Bobcats Continue Winning Streak; Engage Tulia Next

The Dimmitt Bobcats ground out their eighth football victory of the year Friday night before an estimated 2,000 shivering spectators at Dalhart. The final score was 34-6.

This leaves Dimmitt facing what is probably the roughest competition of the year for the next two games. The Bobcats host Tulia Friday night at 8 o'clock. Their next game will be against Canyon, the team which lost to Dalhart earlier in the season, but is still rated a powerhouse that suffered an off night.

Tulia was snowed under Friday night by Canyon, 22-0. However they defeated handily the Friona Chiefs, who gave Dimmitt one of their hardest games of the season. By defeating Tulia Friday night, the Bobcats would clinch a tie for the district crown.

In Friday night's game, another grinding duel between power merchants of both teams developed with only sporadic passing attempts being made. Junior Coffey ground out 86 yards in 12 times with the ball for a seven-yard per try average, and Dalhart's Jack McCleskey piled up 167 yards rushing in 29 against the Bobcats for an average of more than five yards per try. These ground game averages came despite a field soggy after two days of rain and biting cold.

With fifteen seconds gone in the first period Coffey lunged over from the seven yard line for the first Bobcat score. He followed this with a line surge that netted the extra points leaving the quick score at 8-0. This touchdown was set up by one of the most spectacular plays of the night when half-back Jerry Hyatt broke loose and scampered 60 yards in the second play of the game.

Dimmitt's next touchdown came when Carlos Barnes dashed across after a 6-yard gain on a keeper. The touchdown was set up by a fumble recovery by Hyatt. The try for extra point was no good.

In the second quarter Hyatt made himself a touchdown by a plunge over from the one yard line. A pass attempt from Barnes to Marion Oakley failed and the score was 20-0.

After halftime, Hyatt scored again, this time from the 6 yard line. An extra-point attempt by Ted Collins failed.

Dalhart kept plugging away, despite the mounting score of their opponent. Fullback McCleskey broke loose late in the third quarter for a 53-yard gallop which set up the Dalhart tally. He was stopped on the 3-yard line and on the next play slammed through for the score. His try for extra point failed.

The Bobcats sewed up the game early in the fourth when a 58-yard drive climaxed by Hyatt scrambling over left tackle for six yards and a touchdown. Again Dimmitt's try for extra points was no good.

Marion Oakley recovered a fumbled kickoff by Dalhart on the Wolves' 25-yard-line. The Bobcats, with most posts manned by reserves, climaxed a short drive to paydirt with a pass to Ratcliff. Hyatt converted and the score ended 34-6.

CofC Office Is Moved To New Location

The office of the Castro County Chamber of Commerce has been moved to the Moran and Miller Law Building where it has established temporary quarters.

Their old office, a steel building owned by George Bradford and located on the west side of the square, was sold to a man from Nazareth who will move it there soon.

Chamber of Commerce officials are looking for a new office site and they will move again when one is located. The office was moved Saturday.

Nazareth and Bula to Decide District Title

Swifts Hold Lead In 2-B, Six-Man Football Loop

The Bula Bulldogs will have to win this Saturday night to keep the Nazareth Swifts from sewing up football honors in district 2-B, six-man football. With only five members in the district a double-round robin schedule permits each team to meet all district members twice.

The Swifts have won all of their district games, while Bula's only loss was to the Swifts early in the season when a soggy field kept the Bulldog seat backs from moving as they have in all of their other games. The score in the first encounter between Nazareth and Bula was 32-6.

Saturday's game promises to be a duel between the speed of the Bula backs and the consistent power of the Swifts plus their good passing game. The Swift's defence has been outstanding all year. It is manned mostly by seniors.

The Swift's only loss this year has been to the Miami Warriors by a score of 58 to 32. A non-conference game. By winning this week's game the Swifts would be district champs and qualify for a bi-district game with the same Miami Warriors.

Forgery Trial Results In Hung Jury

Swifts Hold Lead In 2-B, Six-Man Football Loop

A hung jury Monday morning was the result of the trial of Antonio Garcia, 32, who was charged with forging a $1,500 check in Hart on September 19th.

The District Court jury voted 10-2 and was unable to get a unanimous decision after two hours (Whether the majority vote in hung juries is for or against the defendant is kept secret.) One county official said Garcia would probably be reindicted and retried at a later date. A handwriting expert from Austin identified the handwriting on the check as that of Garcia and Farmers State Bank personnel, where the check was cashed, identified him as the cashier of the check. Garcia had refused to take a lie detector test earlier.

Garcia, a 5'8", 268-pound Mexican, allegedly had cashed a stolen Hill & Smith Produce Company check for $1,500 at the Farmers State Bank at Hart. Since he was a work crew foreman, he had often cashed checks of large denominations there so he was not questioned. The alleged forgery was discovered about the first of October when Hill & Smith Company officials were examining the company bank statement.

Home from Hospital

Linda Hance, Freshman at West Texas State, Canyon, is at home after being in Neblett Hospital for two weeks.

Grain Sorghum Production Hits Record High Despite Bad Weather

Despite heavy hail and water losses during the summer Castro County's grain sorghum crop is one of the best yet.

Elevator men contacted said they were handling anywhere from 10 to 20 percent more grain than last year. Grain sorghum has turned out to be a better money crop than most grainmen expected due to market price that has ranged around $1.45 per hundred. Loan rate is about $1.30 and there have been only a few put their grain in the government loan.

