2 BIG DAYS THIS WEEK, LAKE CISCO

J. M. Cooper, county agricultural agent, announces that plans are complete for the five-county 4-H club camp at Lake Cisco — Thursday and Friday of this week.

More than 150 people — club boys, their dads and local leaders — are scheduled to attend the two-day meeting.

Besides 4-H club boys from this county, other counties planning to bring boys are Palo Pinto, Stephens, Shackelford and Callahan.

The camp will open at 9:30 tomorrow morning with registrations, after which an assembly will be held to elect a camp chairman.

Following the assembly period the routine camp activities such as baseball, track, swimming, pole pillow fighting and boxing will begin. A tour of Cisco's state fish hatchery is also on the program.

Ribbons and medals are to be awarded to the winning boys in the various activities.

Every Eastland county 4-H club boy is invited to the camp. The total cost is $1 each. Food is to be brought from home. A chef from Stephens county will do the cooking.

Will Hunt Coming Home After Long Absence Overseas

After 27 months overseas, Staff Sgt. Will Hunt has notified his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hunt of 614 east Twelfth street, Cisco, that he has arrived in San Antonio and expects to reach the old home town soon to spend a 45-day furlough.

Sergeant Hunt was with the famous 36th division and saw service in North Africa, Italy, France and Germany. He possesses a presidential citation, a bronze star, good conduct medal and five battle stars.

The young man — 25 years of age — was born in Breckenridge but was reared in Cisco. He joined the army in January, 1941. A brother, Private Jack Hunt, is at home now from Camp Hood and will remain here until Sergeant Hunt arrives.

REAL BUDDIES—S/Sgt. Carl H. Shedlock, left, is offered cigar by S/Sgt. Cornelius J. Harrington, both New Yorkers, at "Barbed Wire Legion" meeting in New York, for former POW's in Germany. Growing up in same neighborhood, they joined Army together, were prisoners and liberated at same time.

19 Bodies Taken From Rio Grande River in 1 Week

Texas Gasoline Tax Collections Up 3 Millions

EDINBURG, Aug. 1. — Hidalgo county officers, who have hauled approximately thirty bodies from the Rio Grande since the first of the year, doubt that any organized murder-robbery gang is preying upon aliens crossing the stream as "wetbacks" to seek work on Valley farms.

"There is no organized murder gang operating along the banks of the river in Hidalgo county," said Chief Deputy Sheriff E. E. Vickers of Edinburg. "We have recovered about thirty bodies from the river since the first of the year. There may have been a slight increase in the last few weeks, but there are also an unusual number crossing. The bodies recovered represented only a small percentage of the number who have traveled back and forth."

Added Vickers: "I would say that 99 per cent of the cases are accidental drowning and the others show no definite indication of violence."

East of here, in Cameron county, officers in one week took nineteen bodies from the international stream and commented that an organized ring might be attacking the wetbacks to take money from them after they had earned it in the Valley.

BROADCAST SHOWS NIP CONFUSION

GUAM, Aug. 1. — The terror of life in a land writhing and burning beneath the greatest bombardment of all times is reflected fully in Japanese propaganda broadcasts, becoming daily more tense as B-29 and Navy attacks mount in fury.

"We are enduring the impossible, with grinding teeth and clenched fist, when we see enemy planes penetrating our homeland and proudly flying over our heads, cry the Nipponese propagandists.

The horror that there must be today in once-proud Tokyo is apparent in another broadcast which described matter-of-factly how the great majority of remaining Tokyo residents, living underground, "desire to be provided with the minimum amount of goods and services necessary for subsistence."

A picture of thousands of injured hovering in dark underground shelters doubtless prompted the broadcasters to add: "Other goods of which they are in great need are medicines essential to the maintenance of life in air-raid shelters."

Although Japan's propaganda machine gives a Pollyanna ending to every story of personal injury, tragedy glares through. There is the case of the Japanese who explained that although he lost his home and all his possessions in a B-29 raid, he got to see some raiders crash and that was worth the price of admission. And, he added, next time he saw a B-29 crash he wouldn't have to pay any admission price — because he had nothing left to pay.

Another picture that shone through the broadcasts: Once-wealthy officials of the Hanshin Iron and Steel corporation in Tokyo creeping by night to the charred ruins of their factory to salvage iron for the government collection drive. The broadcast wasn't intended to depict the ruins and the furtive creeping about by night; it was intended to urge civilians to greater scrap-collecting efforts.

