Junior College Record Is Short But Impressive at Santa Ana Re-assignment Base

Although Cisco Junior college has been in operation only five years, including the term closed June, its record in the number of students who have gone from class rooms to other schools, fields of business, into teaching or into the military service of their country, forms an impressive record of the value of this community college to Cisco and the boys and girls of this area. Records show that 140 boys who took training and schooling at Cisco Junior college are now in the armed forces, approximately three-fourths of them holding ranks from that of lieutenant to major, inclusive. That, within itself, is a striking example of the service the school has performed.

One hundred and seven girls took commercial training at the college are now occupying their civil service positions in wartime or doing secretarial and related work in business offices. How many of these girls could have taken these positions without the opportunity for training at a home college may be conjectured, but the percentage would have been small and the cost of obtaining this training at institutions distant from Cisco would have been great.

And that is not all. Thirty-seven students who received training at the college to them for positions of teaching are now actively engaged in teaching work in the schools of the state. Each of these was able to obtain the training at home at small expense to themselves compared with the cost of going to college elsewhere.

To cite further example of the value of the college to Cisco and community, it may be pointed out that 31 students in Junior college during the first four years of its operation—years when enrollment was severely cut by the war—have gone on to senior college and university and have either completed their courses in these schools or are now pursuing such courses to degrees. This does not include boys who were sent to senior colleges after they entered the military service. It does not include any of this year's graduates who may attend senior college. Of the 31, twelve are graduates of the Junior college, which is a splendid record in view of the fact that during the four years

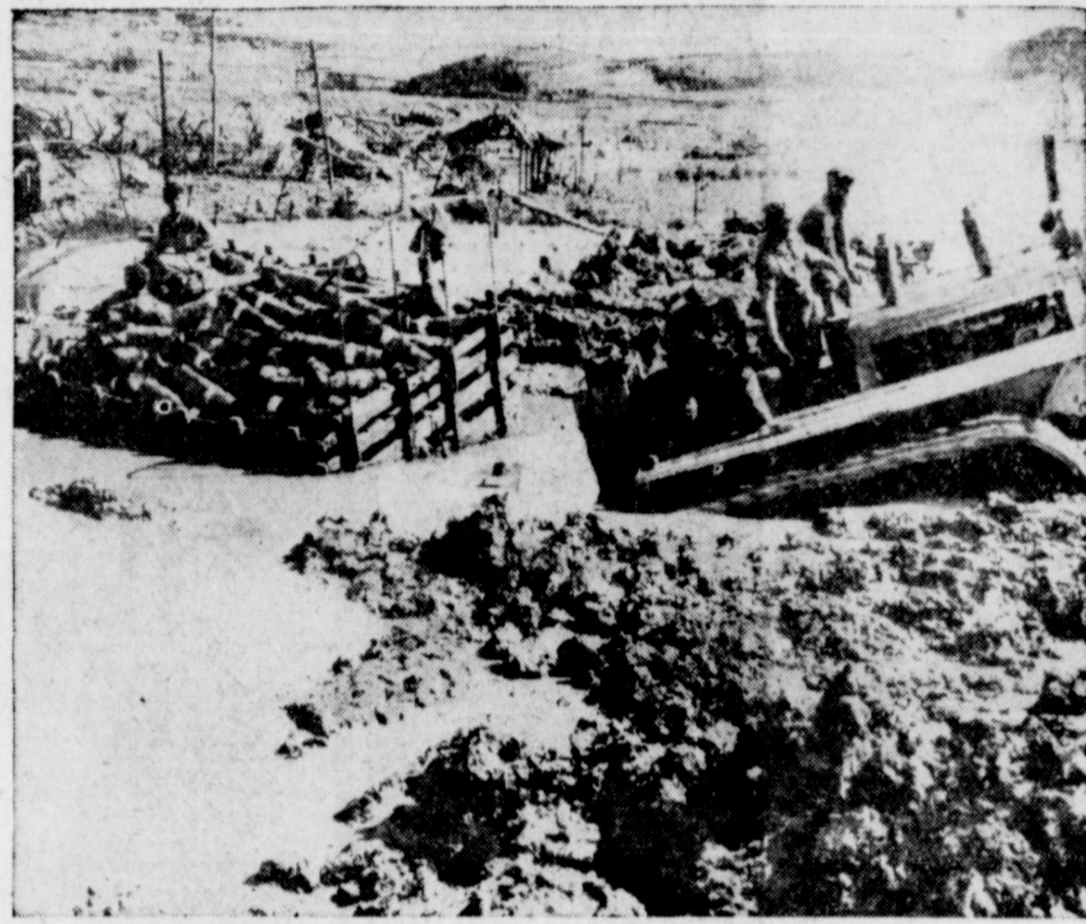

SANTA ANA, Calif. — Capt. James C. Paschall, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Crigler Paschall, Rising Star highway, Cisco, is currently assigned to AAF redistribution station No. 4 at this army air base.