Production during the past few years has steadily increased. One elevator operator said he figured average per acre production had climbed from 4,000 last year to about 5,000 this season. One man, unidentified, claimed 7,000 pounds per acre average off of a quarter of a section of land. Most grain

Cancer Society Plans Work For Coming Year

The Officers and Committee Chairmen of the Castro County Unit to the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, met in the Commissioner's Court Room, Wednesday afternoon, to plan the program for the year's work.

Mr. Charles Preston, of Lubbock, who is the new Field Supervisor for District 3-south, met with the group for the purpose of giving instructions as to the year's work and goals.

The meeting dates set for the coming year are for the first Wednesday of each month at 4 p.m. in the Commissioner's Courtroom. These dates will become effective in January and will continue through May.

Emphasis was put on the Cancer Memorial Fund. Donations can be made to this fund at the First State Bank of Dimmitt or at the Farmer's State Bank in Hart. Each donation will be recognized by a card being sent to the family for whom the memorial was made naming the donor, and a card sent to the donor in recognition of donation and in receipt for the amount of the said donation.

The Castro County Unit also wishes to remind the public that dressings and other sick room supplies are available to all cancer patients in the county free of charge as a part of the association's work.

Everyone in the county is urged to get a cancer check-up periodically as a step to stamp out possible cancer before it becomes too late.

Bobcats Band Boosters To Hold Rummage Sale

A rummage sale sponsored by the Bobcat Band Boosters will be held on Saturday, November 7 in the Raymond Wilson building on Bedford. Proceeds from the sale will go toward buying new uniforms for the band.

County Cotton Gins' Production Is 2,836 Bales

Cotton harvesting operations resumed Wednesday after a period of cold, rainy weather which has become characteristic of production of the white fiber in this area.

According to a check made Thursday morning about 2,836 bales had been ginned in the county with grades running generally white and light spot.

Generally, ginners contacted indicated they felt the cotton harvest was not damaged as seriously by hail as it appeared during June and July. While many farmers—especially in the south part of the county—were wiped out, the possibility is that a fair general county cotton crop will be realized.

Gins in the north part of the county, where hail was lightest, are leading central and south gins in proportion to the hale loss. Average production of the 13 gins thus far is about 218 bales. County gins are producing almost exactly in proportion to the hale loss in their respective areas.

Nearly all cotton had been hand harvested but it is expected the remainder will be mostly machined. Production over the county is generally running the normal production of three-fourths to a bale and a half per acre.

According to the Texas employment Commission, first pulling of irrigated cotton on Castro County is running $1.50 per hundred.

County Agent to Sponsor Delegation To Swine Clinic

A delegation from Castro County will attend a Swine Clinic at Amarillo Tuesday, November 10, at the William Gouley Sales Arena at the Tri-State fair grounds. The program will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Some of the subjects discussed will be "Producing the Meat Type Hog," "Hog Outlook," "Feeding and Management" and their carcass evaluated.

The clinic is for hog feeders and producers and other agriculture workers.

A delegation plans to go from the county. Those interested may contact the county agent's office and go with the group.

City Marshal Jones Using New Car

A familiar sight in and around Dimmitt for the past several years was the 1957 black Chevrolet belonging to the City of Dimmitt and used by City Marshal W. W. Jones. The city traded the automobile off last week to Dimmitt Motor Company and set Jones up with a brand new 1960 cream-colored model to use in his policing work.

Renovated School Library Adds Incentive to Studying

National Library Week will be here next week, November 8 to 14 and students at Dimmitt High School will be at work in their newly renovated library paying homage to this national week in the best possible way—busily using the several thousand volumes of books that line the library shelves.

The new library is the old cafeteria renovated and furnished to accommodate more than 4,000 volumes for high school use and for junior high. With the additional space for shelving the books and for library tables, the circulation of the library at one time during the year actually tripled and at this time is still doubled, according to Mrs. Gladys Leeth, school librarian.

An outstanding opportunity the library is offering the students is a group of 50 books adapted to high school use on the various sciences, which include Einstein's theory of relativity, discourses on the atom, phases of geology, physics, etc. The Dimmitt Library gets to keep this set of 50 books for two months and then they are exchanged with one of four nearby schools for another set. This method of sharing scientific knowledge is called the Traveling High School Science Library Program and is sponsored by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Mrs. Leeth said.

Apparently the library is one of the busiest work centers in the whole school. Mrs. Leeth stated that twenty classes have been scheduled for the library this week. A high school teacher gives three days notice prior to using the library and thus avoids conflicts. Junior high has regularly assigned periods every week in the library. Individuals come to the library by special permit.

One area in which the library needs to grow at present is in the field of fiction. Mrs. Leeth pointed out. She added that she believed additional books of fiction would increase the voluntary readers.

At present the library is subscribing to 32 weekly and monthly publications. All of these publications are listed and cross-filed in the Abridged Reader's Guide to Periodicals to which the library also subscribes. With this abridged guide and the yearly supplements that accompany it the students are able to find any article on any subject whether current or several years old. Learning to use a guide to periodicals is in itself, a time-saving skill for the prospective college freshman who has a great many other things he has to become accustomed to doing in a very short time. Using the library effectively is a must if he is going to complete a four year college course. Dimmitt High School students who will be in college next year should be able to use the college facilities with ease because of the various guides and the new card catalogue set up under the Dewey Decimal system, which are provided for them in their library. These are facilities many schools the size of Dimmitt do not have.

