GOVERNMENT TRYING TO BREAK DEADLOCK AND START PRODUCTION IN 24 BIG REFINERIES

Jap Emperor, Hat in Hand, Calls on Gen. M'Arthur

(By United Press)
The government today transferred conferences on the oil workers' strike from Chicago to Washington in an effort to break the deadlock in negotiations and get production started again in 24 of the nation's big refineries.

The conciliation hearing, which started in Chicago three days ago, was ordered transferred to Washington by Edgar L. Warren, chairman of the labor department's conciliation service. It will be resumed Saturday.

Warren appeared unexpectedly at the conference of union, company and government conciliators. He said that he and Secretary of Labor Lewis Schwelb felt that the strike in the refineries was the most critical labor dispute in the nation.

A complete shutdown of Gulf coast refineries and a paralyzing gasoline shortage was in view for all sections of the Texas coast. Latest development in the Texas Oil Workers' strike was the shutting down of the Crown Central Petroleum Corp. at Pasadena.

In the Permian field in West Texas, more than 5,000 oil field workers have served notice that their locals have scheduled policy meetings for October 3.

For the fourth day New York City struggled in the grip of a single strike which paralyzed business and industrial activity at an estimated loss of millions of dollars in trade and wages, and inconvenienced hundreds of thousands. The strike by about 15,000 AFL elevator operators and building service employees threatened to spread.

Across the country in the Pacific northwest more than 60,000 AFL lumber workers are striking. A CIO union continued policy meetings but did not issue a strike call to its 40,000 workers.

Additional coal miners left their jobs in West Virginia and Pennsylvania bringing the total miners idle in the two states to more than 35,000. The strike-idle in Pennsylvania alone mounted to around 75,000, including 33,500 at four Westinghouse Electric company plants. Fifty-eight bituminous pits were closed.

Elsewhere across the country in metropolitan areas and in smaller communities, labor issues held the attention of union and management.

In Detroit, plagued for months by strikes and shutdowns and currently having some 90,000 idle, CIO-United Automobile Workers representatives and Chrysler corporation spokesmen made no comment as they recessed their conference on the union's demand for a 35 percent wage increase for the company's 80,000 workers.

"One-third of all the meat America eats in October will be bought without points," OPA said.

At the same time, OPA also reduced canned fish items two to three points a pound. These include mackerel, oysters, salmon, sardines, shrimp and tuna.

Unemployment not An Issue With a Million on Strike

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—President Truman told Democratic members of the house ways and means committee today that he felt the senate had "let him down," and that he was standing by his original proposals for expanding unemployment compensation.

The twelve Democratic members were called to the white house after the ways and means committee gave him his first major rebuff two days ago by voting, 14 to 10, to shelve the administration's unemployment compensation bill.

Texas to Enter W. E. Jewett of Coming "Air Age" Route Two Died Ahead of Others Suddenly, Ranger

DALLAS, Sept. 27 (AP)—The state of Texas, converted into a virtual aircraft carrier during the war, faces the coming "air age" with confidence—and a head start over many states.

Valuable army and navy airfields dot Texas from one border to the other and, converted to civilian use, they will provide a multimillion dollar head start in private aviation.

Both army and navy pilots were trained by the thousands in Texas during the war and, a survey indicates, most of the runways and buildings installed for training soon will become civilian property.

The little oil town of Conroe, 50 miles north of Houston, will get a $1,500,000 brand-new flying field out of the war's end. The base was built for secret navy flight training but was never used. Conroe, population 6,500, will take it over.

At Amarillo, the army leased English Field from the city and will turn it back with thousands of dollars worth of improvements.

Cox Field, near Paris, is linked to the city via a superhighway and a private aviation boon is expected to result.

Big Spring will have one of the best airports in the nation when the army moves out. Midland will have two fine fields.

The government has spent $10,000,000 improving the Galveston municipal airport.

The city of Terrell is trying to buy from the government buildings used by the now-discontinued British flying school.

In all, the government has 25 main fields and some 55 auxiliary fields in Texas — almost all of them in or near a center of population — and indications are Texas will take the lead in postwar civilian flying.

SHELTER FOR TEXANS.
HOUSTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Prefabricated houses built in Texas for the bombed-out citizens of England may wind up sheltering Texans after all. Part of a 225-carload order of prefab houses — some of which actually were on ships when the war and lend-lease ended — have been stored in an open lot at Port Houston until final disposition can be made.

A series of training courses for the business people of Cisco will begin next week at the chamber of commerce. These classes are sponsored by Cisco Junior College and the chamber of commerce.

Research.

A salesman representing a firm of efficiency experts managed several years ago, to gain admission to the office of a small manufacturer, one who employed fewer than 200 people. The solicitor made a sale. He induced his prospect to hire the services of the system fixers who, he promised, would show the owner how to save a great deal more of his factory's annual earnings.

After contracting for this rather high-priced advice, the owner of the business was impatient for results. He could hardly wait for the first "expert" to come and prune out needless expenses. Less work and more profit on the same volume always seems attractive.

Finally came a polished man of 40 with a chisel-shaped nose and spectacled with conspicuous rims.

He Liked Action.

The owner of the plant and his hired adviser walked solemnly together through offices and shops. They were returning to the main office when the expert's eye fell upon an idle man — an old man, sitting at a desk looking out a window. As soon as they were out of ear-shot, the expert exclaimed: "That old fuddy-duddy is a net loss. Discharge him! He is just sitting there dreaming."

"Do you suppose he is dreaming?" inquired the owner of the factory. "Day - dreaming, to be sure," replied the expert.

"Well that's just fine," said the owner. "Now we won't be needing your help. Every so often that old chap has a day-dream, and the cheapest one he ever had was worth half a million dollars to this business. Don't disturb him as you go out."

Ideas Have Life.

Creative work has its peculiarities. It takes place inside people's heads, and superficial critics don't look that deep. First comes the germ of an idea; then careful analysis. Since no one person can know all about anything, research is necessary. Research is costly too, because it must be carried on by men who have special knowledge and special skills.

Inventions don't go into production direct from the dream stage. Manufacturing profits begin when multiplied copies of an invention start coming off the assembly line, but mass production permits no guess-work. The dream is necessary but numberless laboratory tests and exhaustive practical experiments must pave every invention's road to market.

Many a good idea has died un-worked for lack of research — too costly.

Increase the Yield.

In America are many factories — geese able to lay golden eggs, such as employment, prosperity and progress. The fertile 14-carat gander in the flock is Research. Without this motivating influence industry may start its post-war program and pursue a well-charted course, efficiently amputating cost after cost until there's nothing left to cut off, but it's the road to ruin.

Not many weeks ago I read a scathing criticism of American business. In it the author hoisted a red flag in warning against capitalism. He pointed to hundreds of thousands of dollars spent annually in industrial research by a mere handful of wealthy corporations. I have only this to say: I hope they spent all he said and more, because the brightest spot in the outlook is research.
