Cisco High Coronation Classic Up to Standard

The crowning of Marion Paschall as King Lobo XIII and Dorothy Nell Pugh as his queen climaxed weeks of suspense and preparation to make the traditional coronation ceremony of the high school Friday night an outstanding one, surpassed by few of these events in years past.

Lovely costumes by the ladies in attendance, with their royal escorts composed of couples sent from schools of the city and neighboring high schools, made a re-naissance to make the heart of any monarch glad. The staging was unusually attractive and performance of the various personnels showed much training by directors of the pageant.

The auditorium and balcony were well filled and it is estimated about 750 were in attendance. Sharp attention was given every feature of the program of musical and artistic numbers in addition to the coronation procession.

Principal O. L. Stamey was the prime minister and crowned King Lobo, who in turn placed the crown upon his queen, while Jay Warren as Court Jester entertained with humorous antics. Barbara Grist played the processional and recessional. Trumpeters who heralded all the important events were Bobby Green and Harry Grants. Crown bearers were Robert Fletcher and Dot Crofts. While pages were Jeanene Parkinson and Ella Gwen Waddell.

The classic event was sponsored by the Junior class and directed by Miss Doris Joe Pyle and Mrs. O. O. Odom. Heralds were Doris Hall and Dorothy Grantz.

Music features of the program were: The Elves' Dance (Jenkinson), Strippy Cluck, accompanist Barbara Grist.

Lee Owen, Esteemed Ciscoan Is Dead at 83

Lee Owen, influential and highly respected citizen of Cisco for more than 40 years, died at his home on west Fifth street at 5:40 o'clock Saturday morning. He had been ill for about ten years, but was in complete possession of his mental faculties until the end.

Mr. Owen was born in Dresden, Tenn., December 31, 1861, hence was 83 years of age his last birthday. He came to Cisco on a visit

LEE OWEN.

In December, 1903, and was so impressed with the Cisco Country that he decided to locate here. He first entered the drug business with Howard D'Spain and maintained that connection until 1907, when he went into the insurance business. A short time later he bought a hall interest in the local telephone company, but retained his insurance connections. Two years later he sold his telephone interests and from that time on devoted full time to real estate and insurance. He was a member of the Masonic lodge and a leader in the Methodist church, being a trustee of Cisco First Methodist church at the time of his death.

Mr. Owen was twice married—first to Miss Carrie Braswell of Dresden, Tenn., who died in 1922. Two children of that union died in infancy. In 1926 he was married to Miss Essie Bardwell of Ft. Worth, who survives him. Other immediate survivors are a niece, Mrs. C. Scarborough, and a nephew, B. B. Owen, both of Dallas.

The funeral will be held at First Methodist church at 4 o'clock this afternoon, with burial in Oakwood cemetery. Rev. W. A. Flynn will conduct the church services and Cisco Masonic lodge will be in charge at the grave. Green funeral home prepared the body. R. E. Grantham, worshipful master of Cisco Masonic lodge, requests that all members meet at Masonic hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Pallbearers at the church will be J. T. Anderson, W. J. Foxworth, O. Gustafson, Tom Stark, F. E. Clark, J. D. Lauderdale.

Relatives of the family from out of town include Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Odom and two children from Fort Worth.

COMING TO TEXAS.

TRENTON, N. J., March 17. — The Luscombe Airplane Corp., maker of all-metal light planes, has announced the purchase of 500 acres of level farmland seven miles from Dallas, Texas, for the construction of a modern aircraft factory and development of a complete new airport. The site, purchased for $100,000, is large enough for the installation of mile-long runways accommodating large as well as small types of aircraft. The Civil Aeronautics Adm. has approved development of the tract as an airport facility.

WARTIME SHAMROCK—Symbol of St. Patrick is used to prompt women to join service of Uncle Sam in Philadelphia WAC recruiting drive. Holding large shamrock are WAC medical technician Jean Kraft, Phila.; Sgt. Mabel O'Quinn, Houston, Tex.; and Col. Agnes O'Grady, Newton, Mass.