Keeping the books in their proper places, keeping track of those which are on loan, coding the new ones that come in, watching after the periodicals and making minor repairs are a few of the myriad tasks of a librarian and the staff. Helping Mrs. Leeth with her work are these student helpers: Linda Allen, Sharon Ayers, Janet Hathaway, Ronda Sanders, Eloise Cloverer, Marietta Oden, Jeanette Wheeler and Patricia Oden.

"Johnson for President Club of Castro County" Is Organized

A Lyndon Johnson for President Club of Castro County was organized last Thursday, October 28. Joe Cowen was elected chairman and Mrs. Cecil Crum was elected secretary. A meeting will be held in November, the time to be announced later.

Things Back To Normal After Halloween Night

Halloween in Dimmitt was a fairly routine thing Saturday night. The usual dirty words were scribbled in soap over store front windows and tractors were shoved out into city streets and the town swarmed with children tricking or being treated.

Sheriff Jack Cartwright said his department stopped several groups of boys from pushing tractors out onto the highway, but other than that there were too many pranks to control.

Someone had a harrowing escape. It seems a cotton trailer was pulled crossways onto the Hospital road near where it intersects with Highway 385. There was a long line of tire skid marks almost up to the trailer and evidence indicated the car left the road at a fairly high rate of speed and went around the trailer in a ditch.

By late Monday most signs of Halloween had been removed. Someone broke into McMahon's Machine Shop and helped themselves to some loose change Halloween night. Apparently nothing else was stolen from the shop. Someone also broke into the all-metal Firemen's concession stand and removed several small items.

"Most of the Halloween pranking started after the older youngsters got out of the movie Saturday night and the young ones had quite tricking and treating and gone home," Cartwright said. "There were too many to control. Parents who won't believe their children will do some of the things that take place Halloween night should get in their cars and drive around and look. They would sure be surprised."

Winter's First Blast Hits County

After beating around the bush for the past month, old man Winter finally arrived in the Panhandle but none was reported in this area.

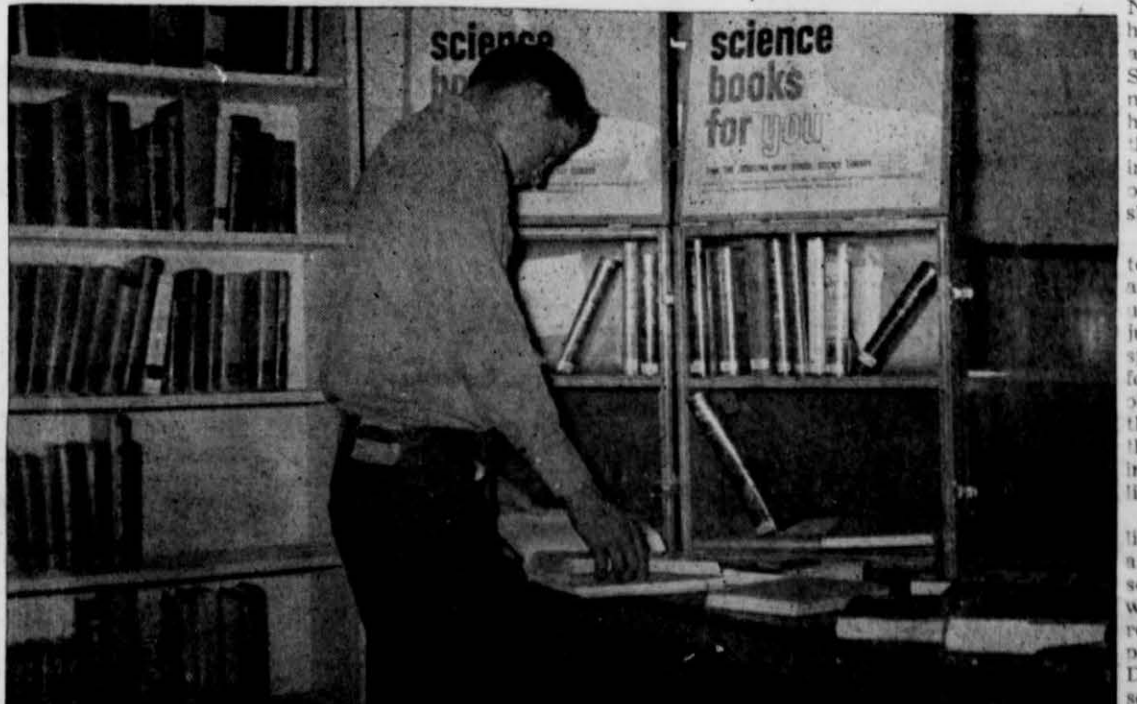

This cold norther was just another of the hampering effects of weather on harvest operations here. About 60 to 80 inches of rain fell in the county last week, resulting in high moisture content grain being hauled to elevators about the middle of the week. Harvesting of cotton and grain sorghum has resumed.

Snow was recorded in the north of the Panhandle but none was reported in this area.

Harvesting of cotton and grain sorghum has resumed.

This interest center created and placed on the loan desk in the Dimmitt High School and Junior High Library by Mrs. Gladys Leeth, librarian, looking on, is a pleasant reminder of the necessity for "library quiet" and adds to the general pleasantness of the room. There were 20 classes scheduled for library work this week so it might well be concluded that Dimmitt students were recognizing National Library Week a week early.

