has been practically destroyed Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in announcing that the Yankee 32nd had smashed into and through Limon yesterday after a typhoon-slowed battle that had remained fairly static for two weeks.

Eastern country lies ahead, but it was emphasized that this does not mean the heavy fighting is over. The terrain is such that the Japanese will be able to make defensive stands and force the battle-worn American doughboys to dig them out of machinegun nests and pillboxes.

General MacArthur said the American victory at Limon may result in the rolling up of the entire Yamashita line upon which the enemy depends in his fight to hold Leyte island.

The report said the Americans had advanced 1,000 yards south of Limon and had reached the nearby Leyte river.

It fell to units under Col. John A. Hettlinger, Colorado Springs, Colo., to break down the last Japanese resistance in the battle for the mountainous defile leading into the Ormoc corridor.

CIO Is On Record For Hard Peace For the Germans

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The CIO temporarily sidetracked its planned protest against the wage freeze and the War Labor Board, and instead stood on record today as favoring a hard peace for Germany.

In a resolution asking labor representation at the peace table, the huge labor organization called for "absolute destruction of Hitlerite Germany and the Japanese militarists."

"There can and must not be any negotiated or soft peace," the resolution adopted by the 600 delegates to the annual convention said. "The murders of Marianeck concentration camp must not be permitted to escape retribution."

"The full and stern punishment of war criminals must be assured. The German people must be taught that they shall atone for the crimes and horror which they have visited upon the earth."

"The German industrialists and junkers shall not receive any amnesty through their business and social contacts in the victorious nations to renew their drive for a world conquest in the future."

FT. WORTH, Nov. 24.—Isadore Straus Lodge of B'nai B'rith last night paid tribute to the organization's oldest member, L. F. Shambulin, in recognition of his work for the B'nai B'rith of Texas.

Principal speaker for the meeting was Rabbi Philip Graubart of Congregation Ahavath Shalom, who praised Shambulin as a pioneer of Jewish activities in Fort Worth and Texas and a civic leader with many accomplishments to his credit.

PRICE CONTROL

There is increasing talk about an upward revision of the "little steel formula" for steady prices. That formula was adopted in January, 1941, and is generally regarded as having worked well. It has operated by the simple process of not permitting prices above those in effect at the time stated.

Industrial highbrows at Washington are generally opposed to abolishing or relaxing the plan, but might give way. The idea would be to "give labor a better break" by a change newly equalizing the cost of living. Advocates explain it as a wage policy "high enough to buy the products of our expanded and reconverted industries."

To many people, however, it suggests the old, familiar procedure of shunning up the economic ladder, with a chance of not stopping until the top rungs are lost in the economic clouds. It is easy to start any upward spiral of wages and prices, but hard to stop. And the main burden of such rises usually falls upon people living on fixed incomes, including pensioners.

The average American probably wants to "let well enough alone," keeping prices as steady as possible. With our rapidly mounting public war debt, that is very important.

CONQUERED PLAGUE

American soldiers who go to out-of-the-way parts of the world sometimes encounter out-of-the-way diseases. One such is malaria, which some have picked up in the Pacific, but which our medical men know how to meet. Quinine will do the trick; therefore so much quinine has been reserved for our armed forces that physicians find it hard to get for its occasional use here.

Except in a few restricted areas the need for quinine is slight in most of the United States. If our ancestors returned to earth, our mastery of malaria would not be the least of their surprises. Known as "ague" or "chills and fever," this disease harassed thousands, especially in badly drained regions. Dickens painted a gruesome picture, yet one not greatly overdrawn, of the haggard sufferers whom his heroes found in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. Those days are gone.

They will not be brought back, either, by returning soldiers. They can't bring malaria back unless they bring the mosquitoes with them.

AHAB AND NABOTH

The Germans, with their inferiority complex, gripped about their imaginary wrongs until the wrongs seemed real. Then they started out to revenge themselves against their fancied enemies.

That was half the story of these tragic times. The other half was their coveting of the wealth of sister nations that had prospered by working hard and minding their own business. The Nazis persuaded themselves that they had a right to dispossess their neighbors, because of their own superior merits.

Americans smile grimly at such facts, wondering at the combination of wickedness and childishness that will produce such a mentality. Yet how many individuals may be found in other nations, including our own, who in their small way covet their neighbors' land, as did the Scriptural Ahab with Naboth's vineyard!

The Military View

By Robert Quillen: The late great General McNair, described by General Marshall as "the brains of the army," made a speech on Armistice Day two years ago in which he revealed the hard truth.

"Our soldiers," he said, "must have the fighting spirit. If you call that hating our enemies, then we must hate with every fibre of our being. We must lust for battle; our object in life must be to kill; we must scheme and plan night and day to kill."

"There need be no pangs of conscience for our enemies have lighted the way to faster, surer and crueller killing. Since killing is the object of our efforts, the sooner we get in the killing mood, the better and more skillful we shall be when the real test comes."

It is the aboves purpose of the army to make killers of all of you."

The speech was made just before our invasion of North Africa, when the war still seemed unreal to many of our people, and the general received a flood of protesting letters.

Their meaning could have been boiled down to this: "I didn't raise my boy to be a killer. He has always been kind and good. I know he must be a soldier during the war and use a gun, but why must he be taught to hate?"

The answer is that you can't kill a man you love, or one who seems a nice fellow. You hesitate, and in that moment of decision he has a bayonet in your abdomen, for he is a killer, trained to take merciless advantage of every weakness.

Our boys are taught to hate and to be as cunning and cruel as predatory animals, because it greatly increases their chance of survival. Replacements, thrown into the western front with only nine months of training, often fell or came back as casualties within twenty-four hours. To cut these losses, new men are now held back of the front for additional training — to learn the Hun's newest battle tricks, and learn to hate the killers they must kill.

Your boy must be as savage as a hungry wolf that pursues its prey regardless of heat or cold, soaking rain or blinding snow; making use of every cover; using every crafty trick, with merciless nastiness. Only this can he survive.

Will it harden and brutalize him? Was your grandfather brutalized by his years of bloody conflict in the Civil War? Do the middle-aged veterans who fought the last war behave like brutes? Gentlemen who do their duty, however horrible it may be, are gentlemen still when the chore is finished.—(Publishers Syndicate)

PUBLIC OPINION

Time to Speak Up

Editor Daily Press: There appears to be a concerted effort on the part of the military-minded and some politicians of this country to rush through congress a law whereby all young men of America would be forced to undergo a year's army training in times of peace. In fact, unless the sober-minded, Christian people of this free land quickly take steps to counteract this un-American trend, the foreign-born idea will be fastened upon us before we realize what is happening.

Few people, it seems, stop to think what this would mean to all the 18-year-old boys of the future, with the idea eventually being extended to take in our young women.

Out of high school and into the army in times of peace! That's the picture and that is exactly why most of our forefathers left their native lands at the first opportunity and came to America. Better write your congressman and senator and tell them what you think about it before it is too late. Winning the war abroad while shacking our young men and young women at home is a far cry from the standpoint of American freedom of action.

This country can provide a peace-time army as great as it is able to finance by calling for volunteers after fixing wage and educational standards of the volunteer soldier where they should be. It's time for citizens to speak up. NATIVE TEXAN.