Marines Took Island of Iwo At High Cost

GUAM, March 17.—Forty-five per cent of the Marines who conquered Iwo were killed or wounded in the 26-day campaign, casualty figures in the bloodiest battle of the Pacific war indicated today. Pacific fleet headquarters said casualties totaled 19,938 — 766 a day, or one every two minutes—among three Marine divisions, normally about 45,000 men. The toll comprised 4189 dead, 15,308 wounded and 441 missing in action, against an estimated 21,000 Japanese killed.

Still more Marines and Japanese yet may die. The last organized enemy resistance was smashed at 6 p. m. yesterday, but scattered, disorganized Japanese still remained to snipe and kill from caves. All officers admitted the cost was high, but Admiral Nimitz said the conquest of the eight-square-mile island 750 miles south of Tokyo, brought the war "much closer to its inevitable end." "The United States Marines, by their individual and collective courage, have conquered a base which is as necessary to us in our continuing forward movement toward victory as it was vital to the enemy in staying off ultimate defeat," Nimitz said in a communique. "By their victory, the Third, Fourth and Fifth Marine Divisions and other units of the Fifth Amphibious Corps have made an accounting to the country which only history will be able to value fully. Both Iwo airfields will be used to refuel Superfortresses and perhaps for fighters to escort the giant raiders on their forays against the Japanese homeland. A third, uncompleted airfield also was captured.

RED INFANTRY BUSY.

MOSCOW, March 17. — Tanks and infantry of the 1st White Russian Army thrust forward again Saturday against the reduced enemy bridgehead at Stettin from within 4 1-2 miles of that vital northern gateway to Berlin. Simultaneously, the Russians were reported bringing up pontoon equipment along a three-mile stretch of the Oder river in the vicinity of captured Griefhagen, less than 11 miles south of Stettin.

Circus at High School is Under Auspices of PTA

Clark Bros. indoor circus, which may be seen at high school auditorium — Monday night at 8, Tuesday matinee at 3:15 p. m. and Tuesday night at 8—will be sponsored by west ward PTA, says Mrs. Sutton Crofts, publicity chairman.

The local organization will receive half of all monies received after expenses have been deducted. All funds thus acquired by the PTA are used to defray cost of maintaining a telephone at west ward building, first aid supplies, room prizes for PTA attendance and upkeep of play grounds equipment. The yearly budget for these and similar purposes is not inconsiderable, but attendance of 400 adults at the three shows will cover this year's budget, Mrs. Crofts stated.

The circus has appeared in many Texas cities and has always been well received, said the chairman, the entertainment being made up of specialties pleasing to both children and grownups—such as trapeze artists, contortionists, acrobats, trained ponies and dogs and trick bicycle riding. Adult tickets, 75 cents. Children, 40 cents at night and 30 cents at matinee.

10 Evangelists Be Heard Here Starting Monday

G. S. Westbrook, Church of Christ pastor, announces a series of special lectures at the local church, with ten visiting evangelists bringing the messages. It will be a five-night program, beginning Monday night at 8 o'clock.

There will be two thirty-minute addresses each night, says Mr. Westbrook, and "The Church" will be the general theme, each speaker talking on some phase of the church or its work.

"We think this will be an unusual program for a church of this size," the pastor said, "and we feel we are fortunate in being able to arrange for such a meeting. We want the public to feel welcome to attend and take advantage of this opportunity to hear the visiting evangelists."

The speakers, in the order in which they will be heard, are: Hershel Dyer, Crosbyton; S. A. Ribble, Clyde; Jack W. King, Brownwood; Wilburn C. Hill, Brownwood; Ted Bollier, Abilene; A. W. Burks, Rising Star; Cecil N. Wright, Abilene; Earl Smith, Abilene; H. D. McCollum, Breckenridge; F. B. Shepherd, Sweetwater.