Jackie Powers, a Dimmitt High School student, is seen here inspecting one of 50 books on science the school library receives for a loan period of 2 months through the American Association for the Advancement of Science. National Library week is next week, but to Jackie and numerous other boys and girls like him, every week is "library week" judging from the list of names found on the loan cards inside these books.

SENIOR GIRL OF THE WEEK

A frantic cry was heard through out the Littlefield Hospital at 11:50 p.m. August 14, 1941, when J. E. Taylor received the news he was the father of a long shiny baby girl. The girl, later termed as "frantic Taylor", was named Edna Earlyne. Three years later the Japanese Armed Forces decided that they had had enough and surrendered. This little but loud girl is still trying to control her temper when hitting the embryo. Some of her favorites are: food, food, color, red; flower, rose; actress, Jane Allyn; actor, Paul Newman; movie, Rally Around the Flag Boys and Don't Go Near the Water; song, Sleep, walk, put peevy, cooking, sewing, and housework; hobby, being independent and irresponsible; pastime, going and going; ambition, well, ?????; car, Corvet; subjects, hand, home-making III, typing II, English IV, and journalism. Earlyne's activities are as follows: Editor of the annual, Assistant Reporter of Student Senate, Reporter of FHA, secretary of Loye Club, Secretary of Senior Class and a member of the National Honor Society.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

More recollections of a "has been" sports writer:

Veron was the scene of a district championship game and I made a mistake; I arrived at the field only 30 minutes before the kickoff. The stands, including aisles, were already packed. So I climbed on top of a car back of the press box, jumped and hands pulled me up.

Another time, Childress was the scene of a district title contest. The stands were so crowded that it was impossible to reach the press box so I obtained permission to get on the sidelines. I made more yardage than any player because Red Rattkin, Childress' back, ran only when he had the ball. I ran any time anybody had the ball.

Unusual plays recalled: Mike Todd of Cowell, later an Aggie great, broke into the clear against Chillicothe. Looked back and saw he was all by himself and he walked the last six yards across the goal line; the giant end, Rankin Britt of Ranger, caught a pass near the Eastland goal, was tackled by three small players who turned him halfway around and he backed the final five yards for a touchdown, dragging them along, and, at Brownwood, at almost the end of the game, a substitute interrupted an Eastland pass and ran 25 yards, with Eastland men blocking for him and then tackling him behind his own goal line for a safety which gave Eastland a one-point victory!

Being a sports writer has his occasional embarrassments. I was attending the pre-season district dinner which Breckenridge used to host and, during the meal, the man across the table remarked that Coach Schmidt of T.C.U. was listing huge Dan Salkeld, sophomore and son, at 180. In an undertone, I said to the man next to me, "Rags" Matthews, a T.C.U. immortal. "That reminds me that his high school coach used to list Salkeld at 165," Rags, addressing the first speaker, said, "This fellow says," indicating me, and then repeated my remark. I blushed and so did the other man. He had been Salkeld's high school coach. Among the coaches were O. D. Bett days (1920-30) were Dave Pena, at Eastland, who had been University of Texas coach; Blair Cherry, at Ranger, later head coach at Texas; Eck Curtis, at Ranger, later backfield coach at Texas; and W. B. Chapman, at Cisco, who went to Lubbock and, after his death in mid-season, his inspired team went on to win the State championship.

Even when I was sports writer in Eastland or Ranger, "Chap" told me I was always invited to attend any Cisco practice. I never accepted the invitation but felt honored at what I considered to be a tribute to my fairness and sportsmanship. When I happened to mention this invitation, however, one fan said the coach felt that I knew so little about football that I couldn't have described a play so that the Eastland (or Ranger) coach would know what to be on guard against. But I didn't dignify this statement with a reply; in fact, I forgot the remark a long time ago.

Through a hard-hitting, conscientious ADVERTISING PROGRAM

Competition is a demanding taskmaster—but it can also be the greatest rewarding factor in merchandising or servicing. It is a taskmaster when competition defeats, when it sets the rut that engulfs the businessman. Competition is rewarding when the merchant forces it to become his tool, when he knows he has a thriving, growing business that will never want for customers. Business goes where it is invited—and competitive prices, outstanding courteous service with a good selection, and promotional advertising will do the most inviting.

Do yourself, your customer, and your community a favor by using the pages of the Castro County News to sell your goods and services. It is not only good business but it will help you gear your operation to today's quickly changing trends and increasing competition.

Success stories of large businesses almost always hinge around concentrated advertising and other sound business practices. Start a campaign now—you'll be amazed at how quickly you will feel the difference. Just telephone 88 and a salesman will call on you at your convenience.

GET READY FOR BIGGER CROPS IN 1959 with DOW 82 AMMONIA

Year farm operators see conclusive proof that use of anhydrous ammonia can substantially bigger crops. In areas where weather prevents timely application of Nitrogen, yields are down. Where Nitrogen was used, farmers' red check plots report highest returns on their investment in Nitrogen fertilizer.

Ready for next year's big crop. After mid harvest, apply Dow 82 into, Mila stalks and roots provide the ideal organic material to help the soil work best for you. Dow's 82 Nitrogen speeds decomposition of slunder stalks; improves soil fertility. Dow 82 resists leaching. It stays in round, ready for use. Spring plantings get a healthier, quicker start, de-vigorous root systems that help prevent blowing soil.