Japan's battlefront soldiers now are fighting an easier war than the homefolk, another broadcast reveals: "It is soldiers in the front lines that are sending comfort bags to folks at home. Hold that line, mother! is the battle cry of every Japanese soldier."

One propagandist acknowledged that "today destruction is even greater than at the time of the great earthquake; and destruction is not confined to one blow but continues to mount in extent."

Huge Losses. — SAN FRANCISCO. — Unprecedented American sea and air power knocked out 1,546 Japanese vessels and more than 1,330 planes in the mikado's front yard during July and promised to reach new heights this month with flights of 1,200 Superforts packing 8,000 ton bomb loads.

An imperial communique promised that preparations were being made to meet an invasion. But there was so little sign of fight that Associated Press War Correspondent Richard K. O'Malley, riding with the Allied fleet that has been cruising Japanese waters for more than three weeks, commented:

"Japan seems to be waging a sitdown war."

Carrier planes from Admiral Halsey's fleet, apparently still in Japanese waters ready to strike again; contributed most of July's astounding total of enemy ship and plane destruction.

REUNITED—French journalist Rene Lavigne embraces his wife, French WAC Lucienne Marchand, on her arrival in New York. Captain Marchand, underground leader, was sent to the United States for nationwide tour under auspices of French Forever. Her husband escaped the Gestapo in 1941 and came to this country as editor of "Le Monde Libre."

LEADERSHIP IS NEEDED SAYS HOUSE

Lions were favored today with a musical program by Miss Rose Ann Woods and Mrs. H. B. Dierdorff, and then heard Boyce House in his inimitable story-teller role, following a few remarks concerning developments at Austin and legislation that he thought highly needed and proper. Other guests were Corp. Roy Westfall, R. N. Cluck, B. A. Butler, R. L. Ponsler and Melvin Sandler.

Miss Woods appeared to be in top form in her violin program which she said had seemed to please her soldier audiences in New York hospitals where she had played. She said she hoped it might please these Lions, and it evidently did, judging from the response she received. Mrs. Dierdorff, an artist herself, played her piano accompaniment in a way to add to Miss Woods' interpretations.

Leadership Needed. — "Texas needs leadership," declared Mr. House, Fort Worth newspaper-radio columnist, in his remarks to the Lions. The author of "I Give You Texas" cited three recent developments at the state capital:

The placing of the University of Texas on probation—"national publicity that Texas could very well do without;" the upheaval in the state game, fish and oyster commission — "and nobody, not even the governor, seems to know what is behind it;" the discovery that the number of inmates of the state prison system has been reduced from 7,000 to 3,000 apparently because of the policy followed with reference to pardons and paroles.

On this last subject, House pointed out that the great decrease in convicts has come at a time when crime has greatly increased in the state. He criticized a system that permits a man who is sentenced to two years to be turned loose in four months and a half.

House said it was the duty of all good citizens to inform themselves upon the proposed constitutional amendments to be voted upon August 25 and to take the time to vote. He expressed the hope that the people will overwhelmingly approve the amendment that gives Texans in the armed forces the right to vote without having to pay a poll tax.

After reciting a number of laugh provoking Texas jokes House closed with an appeal for the same cooperation, courage and patriotism in dealing with the problems of peace as have been manifested in waging the war.

Cisco Oldtimers Assembling Here to Rest Up, Fish

Otho Kean of Stephenville and Harry Schaefer of Eldorado, Ark., both Cisco old-timers, are back in the home town for a brief period of recreation.

Armed with the latest fishing paraphernalia, they went to Lake Cisco this afternoon to prepare for a fish dinner scheduled for the evening hour. Both are good fishermen, if practice means anything, and they will very likely come home with a good supply — even if forced to invade state fish hatchery preserves, near the lake.

Mr. Kean mentioned that Edgar Butts of Craig, Colo., another Cisco native who has had much fishing experience, is expected to arrive here Sunday to rest up, fish and see relatives and old friends. Butts, brother of Miss Mary Jane Butts and Mrs. F. D. Wright, is a mining engineer and has not been home for some time.

SEVEN FACE GALLOWES.

DARMSTADT, Aug. 1. — Residents of the bomb-ruined town of Darmstadt were silent today, grimly aware that seven German civilians, including two women, have been sentenced by an American military court to die. Those sentenced to death were charged with participating in the mob murder of six United States airmen near the village of Russelsheim last August.