WHEN THE EUROPEAN WAR ENDS

WASHINGTON, March 17. — When the European war is over, here's what will happen to the approximately 3,250,000 men in our armies there—

Nearly half a million will be kept there to police the territory assigned to the United States, Southern Germany. A few thousand will be sent direct to the Pacific war. These will be airport engineers, technicians of various types, some hospital units, others whose skill are urgently needed there. The rest of them will return to the states for furloughs (30-day furloughs is the best guess). Then their units will be re-grouped, their equipment repaired, their clothing changed and restored. After that they will be sent to the Pacific war.

Any estimate of the number of men to be discharged at the end of the European war is a guess now, but best estimate seems to be about 5 to 10 per cent. Estimates that it will be as high as 40 per cent are "way off base."

Bear in mind that the percentage to be discharged must be applied equally to those in the Pacific war. The discharge system will be on a point rating basis, called the "adjusted service rating card." These four factors will be scored on that card: Number of months in the army; number of months overseas; credits for decorations; number of dependents. Value of those points has not yet been announced. Note that it is worked on an individual basis, not by units as in last war. No such luck for sailors. The Navy expects to discharge none.

To transport the men in the European theater to United States will take approximately one year. That estimate is based on the speed at which we sent 'em over to Europe. Ordinary transport carries only a few hundred men. We have only a few big ones which can carry several thousands.

West Coast ports will not be expanded to handle traffic for the Orient. Ports there are already big enough to handle anything Army Service Forces can send. Bottleneck is the railroads over the Rockies. They can't handle the volume necessary. So many men will sail for the Pacific war from eastern ports. Naturally Army will route west all the railroads can handle.

Problems of moving European armies to the Pacific will be greatest traffic job in world's history. While it is in progress new staging areas will be built, camps here will be reopened and stocked with equipment so men can be re-trained for Pacific fighting, while slow-moving items are being shifted.

Army knows it also will have biggest headache in its history when men from European theater are moved to their second war. Letters already are pouring in—"my boy has served his time; let someone else go." But Japan must be licked and only way to do it is to send seasoned men there.

Army's point system for earned discharges will not be followed exactly. There'll always be shortage of some skilled types and in those cases, "military necessity" will determine which ones must stay.

BERLIN SAYS THIRD ARMY VANGUARD HAS ALSO REACHED BAD KREUZNACH; SITUATION ACUTE

PARIS, March 17.—A lightning column of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army raced another 15 miles up the Rhine Valley far above Coblenz today, outflanking and almost blocking up some 100,000 German troops in the Saarland.

Third Army forces stormed into the outskirts of Coblenz, Headquarters of the American Army of Occupation after the first World War, and plunged multiple spearheads into the gashed German flank.

Berlin said Patton's vanguard had reached "Bad Kreuznach, 37 miles south of Coblenz, and the situation was acute."

Maj. Gen. Gaffey's rampaging Fourth Armored Division paced the Third Army flanking drive into the Saar-Palatinate corner of Germany, with a spurt from Simmern to the Nahe Valley half way from Coblenz to Ludwigshafen.

Some 45 miles south of the Nahe river, Lt. Gen. Patch's U. S. Seventh Army was swarming northward on a 50-mile front after tearing out the anchor of the last German salient in France and striking into the outer defenses of the Siegfried Line.

On Patton's other flank, Lt. Gen. Hodges' Remagen bridgehead forces cleaned up the villages of Bremschied, Reifert, Hegg and Hahnen on the rim of their 13 by 7 mile pocket. They linked their salients across the Ruhr-Rhine super-highway near Hoven, forming a solid front of a mile or so on the road.

A dispatch from Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley's 12th Army Group headquarters said Gaffey's thrust 15 miles southwest from Simmern "virtually doomed the withdrawal of the German armies committed to the south and west, setting the stage for an all-out decisive battle for the area."

