LETTERS to EDITOR

Dear Editor:

This Christmas I was made very happy by the visits of my family. Paul Middleton of Fort Worth and my oldest son, Mike Ellis of Houston, Mrs. Ginny 25, 1890 at Denton Valley and Dabbs, my granddaughter from lived in that area all his life. Memphis, Tenn., and David, her two-year old son, my first grandson. My fishing compan-ion for the last three years, Bobby Hutcheson of Big Spring. To some this might not appear to be much Christmas, but to an old grandad it was a lively time and much enjoyed.

My letters to these children have been published in your paper for several years, for which I thank you very much.

> Yours truly. Joe Ellis.

of tomorrow with confidence let us not deceive ourselves into thinking a new year will mean a new world .This year that is passing was born and the prayers and well-wishes of the multitude. Prayers for a better day by the faithful. But we need to remember that a new year of itself is incapable of bringing any change for better, save as men themselves are changed. It is really not a New Year we need. It is a New Spirit. Without that there is no hope. As we stand on the threshold of both the old and the new, let us pray that the Spirit of God may move upon the face of the earth, in the midst of humanity, and stir our hearts to do good in human affairs. The End Of The Year! Let it go, but not empty handed. This we would ask it to do. Take with it the suspicion, hate, bitterness, and misunderstanding that was present every day of its passing. By all means let it take war away, burying it in the fold of eternal love and friendship for men. Let it take away that which works to a disadvantage in the life of the least of us, and that which keeps us from God and delays His Kingdom. Let it take away our little faith and the elements of disloyalty that seep into our hearts, and put within us instead a heart enlarged with compassion, faithful to God.