Sapt. Paschall, P-38 pilot in the Ninth air force, with 70 combat missions to his credit, entered the service June 8, 1942, and went overseas in March, 1944. He has been awarded the purple heart, the distinguished flying cross, the air medal with ten oak leaf clusters and the distinguished unit citation; also the European theater ribbon with four battle stars. At this redistribution station, an operation of the personnel distribution command, combat returnees of the AAF receive complete medical examinations, classification interviews and reassignment to domestic stations of the army air forces.

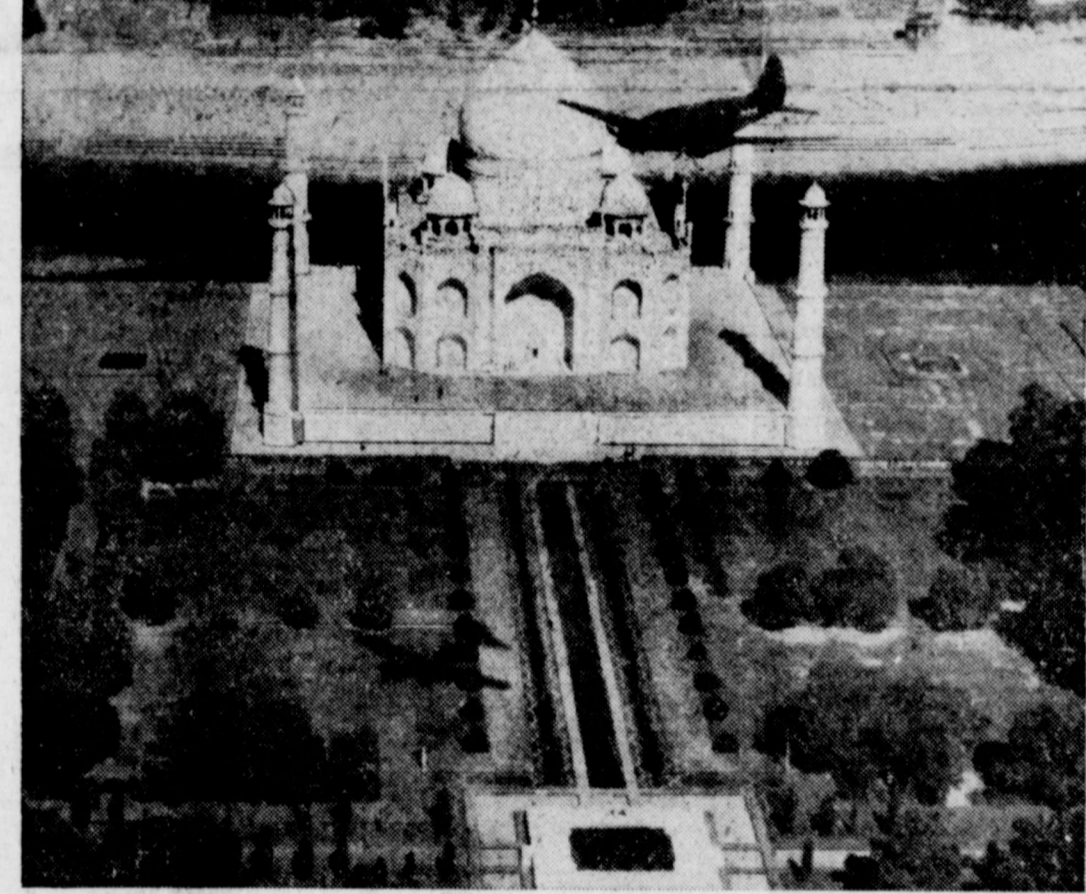

CARSWELL TO A. & M. Robert B. Carswell, 17, son of Mrs. R. B. Carswell, enrolled at A. & M. College Tuesday under the army's specialized training reserve program. The young man will wear the army uniform and the ASTRP insignia and pursue regular college courses selected to best fit him for army assignment. Carswell was one of four Cisco boys who met the stiff army requirements in an examination held at Cisco high school some weeks ago, conducted by O. L. Stamey, principal.