Security restrictions cloaked the precise course of the Fourth Armored advance. But the censor permitted the use of the 15-mile figure in describing the advance southward from the Simmern area.

Bad Kreuznach, which the Germans said the Americans had reached, is 17 miles southeast of Simmern. The town is on the Nahe, eight miles south of Bin-gen-on-the-Rhine and 40 miles west of Frankfurt.

The thrust carried Gaffey's spearhead out of the fertile Moselle valley and through the formidable quartz and slate range of highlands just north of and parallel to the Nahe.

"Authoritative sources here believed the Germans had waited too long to effect a successful withdrawal, and now would elect to stand and fight the Third Army advance," a dispatch from Bradley's headquarters said.

Patton's 90th Infantry Division struck to the Rhine four miles east of Boppard, eight miles south of Coblenz. The Fifth Division in a southward push reached points five to 10 miles northeast of Simmern.

Capture of Coblenz is only a matter of hours.

Stettinius Objects to Dulles At Conference

WASHINGTON, March 17. — When President Roosevelt promised Sen. Vandenberg complete freedom of action at the San Francisco Security Conference, he didn't foresee the complication that now has arisen. The Michigan Republican took the promise literally, and here's what happened: Vandenberg and other delegates were called together by Secretary of State Stettinius and asked what they'd need in the line of assistants. When Vandenberg's turn came, he said he'd need only a secretary and a lawyer. Stettinius said it could be arranged. "By the way, whom would you like as your lawyer?" the secretary inquired. Vandenberg's unexpected reply: "John Foster Dulles." (Dulles, international lawyer of New York, was Gov. Dewey's adviser on foreign affairs and his choice for Secretary of State). The startled Mr. Stettinius could observe only that he didn't think Mr. Roosevelt would care for that kind of arrangement. Vandenberg said Dulles was his choice anyway. Stettinius said he'd have to consider it further. There matters stand today.

AVERAGE MEN AND WAR.

The average man's duty towards war has been vividly set forth by Aldous Huxley, the English novelist, who for some years has been living in this country. "In the modern world," says Huxley, "the great obstacle to all desirable change is war. The cardinal, the indispensable reform is therefore a reform in the present policy of national communities in regard to one another. Today all nations conduct their foreign policy on militaristic principles. Some are more noisily and vulgarly militaristic than others; but all, even those that call themselves democratic and pacific, consistently act upon the principles of militarism. It is hardly conceivable that any desirable reform in this direction should be initiated by those who now hold political power. The movement of reform must therefore come from private individuals."

One of the things that the private individual can do is to write his congressman and senator, to let them know how he stands on a permanent international organization for peace — not forgetting to register his protest against the proposed military plan, whereby all young men would be forced to serve a year in the army when they reach 18. This peace-time drafting of boys has for centuries been a German custom, and is largely responsible for all the troubles that unhappy country has brought upon itself and upon the entire world.

HARD LUCK FOR DUTCH.

In all this war period there could be no finer expression of philanthropy than relief for the Dutch people in Holland. As much as any living nation they have fought the good fight against Nazi barbarism. But they were stricken down and stripped of all their sources of food and other supplies, and left cold and starving. It is time that this horror be ended. Until they were crushed under Hitler's heel, the Dutch had the finest underground anti-Nazi movement in Europe. It was weakened and impoverished when the Allied effort to turn the Siegfried Line was broken. The whole Dutch nation engaged in a fierce strike against Nazi control. Their economic life was ruined and the nation was looted of food and materials of all kinds—even soap, without which so cleanly a nation can hardly live. The country has been beaten down by disease and hunger.

Surely it is time for Americans to rally to the help of the great little nation that founded New York, and for which Americans have always had a sense of pride and brotherhood.

MUDDY WRITERS.