Methodist to hear Missionary Speak

Miss Ann Ruth Jones of Cleburne, Texas, and a former Missionary of the Methodist Church in the Belgian Congo in Africa, will speak at First Methodist Church, Sunday at 6:30 p.m. Miss Jones, twenty seven years of age, served as an educational missionary at Lodi, Belgian Congo, she graduated from Lone Morris College at Jacksonville, Texas in 1951, and from Southern Methodist University in 1953, and also did graduate study in Christian Education at Scarritt College, Nashville. Mrs. Kenneth Williams and children went to Canyon Sunday and attended church and spent the day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Tomlinson.

Mrs. Leo Witkowski and children visited Saturday afternoon at the Hiale Center with her mother, Mrs. Frank Weil. Mr. Witkowski spent the afternoon removing an old friendship which began in his high school days, Jim Boswell of Austin and Mr. Witkowski spent through high school and A and M College together.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burks and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fortner attended the Golden wedding anniversary party at Arney Baptist Church last Sunday night. Bro. Payne resigned to accept a call to pastor the Lakeview Baptist Church near Floydada.

Bro. Payne had been with the Arney church since September 9, 1936. Although both he and Mrs. Payne will be greatly missed, his friends are happy in the knowledge that he is moving on to a field where he can be of greater service to his Lord and Master.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Harrison for Sunday dinner were Mrs. Mattie Cox, Mrs. Tommie Burgess and W. E. McFarland.

Several from the Arney church enjoyed the "Witches Convention" Halloween party at the Truly Coles last Saturday night. The juniors were taken trick or treating and to a movie in Canyon. The primaries were taken on a truck or treat drive in the community.

Experts Launch Cotton Maid Quest

Once again—the tenth consecutive year—the search is on for a young lady who, on November 24, will be named "South Plains Maid of Cotton" and who will represent 23 counties of the Texas South Plains in the National Maid of Cotton Contest in Memphis, Tennessee.

The South Plains Maid of Cotton Committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the National Cotton Council is conducting the search for this very special young lady, a lady who has beauty and charm, personality and poise, who likes to travel, to meet people and to be friends at home and abroad for the American Cotton Industry.

Weldon Gibbs, Chairman of the 1960 South Plains Maid of Cotton Contest, said that the contest is held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. McFarland.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fortner and son Robert visited in Muleshoe last Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Bratcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Payne of Floydada spent the week end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McFarland.

Mrs. Mattie Cox bought a house in Lubbock recently which she will move to her lot in Happy. The foundation has been run and the house will be moved in one day this week. Mrs. Cox will be moving to Happy as soon as the house can be made ready for her. Saturday, several members of her family came to help with packing and accumulation of a life time of treasures, keep-sakes, etc.

Helping were her daughter, Mrs. Laura Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cole, Finita and David Cole and Donna Smith all of Tulsa.

Mrs. Laura Cole and son David and his friend spent the night and Sunday with Mrs. Cox.

The Arney Club met in the Community building October 21, with Mrs. C. D. Zachry and Mrs. Al Schoenberger hostesses.

Mrs. Carroll Hancock presided over the business meeting. Plans were made for a Bako Sale on November 7, from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Taylor Evans Seed Store in Happy.

Members present were Messrs. James Kenneth Bibb, Eben Bratcher, Lee Donnell, Leo Witkowski, Bruce Fields, Don Magness, Herschel Harrison, Charley Morris, Laverne Wilburn, Merv McFarland and Mrs. Hancock, two guests Mrs. Andrew Acker and her daughter, Josephine of Nazareth.

The next meeting of the club will be on November 4 with Mrs. Don Magness and Mrs. Herschel Harrison co-hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Harrison of Silverton were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Harrison for Sunday dinner. And they spent the night with the Walter Vias.

Ronald Fortner was home from Baylor to spend the week end with his family the A. B. Fortners. Jean Hoyler, also a student at Baylor accompanied Ronald home to spend the week end with her family the Lottus Hoylers.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Witkowski and their family were the guests for Sunday dinner in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weil in Kress. Later they went to Lubbock to attend the Benediction and Procession, celebrating the feast of Christ the King, Sunday evening the Witkowskis visited the John L. Deas.

Mrs. Katie Mae Gaudin of Amarillo visited Sunday in the home of her sister, Mrs. Ben Fortner.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Witkowski and their family visited his mother, Mrs. Anna Witkowski in Hereford Friday evening for supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Caro are the proud parents of a daughter born last Friday in Tulsa hospital. The baby weighed 8 pounds, 3 ounces and was given the name of Cynthia Gail. Mr. Caro's mother is here from Tatum, New Mexico helping out in the home.

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

Word from the President and other administrators of some 20 Texas colleges indicates the new National Defense Education Act student loan program is helping hundreds of Texas boys and girls attend college.

As a member of the US Senate Education subcommittee and a co-author of this law, it is naturally gratifying to me that the program is sound and workable.

It is the program passed during 1958 to help assure that a higher number of our deserving and qualified students, particularly those with science aptitudes can complete their college training.

At this time, some 50 Texas colleges and universities are participating in the loan plan, and Texas students have already been loaned a total of $1,000,000 in tuition to help them attend college.

Let me quote you excerpts from some of the letters leading Texas college officials have written about the student loan plan.

"I think this program is the best yet devised to help meet a serious problem facing our young people who are seeking higher education."

"Another administrator wrote—the loans are definitely of great value to our students, particularly since they have been faced this year by a necessary one-third raise in tuition. The demand for loans became so great that we asked for (and received) an additional allocation . . ."