YANK GENEROSITY—U. S. soldiers distribute candy and cigars to Russian prisoners of war who had been held by Germans in Norway. They are leaving Sweden, first stop on way home.

Texas U. Not Affected by College Association Edict

AUSTIN, Aug. 1. — Placing of the University of Texas on probation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has not caused any students to withdraw from the state school.

Registrar E. J. Mathews says he knows of no student who has withdrawn since the action was taken eight days ago.

"We have emphasized that the question of credits is not involved in this administrative disturbance," Mathews said, "and apparently conditions have settled down in a very satisfactory manner."

Acting President T. S. Painter and Student President Clayton Blakeway have both urged students to remain in the university. They pointed out that the quality of training is the same as it was prior to the accrediting association's action.

Blakeway said no convocation of students would be called in the near future unless student interest demands it. Students failed to agree upon a resolution concerning the matter at a meeting last week.

Osaka-Kobe Area Ripped by U. S. Bombs, Rockets

PEARL HARBOR, Aug. 1. — American land-based planes and a submarine bombed and shelled Japan today, as the mighty Third Fleet went under a security blackout for the second straight day.

Radio Tokyo reported that 20 American P-51 Mustangs bombed, rocketed, and machine-gunned airbases and transportation facilities in the Osaka-Kobe area southwest of Tokyo for 50 minutes beginning at 9 a. m. (Japanese time).

Another Japanese broadcast said an Allied submarine surfaced off the south coast of Hokkaido and boldly shelled Tomakomai for 30 minutes about 6 p. m. yesterday.

AUSTIN, Aug. 1. — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today proclaimed Oct. 7-13 as "Needlework Guild Week." He urged Texans to make clothing for the needy during the week.

Britain, Russia Said to Yield to U. S. Ideas

POTSDAM, Aug. 1. — The Big Three conference approached an end today with the United States already having won a considerable number of concessions from Russia and Britain.

(London reported that President Truman will fly to Plymouth, Eng., tomorrow morning and board the American cruiser Augusta for his trip back to the United States. King George VI will greet Mr. Truman at Plymouth and entertain him at luncheon aboard the Battleship Renown.)

(A London Daily Express dispatch from Berlin speculated that the Big Three communique to be issued following the conference may announce that Russia considers herself at war with Japan.)

The nature of the American victories cannot be made public at this time, but President Truman was reported highly satisfied with the progress of the discussions.

Truman's Chief of Staff Supports Petain

PARIS, Aug. 1. — Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff to President Truman, expressed the belief that Marshal Petain always acted in the best interests of France in a letter read today at the treason trial of the old soldier. As read in court the letter of Leahy, who is attending the Big Three conference at Potsdam, expressed "high regard" for Petain and said he was unable to appear as a witness because of his position. He had been U. S. ambassador to the Vichy regime of Marshal Petain until the Germans took over the unoccupied portions of France in November, 1942, when North Africa was invaded.

Leahy's letter, dated July 22, was in reply to Petain's request that he return to France as a witness.

The admiral stated that he recalled that on many occasions he had heard Petain express a desire to see the Nazis overwhelmed.

After the letter was read, Chief Judge Paul Mongibeaux asserted: "There is one sentence against Petain in that letter."

STATES' RIGHTS TO THE FORE.

Scottish Rite News Bureau. The Governors' Conference, Mackinac Island, Mich., has resulted in a strong swing toward states' rights. The Governors admitted that with the war on it is necessary for the states to forego many of their usual prerogatives, but that with Germany defeated and the complete defeat of Japan within any time from a few months to a year, it is now incumbent upon the states to make an effort to regain the ground they lost under the New Deal years.

This is of course not a one-sided question. The states naturally desire to retain all the power which constitutionally they ever had and under Article 10 of the Constitution "the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people." Nevertheless, changed economic conditions have made it necessary over the years for the Federal Government to exercise powers which were never formerly needed. The states themselves recognize this much. However, just as an abuse of power by the states made the people look to the Federal Government to correct those abuses, now many feel that the abuse of power by the Federal Government is cause to give the states another try. People are feeling that state power is less formidable than federal power and if there are to be abuses, they would rather suffer from misuse of power by their own state governments than by that of the Federal Government.