Something will have to be done about people who use words just for the sake of using them. Ivor Brown, editor of The London Observer, says that some commentators are capable of sentences like this: "In the opinion of authoritative circles at the higher levels, it is considered that the situation is showing an increasing tendency to deteriorate." Meaning: "Those who know say that things will get worse."

The next translation of the Bible, Mr. Brown fears, will discard the phrase "heal the sick," and substitute something like "rehabilitate those who are suffering from psycho-physical maladjustment."

Nearly every office has some one who would write like this if not restrained. Contrast such muddy writing with the words of Field Marshal Montgomery: "I am never anxious when I fight my battles. If I am anxious, I don't fight them. I wait until I am ready."

(Files of Cisco Daily News)

A former mayor of Groesbeck, A. R. Henderson, is a visitor in Cisco. He is accompanied by Mrs. Henderson, their daughter, Miss Frances Henderson, and two younger daughters. Henderson is a nephew of Mrs. W. H. Kittrell, and they are guests in the Kittrell home while in this city. Henderson was mayor of Groesbeck from 1914 to 1920, and was the chief executive of that city at the beginning of the oil boom that struck that section of Texas several years ago. He stated that all of Central Texas was sold for Al Smith and Tom Connally. "You have made wonderful improvements in Cisco since I was here 11 years ago," Henderson said. "I think Cisco is a wonderful town, and one in which I would like to make my home. I have been out and inspected your great lake, the fish hatchery and other attractions you have there. I can see no reason why you should not have the most popular summer resort at Lake Cisco that can be had in all of West Texas. I was amazed at your lake, and I shall certainly spend some time fishing out there before I return home. I want to angle for crappie. I am not taking much stock in the bass. It is too long between strikes with those big fellows." The party will remain the rest of the week before returning home.

J. E. Chesley, A1 citizen and one of the largest real estate owners in Cisco, said this morning that so far as his rental payments are concerned there is no evidence of financial depression. "I own about 40 rent houses in Cisco," Chesley said, "and all my tenants are prompt in their payments. Perhaps one reason for this is the fact that I have an unusually good class of renters. I have no houses vacant, in fact have applications for houses that I cannot supply. I have built no new houses this year but have spent quite a bit of money in repairing and remodeling those I already own. I am not contemplating building any additional houses right away."

Otho Marcus Stubblefield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Stubblefield, of Cisco, is listed among the candidates for degrees at the University of Texas. Otho is a candidate for his degree of bachelor of business administration. He is a graduate of the Cisco high school and has made a splendid record at the state university. The university will confer degrees on the night of August 12. Other students from Eastland county who are candidates for degrees are Edith Hazel Fletcher, of Ranger; Aldonea Catherine Graham, of Gorman; Forrest Wayne Wilson, of Carbon for bachelor of arts, and Velma Teresa Payne of Eastland, for master of arts.

Olives in full bearing can be seen if one will take the trouble to visit the Elks club grounds in Cisco. This tree has been bearing for several years, and is filled with olives again this year. The fruit is just beginning to ripen but most of the berries are a bright green. Nothing is ever done with these berries, which are allowed to ripen on the tree only to fall on the ground and rot. A Californian from a part of that state where olives are grown, visited Cisco a few years ago and saw this tree in bearing. He pronounced the berries of about the same quality as those grown in his state. This tree has grown and flourished with no cultivation and very little attention.

Ciscoans Are Winning On the Home Front

Well, that is a comforting thought. We have put our bond drives over and with much to spare each time. We have put over that most worthy Red Cross drive and we are putting over the waste paper drives each week, although we may not be doing our full share of that. We may be lacking in saving our waste fats. We save some but is that enough?

Just now we are saving waste paper each week with a town-wide drive each third Friday of every month. Men are leaving their work to make the collection, while women are tying up the bundles and placing them on the curbs.

Let's keep on doing what we can for final victory. Will our soldier boys reproach us for our lack of cooperation, or will we be able to look them square in the face and say: "While you fought across the seas, we did what we could at home?"
