Jap Defenses in Central Philippines Collapsing

MANILA, March 31.—Japanese defenses throughout the central Philippines were collapsing rapidly today before American forces which seized control of all but one of the major islands in the archipelago.

The mounting campaign sent U. S. assault troops swarming over two more islands — Negros, the fourth largest island in the Philippines, and little Caballo in Manila Bay.

They were the 31st and 32nd islands in the Philippines invaded by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's American forces. Bohol, between Cebu and Leyte, was the only large island still held by the Japanese.

LEGION CHIEF TO SPEAK FOR WACS

Henry Love of Fort Worth, department commander of the American Legion in Texas, and two soldiers back from overseas after being wounded in action, will lead a traveling WAC Recruiting Caravan on a visit to Cisco at 7 p. m. Monday, seeking to spur enlistments in Wac hospital companies being formed to serve in army hospitals here in Texas.

Mr. Love has arranged for a three-day tour of Cisco and 11 other west Texas cities in an effort to put the Fort Worth WAC Recruiting District over the top in the current nationwide drive for the hospital technicians.

At the request of Love, H. H. Tompkins, commander of the Cisco Legion, has arranged for a meeting immediately after the caravan has reached Cisco. It will be held in high school auditorium at 7:30, preceding the Rabinof violin concert, which is scheduled to start at 8:15.

"While the meeting at high school will necessarily be a brief one, Cisco citizens are urged to turn out in large numbers, greet the visitors and enjoy the short but highly interesting program," said Mr. Tompkins.

One of the two soldiers in the party will be Staff Sgt. Warren (Red) Cowen, Enid, Okla., a patient at McCloskey General Hospital, Temple. Sergeant Cowen lost both his legs during a Jap bombing attack on American positions in New Britain.

Lieut. Hannah W. Jewett, commanding officer of the Fort Worth substitution of the district, and Lieut. F. J. Litteken, liaison officer from Eighth Service Command headquarters, will be in charge of the recruiting personnel.

Henry Love, Legion department commander in Texas, is well known in Cisco and will be met here by a number of close friends, among them Monroe Sweeney of Cisco high school. Mr. Love has been manager of the Texas Hotel at Fort Worth for several years and was manager of the Baker hotel at Mineral Wells for seven years. He is an outstanding civic figure in Ft. Worth, being chairman of the tire rationing board, chamber of commerce director and chairman of the entertainment committee of Moslah Temple, Ft. Worth Shrine.

The visitors will spend the night at Laguna Hotel, Mr. Tompkins stated.

Great City of Vienna Soon Be In Hands of Soviets

LONDON, March 31.—The Red Army today closed on Vienna from the south and opened up a fast-breaking drive to oust the Germans from those remnants of the Silesian industrial area still held by the Nazis.

Moving up from the south, Soviet forces under Marshal Tolbukhin were crashing through the outer defense circle of Vienna and at points were less than 40 miles from the Austrian capital.

One report placed some Soviet forces a little more than 20 miles from the industrial center of Wiener Neustadt, about 22 miles south of Vienna.

PENICILLIN SEIZED. LAREDO, March 31.—Twenty-six million units of penicillin hidden beneath groceries in several large boxes were seized at the in-

FDR And Stettinius to Discuss Yalta Problems

WASHINGTON, March 31.—President Roosevelt's closest advisors on foreign policy were urging him today to explain now any other secret agreements made at the Big Three meeting.

They were alarmed at the reaction to the secret agreement on world assembly votes made at Yalta and some were frankly describing it, and the policy of keeping it secret for 47 days, as a "colossal blunder."

Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., who also was at Yalta, is expected to talk over the entire problem with Mr. Roosevelt this week-end. They will seek to prepare an explanation of the voting agreement, and will also discuss any other unrevealed decisions.

Stettinius' entire staff of public relations officials are searching meanwhile for a way to repair the damage to public opinion on the eve of the San Francisco Conference on world organization. They fear that the policy of secrecy on this issue may have undone most of their preliminary work.

U. S. Losses In Germany Are Said to Be Very Light

GENERAL BRADLEY'S HEADQUARTERS, March 31.—More than 87,000 German prisoners have fallen to the American 1st and 3rd Armies in the past week, 3rd headquarters reported Saturday. They are pouring back faster than interrogators can question them.

American losses have been relatively light spokesmen said. The greatest number killed in one day was 141. On another day the two armies lost 51 dead.

Figures on the number of American prisoners liberated from German camps were not complete, but U. S. 1st Army alone freed 4,361 in six days.

Weather Man Expects More Rain Fort Worth Area

FT. WORTH, March 31.—Possibility that Fort Worth may experience more high water on the Trinity and its tributaries was foreseen today as the weather bureau forecast showers and thunderstorms beginning late Saturday afternoon and probably ending late Sunday afternoon.

Meanwhile the city was recovering from Friday's flash flood which caused three deaths, brought injuries to at least six, did thousands of dollars damage, and poured into more than 200 residences.

The river Saturday was 11.7 feet below flood stage, measuring 5.3 at 7 a. m., compared to a crest measurement of 19.4 at 11 a. m. Friday.