PIONEER NEAR DEATH. J. H. Burkett of Clyde, father of Omar Burkett of near Cisco and Joe Burkett of San Antonio, is dangerously ill in a Baird hospital and little hope was entertained Saturday for his recovery because of his advanced age, 85. The sick man, a pioneer farmer of Callahan and Eastland counties and widely known as the developer of the popular Burkett pecan, has been ill for sometime.

there were only about 60 full graduates of the college. What the college will mean to the Cisco area after the war, when enrollment will not be interfered with by the demands of the military services, may be easily seen from this record of what it has done during the war years.

JAPS HAVE ALLY—Muddy rivers conspire with die-hard Japs to make mopping up a rugged business on Okinawa. Although island is tactically secured, there is much to be done before it becomes a giant base for bombers raiding Japan. Here tractor drags ammunition trailer out of mire

PILOTS' DELIGHT—Weary pilot glides C-46 cargo plane past Taj Mahal throwing plane's shadow on formal garden. The famous Mogul monument completed in 1650 is welcome sight to veteran pilots of India-Burma Service Command. It means brief respite at India Air Depot

No Soldier Bonus Bill This Year, Say the Experts

WASHINGTON, July 7.—There will be no soldier Bonus Bill at this session of congress, political experts say. If congress passes a bill next year, it will be fresh in the minds of veteran-voters on election day.

Rep. Rankin still favors his plan to give all vets $1040. But Vets' organizations prefer bill of Rep. Lesinski (D. Mich.) basing the bonus on length of service with extra credit for overseas duty.

Meanwhile Veterans Administration will urge congress to revise GI Bill of Rights to increase number of loans for homes, businesses, farms. It says term "reasonable normal value" in law has prevented many loans; wants this changed to "reasonable market value."

Spies Attempting to Kill MacArthur Caught, Executed

MANILA, July 7.—Army authorities revealed Saturday that a series of daring and carefully planned Japanese attempts to assassinate General MacArthur have been foiled in recent months. Specially trained Japanese civilians and soldiers were sent into Manila to seek out and kill the commander-in-chief of army forces in the Pacific.

The Japs had hand grenades concealed on their persons and all were caught and executed as spies. The enemy spies were sent to the capital from the town of Montalban, about 30 miles north-east of Manila. Montalban was the place where they were given hasty training at an improvised spy school. The school was conducted by a Jap intelligence officer from Manila's notorious Fort Santiago.

This Jap officer fled from Manila after the American entry into the city and took with him civilians whom he later trained in espionage. Although some of the spies succeeded in reaching Manila they were caught and none came close to accomplishing his mission.

C. M. TURNER DIES. C. M. Turner, 66, brother of O. R. Turner of Cisco, died in a Stamford hospital Tuesday and was buried Thursday in the family burying ground near Stamford. Deceased was an outstanding farmer and citizen of Jones county and was held in the highest esteem by friends and neighbors. While he was in hospital his neighbors turned out en masse and carried on the farm work. Mr. Turner was a native of Mississippi, a bachelor and a member of the Baptist church. His mother, who is 95 years of age, lived with him.

BOARD SAVES RAPIST. AUSTIN, July 7.—Gov. Coke Stevenson today commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of Louis Albert Klander, Houston defense plant worker, convicted of the rape of a young girl. Stevenson, in announcing his decision, said: "I feel that I have no choice but to follow the recommendations of the majority of the board."

ALASKA BASEBALL. BARROW, Alaska, July 7.—A baseball game finished by the light of the midnight sun climaxed the Independence Day celebration for Whites and Eskimos at the American outpost out on the North's horizon. The Eskimos won the game, played on the deep sand of the ocean shore, 24-14.

Miss Suzanne McAfee, accompanied by her father, J. C. McAfee, returned to Dallas Saturday after a visit here with her cousin, Miss Mary Sue O'Flaherty.

GEN. GEIGER OF THE MARINES SAYS: "WE CAN LAND IN JAPAN ANY TIME WE DESIRE TO"

PEARL HARBOR, July 7.—The Japanese today probably wished they had minded their own business eight years ago instead of attacking China.