One educator described the program as "a great blessing . . . to worthy students who would not be able to continue their education without such assistance."

One Texas college President reported that contrary to his earlier opinion, "this program has been received with overwhelming enthusiasm by the students, and I believe it is going to prove a significant factor in keeping capable young people in college, rather than seeking a job after they finish high school."

Some of the institutions participating and their loan allocation include: Howard Payne College at Brownwood, $42,500; University of Houston, $305,000; Lamar State College of Technology at Beaumont, $14,515; Prairie View Agricultural and Mechanical College.

The only major disappointment I have with the program is that the Board of Regents of Texas State Teachers College have not yet voted to let students in state schools participate. This despite the fact that a total student need of $140,000 was shown in state teachers colleges last year.

The students being denied this educational loan help are those at East Texas State College at Commerce, Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville, Sul Ross State Teachers College at Alpine, Southwest State Teachers College at San Marcos, and Stephen F. Austin State College at Nacogdoches.

It is my hope that the State Teachers College Board of Regent soon will recognize that the student loan is a sound program, and that they vote to let their state schools participate.

Known to God

All of us are known to God. Some are known by him alone. Some of the truly great characters of the Bible are known only by their deeds to us, not by name. Take for instance, the poor widow who gave the two mites, Mark 12:42. She gave us the great example of sacrifice. God's scales weigh not only what we give, but what we have left. All money does not have the same value. No life becomes real until it becomes sacrificial.

Another illustrious individual is known only as the good Samaritan, Luke 10:25-37. Most men want recognition. They will go to great extremes, if necessary, to obtain it. Not all can do the same for Christ. All can do his best. The Lord is keeping a record of our deeds—good and bad. Revelation 20:12. He also knows the motives behind the deeds. They are important too, 1 Cor. 13:1-3.

"Sparky Sez"

By Wille Word

Your Fire Department stood by last Thursday night while the traditional homecoming bon fire was burned. The wood was good and dry and the weather was likewise for the first time in the past four years. The fire was the hottest we have had. Most of you who witnessed the fire may have observed how far and how high the sparks traveled from this fire even though there was relatively no wind. The potential dangers of fires and what they might do in the event of a large fire and a ravaging wind could well be imagined. Even the burning of trash in a barrel might cause a fire as far as three blocks away so when you intend to burn trash, try to ascertain the wind direction and velocity of the near future before you light the fire and make sure that all the fire is out before you leave it unattended. The fire department answered a call on Sunday afternoon on Southwest Third St. which was a fire of grass and weeds on a vacant lot caused from trash blowing out of a trash barrel adjacent to the lot. It would be a good idea to burn the high weeds and grass off lots next to your property but the time should be when the wind is not too high and it is from a direction least likely to endanger surrounding property. Most of you who have lived in this part of the country at least one winter know that from now until late in March of next year that a cold front is likely to come breezing through here at any time of the day or night and an unattended fire is likely to spread with the increased winds and a fire of this type is hardest to control because of the high winds so make sure when you burn trash that we are not likely to have one of these fronts breeze through before your fire is completely out.

We received a generous donation from Mr. John L. Merritt for our efforts to try and help him when he had his prairie fire. The fire had been extinguished by the time we arrived but he thanked us for answering his call for help and showed his appreciation by donating generously to the department. Thanks from all of us, "Jump".

I have had the pleasure of speaking before the Dimmitt Jay-Cees, the Mulkey Four H Club, and the Jumbo Four H Club about fire prevention and demonstrate some of the greatest hazards around the home. I have had good audience participation by trying to answer some of the questions and I think the people will be more fire-conscious in the future. The demonstration is designed to let you see some of the hazards that exist everyday in your home such as the use of "spray net" etc. It might do each of you good to read the entirety of the labels affixed to many of the spray products used in your home and try to realize the dangers that exist if not properly used. Many of these products are highly inflammable even though they are not marked so on the container. For your information, you can assume that about 90 per cent of all products in spray cans is flammable and should not be used near an open flame or near an electric heater where coils are exposed.

How many of you who have stayed in a hotel in the past year have taken the trouble to check possible exits and check to see what fire hazards exist in the building. Many people perish in hotel fires each year and many of them perish just because they did not take the time to check the whereabouts of the exits they might have used. You should have at least two routes picked for your escape before you retire. I read an article recently where one lady led twelve people out of a burning building to safety and she was the only one of the group that had taken the trouble to ascertain what exits she would use in the event of a fire. If it had not been for the thoughtfulness of that one woman, the other twelve people would have perished because there wasn't one of the others who knew where the exits were. It is better to be safe than sorry. It might be a good idea to look about you when you check into a hotel and see whether or not it looks to be in a relatively fire safe condition. Many of them are not and especially the smaller ones.

A fireman's organization, conducting a ticket-selling campaign for their annual dance, used this slogan: "You come to our dance and we'll come to your fire!"

Cool heads may keep some men out of trouble, but with most it is cold feet.

Here are some fire facts and questions:

Every two minutes fire damages someone's home in a United States city. There were 300,000 residential fires recorded in the U. S. during 1958, in communities of 2,500 and over. This includes us.

1. Have you provided special circuits for heavy duty appliances such as washing machines, refrigerators, deep freeze boxes, etc., instead of overloading the electric circuit in your home? Yes—No.

2. Are gas burning appliances, such as room heaters, provided in sleeping quarters or rooms generally kept closed, vented and equipped with an automatic pilot? Yes—No.