Thus the pendulum is swinging toward states' rights. If the states set a fine example of conducting their affairs, they will undoubtedly receive the acclaim of their citizens, but if it turns out to be merely changing personnel from federal to state incompetents, people over the years may again look to the Federal Government to do the job. Other things being equal, local pride running so strongly throughout the nation, if the states can perform needed services as well as the Federal Government, then people no doubt will prefer to have the state undertake the job. But, if the states bungle the task and show lack of vision and statesmanship, then in all likelihood the people will call upon the Federal Government.

The dual system of government

"THAT LITTLE GAME" Inter-nat'l Cartoon Co., N.Y.—By B. Link

under which we live is something peculiar to America. Each state is, in a sense, an experimental laboratory. Plans for handling local or regional problems can be and often are given a tryout in one state or another. If successful, other states in the course of time follow suit. But it would generally speaking, be difficult to get such a tryout on a national scale. People are inclined to be cautious. They want the other fellow to take the risks first and see if the water is too deep or too cold before they take a plunge. As to the argument sometimes heard that state governments are more responsive to public opinion than is the Federal Government, that has been a two-edged sword. Sometimes it has proved true and sometimes not. In some states what has come to be known as "the old Court House Gang" has seized power and held onto it for many years to the detriment of the people of those states, and countless efforts to break their unsavory rule proved futile, until things got so utterly insufferable that the people rose in their might and cleaned house. After all, federal office holders are merely citizens of the various states transplanted to Washington or wherever the Federal Government may assign them. If state government is more quickly responsive to the popular will, people will cherish that mode of being ruled. The Governors at Mackinac Island feel that the time has come for them to be given an opportunity to show what they can do. They have a large order in the post-war era. If a sincere conviction urges them on and not a mere pride of opinion, their prestige will probably yield them their chance. The average man is faced with a strange dilemma: he wants plenty of freedom for himself, but he knows full well that in order to have that freedom, government must protect him from being pushed around by those more powerful than himself, and yet he resents government interference—not with the other fellow, but with himself. We believe that means that each one should be inspired to perform every duty (with energy and willingness) which the Constitution of the United States imposes upon him.

June, 1925. (Cisco Daily News Files)

Dr. J. W. Gregory, city health officer, will depart within the next few days on a trip of inspection through East Texas. Dr. Gregory's trip is principally for the purpose of familiarizing himself with the most modern way of handling the milk supply in cities the size of Cisco. A communication from the state health department commended the plan practiced at Marshall, and the Cisco man will visit Marshall along with other cities of its class. A recent chemical analysis of Cisco milk is said to have shown improvement over conditions existing several weeks ago. Local dairymen, it is stated, are using every effort to maintain their product at high standard during the summer months, when impure or carelessly handled milk is such a menace to health. However, the city commission and the city health officer do not expect to take any chances with the milk supply, but will continue to insist that Cisco milk meet all state and local requirements to the fullest extent. When, after a reasonable length of time, any dairymen refuses or fails to follow the letter of the law, the sale of his products will be stopped. To all of which the Cisco Daily News says "AMEN!"

The chamber of commerce band gave its first public rehearsal at the high school Friday evening, when the full band was present and rendered some excellent music. Under the direction of G. W. Collum the band is making splendid progress and will soon be giving concerts for the edification of our people. The instructor was employed by the chamber of commerce for the purpose of instructing high school students, the band boys and girls receiving school credits for their proficiency in music as in other studies. Those composing the band at present, and the instruments they play are as follows: Cornet—Eugene Shockley, Eugene Henderson, Irene Parsons, Ava Lee Carroll, Clarence Wynn, Frank Langston, Joe Williams, Mark Stamps.

Mr. and Mrs. Elroy McCannies and children have returned to Tomball after visiting here in the home of his father J. P. McCannies.

Says the Cisco Ro-Ta-Tor: The Menard Rotary Record recently commented on how the Ro-Ta-Tor editor was insisting that Cisco clean up its weeds, air conditioner water on Main street, etc., saying that was a good program for Menard or any other town to follow. This week the Record came out with a suggestion for Menard in cleaning up. We print a part of it below. Read it and you will see Cisco in every line: "We want to do all in our power to assist the hard-working health authorities in combatting polio and other fifth diseases. We need a clean-up campaign in our town. There are many lots in this town with dense growths of weeds on them. The business district needs cleaning up; places where waste water from air conditioners or restaurants runs on public property should be connected with the sewer lines."

Mrs. Harold Saums is visiting friends in Coleman this week.

State Senator R. C. Lanning of Jacksboro took dinner at the Savoy yesterday while enroute to Scranton, where he has oil interests.