On the eighth anniversary of the opening of the tortuous Far Eastern conflict, Japan faced this picture:

Flames licked across five of her war centers after probably the heaviest fire raid of the war by more than 600 Superfortresses. The great fleet of bombers loosed 4000 tons of demolition and fire bombs on five Honshu cities. Tokyo admitted the fires from the gasoline bombs still burned.

Lt. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, new commander of the U. S. fleet's Marine force, said Japan was ripe for invasion now.

"Now it is just a question of wading in and finishing this war," Geiger told a press conference here.

Geiger said American troops can land in Japan "any time we want to," and he added:

"Any Japanese at home who thinks that Japan has a chance is crazy."

Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, declared flatly that it would take more than overwhelming air power to beat Japan — "it will take invasion."

"We must meet them personally and kill them . . . on their home ground," said Stilwell.

A big buildup for future operations was under way in the Southeast Asia Command, according to a British radio report, which said it looked like England before D-Day. The broadcast revealed that battle-tested veterans of the British Army were streaming into Southeast Asia.

Radio Tokyo reported that a British naval task force yesterday cleared mines in the waters southeast of Car Nicobar Island, 200 miles north of Sumatra and on the sea lanes to Singapore. The Japanese broadcast said the fleet included 14 warships and two aircraft carriers.

Australian troops on Borneo seized control of Balikpapan Bay by a shore-to-shore operation which carried them to the west shore of the bay. They already held the east side with the capture of Balikpapan itself. There was fighting in the Pandansari refinery area at Balikpapan, and beyond Manggar airdrome 12 miles east of the city. Enemy resistance stiffened.

The Chinese made more progress in driving out the Japanese troops who invaded them eight years ago. On the Kwangsi front they recaptured Finsiang, and chased fleeing enemy forces to the French Indo-China border. Finsiang is 11 miles from the frontier town of Dong Dang.

Last night's targets for the Superfortresses were the Shimotzu oil center, 30 miles southwest of Osaka; Akashi, 25 miles west of Osaka; Ohba, 16 miles southeast of Tokyo; Kofu, 60 miles west of the capital, and the seaport of Shimizu.

It was the first time the 20th Air Force hit five targets in a single raid. Returning crews reported "terrific" fires were started.

Oklahoma Man's Wild Charge Is Not Supported

WASHINGTON, July 7.—An alleged "legal" Wall Street scheme to deprive the treasury of $500,000,000 in taxes each year is under investigation by congress.

The scheme was described on the house floor as "the biggest rape of industry and raid on the federal treasury ever dreamed up by mind of man."

Rep. Lyle H. Boren, (Democrat, Oklahoma), who made the charges, said a group of "shrewd manipulators" had banded together to create a "Swindle, Inc." Boren, who presented no facts to support his charges, told the house that "Swindle, Inc." not only is designed to cut tax payments while manipulators reap "fortunes," but freezes out the small investor.

"It's a simple scheme," he said. "Wall Street bankers would convert the $18,000,000,000 private utility industry to a form of tax free but fake public ownership by the formation of 'nonprofit' corporations. These corporations then issue bonds against the revenue of the property. . . ."

"The former tax revenue would not be passed on to the public in reduced electric rates as at present, but diverted to their own pockets in the form of interest on these revenue bonds."

Excess Profits Industries May President Tells Taxes Should Be Spent 450 Bil- China War Is In Cut at End War lions Next Year Its Final Phase

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Personal income tax payers—including the little fellows—can expect little from Fred M. Vinson who has been chosen to become secretary of the treasury next month. Vinson believes excess profits taxes on business should be repealed immediately after Japan is whipped. He would write post-war tax bills to encourage capital to take job-making risks. But he believes the personal income tax base should be broad—that is, the exemptions should be low. Actually, of course, congress writes the tax laws, but the recommendations of the treasury usually weigh heavily on tax matters.

196 POLIO CASES. AUSTIN, July 7.—The state health department today reported 196 new cases of polio in the state in June, as compared with 11 new patients in June, 1944, and 84 in June 1943. Seven-year median for the week is four cases.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Commerce department estimates that industries will spend $450,500,000,000 in the next year for new factories, equipment and alterations. Highest previous outlay (1929) was $2,750,000,000. Just before the war industry was spending only about $1,500,000,000 a year this way. The public has plenty of idle money to finance this program, since about $3,000,000,000 a month is being put away in banks, bonds and socks.