3. Did you know that approximately two-thirds of all home fires and other fires occur in the night. Yes—No.

Gals who know their onions marry men with lots of lettuce and end up with plenty of carrots.

Walter Rogers' WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

Most of us have observed a surveyor at work along the streets and roads of communities and rural areas. Many of us have also noted a movie-cameraman at work. Both of these professions often employ a device called a tripod upon which rests the instrument to be used. In order for the surveyor and the cameraman to accurately draw their sights, it is necessary that the tripod be adjusted so that the instrument presents a level and steady view. If one of the legs of the tripod is too short or too long, the surveyor gets an inaccurate sight and the cameraman a distorted picture.

This is the same principle upon which our Federal Government functions, and it is the embodiment of principles incorporated in our Constitution by its framers. When one branch of our tripartite system—either the executive, legislative or judicial—either falls short or extends itself, an inaccurate or distorted situation exists and an imbalance of constitutional powers occurs. Many believe that recent decisions handed down by the Supreme Court—the Judicial branch of our government—indicate an extension of the powers granted that body constitutionally.

The analogy is that one leg of the tripod is extended. Certainly, many of these recent decisions of the Court have produced an inaccurate or distorted sight or view of the system of checks and balances which we enjoy as our governmental heritage. This imbalance results from the present vestment of the Supreme Court with powers based upon precedent which tend to constitute it a dictatorial tribunal from which there is no appeal. Some of these powers have been exercised recently, and it is this exercise of power which is causing great alarm.

Many suggestions and remedies as to how to deal with this situation have been offered. They range from "complete abolishment of the Court" to "complete acknowledgment of the judicial power and the underwriting of it by statute." Certainly, neither of these two extremes would serve the best interest, and I will tell you something else. I've been against every damnable of them!

terests of our county, and the true answer rests in spelling out the original intent of the framers of our Constitution so the judiciary shall not have the right or power to override the intent of the Congress. The Supreme Court has the power and the exercise of power to determine whether law passed by the Congress and signed by the President violates our Constitution. It would seem to me, therefore, the key to the problem lies in the limitation of that power. This being the present case, it is highly questionable that this could be done by statute, since the Supreme Court could declare any law passed by the Congress unconstitutional.

I have, therefore, introduced legislation in the House of Representatives which would provide for a Constitutional Amendment limiting the power of the Supreme Court. This Resolution provides that the declaration by the Supreme Court of the unconstitutionality of any public law passed by the Congress may be overridden by the Congress in the same manner that presidential vetoes of laws passed by the Congress are overridden. Since it is a Constitutional Amendment, it must be ratified by the legislatures of 3/4 of the several states. It is my feeling that such procedure will provide a true voice and feeling of the people as well as arrest the trend toward further concentration of power in Washington.

(Although this is addressed to Chevrolet owners, we'd be glad to have you read it, no matter what make you now own or plan to buy. It might well be as interesting and significant to you as to the Chevrolet owner.)

TO THE MORE THAN 16 MILLION PEOPLE WHO OWN CHEVROLETS

The first and the latest—the 1912 and the 1960 Chevrolet. The progress represented here is the result of continuing efforts to make your new Chevrolet always more beautiful, more useful and more valuable in every respect.

You belong to the largest family of owners in the automotive world. We hope you're proud of that. It must give you great satisfaction to know that your judgment in choosing Chevrolet has been confirmed by so many other people. We know that we can hold your preference and your loyalty only by meeting our responsibilities to you fully and completely from the day you buy your Chevrolet to the day you trade it in. And so we'd like to talk with you about our responsibilities as we see them, and what we are doing to meet them. Our first responsibility, we think, is clear: To design and build products that satisfy your needs and your wants to the highest possible degree. To that end, we have done these things for 1960:

More room, more quiet and comfortable, easier to handle and maneuver. Introduced the compact and revolutionary Corvair. Produced a new line of Chevrolet trucks with unprecedented advances in efficiency, cargo handling, driver comfort and ability to get a job done. But it isn't enough to design and build the kinds of products you want. They must be built right. Solidly. Carefully. Let us assure you of this: Chevrolet's fine reputation as a solid, well-built, dependable product is being safeguarded by more checks and inspections and tests, than ever before. Along with your Chevrolet dealer, we want you to have available the finest and most complete service facilities. That is why we: Conduct training schools for Chevrolet dealer mechanics. Study and recommend improved service equipment and techniques. Maintain the industry's most complete parts warehouse system. Finally, neither Chevrolet nor your Chevrolet dealer has any intention of forgetting you after you buy. To help keep you happy with your Chevrolet, we have established a department new to us, and so far as we know, new to the automobile industry. This is the Chevrolet Department of Owner Relations, whose only job is the coordination of Chevrolet and Chevrolet dealer activities so that you enjoy utmost satisfaction during your entire period of ownership. Through this department, and through all the other extraordinary steps we are taking, Chevrolet and your Chevrolet dealer hope to keep you a happy member of the Chevrolet owner family.