With the exception of park drives, which remained closed in order to clean up debris, all streets and highways were open again Saturday.

Deaths attributed to the flood and rain were Miss Gwendolyn Kline, 15, 2807 Travis; Jesse Ernest Carroll, 41, of Everman, and M. O. Bennett, about 65, Hillsboro, Ore.

There will be a singing at the East Cisco Baptist church at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Visitors from other communities are expected to attend and the public is invited.

RUHR INDUSTRIAL BASIN AND WESER RIVER STRONGHOLD OF KASSEL ABOUT READY TO QUIT

PARIS, March 31.—The fall of Germany's industrial Ruhr basin and the Weser river stronghold of Kassel appeared close today as a great striking force of almost 3000 American and British tanks crashed through the enemy's riddled defenses within 165 miles of Berlin.

(An unconfirmed Paris radio report said the American First and British Second Armies linked up in the Paderborn area today, completing the envelopment of the Ruhr basin).

Armored vanguards of the U. S. First Army were racing northward from captured Paderborn over the last 40 miles separating them from Field Marshal Montgomery's American and British forces on the Westphalian plain.

Montgomery's men were reported officially 50 miles or more east of the Rhine and going ahead so fast that a juncture with the First Army appeared only a matter of hours.

Between the two converging forces, the remnants of five German divisions were reeling back in a wild fight for life, raked from ground and air by Allied fire.

Ninety miles to the southeast, Lt. Gen. Patton's American Third Army was running wild over the approaches to Kassel, kingpin of the Weser river line where the Germans had planned their next major stand behind the Rhine.

Patton's troops were only a few miles south of Kassel early Saturday and all accounts indicated the thoroughly beaten Germans had nothing left to defend the city.

A high-ranking German officer captured Friday by the rough-riding 3rd Army told his captors glumly that the road to Berlin was wide open.

The officer, whose name was withheld, said no organized German resistance was left in the path of the Allied armies, and he was understood to have volunteered the information that Patton's men could spend Easter Sunday in Berlin if they wished.

London press dispatches quoted the officer as saying that the German army was deliberately letting the western Allies through while fighting desperately to hold the Russians in the east.

Only on the U. S. 7th Army front to the south were the Allies meeting the fanatical resistance that Nazi spokesmen had boasted would face them on every mile of the road to Berlin.

The 7th Army captured the famous university city of Heidelberg with relative ease, but 30-odd miles to the north they ran into a ferocious battle along the Main River in and south of Aschaffenburg.

Nazis Talk of Armistice Plea But Decision Unknown

LONDON, March 31.—European reports said Adolf Hitler and the German high command agreed at a dramatic all-night meeting ending early today that Germany should seek an armistice, but apparently delayed action when the Nazis refused to give up the government immediately.

The high command informed Hitler that it was prepared to negotiate for an armistice if Nazi government would quit, a Stockholm Tidningen dispatch said.

The staff officers were said to have contended that continuation of the war was impossible in view of the Allied break-through in the west and the Soviet threat in the east.

Hitler countered with a proposal to abandon his position as sole leader in favor of a "Fuhrer's council" headed by Marshal Kesselring and Col. Ferdinand von Schoerner, commanders on the western and eastern fronts, Tidningen said.

Members of the council under Kesselring and von Schoerner would be Hitler himself, Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz.

Hitler was said to have told the generals they could open negotiations with the Allies while he and Himmler answered for internal order.

Tidningen said the generals of the high command rejected the proposal. The final result of the conference, which lasted from midday yesterday to early this morning, was not known, Tidningen said.

Nazis Talk of Armistice Plea But Decision Unknown

LONDON, March 31.—European reports said Adolf Hitler and the German high command agreed at a dramatic all-night meeting ending early today that Germany should seek an armistice, but apparently delayed action when the Nazis refused to give up the government immediately.

The high command informed Hitler that it was prepared to negotiate for an armistice if the Nazi government would quit, a Stockholm Tidningen dispatch said.

The staff officers were said to have contended that continuation of the war was impossible in view of the Allied break-through in the west and the Soviet threat in the east.

Hitler countered with a proposal to abandon his position as sole leader in favor of a "Fuehrer's council" headed by Marshal Kesselring and Col. Ferdinand von Schoerner, commanders on the western and eastern fronts, Tidningen said.

Members of the council under Kesselring and von Schoerner would be Hitler himself, Reichsmarshal Hermann Goerring, Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz.

Hitler was said to have told the generals they could open negotiations with the Allies while he and Himmler answered for internal order.

Tidningen said the generals of the high command rejected the proposal. The final result of the conference, which lasted from midnight yesterday to early this morning, was not known, Tidningen said.

HOME STRETCH.

The toughest part of this war is still ahead. The toughest, that is, for the home front. It will come after the victory over Germany.

Civilians are weary of controls and rationing, of mechanical breakdowns, of separated families, of all the worries of war. They have been looking forward to VE day as a sort of universal remedy. The men will start home, controls will be erased, civilian manufacture will begin, and everything will be rosy.