AIRPLANES SOLD. DALLAS, July 7.—Sixty-six surplus airplanes ranging in price from $112 to $25,000 were sold by the Reconstruction Finance corporation during the last half of June, L. B. Glidden, Dallas RFC manager, said. The majority sold at prices ranging from $875 to $1,500. One purchaser in Roanoke, Va., bought 19 used Ryan PT-22's.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—President Truman sent a message to Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek today saying that "the task of crushing Japanese militarism is in its final phase." Mr. Truman's message marked the eighth anniversary of China's fight against the Japanese invader—a fight which began at the Manchurian border in July, 1937.

DICK McCARTY PASSES. Col. Dick McCarty, well known in Cisco, was buried Thursday at Albany, where he had published the Albany News for more than 40 years. Born in Tennessee, Mr. McCarty came to Texas in 1871. He was admitted to the bar in 1899 and served two terms as county judge of Shackelford county. He was 88 years of age and had been totally blind for several years. After his purchase of the News in 1902, he worked incessantly for the upbuilding of Albany and Shackelford county and was generally regarded as one of the county's most valuable men.

CHURCHES.

First Methodist.
Is Jesus disappointed in your city? Jesus was never fooled by the attitude of the multitudes. He knew the vast majority of people did not hear him gladly. He knew their motives were selfish. This did not keep him from ministering to their needs and lavishing the deep compassion of his sensitive heart upon them. But it called forth some utterances of keen disappointment. If the people of such cities as Chorazin, Bethsaida and Capernaum had listened to Jesus gladly, these bitter words would not have fallen from his lips: "Woe unto thee, Chorazin! woe unto thee, Bethsaida; for if the mighty works, which were done in you, had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes. But I say unto you, it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the day of judgment, than for you. And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted unto heaven, shall be brought down to hell; for if the mighty works, which have been done in thee, had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day." If Jesus had believed that his welcome by the people in Jerusalem was evidence of their understanding of his real mission in the world and their willingness to follow him to the consummation of that mission, I hardly think Luke would have described him in these words: "When he was come near, he beheld the city and wept over it, saying, 'If thou hadst known, even thou, at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! but now they are hid from thine eyes.'" Is Jesus disappointed with our city? He surely must be when the majority of us desecrate the Sabbath day and refuse to keep it holy. Do you think He is satisfied with your way of keeping the Sabbath? Do you think He is satisfied with policies without principles, wealth without work, pleasure without conscience, knowledge without character, industry without morality, science without humanity, worship without sacrifice? PRODUCTION FOR USE.

J. B. Priestly, novelist, has been campaigning for John Pudney, candidate for a Seat in the House of Commons. Americans find much in his speeches with which they can agree. For instance: "We have the choice of two worlds after the war. We can go back to the lunatic world in which we lived for 20 years between the two wars, the world in which men believed that finance was real and men and material were somehow not real. It was a world of inevitable decay and one which must lead to war. If we choose that kind of world again, we will eventually be underground making rockets and all living the life of idiots. No, we must live in a world where production is for use and service.

European war. The need for houses is just as great a national emergency now as the need for guns was in 1940. I have talked with many technical men and they all tell me that the industry of this country can be swung into production of houses and refrigerators in a very short time."

So far, so good. But when Priestley says free enterprise will wreck his country and prevent the good life for British children, it is harder to keep step with him. "Production for Use" sounds reasonable — profits small enough and prices low enough so every citizen may have what he needs. But without any personal incentive such as hope of profit offers, who will produce at all?

There is a balance which takes into account facts of human nature as well as theoretical economics. It may never be fully attained, but people can keep on trying. Enterprise without just restraint does indeed lead to destruction, but so does too strong governmental control.

The whole of government consists in the art of being honest.—Thomas Jefferson.

A toast to the signers of our Declaration of Independence and to our serious-minded men who have kept that love for liberty bright in the minds of men and women of America through the years.

Especially do we pay tribute to the brave young men of our nation who have kept aloft the banner of freedom in foreign fields of battle in the small as well as the large islands and countries where duty for their country has called.

We congratulate our returning soldiers who are home for a rest and recuperation before again following the commands and needs of the nation.

Independence Day carries with it the responsibilities of the men and women who are carrying on at home. We must keep the ideals of liberty and freedom ever bright, and continue to teach the younger generation reverence for what this date means to us and to the world at large for which it seems we are to be greatly responsible.