BECAUSE OF IT'S GREAT MERIT, DEPTH AND CLARITY OF POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY

JOE COWEN AGENT

has permission to reprint as a public service an address

DR. BRYON R. ABERNETT

A Texas Liberal, On October 20, 1959

Last Saturday night it was my privilege to hear former President Truman discuss what he considered to be the desirable qualifications for the next President of the United States. This is a popular topic for conversation today, and is the subject of numerous articles and columns in American publications. But in 1960, we will elect not only a President of the United States. We will also choose a vice-president, members of the United States Senate and of the national House of Representatives. In Texas, we will choose a Governor, numerous state administrative officials, members of our state legislature, and a multitude of county and local government officials; and you and I, as voters and participants in party conventions, shall also assume roles of public responsibility. So, as important as the presidency is, it occurs to me that we should not become entirely preoccupied with that office to the exclusion of some others closer to home. In keeping them with this general pattern, I should like to explore with you briefly some qualities which I should like to see in any man elected or appointed to any public office—from justice of the peace to including the President of the United States. And these same qualities I suggest are to be desired in every man and woman who becomes politically active in his party conventions, and who exercises the sacred privileges and responsibilities of the ballot.

These are complicated and difficult times in which it is given to you and me to live. As a nation, we vie for the very right to long survive in a world of intense international rivalry. We suffer from a loss of international prestige, under a leadership satisfied with second-best performance on many levels, a leadership content to say we could have gotten to the moon first if we had wanted to and if we had given that goal priority. We drift for want of leadership with the imagination, the vigor, and the idealism to inspire ourselves and the world to place priorities on something other than hydrogen bombs and a balanced budget.

In our states we face the great challenges of inadequate finances, antiquated machinery of government, the failure and breakdown of many state services. At a time when we cry about state's rights, we prove unequal to the state's deep needs of our day.

Political unrest grows in our communities, in our states, in our nation, and in our world. Political ferment is a growing reality for those with the eyes to see it. And we stand on the threshold of the decade of the 1960's when many problems, already too long unsolved, must be met and resolved. And these problems of our communities, our states, our country and our world, will be solved with meanness or with greatness, depending upon the kind of men you and I vest with political power in our party organizations, our cities and counties, our states, and our nation in 1960, and in the years that follow.

The challenges of the 60's in every level and every phase of government and of life are great. What kind of public servant will be equal to tasks which they present?

FIRST, the public official of the 60's must be intelligent. He must be capable of understanding the needs of his day, and of foreseeing and anticipating the needs of the future. He must have the capacity to comprehend the forces at work in the society he serves, and to recognize whether these forces tend. He must have the vision of what the future can hold for his locality, his state or his nation. And he must have the imagination and intelligence to devise and promote methods for achieving the full potentialities of that future. The sixties call for men in public life who will be "leaders of great causes" not the "brokers of little ones"; men who are wiser than they are shrewd. The shrewdness, the back room manipulations, the huckster's clinches of the 1950's have proved an inadequate substitute for intelligent leadership, and in the 1960's they must and they will give way to intelligence and to greatness. And the Democrats of this country have their fair warning in last week's Gallup poll which shows a 9 percent drop in the confidence of American voters in the Democratic Party since last May. If the Democratic Party is to recover and retain voter confidence, it must have leadership at all levels that is characterized by intelligence and greatness, not by mediocrity.

SECOND, the public official and the party worker of the sixties must be a deeply religious, a moral and an idealistic man—his religious convictions must reach beyond piety alone to embrace deep personal commitments concerning what is noble and just and Godly in his everyday dealings with his fellow men, and in his every exercise of public power, to provide him with firm and demanding standards of conduct, from which he cannot depart and still live with himself. His concepts of morality must embrace economic, social and political morality. He must be the kind of man who sees religious and moral implications in every exercise of public power; in the honest of his public statements—even during political campaigns; in the respect of betrayal of public trust; and in the keeping or breaking of an agreement made in good faith at a political convention. The participant in party conventions, and the voter in his voting booth must be the sort of person who sees religious and moral significance in the part he plays in precinct, county, state and national conventions, and in the way he casts his ballot.

The immediate future calls for public leadership by men religiously dedicated to what appears to me to be one of the really great and deep messages about humanity which Jesus gave up—namely, that there is in every man something of the divine, a sacred soul which no man of God would seal or destroy in persistent, ruthless, political persecution, or in any form of exploitation, or oppression. He must have a religious and moral regard for the individual dignity of every human being. He must be a man of great and noble beliefs, for great beliefs make great people, while small beliefs make small people. He must be the kind of man whose religious and moral dedication leaves him no alternative but to pursue the right in every cause; who can say with John Adams, when he was confronted with the choice between taking publicly his stand for what he knew was right, or doing what he knew in his heart was wrong, but socially approved—

"There is no choice left but to take the side which appears to be just . . . and trust in Providence for the protection of truth and right."

THIRD, the public official we seek for today and tomorrow must be dedicated to the service of all of the people, all of the time. He must be impervious to pressures from any special interest not consistent with the public interest. He must be able to withstand the pressures for special privilege from any source—the political right or left. This is not the time for what Schlesinger has referred to as a "vulgar liberalism" which merely picks up where the old idea that government should do favors for business leaves off, and adds thereto the demand that government do favors for other organized groups too. We need men in the public service dedicated to the proposition that there is an "over-riding public interest" which alone must be served by government at every level, and to which every special interest no matter how highly organized, or how powerful, must be subordinated.

FOURTH, he must be a leader in the finest sense, not a follower. His intelligence, his capacity for greatness, his religious and moral beliefs, his dedication to the public welfare, must find effective expression, and must be reflected in public policies which he is able and willing to initiate, defend, and justify in the public mind. The challenges before us today no longer permit us the luxury of those so-called leaders with whom we are so familiar, who first try to