That isn't the way it will be. For the war with Japan is only in its early stages. We seem to have defeated their navy, but their army is still 90 per cent intact. Most of our men must go from Europe to the Orient. Some will come home, but not nearly all, for some time. Controls and rationing may even get stiffer. For the more of the world we reclaim from the Nazis and Japs, the more we are responsible for. Its people must be fed until they can grow crops and start factories again.

Many things, indeed, will be better. If all Americans remember that VE day cannot be the end, is not complete victory, the difficulties of what must be the home stretch of the Pacific war will be easier to bear.

UNIQUE SOUTHERNER.

The sinking of the Liberty ship Robert J. Walker off Australia recalls a unique Southern statesman of 100 years ago. Walker, a Pennsylvania man who moved to Mississippi, was more than anyone else responsible for the annexation of Texas. He engineered the convention deadlock which lost Martin Van Buren a third presidential nomination and gained the prize for James K. Polk. As Polk's secretary of the treasury he pushed through the 1846 tariff, generally named from him and not from its nominal Congressional authors. This reduced customs rates and ushered in a period of high prosperity. In the pre-Civil War troubles in Kansas he was appointed governor by Buchanan, and held the balance fairly between North and South.

When the Civil War came, Walker became truly unique. Though it is now known that many Southerners sympathized with the Northern cause, Walker was the only prominent man to come out openly. As Lincoln's agent in London, he helped prevent British recognition of the Confederacy.

Walker cherished the legitimate ambition of becoming President. He would probably have been a vast improvement over some that held the office in his lifetime.

June, 1925.

(Cisco Daily News Files)

The interesting program of the graduating exercises published in Tuesday's Daily News, was rendered at the Cisco high school auditorium Tuesday evening, when Dr. P. W. Horn of Texas Technological College addressed the 1925 class. With Mrs. Dell King at the piano the forty-six members of the class marched into the auditorium and with military precision assumed their places on the rostrum. They were followed by Supt. J. J. Godbey, G. H. Wells, principal of high school; Dr. P. W. Horn, J. H. Morgan, superintendent-elect, and Rev. J. S. Stockard. These occupied the front seats on the stage. Mr. Stockard delivered the invocation to a well-filled auditorium. The salutatory by Victor Obenhaus was well prepared, pleasingly delivered and showed much care in preparation. The theme was "The Application of Science to the Development of Transportation." Miss Maurine Eastus, in her valedictory, "The Sphere of the Twentieth Century Woman," was perfectly at ease, and presented a splendid brief for women occupying their places in the world with men, while not neglecting the duties of mother and home maker. A feature of the program was the solo by Joe Carrothers, who has a splendid voice, and his song was highly appreciated. The complete list of graduates follows: Boys—Victor Obenhaus, Lowery West Beard, Phil A. Berry, Daniel Richard Boone, Leclil M. Bostick, Marvin L. Boyd, Glenn C. Brock, James Edward Brown, J. D. Carroll, Joseph J. Carrothers, Cornelius John Collins, Jack D. Daniel, Jimmie Jack Fields, Sanford Frank Holmesly, Dudley Lee, Edward Lee, John Cecil Martin, William H. Morse, Jr., Yancy J. McCrea, William Richard, Earl Noblett, Robert Lee Parsons. Leveridge, Grace Merket, Alberta Leoma Parsons, Ruby Payne, Lulu Price, Loma V.

DR. F. C. KELTON WEDS MISS MARIE TUNE.

Miss Marie Tune, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Tune of Cisco and Dr. Frank C. Kelton of Dallas, son of Mrs. Eleanor H. Kelton and the late Prof. Frank C. Kelton of Tucson, Ariz., were united in marriage March 28th at the parsonage of Highland Park Methodist church, Dallas, with Rev. Marshall T. Steele officiating in the impressive ring ceremony. The wedding vows were taken before the fireplace with mantel banked with bridal wreaths and fern. Mrs. Marshall Steele played Lohengrin's bridal chorus and during the ceremony played "Until" and "Barcarolle," very softly.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gray suit with white accessories and carried a white Bible to which narrow satin streamers knotted with white tulle were attached. Her corsage was of white carnations, gardenias and lily of the valley. For something old she wore her grandmother's wedding ring which belonged to the late Mrs. G. H. Judia. For something new, borrowed and blue, she carried a handkerchief belonging to her aunt, Miss Marie Judia of Dallas.

Mrs. Nevelia Smith of Dallas was matron of honor. W. F. Jacoby of Dallas served the groom as best man. Only relatives and a few close friends were present. Mrs. Kelton was born and reared in Cisco; graduated from Cisco high school and attended Cisco Junior college, majoring in business administration. At the time of her marriage she was employed by Core Laboratories, Inc., Dallas, in the accounting department.

Dr. Kelton is a graduate of Tucson high school and obtained his B. S. degree from the University of Arizona and Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md. He is now manager of the engineering and research department of Core Laboratories, Inc.

Following a short honeymoon trip Dr. and Mrs. Kelton will be at home at 3453 Amherst, Dallas.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcol Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.
